

mittes established at Havana, of which the Bishop of Havana is the chairman. It was arranged also that supplies sent to the Spanish minister here would be forwarded to the authorities at Havana. Since then there have been criticisms of the system adopted, and reports have come from Havana that the reconcentrados were starving as a result of obstacles in the way of transmitting relief. The Spanish authorities state, however, that there has been no delay on their part, and that since the arrangement was made no offer of supplies, medicines, etc., has been made. There has been a general desire, however, to adopt a system by which the supplies will go direct to General Lee, and as a result of the Spanish minister's visit to-day this will be the plan to be adopted in executing the relief measures under the call now issued.

MOVING AGAINST THE CUBANS.
Spanish Force Concentrating to Strike One Formidable Blow.

HAVANA, Dec. 24.—Every indication is that formidable offensive operations are now about to be undertaken by the Spanish forces in all parts of the island. In Havana province the movement has for its primary object the avenging of the death of Colonel Ruiz by the annihilation of the force of Nester Aranguren, which now represents the rebel military strength in the province. General Parrado took the field yesterday, accompanied by General Valdarrama, taking with him all the available troops in the city and vicinity. It was remarked to-day that hardly a Spanish officer was to be seen on the streets, a certain indication that sharp work is contemplated in the field within a few days.

Columns aggregating 10,000 men will converge in the vicinity of Jaruco, near which Aranguren's band was found by Consul-General Lee's emissaries. It is doubtful whether they will find anything more than a sign of a camp, as the intelligence received by the Junta to-day shows that Aranguren has been warned of the intended Spanish advance and has taken precautions.

The Herald's correspondent in Santiago de Cuba advises me that General Pando after much hard fighting appears to be forced to suspend operations to await the pretense of a truce, ammunition, guns and artillerymen. This last fact tends to confirm the story that Garcia's force is stronger than was expected, and is well supplied with artillery. There were shipped from Havana to Santiago yesterday nine guns of nine centimeter caliber with full gun detachments of trained artillerymen. There were also shipped 100 rounds for each gun and 200 Mauseur's rifle cartridges of Bayamo.

MADRID, Dec. 24.—An impassioned article appears this evening in Correspondencia Militar, the organ of the army, entitled "Give unto Caesar that which is Caesar's." After fulminating against the Yankees and calling them culpable aggressors, the article says it is unable to restrain its indignation against the filibusters who are not combatants and not versed in the ways of war.

WHALERS IN COMBAT WITH A LEVIATHAN.
Division in Monterey Bay That Nearly Proves Serious to the Men—The Prize Secured.

MONTREY, Dec. 24.—The crew of No. 2 whale boat of the Monterey Whaling Company had a tussle with a leviathan of the sea, which came near late this afternoon, which came near resulting seriously for the men and was the cause of some damage to the boat. Three whales were sighted in the early afternoon and the two boats started in pursuit, but lost two of them. The third one they shot, but as the gun was carelessly aimed the harpoon struck him in the head over the eye and becoming infuriated he proceeded to make things lively. He came up once under the boat, nearly capsizing it, and struck it once with his tail. The crew, however, were exercised whalers and succeeded in conquering their harm themselves. The whale is about sixty feet long.

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 24.—President Pirola has signed and promulgated a new measure legalizing non-Catholic marriages in Peru. With the exception of the Clerical organs, the press to-day is in the press in applauding the clever statesmanship of Pirola in pushing the measure through.

RIVERSIDE'S MYSTERY APPROACHES SOLUTION.
Pretty Definitely Learned That the Name of the Murdered Man Was A. L. Modie.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Dec. 24.—It has now been pretty definitely learned that the name of the man found dead near this city a couple of weeks ago was A. L. Modie. The officers are in possession of further facts which, it is thought, will finally clear up the mystery in a few days.

Criminal Cases That Had Not Been Placed on the Calendar.

OFFENDERS GO SCOT FREE.

Waide's Bond Is Still Missing—The Call's Special Correspondent Investigating.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 24.—Two criminal cases which had for some mysterious reason not been placed on the criminal calendar of Judge Lorigan's court were entered thereon to-day, as the result of investigations made by The Call's special correspondent. Another matter brought to public attention in the course of this investigation was the fact that an appeal bond for $5000 is missing from the records, as was published in The Call this morning.

The facts developed in connection with the latter about three months ago, laid methods are pursued in both the office of the District Attorney and of the County Clerk.

The two cases that were placed to-day on the criminal calendar of the Superior Court are on appeal from the court of City Justice Gass. One is that against Charles Knapp and the other against John Norton. The former was appealed more than a year ago and the latter about three months ago. The case in which the appeal bond for $5000 is missing is that against Steve Wade.

Charles Knapp was found guilty on October 20, 1896, of having obtained money under false pretenses from the city of San Jose by means of a fraudulent claim, which had been approved by Councilman Krieg. Mayor Koch was the complainant. The defendant was represented by J. E. Edison. The case was represented by the District Attorney W. Beasley and Special Counsel J. R. Welch.

On October 23 a sentence imposing a fine of $300 was pronounced by Justice Gass, with the alternative of 150 days in the county jail. The papers on appeal were forwarded to the Superior Court on November 20, 1896, by Justice Gass.

Under section 1252 of the Penal Code it is provided that "all appeals in criminal cases must be heard and determined by the Appellate Court, unless continued on motion or with the consent of the defendant." The case of Knapp excited wide attention at the time of his conviction, but nothing more was heard of it after the appeal was taken.

Inquiry by The Call correspondent developed the fact that the appeal papers had not been filed in the office of the County Clerk, but that it was questioned that they had been duly forwarded by Justice Gass.

A thorough search of the County Clerk's office failed to bring them to light. When the District Attorney was asked why the appeal papers were not in his attention he declared it was not in the line of his duty, but that it was the duty of City Attorney Welch to continue the prosecution in the Superior Court.

Section 132 of the County Government act provides as follows: "The District Attorney is the public prosecutor, and must: (1) Attend the courts, and conduct the prosecution of all people, all prosecutions for public offenses. (2) Institute proceedings before the magistrates for the arrest of persons charged with or reasonably suspected of public offenses when he has information that any such offenses have been committed, and for that purpose, when not engaged in criminal proceedings in the Superior Court, must attend upon the magistrate in cases of arrest, when required by them."

Knapp is now enjoying his freedom on the strength of the bond filed when the appeal was taken from Justice Gass' court, and this bond is missing. John Norton on September 14, 1897, pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace and Justice Gass fined him $30, with the alternative of 30 days in the County Jail. Notwithstanding the fact that Norton had pleaded guilty, he took an appeal to the Superior Court, and the papers were duly forwarded to the County Clerk's office on September 23, and there they remained unnoticed and neglected until to-day.

As already shown, all appeals must be determined within sixty days after they are filed, and section 1047 of the Penal Code provides as follows: "The clerk must keep a calendar of all criminal actions pending in the court, enumerating them according to the date of the filing of the indictment or information, specifying opposite the title of each action whether it is for felony or a misdemeanor, and whether the defendant is in custody or on bail."

James P. Sex is the clerk of Judge Lorigan's court. When his attention was first called to the Norton case he stated that he had not put it on the calendar because he was not instructed to do so. After the law relating to his duty in the matter had been quoted he stated that he had not put it on the calendar because the papers were not in proper shape.

In the face of all this the Norton case was placed on Judge Lorigan's calendar to-day, as was also that of Charles Knapp. Both were placed there on the order of District Attorney B. A. Herrington through his deputy, William Beasley.

Mr. Beasley on being asked why the Norton case had not been taken up by the District Attorney, replied that so far as he could recollect the District Attorney's office had received no notice of the case being appealed. Justice Gass, on being questioned in reference to the matter, stated that a day or two after the appeal papers had been forwarded to the Superior Court Mr. Beasley called at his office. On being informed of the interview Justice Gass then informed him of the appeal having been taken.

WILL WED AN AUBURN BELLE

MRS. WILLIAM I. MAY, FORMERLY MISS LILLIAN A. COKER.

AUBURN, Dec. 24.

The marriage of William I. May and Miss Lillian A. Coker, of Auburn, will be solemnized at noon to-morrow at the Golden Eagle Hotel, Sacramento, in the presence of many friends.

Miss Coker richly deserves the credit given her as Auburn's prettiest daughter, and she has hosts of friends. Mr. May is very popular and one of Placer County's promising young men, a staunch Republican and the present County Clerk, which office he has held for the past five years. Mr. and Mrs. May will leave on the afternoon train for a wedding tour through coast cities.

SEASON'S BEST FOOTBALL MEN

An All-California Team Named From Many Players.

"Call's" Annual Selection and Comparison of Gridiron Heroes.

- Center.....Burnett, Stanford.
- Guards.....Carle, Stanford.
-Rice, Stanford.
- Tackles.....Thomas, Stanford.
-Sherman, Reliance.
-Parker, Stanford.
- Quarterback.....Code, Reliance.
-Hall, California.
- Halfbacks.....Morse, Reliance.
-Cotton, Stanford.

These are the football players that, at the close of the season of 1897, have, in the judgment of this department of The Call, done such work in their particular positions as warrants their selection for a so-called All-California team, a hypothetical eleven made up of the most efficient and scientific products of this year's coaching and games.

Such a choice is not difficult after an experience of seven seasons on the sidelines, with opportunities for closely observing each of the players in all the big and many of the smaller games played in and near this city since intercollegiate football was inaugurated on the Pacific Coast.

Certain of the men, however, stand out pre-eminently as superior players, and those are Carle, Cotton, Hall and Code. The others were not so evidently superior to their particular rivals, and their selection was determined by a more careful analysis of their playing, with respect to their immediate opponents, their knowledge of the game, their assistance, both given and received; their general value to a team, their defensive and offensive work, and their performances in sudden emergencies.

They were also judged by a certain standard. For that standard was taken the work presumably of the best players ever associated with the game on this Coast:

For center, Williams (Stanford team of '95 and '96); for guard, Carle (Stanford team of '95 and '96, and of '97); for tackle, Cochran (Stanford team of '92 and '93, and of '94 and '95); for end, Nolan (West Point team of '93, '94, and '95); All-American team of '95, and Olympic team of '92, '93, and of '95, (Stanford team of '92, '93, and of '95, Olympic team of '96, and Reliance team of '97); for halfbacks, Clemens, Hall, Walton, Morse, Frankheimer and Hunt; for fullback, Ransome (California team of '93, '94, '95, and of '96).

This comparison left as substitutes of the All-California team of '97: Wells (Reliance) for guard, Carle (Stanford) and Sheehy (Reliance) for guards, Oliver (Reliance) and Pringle (California) for tackles, Lanyon (Reliance) and Hopper (California) for ends, Murphy (Stanford) or Erb (Stanford) for quarter, Fisher (Stanford) and Carter (Reliance) for halfbacks, and Fisher (Stanford) for fullback.

OMAHA HAS WELCOMED THIS CITY

Will Send Klondike Gold-Hunters This Way.

Wide-Awake Business Men Greet Their San Francisco Fellows.

All the Railroads Combine to Help Out the Trade Movement.

RUSH COMING NEXT SPRING

Thousands in the Search for Treasure Will Set Out Through the Golden Gate.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

OMAHA, Dec. 24.—This region has extended greeting to San Francisco in her bid for Klondike business in no uncertain way. Omaha not only resolves that San Francisco should invite the attention of all Klondike prospectors but local railroads are favoring that route to the gold fields.

One result of the visit of the San Francisco advertising car is the statement from inside Union Pacific sources that there is no combination which will prevent the company giving the best possible rates via San Francisco. Every other company here except the Burlington, which has a traffic arrangement with the Northern Pacific, will favor San Francisco.

The visitors spent much of their time in conference with the passenger agents here, but would give no details of the plans arranged. In fact, the Alaskan Trade Committee received a great ovation from the time its special car arrived at Omaha on Tuesday till it left to-night for Chicago. Immediately after the arrival of the party here they all went to the Millard Hotel, where they took dinner. Before the meal was finished the visitors were greeted by a number of exposition directors, among them being Messrs. Wattle, Dudley Smith, D. M. Dearing, Babcock and Kirkendall. An informal reception followed, and it was at this the exposition and Klondike exhibits were in measure combined.

To-day the visitors were permitted to remain in quietude in their car, which was side-tracked near the Union Depot, until about 11 o'clock, when a delegation of local citizens called upon them. In the party were H. J. Penfold, F. P. Kirkendall, Edward Rosewater, W. N. Babcock, R. C. Patterson, Major T. S. Clark, G. W. Payne, J. E. Baum, George Shriver. Major Rosewater was to have been in the party, but he was unable to accompany them on account of illness.

After a short visit in the car, during which Mr. Willis made a speech in which he explained the objects of interest it contained, the entire party was seated in sleighs. They were driven out to the Exposition grounds, where the buildings were thoroughly inspected. The party returned to the Commercial Club, where a luncheon was served.

Many local business men dropped in to greet the Californians even before the meal was completed. After lunch the party adjourned to the parlors where a number of Omaha citizens had assembled to meet the visitors and a major meeting was organized.

Major T. S. Clark presided as chairman, and made a short and pointed speech in which he welcomed the visitors to the city in a happy strain. President Wattle followed with a short business talk about the exposition, and then introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The golden jubilee of the semi-centennial of the discovery of gold in California will be celebrated in the city of San Francisco from January 24 to January 29, 1898, and

Whereas, For five weeks subsequent to the opening of an exposition of the mineral resources of the State of California, and the Territory of Alaska will be held, at which will be exhibited to the world the products of the mining industry of a territory that has never been placed on exhibition; and

Whereas, At this exposition the resources of the newly discovered mines of the Klondike region will be fully represented; and

Whereas, We believe that this exhibit would be especially attractive to the millions of visitors that will gather at the Exposition of Omaha at this time; and

Resolved, That the citizens of California, Alaska and the Klondike region; and

Resolved, That a party of distinguished citizens of California and Alaska are visiting this city of Omaha at this time to promote and advertise the mining interests of the great State of California and the Territory of Alaska; therefore be it resolved, That the citizens of the city of Omaha and of the trans-Mississippi and International Exposition be extended to the distinguished delegates here present, and through them to the managers of the golden jubilee of the semi-centennial of the discovery of gold in California, Alaska and the Klondike region; and

Resolved, That this exhibit be placed on exhibition on the grounds of the trans-Mississippi and International Exposition, and that the State of California, Alaska and the Klondike region be erected especially for this exhibit.

Remarkable Result of an Operation Performed by Dr. Schlatter.

Proves That a Person Will Survive When This Organ Is Wholly Removed.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—For the first time in the history of surgery a complete excision of the stomach of a human being has been successfully accomplished. The patient was Anna Landis, a silk weaver, 56 years old, who as supposed to be suffering from cancer. More than three months after the operation she is to all intents and purposes well and capable of performing daily work. The operation which was performed by Dr. Carl Schlatter of the University of Zurich, Switzerland, has attracted widespread attention in Europe, where it is hailed as a brilliant one. It is the first step in a new history of surgical triumphs.

Through its representative at Zurich, Dr. Edmund Charles Wendt of New York the Medical Record will print in view of the importance of the fact marks based on a personal study of the case, but a complete description of the operation, written by Dr. Schlatter himself.

This astonishing surgical feat, presenting a case which, as it does a human being whose life was saved by the elimination of the organ to which all have hitherto conceded functions of paramount importance, will astonish not only laymen but the surgeons of this country. Dr. George F. Schraday, editor of the Medical Record, will say of this case editorially, among other things:

"Whatever we may venture upon or con on the question at issue, the fact appears to be proven that a human subject can live and be reasonably active for months at a time without any stomach whatever, and obtain all necessary nourishment from the intestinal tract. It is possible that the latter may have a new set of functions not yet understood, or has the importance of the stomach digestion been misapprehended and overrated? In any event we are now brought face to face with a very curious demonstration, which destroys the validity of many preconceived opinions and in a great measure nullifies the results of many previous experiments."

The surprising conclusions which Dr. Wendt considers justifiable in simply as to prove instructive to the average layman. Among them are:

The human stomach is not a vital organ. The digestive capacity of the human stomach has been considerably overrated.

Fluids and solids constituting ordinary mixed diet are capable of complete digestion and assimilation without the aid of the human stomach.

A gain in the weight of body may take place in spite of the total absence of gastric activity.

The general health of a person need not immediately deteriorate on account of the removal of the stomach.

The important office of the human stomach is to act as a reservoir for the reception, preliminary preparation and propulsion of food and fluids. It also fulfills a useful purpose in regulating the temperature of swallowed solids and liquids.

Hendy's Estate Distributed.

A decree of distribution was filed in the Hendy estate yesterday, and this will act as an effectual bar to the proceedings brought by Mrs. A. J. Raugh McHenry and the Judge waiting for their trust, for in the decree they are discharged from further service as executors.

The decree of distribution apportions the estate among the heirs according to the terms of the will of Joshua, which was established after long legal fight. The suit of George Hendy being a civil action, is not affected by the decree, but the action of Mrs. Raugh must be commenced over again in the civil courts.

Lawrence Failed to Appear.

The argument in the criminal libel suit at the instance of Clara Spreckels against A. M. Lawrence of the Examiner was definitely fixed for 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon before Judge Campbell. Attorneys Grove L. Johnson and Garrett McHenry and the Judge waited patiently for over half an hour, but the defendant failed to put in an appearance, and the Judge issued a bench warrant for his arrest returnable at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Woodhead's Injuries Fatal.

John Woodhead, the engineer who fell from the third floor of the Hall of Justice, died yesterday morning. An inquest will be held.
