

WORK AND WEARY SOUTHERN BOYS.

The men must be examined by the regular surgeons, although they have already passed examination by the regimental corps. As this will require two days at least, it was at first decided to quarter them in the Page street Army until they had been mustered in. At the last moment, however, they were ordered to the Presidio direct, and tired as they were and with no provision made for feeding them, they had to set to work and pitch their tents before they could find shelter from the strong west wind. This wind was most trying to the men, coming, as they have, from an almost tropical climate, and those who were not provided with overcoats were chilled to the marrow. One of the First Sergeants remarked that it would not be surprising if some of the men were attacked with pneumonia.

To add to their misery Colonel Berry was instructed to not bring his mess equipment, so that the surgeons had to make the post commissary room had an ample supply of provisions of every description delivered to the regiment, there was no means of cooking utensils to prepare the food, or dishes to serve it on. Not a word of complaint was heard, however, the men being ordered to march through the long hours of the afternoon pitching their tents. They were greatly hampered in this work by the want of tent pegs, and it was nearly dark before the last company and headquarters tent was in place. The garrison was drawn on for utensils, and finally the half-famished men were served with an abundance of substantial food of excellent quality.

The regular army officers stationed at the post are deserving of more than a mere complimentary word for the aid extended to the volunteers. The work of erecting the tents began, and soon the men were as busy as bees getting their new home together and packed in shape. The company streets run north and south with the tents facing to the east, so as to avoid the wind from the bay. Colonel Smith's headquarters were established just across the road from the regimental camp, and the right and left flanking companies were established in the same manner. The Hospital Corps also established its camp on the same side of the road as the regiment.

On the right is the First Battalion, composed of Companies M, A, E and I; on the left is the Second Battalion, composed of Companies H, D and G. The company streets are numbered, and the men were given their places in the line. The men were most happily disappointed, and are now the loudest in singing of praises to their new homes. While the First went into camp well equipped, the Seventh was almost destitute of the necessities of camp life. Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the men were in every respect by the Government.

The work of examining the men and their equipment was completed this morning. The surgeons of both regiments will be on duty and it is hoped to complete the examination of the men by the end of the week. The men will take until to-morrow to examine their equipment.

The Seventh is composed of twelve companies of eighty-four men each, with five extra men to the company to fill the places of any who may fall to pass the examination. The companies are commanded by officers and their home station, as follows:

- Company A, Los Angeles, Captain Wankowski, First Lieutenant Bates, Second Lieutenant Allen.
Company B, San Diego, Captain Dodge, Second Lieutenant Milke.
Company C, Los Angeles, Captain Langworthy, First Lieutenant George, Second Lieutenant Coe.
Company D, Pomona, Captain Thomas, First Lieutenant Reynolds, Second Lieutenant Phillips.
Company E, Santa Paula, Captain Ferrald, First Lieutenant Say, Second Lieutenant Koenig.
Company F, Los Angeles, Captain Reynolds, First Lieutenant Chappellier, Second Lieutenant Reynolds.
Company G, Redlands, Captain Biggen, First Lieutenant Smallwood, Second Lieutenant Palm.
Company H, Ventura, Captain Brown, First Lieutenant Hammons.
Company I, San Bernardino, Captain Sloat, First Lieutenant Secomb.
Company M, Riverside, Captain Finley, First Lieutenant Greenleaf, Second Lieutenant Vestal.
Company N, Riverside, Captain Pann, First Lieutenant Bidwell, Second Lieutenant Bailey.

Chaplain A. S. Clark is one of the most striking figures in the regiment. He is a man of about 60 years of age and is loved by every man in the command. This affection is fully reciprocated by the chaplain, who is doing his first duty for their Government. Captain-Surgeon Rethers and his able corps of medical attendants arrived yesterday. Private Hopkins, Company F, cut his right hand; Private Smiley, Company G, received a cut upon the jaw; Private Hill, Company H, had a right thumb cut, and Corporal Trasher, Company E, had an epileptic fit and was taken to the field hospital. He will probably be honorably discharged from the service.

FIRST INFANTRY.

The Regiment in Camp at the Presidio.

It was exactly 9:50 o'clock a. m. yesterday when about the noise of busy preparation the clear notes of the trumpeter's bugle arose sounding to the First California Infantry to assemble at their first call to quarters. For a moment the army seemed a maelstrom of disorder and chaos as the men hurried to their company rooms. A few minutes later the regimental call was given and the companies formed and marched from the armory, some in heavy and others in light marching order. The regiment formed upon Page street, with its left resting upon Market and facing to the east.

When Major Kelleher, the adjutant of the regiment, had completed the formation he rode up to Colonel Smith, who with his staff occupied a position in front of the color company, and reported the formation as being completed. The colonel then issued the order to march, and the regiment moved forward in a steady line. The companies were formed and marched from the armory, some in heavy and others in light marching order. The regiment formed upon Page street, with its left resting upon Market and facing to the east.

liveliest animation, with a touch of sadness in his heart, for more than one anxious eye had filled eyes told the story of her mother's love for her boy. There were lives to say good-bye to their husbands.

There was not such a large crowd as had been expected would be present, but this was because the public did not know the regiment was to be mustered in. It had been published that it would leave the armory at noon, but Colonel Smith, realizing the importance of the work to be done in getting his camp up, thought it best to get to the Presidio as soon as possible.

Surgeon Major McCarthy was at the armory at an early hour to examine the men, and to get the men to get in. He detailed Captain and Surgeon of the new camp temporarily, until he had completed the work of examining all the men of the different commands that are to be mustered into the Government service.

The line of march of the regiment was up Van Ness avenue to Lombard street, and thence to the Presidio, Colonel Smith, his staff and the men who are to fight for Uncle Sam received an ovation all along the route, and especially cheered when they saw the men of the First California Infantry, and to whom belongs the honor of carrying the regimental colors. At McAllister street the four companies, C, F, G and K, from the Ellis street armory, joined the regiment as the third battalion and brought up the rear. The first battalion headed the regiment and the second was in the middle.

It was exactly twenty minutes to 12 o'clock when Company M, trained through the Lombard-street entrance of the Presidio and stepped upon the Government grounds. The men were met by the soldiers of Uncle Sam. The companies filed to the right as they entered and marched down toward the bay preparatory to being assigned to their camp. Lieutenant J. M. Neal, U. S. A., received Colonel Smith in the morning at the place where he was to make his camp. He was also of great assistance to the officers of the regiment in getting their companies properly assigned.

As soon as the place for the camp was designated, which is just to the left of the Lombard-street entrance, the work of erecting the tents began, and soon the men were as busy as bees getting their new home together and packed in shape. The company streets run north and south with the tents facing to the east, so as to avoid the wind from the bay. of California, San Francisco—Sir: I have the honor to report the arrival of the First Regiment California Volunteer Infantry, in camp at the Presidio, pursuant to instructions from department commander, received through the Honorable J. B. Sanborn, to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant. JOHN H. SMITH, Captain, United States Volunteer Infantry.

HEAVY ARTILLERY.

Arrival of Captain Cook's Battery From Sacramento.

Early yesterday morning, before the city was fairly astir, Troop B of the cavalry, N. G. C., arrived from Sacramento and marched to the old armory on Tenth and Market streets, where it will be mustered into the volunteer service as Battery C, California Heavy Artillery.

The troop numbered 143 officers and men, being commanded by Captain John Cook, First Lieutenant S. W. Kay and Second Lieutenant C. B. Strong. They are a fine appearing lot of men, strong and intelligent, and in every way competent to handle the highest defenses of the First California Heavy Artillery. The officers have been given some instruction. The troop left Sacramento at 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning, and arrived here at 8:30. Upon reaching the armory breakfast was served, after which Surgeons Farrell, Rottazzi and Rethers began their examination.

As soon as the battery is mustered into service by Captain Carrington, it will be ordered to Fort Point, where it will remain here or be sent to Manila, as yet undetermined, but the members are anxious to go to the front. The men who are to form Battery D of the volunteer heavy artillery will not arrive from the south this morning or tomorrow, and as soon as they are mustered in they, too, will report to Colonel Miller.

GUARDING HIGH EXPLOSIVES

Precautions Taken for the Safety of the Plant at Giant.

The property of the Giant Powder Company is being very carefully protected and guarded from evil-minded persons and accidents. A few weeks ago there was an explosion at the Giant Powder plant in Livermore county, but that was caused by one of the buildings being struck by lightning. At the Clipper Gap Works armed guards are constantly on watch to prevent Spanish sympathizers from gaining access to the premises. Agents of the Government in Costa County, nineteen miles from this city, that the company is most concerned about. These works occupy a tract of land of 350 acres, on which there are eighty buildings, where the manufacture of powder and high explosives is carried on. The tract is on a point of land that extends out into San Pablo Bay, and in consequence the officers of the company are able to guard it well.

As soon as the first signs of hostilities made their appearance the secret service agents of the Government requested the officers of the company to take extra precautions, for the plant is of great importance to the Government. It is the only place in the State where dynamite is made. Some of the products carry over 80 per cent of explosive. Only a few feet of Government. As a matter of fact, the warning was hardly necessary, for the manager, Julian Sonntag, had already given directions to have the guard doubled and no one allowed on the premises regularly employed by the company. The force of watchmen has been increased, until nearly half of the force is either a Deputy Sheriff or a member of the military.

Being situated on a peninsula, the place is easily guarded, one watchman commanding the land and another the water. The most prominent places are fastened signs, which read: "Property of the Giant Powder Company. No admittance to the premises of this company will be immediately placed under arrest. FRANK SUTHERLAND, Superintendent." "Approved, JULIAN SONNTAG, General Manager."

Notices have also been placed on the bay shores warning of boats and aircraft to keep away. The nearest thoroughfare passing the lands of the company is the railroad, that great highway that carries the tramp and the soldier, as having been built for their special benefit. For about ten miles the weary tramp and soldier have had to travel at present. The deputies of the Giant have an understanding with the officers of the California Powder Works at Placerville, five miles further up the road, by which every tramp is kept in motion until he is a long distance from either works. Tramps are not allowed to stop for a minute along the railroad track, which means that they have to hustle along on their feet, and are not allowed to fear of the genuine tramp, but is very Spanish for one sympathizing with the wanderer and so get the word of the present time, and we believe that while the country is more or less filled with spies and sympathizers of Spain we cannot be too careful to whom we allow upon the premises.

In order that no other than employees of the works may get upon the premises, a cipher system has been put into practice by Mr. Sonntag. To each employe is given a card, with the name, height, weight, color of hair, eyes, etc., and other particulars. These are examined frequently by the armed deputies. During the night a large force is kept on duty, and these men make regular rounds, the same being registered by watchmen. In speaking of the care being taken at the works Mr. Sonntag said: "We are not going to take any chances of having anything happen. It is a valuable plant to us and to the Government, especially at the present time, and we believe that while the country is more or less filled with spies and sympathizers of Spain we cannot be too careful to whom we allow upon the premises."

O'NEIL HONORED. The Captain Presented by His Co-Workers With a Sword. Thomas F. O'Neil, a deputy in County Clerk Curry's office and captain of Company M, First Regiment California Infantry, was honored yesterday by his fellow soldiers of the same company with a sword. The sword was presented to him by the company, and he accepted it with much appreciation. The sword is a fine one, and is a fitting token of the respect and confidence of his fellow soldiers in him.

pany M, Second Regiment, N. G. C., was among the first of the militiamen to volunteer his services to the Government. The other deputies in the office then determined to present him with a sword and revolver. The presentation was made yesterday morning by ex-Senator T. C. Mather in a short but fitting speech. County Clerk Curry added to the pleasure of the occasion by announcing that he considered O'Neil to be one of the best deputies in the office. He then added that if he was still in office when O'Neil's services were not required by the country he would give him a better position than he held at the time of his retirement from his official position. Captain O'Neil was entirely taken by surprise when the presentation was made, but fittingly responded.

NEWS FROM THE FLEET.

Several private dispatches were received in this city yesterday by friends or relatives of the men engaged in the battle with the Spanish fleet off Manila. One of the happiest men in town was McMillan Dutton, vice-president of the First California Insurance Company. Mr. Dutton is the proud father of R. McMillan Dutton, first lieutenant of marines on the Beak, who was killed in action. The news of his death was a great loss to the family, but he told the story "Victorious, no casualties."

A TRAVELING MAN.

Give Some Valuable Hints Regarding the Care of the Health While Traveling. Mr. R. W. Winchendon, a commercial traveler from Birmingham, whose business keeps him on the road constantly, relates in the Sunday News the dangers to health resulting from constant change of residence and the way he overcame the usual injurious effects.

One thing people traveling cannot very well avoid is the constant change in water and food; the stomach never has an opportunity to become accustomed to anything and in two or three years or much sooner the average traveling man becomes a hopeless dyspeptic. For several years I suffered more or less from indigestion, most constantly, and I have never been able to get my appetite, gas on the stomach and the usual unpleasant effects of imperfect digestion. Nearly every traveling man has his favorite remedy for different troubles and I tried all of them with indifferent results. Finally on the train between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia one day, I overheard a conversation between two ladies, one of whom had suffered severely from indigestion and stated she had been completely cured by a remedy which she called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I bought a box of them and I carried it with me on my next trip. I carry a box in my pocket continually, and whenever I get any symptoms of indigestion I take one, also one after each meal, and for a year and a half I have not lost a day by reason of poor health and can eat anything and relish what I eat, my digestion is absolutely perfect as far as I can judge from my feelings, and although there may be other stomach remedies just as good as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, I do not know what they are. Certainly for people who travel they are far ahead of any liquid medicine, as they are so convenient, they can be carried in the pocket and used whenever needed.

I believe they are sold by all druggists at 50 cents, and believe any one who will try them will agree with me. I have never seen any other stomach trouble Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are unequalled. JOHN SPALLIDING, Proprietor, J. WALLACE SPALLIDING, Manager.
