

GOMEZ CHEERS THE CUBANS

Warns Them Against the Trickery of Spanish Agents.

Autonomy Cannot Be Accepted by the Men Battling for Freedom.

Homa Rule Proposals Must Be Rejected, as the War Will Soon End in Independence.

HAVANA, CUBA, July 31.—Cuban secret agents in all the principal towns of the island held by the Spanish have received letters from Gomez encouraging them to continue their work in behalf of the army of liberation. Similar encouragement has been sent to Cubans abroad.

"This is the time," says Gomez in one of these addresses, "when the faith of Cubans in the coming triumph should be stronger than ever. I have positive information that the Spaniards themselves, or at least the honest elements among them, realize their war is hopeless, and that the best thing to do is to give Cuba up. I have confidence in the patriotism of Cubans, but wish to warn them against the wily diplomacy of the Spanish Government.

"I wish them to know in the island and abroad that any reports that we will accept home rule is absolutely false, and I believe Canovas' scheme of reforms and the autonomist declarations of Sagasta are only last desperate efforts of Spanish rulers to win by base trickery now they know they can't win by force."

The general has also declared in official letters to Cuban delegates in the United States that any home-rule proposals must be rejected without a moment's attention. It is generally believed in Havana since the failure of the Spaniards to induce Gomez to accept home rule that secret agents have been sent to New York to ascertain the sentiments of the Cuban Junta and try to induce them to accept autonomy.

An expedition from Jamaica under command of Colonel Dupont landed safely a week ago in the province of Santiago de Cuba.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31.—Estrada Palma, the Cuban delegate here, confirms the foregoing news. The treasurer of the Junta has received a letter from General Gomez, in which he says:

"I embrace you heartily, and all other friends there. Work as you have been doing and as we have been doing here. The end is approaching. Have faith and hope."

Insurgents Raid a Suburb.
NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31.—The Herald's Havana special says: The details of the attack on Havana's suburbs, which were suppressed by Spanish officials on Thursday after the attack, have now become public. A band of 300 insurgents under Colonels Delgado and Acosta entered Mariano, a suburb of Havana, Wednesday night.

They killed one Spanish officer and five soldiers, wounded several others, marched the Mayor of the town, pillaged and burned six stores and carried away goods to the value of $15,000. During the four hours they were in the town they lost not a single man. The Spanish officers who should have been on duty were spending the evening in Havana. They will be court-martialed.

Canovas Is Confident.
HAVANA, CUBA, July 31.—Canovas, according to dispatches from Madrid, has declared that important negotiations will soon be established with the American Minister in favor of Spain. The Spanish Prime Minister declares also that the Cuban war will end in March, 1898, in a triumph for the Spanish army.

LONDON-PEKING TELETYPE.
Liberian Railroad Directors Are Figuring for Years Ahead.

LONDON, Eng., July 31.—The directors of the Siberian Railroad are already figuring on a timetable from London to Peking, which is to go into effect in July, 1901. The journey will occupy less than fifteen days. Russian trains are much slower than the west European systems. The present time is thirty-eight days by Suez canal and twenty-eight days by Canadian Pacific Railroad.

An eighty-kilometer speed on the Orenburg-Warsaw section could be maintained throughout, the journey might be accomplished in seven and a half days. Making every allowance for the difficulties of high speed across the Siberian steppes, there is a large margin for improvement on the estimated forty-two kilometers, or twenty-six miles an hour, from Chelyabinsk to Vladivostok. From the latter city Peking will be reached by the Manchurian Road.

TO INTERVIEW SALISBURY.
The American Bimetallite Commission "Hopeful" of Results.

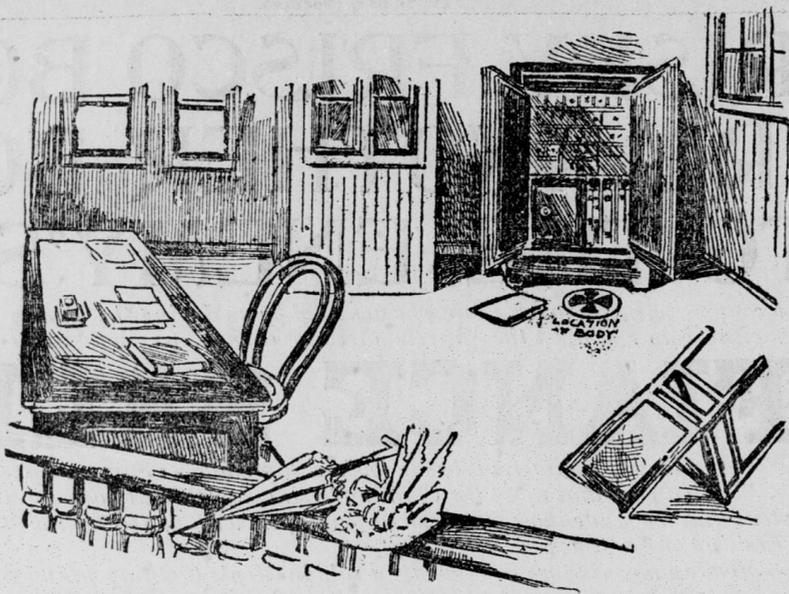

LONDON, Eng., July 31.—The American Bimetallite Commission has about finished its London efforts. The members will have an interview with Salisbury at the end of next week, when some definite announcement will be made of what Great Britain is willing to do for bimetallism. The Commissioners then go to Berlin and St. Petersburg. Wolcott and ex-Vice-President Stevenson express themselves "hopeful" of the result of their arguments on the British Foreign Secretary, but they are absolutely ignorant as to the real intentions of Salisbury.

Evangelist Moody About to Retire.
TORONTO, Ont., July 31.—It is reported that Evangelist Dwight L. Moody will soon retire from active work and that his successor will be Rev. William Patterson, pastor of Cook's Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Patterson took a very active part in the meetings conducted in Toronto by Moody a couple of years ago. After that he assisted Moody in a series of meetings at Chicago.

Foster Leaves England for Home.
LONDON, Eng., July 31.—John W. Foster left for New York by the St. Louis from Southampton this morning.

Embassador Hay and the members of the United States Embassy were at Waterbury station to bid him farewell. Prince Chang Yen Hoon, the special Envoy of China to the jubilee festivities, is also a passenger by the St. Louis.

Renham Still Has a Fighting Chance.
BATAVIA, N. Y., July 31.—Benham, who was yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree on the charge of poisoning his wife, will be sentenced August 23. The case was one of the most stubbornly fought in the history of New York, and it is not likely that the prisoner will be executed without another legal fight.

ALICE LED A DUAL LIFE

Miss Barrett's Strange Death Is Nearing a Solution.

Now the Mother Admits the Girl Must Have Committed Suicide.

But There Remain Peculiar Circumstances That Back Up the Murder Theory.

BOSTON, MASS., July 31.—The mystery of the death of Alice Barrett, the typewriter and bookkeeper, seems to be nearing a solution. The flash of lightning, the smoke and the ensuing confusion which followed the pistol-shot, making the case one of remarkable complications, have hidden the truth for a week, but at last it is growing simpler. The mother of the girl, who has proclaimed murder, at last practically admits that the hand of her daughter must have pulled the trigger that fired the bullet. Miss Barrett missed and deceived Mrs. Barrett. She told at home how Miss Anita Wheelwright gave her fine garments. It was not so.

She narrated the fairy tale of hiring the suite for that same woman at the Thorndike. It was false. She declared that she took $800 from the bank and loaned it to Captain John Codman; that was untrue. These lies were nailed to-day.

Alice was in moderate circumstances. She loved to dress. She undoubtedly aspired to be admired by young men of considerable means, who would be doubly attracted by fashionable clothing and a dash of style. Her tastes were above her condition in life, and all this on a salary of $8 per week. Ever since the tragedy it has been supposed that when the girl's mother would divulge the secret of the identity of the man to whom her daughter loaned that fatal $800 which disappeared the mystery would be solved.

The mother obstinately refused to do so; finally she admitted it was Captain John Codman, the well-known author.

But Captain Codman denies the story altogether. She did not lend him a cent. The poor girl spent the money and deceived her mother with this yarn. This afternoon Marshal Whitcomb stated that, owing to the fact that $200 in cash and a check for $55 are missing, he is not yet satisfied that Miss Barrett really committed suicide. If there was murder done the murderer was the incendiary, and the Marshal wishes to satisfy himself whether or not the incendiary is at large.

The other new evidence of murder is the blood-stained ribbon on her key ring, which was found inside her pocket-book to-day. She could not have put it there after she shot herself dead. Did a murderer's hand place it there? It has also become known that Miss Barrett quite often remained away from home nights. Mrs. Barrett always supposed she was at Miss Wheelwright's house, but for three nights she stayed at the Thorndike. She was not with Miss Wheelwright at all, the latter says.

Deputy Superintendent of Police Hans-comb said to-night: "There is a mystery here, to be sure, but no conceivable good can come from solving it. It is a family secret."

KING GEORGE MAY ABDICATE.

Promises to Make a Grave Statement if the Powers Take Control of Greece's Finances.

BERLIN, GERMANY, July 31.—The Post, known as the Embassadors' organ, says Russia and Germany have pressed Greece to submit to the scheme of international control of her finances, and that the Grecian Premier replied that Greece would never accept the control proposed, but would help herself.

PARIS, FRANCE, July 31.—An Athens dispatch says in the event of the powers establishing a control of the Greek finances, King George will make a statement of exceptional gravity. This is construed to mean his abdication.

TO CUT OFF RE-ENFORCEMENTS.
Tactics of the Tribesmen Besting Camp Malakand.

SIMLA, INDIA, July 31.—The latest advices from Camp Malakand indicate that the enemy is endeavoring to cut off the re-enforcements now en route. The loss of the enemy in fighting Thursday night is believed to have been heavier than on any previous occasion. The fact that the Mollah was wounded and his chief disciple killed will dishearten the fanatics. The Mollah posed as divinely inspired and as able to capture Malakand.

It is reported that the leading headmen of the uprising have abandoned.

APPALLING FLOODS IN EUROPE.
Hundreds of Persons Drowned and Immense Tracts Devastated.

LONDON, Eng., July 31.—Dispatches from various Continental news centers confirm the reports of the appalling extent of the floods in Prussian Silesia and consequent large loss of life and almost incalculable destruction of property. Hundreds of persons have been drowned and immense tracts of country submerged. Dispatches from Vienna report the drowning of a large number of persons in adjacent provinces. A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that 150 persons have perished in the floods of Southern Russia.

Might Be Andree's Balloon.
STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, July 31.—Eleven steamers which shortly leave for the Yemsel River will make a thorough search of the White Sea for an object seen floating by the captain of the Dutch steamer Dordrecht, which it is surmised might be the balloon in which Andree started for the north pole.

Rebel Nations of Gasland Defeated.
LISBON, PORTUGAL, July 31.—An official dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez says the Government troops have defeated the rebellious natives in an engagement in Gasaland. The natives lost 300.

PANIC AMONG STUDENTS.
De Pauze University Set on Fire and Destroyed by Lightning.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., July 31.—During a heavy thunderstorm that passed over this place this morning one of the buildings of De Pauze University was struck by lightning and set on fire. For a while there was a great panic among the students, but fortunately there was no loss of life, although several of the inmates of the building were considerably injured. The building that was struck was entirely destroyed by the fire resulting. The loss is estimated at $30,000, but it is doubtful if that amount will replace the building and its contents.

BURNED BY ROENTGEN RAYS.
Miss McDonald Suffered Damages for Her Terrible Injuries.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31.—Miss Jessie McDonald, who was badly burned by Roentgen rays, has placed her case in the hands of lawyers and will seek damages for injuries. Her condition is still serious.

Dr. Griswold, the family physician, says that never in his experience has he seen such terrible burns. From the top of Miss McDonald's head to the wrist on the left side, which was exposed to the X rays, the skin is gone completely, and the flesh looks as though it had been roasted. The victim endures terrible agony constantly.

She is deaf in the left ear, and whether she will regain her hearing is a matter of conjecture. Drs. Shields and Jernigan, dentists, took her to Dr. M. J. O'Connell to have X ray photographs made of her left jaw to locate the cause of a mysterious pain. Two lengthy exposures were made.

ROBBERY OF OCEAN MAILS

Registered Letters Are Stolen En Route for Sweden.

Inspectors Are as Yet Unable to Definitely Fix the Responsibility.

Governments Will Have to Co-operate to Prevent the Looting of Sea Postoffices.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31.—For two months Postoffice Department inspectors have been trying to solve the mystery of the robbery of European mails in the latter part of May. The report reached the Postoffice Department at Washington Friday that two men are under suspicion.

The manner in which the robbery was committed shows great carelessness in handling sea mails, and may lead to a conference between the United States postoffice authorities and those of European governments, particularly Germany, to devise means for better safe-guarding the mails.

Among the mail received at the New York Postoffice on May 18, was a package of ninety-two registered letters from St. Louis, consigned to a town in the southwestern part of Sweden. The packages was safely delivered on the North German Lloyd liner Saale, but when the mail was unloaded at Bremerhaven several letters in this package were missing. The sorting of the mail on shipboard is in charge of a representative of the German Postoffice Department named Ranft and a representative of our Postoffice Department named McCann.

The pouch containing the registered letters from St. Louis was put in the post-office-room on board the ship, the key to which was kept by a German chief mail clerk named Bruggerman. When the Saale arrived at Bremerhaven the mails were taken off in a tug and loaded on a train. Bruggerman rode in the mail car as far as Bremen. The train reached there May 27. There it was discovered that two pouches, one containing newspapers for a town in Germany and the other containing registered letters for Sweden, were missing. They were found on the tug.

The registered mail pouch was empty. The bag had been cut, the letters removed and the cut sewed up. The inspectors were unable from the statements of Bruggerman, Ranft or McCann, to fix the responsibility.

Bruggerman and Ranft refused to answer questions, saying they could only do so when directed by the German Government. The American clerk, McCann, according to Bruggerman and Ranft, did only what he was told to do. He had made only two trips on the vessel and was not thoroughly familiar with the work.

As yet the value of the letters stolen can only be guessed. The authorities say it is several thousand dollars. A similar robbery occurred on the Saale two years ago. The thieves were never detected. The authorities are convinced there is a gang organized for the purpose of robbing international sea post-offices. They will request the German Postoffice to co-operate to catch the thieves.

DARK MYSTERY OF YEARS AGO.

Resurrected by a Story of a Woman's Confession.

Murder of Dr. Burdell, a New York Dentist, in January, 1857.

Publicity Given an Alleged Secret Which is Dissected by Ex-Mayor Hal.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31.—Dispatches from Chicago say that William Wood, after jealously guarding the secret for ten years, has made public the confession of Mrs. Emma Cunningham, that she murdered Dr. Harvey Burdell, a New York dentist, on January 30, 1857. The alleged confession is said to have been made to Wood's mother years ago. Mrs. Cunningham was Burdell's housekeeper. According to her confession she and her lover, John Eckel, a wealthy leather manufacturer, killed him as he lay sleeping in his operating chair. Mrs. Cunningham was tried for the crime, but exonerated and it has since remained one of the greatest murder mysteries of the metropolis.

Regarding the alleged confession, ex-Mayor Oakey Hall, who was prosecuting attorney at the time, said to-night he was sure that Mrs. Cunningham had never confessed. He said: "Aside from that, there are other flaws in the story. It says that Mrs. Cunningham died in 1857 in this city. Ex-Police Inspector Dilks, who worked up the case against Mrs. Cunningham, told me not over two weeks ago that he had recently met Mrs. Cunningham in San Francisco. She told Dilks that she had married a wealthy copper-miner owner in Lower California and was living in luxury. Eckel established a complete alibi. He was a lodger in Dr. Burdell's house, on Bond street. He showed beyond a shadow of a doubt that he was not in Burdell's house or near it on the night of the murder.

"This story says Burdell was choked. There was not a mark on his body to indicate that he had been. Everybody who knew the inside history of the case believed that Mrs. Cunningham had committed the murder, assisted by Dr. Uhl, also a lodger in the house, who committed suicide in the Andes shortly after. Eckel died several years ago."

The attempts of Mrs. Cunningham to claim the estate of Dr. Burdell by alleging marriage to him and her efforts to palm off a bogus heir to the estate caused a great sensation, which was intensified later by her confession of the fraud.

ATTACKED BY A MOB.
An Unpopular New York Policeman Loses His Prisoner, but Kills an Assailant.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31.—Police-man Thomas Devine was attacked by a mob to-night while taking a prisoner to the station-house, and in defending himself shot one of the mob dead. Devine has been very unpopular on his beat, and on several occasions, when he has made arrests, he has been attacked by a crowd. He arrested James Lynch to-night for being drunk and disorderly. Before he got far with his prisoner a crowd surrounded him and some one stoned him.

Cornelius O'Keefe thrice knocked Devine's helmet off, the crowd finally wresting the prisoner away. Pestered beyond endurance, Devine finally whirled around face to face with O'Keefe and shot him through the heart. O'Keefe died instantly. Lynch had been hustled out of the way and escaped. When O'Keefe fell the crowd cleared out and in a very few moments the street was deserted save for the policeman and the corpse. Devine has been suspended from duty and put under arrest on a charge of homicide.

MAY BE GIVEN HIS PASSPORT.
Minister Rodriguez's Interference With This Country's Affairs Makes Him Very Unpopular.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31.—The World's Workington special says: Senator Rodriguez, Minister of the Greater Republic of Central America, may be given his passports as a result of alleged undue interference in the affairs of the United States. The protest of Nicaragua against the reception of Captain Merry as the representative of this Government has again brought to the surface the dissatisfaction heretofore felt at the action of Rodriguez.

His letter to the State Department which the Nicaragua canal bill was under discussion in the Senate, coupled with several unguarded interviews at that time, irritated a number of Senators and brought forward the suggestion that the Minister in his antagonism to the canal had exceeded the bounds of diplomacy. Friends of the Nicaragua canal now believe that Rodriguez, who is at home on three months' leave, is responsible for the objections filed against Merry, and they are convinced that the Minister prefers to have the canal constructed by English capital. In such an event an understanding has been reached that the Senate will consider the advisability of requesting the President to cease recognizing Rodriguez as Minister, and it is believed the President would promptly respect an intimation of this kind.

ROASTING ON THE MONONGAHELA.
Excursion of Young People's Alliance Jagged at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 31.—A boat ride on the Monongahela River took up the time of the delegates to the biennial convention of the Young People's Alliance of the Evangelist Association this morning, and no business session was held. At the afternoon session Rev. Gier (brother of Governor) read a paper on "The Mission of the Young People's Alliance in Large Cities."

The rest of the session was taken up with a discussion led by Rev. C. A. Thomas of Cleveland and Rev. L. S. Saeger of Akron, O., on "The Best Methods of Work in Order to Carry Out the Aims of the Organization."

Fruitful Harvest in South Dakota.
SIOUX FALLS, S. D., July 31.—A destructive hailstorm passed near here last night. The storm started six miles west of Dell Rapids and went in a southeasterly direction, destroying crops and leveling a path around Garrettsville. One branch of the storm passed over Snermantown and Luverne, Minn., and it went in two paths, one north and the other south, across Rock and Noble counties. It is estimated that fully 5,000,000 acres of crops were destroyed.

MR. STEVENSON HAS VANISHED

Missing Grace's Fate Also Mysteriously Disappears.

Citations and Warrants Fail to Establish the Place of His Hiding.

Possession of the Property to Be Taken by the Sheriff Until an Assignee Is Chosen.

BOSTON, Mass., July 31.—The mystery of the disappearance of Grace Stevenson, the millionaire heiress, who has not been heard from for nearly four months, is now complicated by the fact that her father has vanished too. The court of insolvency to-day granted the petition for a warrant in insolvency for James Stevenson. Sheriff O'Brien will at once take possession of all of Stevenson's property which can be found until an assignee is chosen at the meeting of creditors, which is now set for Friday, September 3.

Louisa Wilson and Sarah Kimball obtained judgment against Stevenson in the Municipal Court some time since for $619, but when they came to levy they were unable to find any property of his which was not incumbered by attachment or otherwise.

Their next step was to begin proceedings in the poor debtors' court, where a citation was issued, but when the time arrived the officer was obliged to make a return that he had been unable to obtain service.

Stevenson, so far as the officers of the law were concerned, had mysteriously disappeared. Another citation was issued, but he did not appear. Then a warrant was issued for his arrest, but could not be found. Mrs. Stevenson, the mother of the girl, has not given up the search, nor have the Brookline police, but almost every source of information has been exhausted.

SPALDING FINALLY CONVICTED.
Found Guilty of Embezzling University Funds—Nearly Prostrated by the Verdict.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 31.—Charles Spalding, ex-president of the Grove Savings Bank and ex-treasurer of the State University, was found guilty of the embezzlement of university endowment funds to-day. The prisoner was almost prostrated when the verdict was read. He grasped a chair for support, and a few minutes later was led back to his cell in the County Jail. Judge Horton's charge was favorable to the prosecution. The specific charge against the ex-banker was the hypothecation of $32,000 worth of bonds belonging to the university. Spalding admitted having pledged them to the First National Bank, but claimed in his defense that he had used the money to meet current expenses. There are still twenty-five indictments against Spalding.
