

FINDS YELLOW FEVER GERMS NEVER GERMIS

Professor Klebbs Discovers the Cause of the Dread Disease.

Experiments in Which Science Will Be Most Deeply Interested.

It Is Shown That the Germ Is Not a Bacillus, but an Amoeba.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

CHICAGO, March 5.—The Times-Herald will say to-morrow: Dr. Edwin F. Klebbs, president of pathology and bacteriology in the Post-Graduate Medical School, has discovered the cause of yellow fever.

Professor Klebbs made his experiments on the stomach, duodenum and liver of two patients who had died of fever in Mobile.

He then went to work on his own account and by the aid of a special dye, composed of fuchsin, methylin blue and methylin green, he succeeded in isolating the desired germs.

The germ is not a bacillus, but an amoeba. It causes inflammation of the stomach when swallowed, and then in the duodenum it assumes a sporuliferous form, appearing here much like a bacillus.

From there it migrates to the liver, where it appears as a large, structureless body, about twice the size of the red blood corpuscles. Its effect is a rapid degeneration of the liver cells.

While Professor Klebbs is confident he has obtained the yellow fever germ, he will not make any scientific claim in this direction until he has been able to obtain live germs and make experiments with them.

ANNEXATION PLANS DULY CONSIDERED

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Decides on the Course to Pursue.

When All Are Convinced the Treaty Must Fail a Joint Resolution Will Be Taken Up.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

Call Office, Riggs House, Washington, March 5.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations held a two hours' sitting to-day in an effort to decide upon what course to pursue with reference to the Hawaiian annexation treaty.

When the committee adjourned the members refused absolutely to give out any information to the press saying that all present had pledged themselves to absolute secrecy.

The present intention of the committee is to hold the treaty in executive session until a test vote can be secured, and it is still understood that the Bacon amendment will be used for the purpose.

If the result of this vote indicates that a vote upon the treaty itself would be likely to defeat the friends of annexation who then resort to the expedient of a joint resolution.

Some difference of opinion developed in the committee as to the wisdom of resuming the executive sessions at all, but it was urged that the Bacon amendment would not assent to the change in the method of proceeding until there should be at least a vote richly straddling the view is understood to have prevailed.

FORTUNE CONTAINED IN ONE CHUNK OF ORE.

Ten Thousand Dollar Specimen Taken From the Plumbago Mine in Nevada County.

NEVADA CITY, March 5.—Superintendent Mason W. Mather of the Plumbago mine was here to-day on the way to San Francisco with $15,000 worth of specimens ore he has recently taken out.

One chunk, weighing ninety-seven pounds, is valued at $10,000. This mine has produced $200,000 in the past year. In four months' time two years ago it yielded $900,000. It is worked through a tunnel. The ledge varies from one to four feet in thickness. The ore generally is of high grade and extra rich streaks are frequently developed. It is located on Middle Yuba River, five miles above Moores Flat, in Nevada County.

LARGE STRIKES IN SEVERAL GERMAN CITIES

In Berlin Twelve Thousand Shoemakers Demand a Uniform Scale of Wages.

BERLIN, March 5.—There have been large strikes in a number of German cities. In Berlin 12,000 shoemakers have struck for a uniform scale of wages, and it is thought that the shoemakers elsewhere will join.

The cabinet-makers of Hamburg and Altona have struck for nine hours' work per day, and at Dresden 8000 cigarette-makers have gone out on strike.

There are similar reports from Charlottenburg, Stettin, Koenigsberg and Sorau, and big strikes are impending in the Rhenish mining district. At Baron von Stumm's request, a detachment of troops has been sent to the Saar district to preserve order.

GENERAL ROSECRANS IS YET VERY LOW.

Little Hope That the Warrior Will Recover From His Long Illness.

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—General W. S. Rosecrans is still seriously ill. He recovered consciousness to-day and took a little nourishment. At 9 p. m. his temperature was 102½ and his pulse 110.

Owing to his advanced age (79 years) and to the further fact that he has long been bedridden, the prospects for his complete recovery are not bright. Bishop Montgomery has administered to him the last rites of the Catholic church. Dr. John R. Haynes, his physician, has left his bedside and says that he will certainly live the night out.

Sewer Farm a Nuisance.

WOODLAND, March 5.—The jury reached a verdict in the case of Bald Bros. vs. the city of Woodland this afternoon. The sewer farm is declared a public nuisance and plaintiffs are awarded $100 damages.

HETTY GREEN THE WINNER

More Pleased by a Court Decision Than Receipt of Millions.

Son of the Rich Woman Can Act as Trustee of the Howland Estate.

Protest of Heirs Who Are Anxious for a Distribution All Made in Vain.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

BOSTON, March 5.—If somebody had presented Mrs. Hetty Howland Green this afternoon in the Taunton Probate Court room, or with an option on the State of Texas for her son, she would not have appeared more pleased than when Judge Fuller ruled in her favor against the San Francisco heirs in the matter of trusteeship of the Silvia Ann Howland estate.

Moorfield Storey of Boston appeared for Mrs. Green in support of her petition that Edward H. R. Green, her son, and A. S. Lawrence of Boston be appointed to fill vacancies on the board of trustees of the property left by Gideon Howland, her grandfather. This property now amounts to about $1,500,000, and Mrs. Green, by the terms of the will and trust, receives the income and will continue to do so during her lifetime unless she sees fit to surrender it and allow the estate to be divided. It is not thought that Mrs. Green will surrender any of the income yet. Mr. Storey held that the gentleman named in Mrs. Green's petition were qualified to fill the positions and asked that the court so rule.

Hon. William W. Crapo of New Bedford, the surviving trustee, handed to the court a batch of remonstrances signed by seventy-two of the numerous heirs to the estate, including those who live in San Francisco, among whom the money will be eventually divided. In those remonstrances could be found nothing against the appointment of the persons named in the petition of Mrs. Green save that Dr. Green ought not to serve for two reasons, that he did not live in the State and that his interests were too close to the beneficiary. It was then stated to the court that Mrs. Green and her son-in-law, and so far as being related to the beneficiary was concerned Mr. Green had recently been appointed a trustee in New York State, where he was a legatee and more directly interested than in this case. The court ruled that Mrs. Green's petition should be granted, and hereafter Mr. Green will serve as one of the trustees of the big estate.

Mrs. Green learned of the decision from The Call's representative because she was too excited to wait until her counsel could tell her and because she did not wish to hear the remarks of the court. She slammed a bundle she had in her arms down on the railing in front of her and shouted "Good!" During the hearing she made so many audible comments upon the manner in which Mr. Crapo appeared to be filling the cause of the remonstrants that it was feared that the court would take cognizance of them, but it did not. After the contest was over she was asked by The Call representative about making a residence in the State, and she replied that she was going to take up her residence in Taunton. She liked the place very much and wanted to be somewhere near her old home at New Bedford.
