

Miss Ryan, our millinery buyer, and imported pattern hats just arrived from the East.

To-morrow (Monday) morning our curtains of the entire front of our huge stores will be raised on the finest display of fall novelties we have ever carried.

To-morrow (Monday) we throw open our doors at 8 a. m. for fall opening in all departments—better goods than Hale's have ever displayed—a more extensive variety, more complete—the results of months of careful Eastern and European buying.

Good for Opening

Fenster's Hungarian orchestral concert 10 to 12.

Bruck's celebrated Boston Elite orchestral concert 2 to 5.

millinery exhibition

The most striking feature of fall millinery will be the effects in velvet; feathers will be large; French term it "extraordinaire"; flattened birds much sought for; quills immense; the Angelus wing much in evidence, pointing out and down, and up before. The Louis VI (size) bow is very fashionable, in colors blue, from delicate lavender to "cornflower" and extreme dark will be most worn; then coral pink, castor in all shades of brown, emeralds, coquelicot (the brightest of French reds), cerisette, perverche, are much favored. The fall millinery will inaugurate a season of velvet, quills and dots.

six creations with Parisian chic (see window.)

NEWS OF THE MINES.

A big deal in hydraulic mining ground, with promise of important future developments, was one of the mining features of the week. The old and well known Boss and McClary mine at Trinity County, which has for two or three years been the subject of occasional reports of its bonding or sale, has just been transferred to new owners, or at least the greater share of it. The principal purchasers are Thomas and Luke McDonald of French Gulch, miners and capitalists, the former of whom is a large owner of San Francisco property. The consideration is reported to be $40,000.

THE GOLDEN GATE CLOAK AND SUIT HOUSE. The Largest Exclusive Cloak and Suit Establishment West of New York. PERFECT IN ITS APPOINTMENT!

Exclusive Styles of Tailor-Made Suits, Jackets, Capes, Furs, Novelties.....

GOLDEN GATE CLOAK AND SUIT HOUSE

INCORPORATED, 1230-1232-1234 MARKET STREET.

Its great copper and silver mines and the present boom in copper mining are responsible. All the mining companies are now in the hands of the public, holding 11,000 tons of ore a day. The development work now being pushed promises a net output of 15,000 tons a year hereafter. One shaft of the Anaconda company is rapidly approaching the depth of 5000 feet planned for it. A story something like this will be told in the future, and great, now undeveloped copper belt of Shasta County in this State.

James H. Tibbitts, the mining engineer of San Francisco and Redding, has been for some time busy examining gold properties for a Canadian syndicate at the head of which is Hon. A. G. Blair, Canadian Minister of Railways and Canals. It was for these people that he explored the Mountain mine in Sierra County some weeks ago when he found his mine samples soiled. This syndicate is considering some methods of prospecting. Mr. Tibbitts is now examining some Siskiyou County mines for them.

Colonel von Leight, formerly superintendent of the Placerville and Quicksilver mines, now owns and superintends the Kellogg Creek quartz mine in southern Plumas County. He has fifteen men at work putting up a large mill, and a small cyanide plant to treat the rebellious ore, which assays high in gold and silver. A large gas engine will furnish the motive power.

About 500 flasks of quicksilver are being shipped monthly from the Altos mine at Chubbuck. Most of it goes to Castella by pack train, but often 200 flasks a month reach the railroad at Redding by freight trains of one or two cars.

According to the Mountain Democrat of Placerville, Poverty Point, north of that town is one of the rich spots of El Dorado County. It says: "Low down on the north side of it John Melton is running a tunnel 600 feet below the shaft on the old Placer mine. He has recently made reliable tests is known to be one of the richest mines in the county. By going 500 feet further down and running a tunnel under the whole group of mines on Poverty Point, including the Gentle Annie, he can drain and work them all. This is the ultimate object of his enterprise we are well assured. While the undertaking is being pushed on, it is a great deal of money is being put out on the dump being $200."

The Placerville Nugget gives us another of those abandoned mine stories as follows: "In the Sonnet mine, near the Riverside, rich chuffs of ore has recently been discovered. This mine was formerly worked by Geo. A. Koch & Co., who operated it for a few seasons and then sold it to the value of $75,000. They lost the chute and the mine was abandoned. Messrs. Davis & Lane located it a number of years ago, have worked perseveringly, and their efforts have been rewarded with success. The rock mills from $80 to $100 a ton and over. A chuff of ore of eight tons now on the dump being $200."

Judging from the activity among the owners and attorneys of the Argonaut Company it is making extensive preparations for the trial of its suit against Gray in this State, averaging a few cents a cubic yard in gold, which has never been worked by the hydraulic process. The possibility of closely determining the average value of gold in a deposit, or, in other words, the amount of gold "in sight," takes the element of speculation largely out of the enterprise, and smaller profits are tempting to capitalists.

One of the new dredgers mentioned is being built by J. W. Parry, of Sacramento and George F. Ditzler, of Biggs, and will be named the "Plutus." Its machinery comes from Marlow, Ohio, though it ought to come from San Francisco. The other is a San Francisco product and is being built by A. S. Cartwright of Oakland and the Golden State Iron Works of this city. Both these dredgers will be about 3 feet in diameter, and will have a common chain buckets, each shoveling one and one-half cubic yards of gravel.

tion, and of all of the coast inventions now approaching in value and importance in their relation to the mining and manufacturing interests of the country. It has found its way into all parts of the world, orders being received from Japan, India, the Strait Settlements, Central and South America and Australia.

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN

Division Headquarters Waiting for the Commander-in-Chief to Move as to Reorganization.

At division headquarters the reply to the question, "What steps are being taken to reorganize the National Guard?" is, "We are waiting for Governor Budd, the commander-in-chief, to move in the matter, that and nothing in chief is not yet ready to move in the matter, all affairs of the guard remain as they have been for the past two months. No one seems to know when anything will be done.

IMPORTANT TO MINERS.

A New Apparatus That Will Revolutionize Hydraulic Mining.

The canal being constructed in front of the water-pumping works in Golden Gate Park will be completed within the next six weeks. It will be 18 feet deep, 450 feet long and will supply all the water necessary for use in the park. It was at first thought that it would require months of time to dig the trench, but by the use of the Krogh dredging pump, a new device for this character of work and manufactured by the Krogh Manufacturing Company, at 9 to 17 Stevenson street, this money was saved in time, labor and cost.

The machine is particularly adapted to dredging pump is compact and portable. It is worth the time of any one interested in machinery to visit the park and see the dredger in operation. While only an eight-inch pump, yet it raises over 12000 feet per hour, and over 25 per cent of the mixture is sand and gravel. An idea of the work performed by the dredger can best be formed when it is seen in operation. It requires the combined untiring efforts of eight men to clear the sand and gravel from the discharge sluice. The dredger is in charge of the workmen shown yesterday. Some of the workmen displayed yesterday to the suction power of the dredger.

The Pelton water wheel, manufactured by the Pelton Water Wheel Company, at 121-123 Main street. "The Pelton wheel," said Engineer H. D. Saville, who is in charge of the work of constructing the canal, "is a most valuable adjunct. It does the work required with little labor or cost; in fact, it does more work than a thirty-horse power engine and is easily moved from place to place. I was looking for a good motive power," said he, "and after close investigation I concluded that the Pelton wheel was what was needed. That I was correct in that and also the selection of the Krogh dredger has been shown by the expeditious manner in which the work so far has been accomplished. Without them I doubt very much if we would have more than one-quarter of the canal excavated at the present time."

The Pelton wheel is a California invention, and of all of the coast inventions now approaching in value and importance in their relation to the mining and manufacturing interests of the country.

CATS AND DOGS

DONE TO DEATH POISON AND ACID USED ON HAYES VALLEY PETS.

AN AGED WOMAN SUSPECTED OF SHOCKING CRUELTY TO HER NEIGHBOR'S ANIMALS.

For several days the officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have been investigating a number of cases of shocking cruelty to animals in Hayes Valley. Half a dozen valuable dogs have been poisoned to death and as many cats have had their eyes destroyed by acids. Among those who have lost valuable canines are M. Green, Kilder of 123 Oak street, whose fine Irish setter was killed with poison, James Dougan of 128 Oak street, whose dog was killed by a turn at the Altamira route, and four others on the block below, are mourning the loss of their pets. Their suspicions were based upon complaints recently made by that caused consternation among all in the valley who have these faithful beasts for pets and to guard their property.

RETURN OF LONGSTREET.

The Ex-Confederate Leader Concludes His Inspection of the Northern Railroads.

Major General James B. Longstreet, the famous ex-Confederate leader and lately appointed United States Commissioner of Railroads, reached this city early yesterday morning on the Oregon special and left for Del Monte in the afternoon for a three days' stay. The aged Commissioner was accompanied by his wife, Colonel and Mrs. C. A. Sanders, Miss Morton Sanders, Mrs. M. A. Sanders and Mrs. J. H. Hite, all from Gainesville, Ga., his native State. Before leaving for the train the general said that he was enjoying the best of health, due to the active work in which he was engaged. When asked about his impressions of the various rail grant railroads that he has inspected, the distinguished visitor replied that anything said upon the subject would be uninteresting to the public. He did say, however, that the Central Pacific Railroad from Ogden to this city was well organized and in fine working order.
