

MANY INSANE PATIENTS ARE CONSUMPTIVE

Four Hospitals May Be Established for Their Care.

Startling Discoveries of Dr. D. D. Crowley and Dr. Morse.

One Out of Every Ten Is Afflicted With Dread Tuberculosis.

ASYLUMS ARE VISITED.

Cows Are Now Being Tested to Prevent Further Spread of the Disease.

Dr. Morse, of the local Board of Health, and Dr. D. D. Crowley, of Oakland, constituting a committee of the State Board of Health appointed to visit the insane asylums to ascertain the proportion of consumptives among the patients, have discovered a startling state of affairs.

While at Napa on Sunday they examined a large number of the unfortunate confined there and found that about one out of every ten was suffering from tuberculosis. The visit was made with the additional motive of ascertaining whether or not it will be necessary for the State to establish special hospitals for the care of the consumptive insane.

Both of the physicians, who stand very high in the medical profession, are of the opinion that such institutions are an absolute necessity and that at least four hospitals will be necessary, one for each asylum for the proper care of the consumptive patients.

In speaking of the matter yesterday Dr. Crowley said that in his opinion this was one of the most important discoveries that had yet been made in connection with the care of the insane and that he will use every effort in the State Board of Health to have the hospital built at an early date.

It will be necessary for the Legislature to make an appropriation for this purpose, but it is thought probable that the necessary money can be obtained by action of the next session.

Governor Budd has taken an active interest in the matter and a committee will be appointed at the next meeting of the Board to draft a bill to cover the subject.

In order to ascertain whether the milk supply of the asylums have anything to do with the prevalence of consumption, tuberculosis is being applied to the cows that furnish milk to the State institutions.

WANTED TO DIE.

Mrs. J. Anie, in a Fit of Melancholy, Swallows Chloroform.

Mrs. J. Anie, wife of Frederick Anie, 44 Juniper street, attempted to commit suicide yesterday morning by swallowing two ounces of chloroform. She has been suffering from melancholy for some time and her husband had arranged to take her before the Insanity Commissioners yesterday.

She had been stopping with some friends who could watch her, but yesterday morning she left unobserved and immediately after she had taken the little girl run down stairs and tell her father. He tried to get a physician and she was taken to the Receiving Hospital, and she was taken there in the ambulance.

Dr. Fitzhugh and Chief Steward Bucher used electricity and oxygen on her, and after over an hour's work they infused life into her and the chances that she will recover. She is a woman about 40 years of age.

LOST OR STOLEN.

Mysterious Disappearance of a Pocket-Book in a Restaurant.

The police are trying to solve the mystery of the disappearance of a pocket-book containing $45 in coin and a check for $50. It belonged to N. P. Jensen, proprietor of a restaurant at 11 Eddy street.

Jensen reported to the police yesterday that on Saturday night he paid the laundry man with his money out of a purse and put it in his pocket. About an hour later he had occasion to use the purse but when he put his hand in his pocket the money was gone. He was "touched," but he suspected he had been "touched."

Two detectives have been detailed on the case, and they are endeavoring to find out the names of the people who were in the restaurant on Saturday night.

FUN AT THE KENNEL FAIR.

The Kennels of Big St. Bernard Dogs Formed an Attractive Feature Last Night.

The heat and excitement, combined with the bitter fact that she had been treated by less than a half-minute in making a world's soap-wrapping record, caused pretty Lizzie Ohlendorf to faint at the Mining Fair last night. This unexpected occurrence created considerable excitement for a while, and the young girl's sister became hysterical and has to be taken from the building by friends.

The soap-wrapping contest was the feature of the evening, and there were four contestants from the New England Soap Company. The conditions of the event were to wrap and pack 100 cakes of soap. It was very close and exciting, and the girls worked with lightning-like rapidity.

Ida Fairclough won by one cake in 6:05, with Klizzie Ray second, and Lizzie Ohlendorf a close third. The girls had just left the stand when Lizzie was seen to reel, but a friend caught her before she fell. She was carried into the ladies' waiting room and a physician summoned. The girl was finally restored to consciousness and taken to her home.

EMBEZZLEMENT IS THE TOPIC

Checks Are Beginning to Make Their Appearance in the Fiegel Case.

Murder Evidence Delayed While the Prosecution Endeavors to Fix a Motive.

The Fiegel case reopened yesterday morning before Judge Cook and jury. Many witnesses were called for the prosecution, but nothing of importance was brought forth. At the present time the case seems to be considerably jumbled up.

In the morning general testimony was given, but during the afternoon session the entire testimony seemed to hinge on the embezzlement and forgery charges, for the purpose of showing a motive for the alleged murder of Isaac Hoffman. It looks as though the case will consume over six weeks of Judge Cook's valuable time.

James Bacon, a letter-carrier, was first called, and testified that he had removed the letters from the letter-box on Bush and Battery streets for the last time on the evening of June 1. The witness also testified that he had removed the letters from the letter-box on Bush and Battery streets for the last time on the evening of June 1.

He was followed by Harry Jacobs, a drayman, who stated under examination that he had seen Fiegel on Bush street on the evening of June 1. He had closed up his business at 111 Bush street, and that afterward he had seen and nodded to Fiegel on the street.

Isaac Gilbert, manager of the firm of Hoffman, Rothchild & Co., testified that up to the list of last June he had acted as assistant bookkeeper, and that up to the time of the shooting Mr. Shultz and Mr. Fiegel had the keys to the front door, but that one evening, while at work, Fiegel had told him that he had lost his key to the main door and was obliged to enter on the evening-rest side.

At this time an argument arose as to whether or not testimony which had been given at the preliminary examination should be read in the absence of the witnesses. The argument arose over the absence of Margaret Hale, who is at present in New York City. Then Judge Murphy stated that he would read the testimony by Hale, but an objection was made by

LEAD IN LANE, SHE GETS ANGRY

Pretty May Fay Slaps the Face of Alfred Clement.

She Claims That He Deserted Her for Another Woman.

Arrested on a Charge of Battery She Is at Once Released.

Miss May Fay, an attractive young woman, was arrested last night on a warrant from Police Court No. 3, charging her with battery. The complaining witness is Alfred Clement, a clerk in a down-town insurance office.

According to the story told by Clement, Miss Fay is enamored of him. Recently he decided to "give her the shake," as he expressed it, but she refused to give him up. He claims that she was in the habit of meeting him as he left the office in which he is employed, and vainly endeavored to convince him of her "undying love" for him.

Last Saturday, Clement claims, the woman met him on Larkin street in the vicinity of the City Hall, and proceeded to "call him down" for not reciprocating her affections. Becoming angry, Clement took her by the arm, intending to have her locked up. On the way, he claims, the woman struck him in the face with her open hand.

Yesterday he appeared in Judge Joachimson's court and swore a complaint charging his pretty assailant with battery.

Judge Campbell at once released her on her own recognizance. Miss Fay said she was a stenographer, and that she was employed in the Baldwin Hotel. She claimed that Clement fell desperately in love with her. She returned his affection, and according to her statement, he promised to make her his wife.

Several weeks ago, she claims, she met Clement with another woman, and reprimanded him for what she termed his unfaithfulness. He informed her that he had transferred his affection to the woman who was with him.

Becoming enraged at his conduct, she says, when she met him last Saturday she slapped his face.

The woman exhibited several letters to Chief Lees which she received from the gay clerk. They were couched in endearing terms, the writer expressing undying love for the pretty stenographer. Clement, it is understood, will ask that the charge against the woman be dismissed when it is called in the Police Court this morning.

HONEYMOON INTERRUPTED.

Charles Atkinson and His Wife Spend Some Hours in the City Prison.

The honeymoon of Charles Atkinson, a dairyman on a ranch at Clayton, Contra Costa county, and his wife, Hilda, was rudely interrupted yesterday morning by a policeman, who called at the Yosemite House, where they were stopping, and took them to the City Prison. After remaining there for several hours they were released.

Mrs. Atkinson's maiden name was Hilda Rhine, and her father owns a ranch in Clayton. She and Atkinson had been keeping company for about a year, but her father strongly opposed their marriage, on the ground of religious differences. He urged her to get married without his consent. She came to the city about six weeks ago and got employment in a store. Atkinson's remuneration was small, and last week she sent him money to enable him to come to the city. He arrived last Friday, and obtained a marriage license in Oakland. They were married by Justice of the Peace Cliff on Sunday. A cousin of Hilda, named Alie Rhine, came to the city, and reported to the police yesterday morning that she was under age. The 19-year-old young couple being taken to the City Prison. She declared she would be 19 in June, which was later confirmed by a threat from her father, and they were released.

Potrero Nuevo Residents do Not Want It in Their District.

Property owners and residents generally in the vicinity of San Bruno avenue are opposed to the erection of the public pound on that thoroughfare, between Twenty-sixth and Army streets, and the opposition has assumed definite shape.

The opposition is a determined one is evinced by the fact that two petitions against the scheme have been signed by every man, woman and child on either side of the block and in the vicinity, and besides, they have agreed to contribute a sufficient fund to retain an attorney who will take legal action in the matter. General John H. Dickinson will advocate their protest and he will proceed to have an injunction served to stop the work on the building, and falling in that he will endeavor to have the pound, as soon as it is established, condemned as a public nuisance.

CHARGED WITH INSANITY.

Helena Gurra Confined in a Cell Because She Could Not Speak English.

Helena Gurra, an Italian girl, 19 years of age, came to the city on Friday morning from San Mateo county to look for work. She wandered around, and, feeling tired, sat on the steps of the Masonic Temple to rest herself. She was discovered by a policeman and she could not speak English he thought by her actions that she was insane. She was sent before the Commissioners, and not being able to answer any of their questions, she was taken to the Receiving Hospital by a Deputy Sheriff.

The girl is still in the hospital, but she will be looked after to-day. Yesterday an Italian interpreter had a conversation with her, and soon learned that the girl was not insane but that she was a cousin in Baden was communicated with, and he will come for her to-day, but if she should prefer to remain in the city the Salvation Army will take care of her.

GAMPOLI'S "HA-HA."

He Gave It to the Motorman of a Mailcar, and Now Wishes He Had Not.

J. Gampoli drives an express-wagon, and in order to save his vehicle from being torn to pieces on the rough pavements he used to drive his wagon with the wheels on the rails of the streetcars and give angry motormen and gripmen the "ha-ha" while he took his time in getting out of the way. But one day last October he turned his head and gave the "ha-ha" to the motorman of a United States mailcar, and was arrested therefor, although the charge in the complaint was "retarding the United States mails."

Gampoli pleaded "not guilty" some time ago, but he got tired of waiting for a trial to sponge that disastrous horsehair off his memory, and yesterday he withdrew his plea and acknowledged his guilt. He will receive his sentence next Thursday morning.

In this way it is thought that free fights will be prevented.
