

BARELY ESCAPES BURIAL ALIVE

Former Portland Man's Experience in South Africa.

His Wife Becomes a Maniac When He Emerges From His Coffin.

She Had Had a Presentiment That Enemies Sought to Entomb Him Living.

PORTLAND, Or., June 26.—Harvey McClellan, a mining engineer of Cape Town, South Africa, who has been here the past few days visiting relatives, tells a startling story of the hairbreadth escape from living inhumation of an ex-Portlander at Cape Town. This person was Harold Schmitthoff, employed in a large furniture house here up to eight years ago. Schmitthoff contracted jungle fever in Cape Town, and after being sick about five days he apparently succumbed. That was on the 29th of March. His wife, who had been married in Berne, Switzerland, five years before, would not allow her husband's remains to be taken from her home for two days after he was pronounced dead, despite all the reasonable arguments indulged in by McClellan and other friends of the family.

It was fortunate that Mrs. Schmitthoff's resolution in that respect prevailed. On the third day the funeral took place with her consent, she indignantly saying: "My presentiment was a silly one, after all."

On reaching the cemetery, and while the casket was being removed from the hearse, one of the pallbearers remarked that he believed he heard a noise in the casket. His fellows suggested that he must be suffering from nervousness. The party did not continue more than ten seconds, when the rest of the pallbearers heard a faint noise in the casket. They asked the sexton of the burial-ground to hurriedly uncover the lid of the casket. It took him about half a minute to procure a screw-driver, and meanwhile the widow and other mourners were standing about the grave.

"I shall never forget the succeeding scene," continued McClellan, with a perceptible shudder as he spoke. "The moment the lid was removed from the casket, Schmitthoff, with much effort, arose and stepped out of it, but he immediately fell prostrate in a swoon. On beholding the resurrection of her husband Mr. Schmitthoff screamed in tones never to be forgotten."

"My God, my presentiment was true! Were they going to bury my darling alive—the devil!"

McClellan added that from that moment Mrs. Schmitthoff was a raving maniac, with little hope of her ultimate recovery. Schmitthoff was taken back to the city, and strangely enough, in ten days he was completely restored to health, with the exception that all his teeth fell out and his adipose tissue was reduced from 200 to 110 pounds. He will remain in Cape Town until it is positively determined that nothing can be done for his wife, and in that event he will take her to Europe.

DUNHAM'S SAN JOSE ESTATE.

Cash and Notes to the Amount of About $2500 Found by Sheriff Lyndon.

SAN JOSE, CAL., June 26.—In levying upon the property left by Murderer James C. Dunham to satisfy the $8000 judgment obtained against him by Jacob Schessler and wife for the murder of their daughter, Minnie Schessler, Sheriff Lyndon today discovered $700 belonging to the fugitive in a box deposited with the Garden City Bank and Trust Company. In there was also a $1250 mortgage against the Panama Fruit Company and an unsecured note against the same firm for $250. The value of the entire property recovered, including interest, is about $2900. It is expected that about $2000 worth of property belonging to Dunham in the southern portion of the State will also be recovered. The $700 is a part of the $1000 Dunham drew out of a bank shortly before he committed the McGillicuddy murders. About that time he claimed he had been held up and robbed of the money, but the story was discredited. It seems that Dunham simply withdrew the money from the bank, spent about $30 and deposited the rest in a box and left it with the bank.

Santa Clara Pioneers Meet.

SAN JOSE, CAL., June 26.—There was a large attendance at the reunion and picnic of the Santa Clara County Pioneers at Alum Rock Park today. After luncheon dancing and games were enjoyed by the younger people, while the old pioneers formed little groups and related reminiscences.

Funeral of Joseph H. Flickinger.

SAN JOSE, CAL., June 26.—The funeral of Joseph H. Flickinger, the pioneer fruit-grower, took place this afternoon from the family residence on South Eleventh street and was largely attended. The deceased was a native of Germany, aged 70 years.

SANTA FE CONSOLIDATION.

Officials Who Will Have Charge of the Coast Division Are Announced.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., June 26.—Official circulars were today issued from the Los Angeles offices of the Santa Fe system announcing the consolidation of the western lines to take place at midnight of June 30. At that hour the receivership of the Atlantic and Pacific will terminate and the new order of things under the reorganization go into effect and that line will again be owned by the Santa Fe. The expected consolidation of the offices of the Atlantic and Pacific and Southern California is confirmed by the official announcements, one of which signed by President Ripley reads:

The Santa Fe Pacific Railroad Company, having acquired title through foreclosure sale to the property and franchises of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway, will take possession of the same at midnight of June 30, 1897. The following officers have been duly elected and will assume jurisdiction on that date, to-wit: A. F. Walker, chairman of the board; E. P. Ripley, president; Paul Morton, third vice-president; W. G. Nevin, general manager; L. C. Whithead, general auditor; G. Holthefer Jr., treasurer and assistant secretary; L. E. Fleming, secretary; H. W. Gardner, assistant treasurer; J. P. Whitehead, controller; Victor Mrawetz, general counsel; D. E. Kousa, general solicitor.

Supplemental to this general circular, a division order has been issued by W. G. Nevin, general manager, in Los Angeles, naming appointive officers of the consolidated Santa Fe Pacific Railway, as the Western division is to be called, as follows: A. G. Wells, general superintendent; Albuquerque, N. M.; E. Chambers, general freight agent, Los Angeles; John J. Byrne, general passenger agent, Los Angeles; C. N. Steery, solicitor, Los Angeles; C. E. Cray, auditor, Los Angeles; C. W. Kouns, superintendent car service, Topeka, Kans.; P. Walsh, general baggage agent, Topeka, Kans.; H. Isaacs, division baggage agent, Los Angeles.

MILL VALLEY'S GARDEN PARTY.

Large Number of Visitors Witness the Celebration.

MILL VALLEY, CAL., June 26.—The garden fete given by the ladies of Mill Valley came to a successful conclusion this evening. The thousands of Japanese lanterns that flickered in the great redwood groves in the Corte Madera avenue canyon made the scene like a glimpse of fairyland. The programme, which had been previously arranged by the ladies, was carried out without a hitch, and during both afternoon and evening the grounds of George E. Billings and Morris Marcus, where the fete was held, were crowded.

The afternoon was devoted to an entertainment prepared especially for the amusement of the children, who descended from all directions, the early afternoon trains from San Francisco bringing quite a number.

Among those interested and taking part in the festivities were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Morris Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hillings, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Griffin, Mr. Captain Anker, Mrs. Hugh McCrum, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Roberts, Mrs. A. W. Bush, Miss Jennie M. Graham, Mrs. C. E. Cline, Miss Lena Freese.

LOST IN THE TRIMLY HILLS.

Two Redding Men Lose Their Bearings While on a Journey.

REDDING, CAL., June 26.—News has just reached this city that Chief Con H. Goldberg of the Redding Fire Department and Charles Jones, agent of the New York Life Insurance Company, were lost in the mountains of the Trinity Center, forty miles from here and in an opposite direction from Hayfork. They left the Center for Hayfork and became lost in the mountains. They wandered hungry and cold for twenty hours, when, after having almost given up in despair, the light from a window about a mile away attracted their attention. They hastened to it and found they were almost within hailing distance of Hayfork. After recovering from their fatigue they continued their journey, having lost about two days on the road.

Barbecue on a Watsonville Farm.

WATSONVILLE, CAL., June 26.—A number of wholesale commission men of San Francisco arrived on the evening's train at Watsonville to attend a barbecue given at the residence of one of the largest berry farms in the valley, who entertained them at a banquet at the Mansion House. Tomorrow the firm's annual barbecue and picnic will be held at the farm, which is situated about a mile from town. The visitors are: Charles W. Cochrane, E. M. Frobeck, H. S. Solandt and wife, Oakland; A. Melos, San Jose; E. W. Joy and wife, San Francisco; A. Berger, W. G. Hurst, C. W. Nesley, Oakland; H. G. Naber, G. Hester, Phil Scherbert, San Francisco; D. W. Field, William Schrive, J. B. Campodonico, J. S. Holliday, G. Dabitsen.

Reinstatement at Redding.

REDDING, CAL., June 26.—A heavy rain and wind storm broke over this city this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Considerable damage was done to small fruit and berries in the vineyards and orchards hereabouts.

NEW TO-DAY.

Mr. Jaeger, Yuma, Ariz.—Dear Sir: In December, 1896, while I was in your town I was invited to dine on your table at your saloon. You thought the same was "thrown off," and you were right in that conclusion. I confess that I am a dishonest man, but I mentioned a number of names to you, and now I ask you to forgive the wrong I have done. I have no money now, but if God prosper me, I will soon promise to return the amount which you lost at that time.

I went to Phoenix after I left Yuma and while attending a revival meeting I was converted to God. I have since then been doing all that I can to make right the wrongs I have done to others in my past life. I would rather be right with God than to have all the pleasure, wealth, or favor this world affords. Hoping you will forgive, I am respectfully,
Yours truly,
JAMES M. JONES.

P. S.—The name of J. W. Williams, by which I was known for over twenty years, was not my true name, and shortly after I was saved I made open confession and resumed my right name.

Louis Jaeger, to whom this letter was addressed, says he always thought "Williams" was an odd character.

ARIZONA'S POLITICAL WAR.

Anti-LeCord Faction Sends a Petition to the President.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., June 26.—A telegram has been sent to President McKinley by Pierce Evans and eight other members of the Republican Territorial Executive Committee, asking that in the choice of a Governor for Arizona the President assent to the calling of a convention of representative Territorial Republicans, such convention to recommend a new man for the office. The telegram is a lengthy one, and recites that the committee feels that the situation has reached a crisis, and that decided action in the interest of the party should be taken. In a spirit of fairness towards the President and McCord (whom no disunionist now hung up in the Senate) such action is deemed advisable.

The telegram has stirred up a hornet's nest among the McCord supporters, and a batch of counter-telegrams on behalf of McCord was added during the day to the

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR VISIT FERDALE

Enjoy a Drive Through the Fertile Valley of the Eel.

Find a Banquet Awaiting Them at the End of Their Pilgrimage.

One Guest Declares the San Franciscans Have at Last Found Their Utopia.

FERDALE, CAL., June 26.—The Sir Knights of California Commandery No. 1 and Eureka Commandery No. 35 accompanied Grand High Priest Pierce of the Royal Arch Masons to Ferdale today. There is a new chapter of the Royal Arch Masons, to be hereafter known as Ferdale Chapter No. 78, was instituted. The party left Eureka at 1:30 o'clock on a special train and proceeded to Singler station, whence its members were ferried across Eel River. On the opposite bank they were met by a sufficient number of conveyances and conducted through the rich and prosperous valley of the Eel. One after another smiling pastures dotted with grazing kine and cozy farmhouses were passed. The creameries were all visited and the process of converting the milk into delicious butter noted. One sir knight exclaimed: "Well, this is a city man's Utopia, where the cream shows little water and the butter milk is unadulterated."

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., June 26.—The Ferdale City of Topeka arrived at midnight from the coast, bringing passengers and little freight. She brought $10.00 of money found in the hull of the schooner General Siglin, from which craft all on board were lost while en route from San Francisco to Alaska two months ago. The Topeka brought $70,000 in bullion from the Treadwell Mining Company.

Shooting Affray at Juneau.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., June 26.—William Atkins, known as "San Jose Bill," whose record is notorious along the coast from California to Alaska, is in the hospital at Juneau, Alaska, where he lies with a number of bullet wounds in his body. He was shot by Harry Howard, who conducts a variety theater in Juneau. Howard claims he acted in self-defense. Atkins' recovery is doubtful.

Smelter for Moccasin.

STOCKTON, CAL., June 26.—According to P. A. Barr, who has been working up the proposition to erect a smelter here for the reduction of gold-bearing ores, the success of the project is reasonably certain. The money has been promised, and representatives of Eastern capitalists who are to arrive here will arrive in a few days to look over the field.

THE SULTAN ROUGES.

Abdul Hamid Paints His Face to Hide His Pallor.

Turkish ladies of quality and of no quality paint their faces. The painting apparatus is formed with a row of small bottles containing the paints and set in a little pad or cushion, says London Truth. The cushion is held in the palm of the hand and the fingers of many-colored beads. The practice of painting, however, is not confined to the ornamental sex. It is resorted to by the Padishah and those Pashas forming his inner circle. His sublimity has a thick coat of rouge on his cheeks when he goes on Fridays to the mosque. It is to hide the pallor which the fear of assassination gives rise. The Grand Vizier and Ministers, to keep him in countenance, rouge also and dye their hair and beards.

Hair dye, however, are not a new fashion. They came in during the reign of Abdul Aziz. The Circassian mother of Sultan Mourad could not endure the sight of his premature baldness, she persuaded him to use a hair restorer, which, it is said, helped to make him mad. It gave him violent headaches. His Neapolitan doctor followed the same treatment. Whenever Mourad complained of the aches he gave him a depressing hot bath, and leeches him on the temples and behind the ears. He sometimes applied as many as seventy without stopping. Dr. Ludersdorf said the cephalalgia was due to nitrate of silver and lather in the hair dye.

As the Sultan's hair and beard are still jet black, he doubtless uses a hair restorer, which may affect his mind. He is very sensitive in regard to his hair, and has managed to become vastly wealthy and to shelve the Sublime Porte. But he is not of sound mind and is afflicted with an unwelcome if mania that conflict with each other. The terror of assassination never leaves him. He issues from the Yildim on Fridays so blanched with fear that the rough parts of the visage seem by contrast of the deep red of the peony.

SOUTHERN WOMEN.

Put on a Pedestal and Worshipped by the Men.

All plantation life is to a considerable extent patriarchal, except that instead of the women being subservient to masculine pleasure and aggrandizement, it is the patriarchs of old, they are set on a pedestal and practically worshipped, says Lippincott's. It makes little difference to this modern patriarch of the cotton belt if his cuffs are frayed and his coat rusty, so long as his wife and daughters wear suits of cloth, and are as stylish as the crops can pay for and their village dressmaker can devise. It is a feature of the day in the South, as well as elsewhere, that women are being better educated than men.

In the northern States of the Union this higher culture is tending manifestly to displace the patriarchal system. The South the girls come back from academies and colleges and accept the young men who stayed at home to work the soil. In the North, on the other hand, the women have married had they not gone away the education the parents sacrificed so much to bestow. They know what splendor, to be sure, is made of, and in the attraction between the sexes womanly and the eternal manly question of book-learning counts for little.

At least, the girls, without a patriarch would be dull indeed, and it must be said that it requires courage of a superior order to remain single in a situation that is so full of temptations. The stimulus outside of wifehood and maternity after youth has waned. For this reason youth is considered the high price, the valuable capital, stock-in-trade. The women fade no earlier than their Northern sisters, but, owing to an inherited habit of thought, the label of decay is respectfully fastened on them by the popular mind with more readiness than their prime and in the Northern and Eastern States would be accounted capable of all things, even of marrying well.

The Himalayas have been seen 224 miles away.

vast pile of correspondence already sent to Washington upon the subject.

RAILWAY TO WHITE HILLS.

New Line to Be Built to the Arizona Mining District.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., June 26.—The promoters of the railroad tax exemption bill—a measure designed to encourage the construction of transportation lines in the Territory—which passed the last legislative session without arousing a good deal of opposition, now point with considerable satisfaction to the preparations being made for a new railroad in Mohave County, which will probably tap one of the richest silver mining districts in the Territory—that of the White Hills, that were recently sold by Mr. Root of Denver to English syndicate.

Kingman, on the Atlantic and Pacific main line, is hoping that the White Hills road will make that town its starting-point, and that it will strike on the main line, has the same aspirations.

John Denair, division superintendent; F. T. A. pinwall and W. R. Hillman are now at Grandditch making a tour of investigation over the proposed route as far north as the Colorado River. The route will probably pass north of Beale Springs, skirting the mountain along the ravine over Coyote Hill and then along the foothills of the Sacramento Valley. It will pass close to Cerbat, Todd Basin, Mineral Park, Granite and White Hills. The opening of this country will enable many big low-grade gold properties to be worked to advantage.

Blow at the Salmon Industry.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 26.—The news that a health officer at Liverpool lately condemned as unfit for human food a consignment of canned salmon has created consternation among the British Columbia canning men. If the British buyers grow afraid of canned salmon, the loss in trade to British Columbia and Washington and Oregon will amount to $2,000,000 a year. The canners here, lacking the information that this morning's cable, are perplexed as how to account for the trouble, as the most cleanly methods have been adopted.

Brings Gold From Alaska.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., June 26.—The Ferdale City of Topeka arrived at midnight from the coast, bringing passengers and little freight. She brought $10.00 of money found in the hull of the schooner General Siglin, from which craft all on board were lost while en route from San Francisco to Alaska two months ago. The Topeka brought $70,000 in bullion from the Treadwell Mining Company.

Shooting Affray at Juneau.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., June 26.—William Atkins, known as "San Jose Bill," whose record is notorious along the coast from California to Alaska, is in the hospital at Juneau, Alaska, where he lies with a number of bullet wounds in his body. He was shot by Harry Howard, who conducts a variety theater in Juneau. Howard claims he acted in self-defense. Atkins' recovery is doubtful.

Smelter for Moccasin.

STOCKTON, CAL., June 26.—According to P. A. Barr, who has been working up the proposition to erect a smelter here for the reduction of gold-bearing ores, the success of the project is reasonably certain. The money has been promised, and representatives of Eastern capitalists who are to arrive here will arrive in a few days to look over the field.

THE SULTAN ROUGES.

Abdul Hamid Paints His Face to Hide His Pallor.

Turkish ladies of quality and of no quality paint their faces. The painting apparatus is formed with a row of small bottles containing the paints and set in a little pad or cushion, says London Truth. The cushion is held in the palm of the hand and the fingers of many-colored beads. The practice of painting, however, is not confined to the ornamental sex. It is resorted to by the Padishah and those Pashas forming his inner circle. His sublimity has a thick coat of rouge on his cheeks when he goes on Fridays to the mosque. It is to hide the pallor which the fear of assassination gives rise. The Grand Vizier and Ministers, to keep him in countenance, rouge also and dye their hair and beards.

Hair dye, however, are not a new fashion. They came in during the reign of Abdul Aziz. The Circassian mother of Sultan Mourad could not endure the sight of his premature baldness, she persuaded him to use a hair restorer, which, it is said, helped to make him mad. It gave him violent headaches. His Neapolitan doctor followed the same treatment. Whenever Mourad complained of the aches he gave him a depressing hot bath, and leeches him on the temples and behind the ears. He sometimes applied as many as seventy without stopping. Dr. Ludersdorf said the cephalalgia was due to nitrate of silver and lather in the hair dye.

As the Sultan's hair and beard are still jet black, he doubtless uses a hair restorer, which may affect his mind. He is very sensitive in regard to his hair, and has managed to become vastly wealthy and to shelve the Sublime Porte. But he is not of sound mind and is afflicted with an unwelcome if mania that conflict with each other. The terror of assassination never leaves him. He issues from the Yildim on Fridays so blanched with fear that the rough parts of the visage seem by contrast of the deep red of the peony.

SOUTHERN WOMEN.

Put on a Pedestal and Worshipped by the Men.

All plantation life is to a considerable extent patriarchal, except that instead of the women being subservient to masculine pleasure and aggrandizement, it is the patriarchs of old, they are set on a pedestal and practically worshipped, says Lippincott's. It makes little difference to this modern patriarch of the cotton belt if his cuffs are frayed and his coat rusty, so long as his wife and daughters wear suits of cloth, and are as stylish as the crops can pay for and their village dressmaker can devise. It is a feature of the day in the South, as well as elsewhere, that women are being better educated than men.

In the northern States of the Union this higher culture is tending manifestly to displace the patriarchal system. The South the girls come back from academies and colleges and accept the young men who stayed at home to work the soil. In the North, on the other hand, the women have married had they not gone away the education the parents sacrificed so much to bestow. They know what splendor, to be sure, is made of, and in the attraction between the sexes womanly and the eternal manly question of book-learning counts for little.

At least, the girls, without a patriarch would be dull indeed, and it must be said that it requires courage of a superior order to remain single in a situation that is so full of temptations. The stimulus outside of wifehood and maternity after youth has waned. For this reason youth is considered the high price, the valuable capital, stock-in-trade. The women fade no earlier than their Northern sisters, but, owing to an inherited habit of thought, the label of decay is respectfully fastened on them by the popular mind with more readiness than their prime and in the Northern and Eastern States would be accounted capable of all things, even of marrying well.

The Himalayas have been seen 224 miles away.

Advances made on furniture and piano, with or without removal. J. Noonan, 1017-1023 Mission

NEW TO-DAY-CLOTHING.

THIS WEEK!

SATURDAY NIGHT

We Close Our Doors Upon the Greatest Bona Fide Sacrifice Sale of Fine Clothing Ever Held in This State.

NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT THIS GREAT SALE POSITIVELY COMES TO AN END.

A grocery firm has leased our "Temporary Quarters" over our heads. Our new stores will not be completed before September. Finding it an impossibility to secure suitable salesrooms in which to conduct our business, we are obliged to slaughter our Mammoth Stock of Men's and Boys' Fine Clothing in bulk to dealers or close the same out at auction to the trade. Price, worth and loss is a secondary consideration to us.

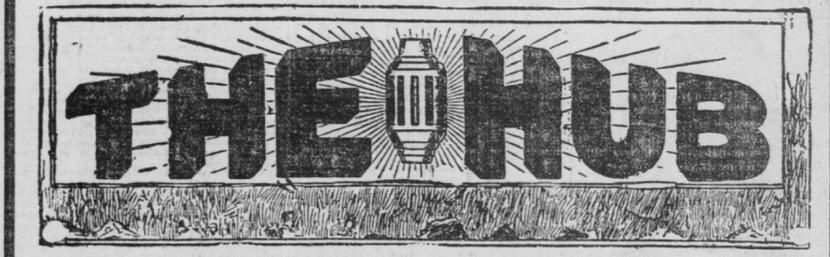

The Goods Must Go! Now in "Dead Earnest!"

A WORD TO DEALERS!

Our entire stock and fixtures are now for sale in bulk to the highest bidder. Bids are solicited for the same. A great chance for the Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers to close out our fine goods far below manufacturers' cost.

TERMS CASH.

We will sell the above mentioned stocks either separate or collectively. An inspection of same can be made by the trade any day this week. Positively no bids will be received after 10 A. M. SATURDAY, July 3. Seventy-five per cent of our stock this season's make. This is a great chance for dealers and wearers of high-class clothing to purchase the very best of goods at a big loss to us.

CHARLES KEILUS & CO., Proprietors. TEMPORARY QUARTERS. 220-224 SUTTER STREET, THREE DOORS WEST OF KERNY STREET.

PROFITS FROM CONVENTIONS.

Benefits Derived by Railroads and Cities From National Gatherings.

The National board of the American Turnbund has completed an accounting of the expenses and receipts of the recent turnfest held in St. Louis. The receipts were $32,500, and the expenses $27,000. The guarantees fund raised by the different local societies will not be used, and it will even be possible to send $5,000 to Milwaukee to reduce the deficit of the turnfest held there. The Turners have ramifications throughout the country, and are particularly strong in those cities in which the German population is considerable. But in respect to total membership the association does not rank with other organizations having annual conventions.

The Free Sons of Israel are to hold their convention in Chicago in June. The Grand Army of the Republic holds its annual encampment at Buffalo on August 23. This is the first time in more than thirty years that the Grand Army men have made Buffalo their convention city. In connection with these conventions or encampments the fact is to be noted that the city chosen for their meeting place many thousands of dollars of annual revenue. The first gainers by such a convention are the railroads, and the city, which is chosen for their meeting place many thousands of dollars of annual revenue. The first gainers by such a convention are the railroads, and the city, which is chosen for their meeting place many thousands of dollars of annual revenue.

No Chance for the Little Man.

All hands had been telling long stories of what they had done or would in the event of a smash-up on the railway with the exception of one little man, who had listened attentively to the narratives and taken them all in without a word.

"Enter been in an accident?" asked the patriarch of the party, noticing the little man's silence.

"No," replied the little man, quietly.

"Enter been in an accident?" asked the patriarch of the party, noticing the little man's silence.

"No, I haven't," replied the little man, sadly.

"With all you big heroes blocking up the doors and windows in your hurry to get out I don't exactly know what show a man like you would have."

And then there was a deep silence, so deep you might have heard a cough drop, and the little man was troubled no more about the possibility of accidents.—Tit Bits.

An Eccentric Traveler.

J. Theodore Bent, a wealthy Englishman who has achieved some notoriety by visiting out-of-the-way places and writing and the information will be mailed in a plain envelope.

Pronounce it!
Taint hard—easier after the first time, and then it's said all the time. A big demand is required to make some good cigars good. Not so with Jackson Square 5 Cent Cigar.
They are strictly Cuban hand-made by Cuban workmen, and full Caballero size.

RINALDO BROS. & CO., 300-302 BATTERY ST., SAN FRANCISCO. COAST AGENTS.