THE CALL SPEAKS FOR ALL. THE SUMMER MONTHS. Are you going to the country on a vacation?

THE NEXT THING TO LOOK FORWARD TO IS THE GLORIOUS FOURTH. Greece and Cuba are small countries, but they keep the big ones busy.

Even in dull times there is always live business where there is a live advertisement.

Having had two holidays in succession almost everybody would like to make it three.

The question that we shall do with our ex-Presidents is largely answered by the announcement that Benjamin Harrison has begun taking lessons on the bicycle.

The people of Munich, Mich., are trying to compel all trains passing through their town to travel slowly, so that passengers may see what a good town it is.

The Yreka Journal remarks that only one of the 14,000 people in its county was in jail last week, and he was to be liberated that very evening.

Dr. Jordan has emphatically denied having said there are only twelve good lawyers in San Francisco, and yet the Examiner repeats the fake, writes an editorial on it and sends the circulating through the slums.

The story of the farmer who yoked himself with a calf in order to turn the calf in an old one and is probably fictitious, but a New Jersey farmer's boy actually tied a calf to his bicycle and tried to lead him home.

A convicted highwayman has been discharged from the New Jersey State prison by order of the court on the ground that one of the important documents in the case was made out on a blank form of which has been superseded.

Reports submitted to a recent Sunday-school conference in Boston showed in every part of New England a falling off in the rate of attendance at the schools, and in discussion of the subject it was generally agreed that the cause of the trouble is the bicycle.

It will be remembered that when Dueswetter was being tried in St. Louis he was everywhere referred to as the "millionaire murderer," and the St. Louis courts received much credit for being able to convict a rich man. It now turns out that he left an estate valued at little more than $800, and thus another sensation goes to wreck upon the rock of fact.

It is reported that a petition is being prepared in Scotland requesting that in the official record of the Queen's jubilee the words England and English shall not be used, but the Nation shall be referred to as Great Britain and the people as British.

The Bulletin of yesterday made its appearance fresh from a new press, in a new design and adorned with evidences of the prosperity which attend energy and enterprise in journalism.

Some attention is being given in the East to a Boston ordinance imposing a penalty of $5 on every person who attends on Sunday a fake charity show or a fake sacred concert, but no explanation has been made as yet of the means by which the average Boston policeman distinguishes in matters of charity and music between the fake and the real thing.

While maintaining an unshaken confidence in the prospect for better times in the near future the Tulare Register nevertheless ventures to assert that the wave of prosperity would have been started earlier if rain had fallen during the month of April.

Here is an instance where a Legislature did a good thing without knowing it. After a woman suffrage bill had been overwhelming vote, the Arizona Legislature, before breaching its last, hastily passed a measure to regulate municipal affairs in incorporated cities, and now that the Governor has approved the act it has been discovered that it really confers upon women the right to vote at all city elections.

But it is fortunate for the woman suffragists that the lawmakers did not discover the joker in the bill.

DEMOCRACY AND POPULISM.

The report from Atlanta published in the Call of yesterday, to the effect that the Populists of Georgia, led by Tom Watson, have joined in the movement of the middle-of-the-road Populists to overthrow Marion Butler and the National Committee is one of more than ordinary significance.

It is well known that the many Populists did not like the coalition with Democracy in support of Bryan. Thousands of them who supported the combination did so under protest, and with the understanding that their support was to be for the campaign only.

It is to be expected that the many Populists who are aware that the difference between Populism and Democracy are fundamental and can never be compromised. They have therefore noted with indignation the efforts of the National Committee of their party to make a complete and permanent union with the Democrats.

The movement toward a revival of genuine Populism was started some time ago in a call for a National convention to meet at Nashville in July. The call was for a time regarded as a little moment. Shortly after it was issued Senator Butler was quoted as saying, "Any Populist who attends the convention defies the regular organization of the party."

It is fairly certain the Nashville convention will be important as regards both the numbers represented and the resolutions adopted. It will speak for the Southern wing of the party at any rate, if not for the organization throughout the Union.

It will be an assembly of "soreheads." It will be an earnest attempt to revive genuine Populism and to reorganize the party on its old platform after the confusion into which it was thrown during the last campaign.

It is to be expected that the Nashville convention will set up a committee of its own and go forward with the work it has undertaken. In a report made to the State Department some two years ago G. W. Chandler, United States Consul at Havre, declared that much of the so-called wine made in France was "perfectly innocent thereof."

The statement adds the very interesting fact that, according to medical inquiries made by highly competent authority, a moderate consumption of French wine is beneficial to public health. The statistics in this regard are worthy of attention. They show that drunkenness is less frequent in wine-consuming regions.

There is no question but that our California wines are making great inroads on the foreign article, in point of popularity, throughout the United States. The old-time prejudice in favor of imported wine is rapidly dying, if not already dead.

EXTENDING THE GLAD HAND.

The approaching visit to this State of Hon. William J. Bryan of Nebraska will be an event of some importance for several reasons. It will not be the first time that the distinguished gentleman has been in the State in the favored part of the country, but upon his last visit he was a comparatively unknown man and his presence here awakened only a passing interest among people of his own political belief.

While maintaining an unshaken confidence in the prospect for better times in the near future the Tulare Register nevertheless ventures to assert that the wave of prosperity would have been started earlier if rain had fallen during the month of April. May the wave of prosperity overtake his fellow and drown him!

Here is an instance where a Legislature did a good thing without knowing it. After a woman suffrage bill had been overwhelming vote, the Arizona Legislature, before breaching its last, hastily passed a measure to regulate municipal affairs in incorporated cities, and now that the Governor has approved the act it has been discovered that it really confers upon women the right to vote at all city elections.

FRATERNAL DEPARTMENT.

Sans Souci Parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West G. v. e. s. First Entertainment. Sans Souci Parlor No. 96 of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, which is just two months old, gave its initial entertainment in the Devaduro Hall last Saturday night.

The Shah of Persia is a persistent caricaturist. On the white paper walls of his private room he scribbles quaint pictures when the spirit moves him. When he gets tired of the work of his own hand he has a picture of the Shah of Persia painted for him.
