

LYNCH GETS THE PLACE

The San Bernardino Man Slated to Succeed Welburn.

PRESIDENT ASKED TO APPOINT HIM.

Perkins, Hilborn and Barham to Send a Joint Letter to McKinley.

CONGRESSMAN LOUD FAVORS ANOTHER.

Would Like to Have John D. Daly Become Collector of Internal Revenue.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—J. C. Lynch of San Bernardino will in a few days be appointed Collector of Internal Revenue to succeed O. M. Welburn, suspended.

It is the general understanding that Mr. Loud will not join Perkins, Hilborn and Barham in their recommendation of Lynch.

Perkins, Hilborn and Barham in their recommendation of Lynch, he would like to have John D. Daly, the defeated candidate for Postmaster, appointed Collector.

ATTACHES ARE ANXIOUS. Vague Uncertainty Apparent in the Revenue Office.

O. M. Welburn, the suspended Internal Revenue Collector, visited the office of acting Collector Bert M. Thomas yesterday afternoon for some private papers and a talk and set on a sofa like any other visitor instead of at the desk from which he was removed.

Both he and his attorney, Garvin McNab, decline to make any definite explanations of his relations with Clerk Aitken, whose salary account is understood to embody all of the nine acts of embezzlement charged against Mr. Welburn.

The talk about the wholesale removals of deputies and clerks in the office which are rumored to follow soon has put a feeling of uneasiness and worry into the office, but the talk is yet all "talk," for a statement about what will or will not be done in the matter of throwing out part of the force has not yet come from any competent authority here or in Washington.

Special Agent Thrasher and acting Collector Thomas say that none of the working force are involved in the Norton embezzlement or in the case against Welburn. It is thought that if any removals do occur they will be made after the new Collector is appointed and installed.

Many Republican politicians are hoping for a change in the Cleveland administration, and even if a dozen vacancies were made all of his appointments from the eligible list of those who have passed the civil-service examination, the service provided by the local Civil Service Commission.

Another forgotten circumstance is that these administrative affairs are under the immediate control of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, who has been continuing in office from the Cleveland administration and who strongly and strictly upholds civil-service principles.

Everybody interested is wondering what the McKinley administration will do about civil service. It is expected that the sweeping order, but the telegraphic reports from Washington that portions of the treasury service will be withdrawn from the realm of civil service mean various things coming out of the air.

MUCH DEPENDS UPON JONES. The Nevada Senator a Most Important Factor in the Conference on the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—Conferees on the tariff bill have been in session all day, and to-night returned to their labors in the rooms of the Senate Committee on Finance.

The conferees have not yet reached any of the important propositions in the controversy. They are following the practice of all former conferee committees and clearing away undisputed amendments, changing phraseology and otherwise putting as much as possible of the work behind them in readiness for a tug-of-war.

Non-official statement of the progress of the committee will be given out in advance of the formal report to the Senate and House. So far the conferees have encountered smooth sailing. To-morrow or Monday, though, the struggle over some radical amendments will begin.

HON. JOHN C. LYNCH OF SAN BERNARDINO, Who Will Succeed Welburn as Collector of Internal Revenue.

DIES FOR LOVING ANOTHER'S WIFE

Thomas H. Merritt of Lexington, Ky., Shot to Death.

His Slayer the Husband of a Woman He Was Wont to Smile Upon.

Tragedy Enacted in a Public Park in the Blue-Grass City.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 9.—Thomas H. Merritt, aged 49, a well-known pension agent, was shot and instantly killed to-night by Jacob B. Harris, a commercial traveler. Harris is a commercial traveler. He has suspected his wife and Merritt for some time and followed them to-night. He said, after being arrested, that he watched them enter Gratz park and saw his wife sitting on Merritt's lap. Continuing, he said: "I could stand it no longer, and, rashing up to Merritt, I fired at his face. He got up and ran toward the lower end of the park. I followed, shooting as I ran. I finally struck him in a fatal place and he fell."

Mrs. Harris was arrested at the home of a friend about 10 o'clock and taken to the station-house. She was not told that her love was dead, but was informed that he had been slightly wounded. She said: "I have known Merritt a long time. I have been working for two months as a copyist in his office. Harris has been insanely jealous of Merritt, and also of every one else with whom I ever associated. We have lived apart much of our married life on account of this insane jealousy. This evening when I got through work I told Merritt that I was going to the house of Mrs. Howard Jackson. He said he would go with me. As we were going through the park we met Harris. Without saying a word Harris drew a revolver and began firing."

W. B. Powell of Washington, D. C., spoke on the "Educational Outlook." "Some Tendencies of Modern Education" was discussed by Judge S. A. Forehand of Louisiana. He noted the changes concerning modern education and predicted glorious things of the future. The theme of James L. Huron was "The Education of the Twentieth Century." He said that the school of the twentieth century would be free and the child will be free in the twentieth century school. He believed the schools of the next century will give increased attention to physical culture.

NO BUILDINGS ON THE BOUNDARY

Entire Business Blocks in Nogales Must Be Removed.

Those on the American Side Too Close to the International Line.

Government Orders That a Space Sixty Feet Wide Be Cleared Within a Month.

NOGALES, ARIZ., July 9.—Nogales is situated directly upon the boundary line that divides the United States from Mexico, the line running through the principal business thoroughfare—International street. The city is also on the Nogales El Paso Land Grant, which has lately been declared a fraudulent grant by the courts, and therefore none of the property-holders have clear titles to their lands. The city has been endeavoring to obtain from the United States Government clear titles, which the Government refuses to grant until a street sixty feet wide is made on the Arizona side of the boundary line. International street as it now stands is entirely on the Mexican side, the Americans having provided for no street on their side, as was intended when this city was laid out.

When the Boundary Commission was surveying the line a number of years ago they were compelled to cut a crevice in a saloon owned by John Brickwood to enable them to put the dividing monument in its right place. The officials have now taken the matter into their hands, and this week a surveying party has been here in charge of Captain McMaster of the United States army. It made a report which was telegraphed to Washington. The officials have notified all persons occupying property within 60 feet of the boundary line to remove all buildings and obstructions within one month, after which time the Government will remove everything remaining. Some of the property-owners are very bitter and say they will hold their property by force of arms, but the authorities at Washington are equally determined there shall be a street on the Arizona side of the boundary line 60 feet wide. The Southern Pacific Railroad is the first to obey the orders of the Government. Yesterday operations were begun to remove the depot and office building, which is situated 40 feet on the American side and 40 feet on the Mexican side, the boundary line running through the center of the building. The telegraph office from which this dispatch is sent is partly in Arizona and partly in Mexico.

SAN QUENTIN CONVICTS FIGHT.

John Hanlon Sabs a Fellow-Prisoner While Working Side by Side in the Jute Mill.

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, CAL., July 9.—Another stabbing affray between desperate convicts within the walls of the State's big penitentiary took place yesterday afternoon in the jute mill. Robert Phillips, who is serving a five years' sentence for burglary, having been sent up from San Francisco, got into an altercation with John Hanlon, a fellow-convict, in for eight years from San Francisco for a similar offense. Following the angry words Phillips made a move to seize one of the wheels used in the jute mill with which to strike his companion.

Hanlon grabbed a knife used for cutting jute and slashed at Phillips, cutting him on the loins. Guard Walsh rushed in and separated the convicts, before either had an opportunity to do the other serious injury.

Dr. William Lawler, the resident physician, took charge of the wounded man and sewed number of stitches in the wound which is not very deep. As a punishment convict Hanlon was thrown into the dungeon and will be kept on a bread-and-water diet. This is the first trouble that has occurred in the jute mill since the opening.

USED MARIN'S TELEPHONE.

Bill Contracted by Colonel Finigan While in Prison.

SAN RAFAEL, CAL., July 9.—The County Board of Supervisors ran across a reminder of Colonel Peter A. Finigan, the millionaire land and mine owner, who spent six weeks in the County Jail and then went through insolvency in order to secure his freedom, as he was kept in confinement because he would not pay his wife alimony. When the telephone bill for the county came under the consideration of the Supervisors they ran across a number of slips signed by Colonel Peter A. Finigan, which were not his. Immediately the board drew its great blue pencil across the accounts. They would not pay for the repeated millionaire's telephone communications, nor would they allow the county of Marin to be out that sum.

The colonel's telephoning consisted of the calls to San Francisco and he used the telephone in the Courthouse. Who is to pay for Finigan's switches is a question that just now is puzzling the officials.

Gentlemen—The weary months of the Hayward trial involved a severe strain upon my nervous system, and after it was over I was threatened with protracted illness. I needed absolute rest and something to quiet my nervous system. Fortunately a friend recommended Dr. Charcot's Kola Nerveine Tablets as a sure specific and I gave them a trial. The effects were beyond my expectations, as I found almost immediate relief. My nervousness gave way to restful and soothing feelings, and I could sleep and eat far better. For nervous prostration and Kola Nerveine Tablets are invaluable. FRANK M. NYE.
