List of Substitutes, Probationary and Special Teachers Dismissed--Protests, Legal Actions and Vindications. Sewing Instructors Escape.

Confusion reigns supreme in the Department of Public Schools. The revolutionary measures of the Board of Education adopted on Wednesday night have created turmoil, uncertainty and necessarily most vigorous protest. In carrying out their general scheme of retrenchment and reform the School Directors, in most instances, have lost sight of individuals who do not know where they are. Resolutions of consolidation and dismissal of some of the teachers that have been consolidated or dismissed as substitutes, probationary and special teachers know their fate as a matter of course. Many others that have been consolidated out of schools and some that have not been so known until the Superintendent of Schools finishes his compilations and submits his final report. It is expected that this report will be submitted next Monday night at an adjourned meeting of the School Board.

Until then confusion and uncertainty must continue. An example will illustrate the condition of affairs. It will be remembered that the Board of Education ordered that the minimum basis of attendance for each day class. Principals of schools were instructed to classify their schools upon this basis, and to classify in every instance where it was found necessary. In many schools the directors have not observed the spirit of their order, and the minimum basis of attendance for each day class. Principals of schools were instructed to classify their schools upon this basis, and to classify in every instance where it was found necessary. In many schools the directors have not observed the spirit of their order, and the minimum basis of attendance for each day class.

Miss Fowler and her pupils were jubilant yesterday morning over the concession. The newspaper visitor found the gray haired teacher sitting in her reception room, waiting for the arrival of the national ensign, a set of colonial damask-making-the-first-flag tableau, and a congratulatory group of girls around her. "We did quite well in the terrible ordeal," said she, "and came out with colors fairly flying. The pupils are delighted and the studies will go on as usual. Of course, it will come a little harder on them, especially on those who are less than others to pay for their education, but there will be no complaining. Every student here must earn her own living, and to that end the profession of teaching she entered this Normal School. It is said this institution is below standard, and that it has only one year of study, while State Normals have four. Let me explain that: Pupils here are high school graduates, while those in the State schools need not be such. Another published error was that Alameda County refused to give diplomas. The School Superintendent's statement has made a different statement. However, we are thankful for the grace we have received.

Miss Fowler's position is a peculiar one. According to the order of the Board of Education, she goes on the payroll from January 31. She will be employed for the normal students for five months ending June 30, and then she will be "at large" until the next year. She is in the court, as she is not disposed to be abolished by her school. Miss Fowler was taken up with the visitor's query as to whether her acceptance of the pupils' offer for five months' employment could be technically construed as a virtual resignation, and she was asked to sign a resignation. She refused to do so, and the matter is now in the hands of the court.

The pioneer mandamus suit of the number that will probably follow the board's order of dismissal is that of Miss Mollie L. Sabins, a Washington Evening School teacher. Recently, and in violation of the board's order, she applied for a restraining order, which was refused by Judge Belcher of the Superior Court, on the ground that there was then no existing mandamus suit. The judge in his decision referred to a previous case—that of Bell against the Board of Education, in which a mandamus suit in favor of a dismissed teacher, Attorney J. H. Spinetti stated yesterday that if that position was dismissed from her position and salary she would immediately commence suit against the board.

"Every reason to believe," said he, "that Miss Sabins and Miss Dwyer have been consolidated out of the Washington Evening School. Recently, and in violation of the board's order, she applied for a restraining order, which was refused by Judge Belcher of the Superior Court, on the ground that there was then no existing mandamus suit. The judge in his decision referred to a previous case—that of Bell against the Board of Education, in which a mandamus suit in favor of a dismissed teacher, Attorney J. H. Spinetti stated yesterday that if that position was dismissed from her position and salary she would immediately commence suit against the board.

"This will call out about eighty-five names. From August 1 the list will be a long one, and it is not possible to give a list of those that have been dismissed cannot be given, certain parts of it are accessible, such as the names of special, substitute, and probationary teachers.

The positions of the following special teachers were abolished by the department: Physical culture—H. C. F. Stahl and George S. M. Smith; J. M. Stockmann and M. Doyle; Cooking department—Miss Dora Moran Baker, Evening Davies; Stenography—Miss H. Maguire and Miss M. McDonald; Music—Myrtle Cerr and Miss May F. O'Keefe.

The following classes have been abolished: The closing of the City Normal School; Clara R. Arguello, Burnett Grammar School; Mrs. George W. Forbes, con assigned at the City Normal; Miss Sophie Stone, Concomitant; Miss Lizzie Lovery, Hearst Grammar; Miss C. A. McCarthy, Mission Evening School; Miss Helen Gage, Miss Gertrude Fitzgerald, Miss May Cop, Mrs. Bertha Fahrner, Concomitant; Fairmount Evening School—Miss A. E. Martin, Miss H. V. Brennan, Miss M. E. Hearst Evening School—John S. Drew, Mrs. L. Scott, Mrs. I. Lombert, C. A.

The following probationary teachers have been dropped from the roll of the department: Clara R. Arguello, Burnett Grammar School; Mrs. George W. Forbes, con assigned at the City Normal; Miss Sophie Stone, Concomitant; Miss Lizzie Lovery, Hearst Grammar; Miss C. A. McCarthy, Mission Evening School; Miss Helen Gage, Miss Gertrude Fitzgerald, Miss May Cop, Mrs. Bertha Fahrner, Concomitant; Fairmount Evening School—Miss A. E. Martin, Miss H. V. Brennan, Miss M. E. Hearst Evening School—John S. Drew, Mrs. L. Scott, Mrs. I. Lombert, C. A.

The Building Trades Council last night elected the following officers for the ensuing year: P. H. McCarthy, president; A. H. Coburn, vice president; W. M. Page, secretary; C. W. Page, financial secretary; C. W. Stark, treasurer; C. W. Doyle, sergeant at arms; trustees—H. Cassidy, H. J. Skeen, George Lee, T. Saunders, J. Leary; executive committee—E. de Lier, C. W. Stark, C. W. Page, H. Cassidy, H. J. Skeen, H. Thiel, R. Linhart, C. W. Page; organization committee—P. H. McCarthy, G. Lee, W. Goff, W. Brumfield, J. Leary; law and legislative committee—W. Goff, C. A. Jeffers, W. M. Page, H. J. Skeen, J. McGrath.

The County Hospital Overcrowded. The four hundred and fifty beds in the City and County Hospital are all occupied by patients. This leaves the building full and prevents the admission of any more patients for the present. So great has been the demand for admission that two cots had to be provided yesterday for two urgent cases which came in.

THE SAN FRANCISCO CALL, FRIDAY, JANUARY 27, 1899.

COMPLETES ITS AND GIVES JOYFULLY ANNOUNCED.

THE last session of the Episcopal convention was called to order by Right Rev. Bishop Nichols yesterday morning in St. Paul's Church. There was a fair representation of delegates present when the morning prayer was read by the rector, Rev. William M. Kelly, began at 9 o'clock. Rev. Charles S. Linsley of Sonora read the Scriptural lesson, and a benediction was pronounced by Bishop Nichols.

After the spiritual communion with Divine Providence the members of the convention settled themselves down to the serious discussion of business propositions affecting the welfare of the California diocese. The morning was entirely taken up with the reports of various committees, all of which showed the Episcopal church in this State to be progressing in a marked degree.

The principal question which came before the convention was the providing of an episcopal residence for the Bishop in this city. Resolutions were introduced by Major Hooper as follows: Whereas, in the interest of the advancement of the diocese of California, it is the duty of the Bishop to reside in San Francisco; and Whereas, it is the concurrence of opinion of a large majority of both priests and laity of this diocese that the interests of the church would be greatly enhanced and benefited by the residence of its official head in the city of San Francisco; and Whereas, it is just to ourselves that such residence should be had and maintained befitting the dignity of this branch of the American church; be it therefore Resolved, That it is the sense and conviction of this convention that such a residence should be provided; and it is therefore Resolved, That a committee of four ladies and four gentlemen be appointed to take the necessary steps to acquire and put into effect this declaration, wish, intent and bound duty of this convention.

During the discussion Bishop Nichols retired from the chair and A. N. Drown, chancellor of the diocese, acted as chairman. He appointed the following ladies and gentlemen to the committee: W. E. Dean, William Babcock, Henry F. Cooke, M. D. Wilson, Mrs. I. L. Pool and Mrs. George A. Pope. Later in the day, on motion of Major Hooper, Rev. William M. Kelly was placed on the committee, which will report at the next convention.

On motion of George W. Houghton the church appointed a committee consisting of J. F. Houghton, H. H. Hewlett and A. N. Drown to memorialize the Legislature to exempt church sites and edifices erected thereon from taxation.

Rev. Dr. E. B. Spalding read the report of the committee on the education and strongly urged endowment for church schools, which are at present carried on in a very precarious manner. His recommendation to place the schools on a firmer basis met with marked favor on the part of the convention.

The convention then proceeded to the election of officers and the chair appointed the following tellers: Standing committee—Rev. W. A. Brewer, Mr. H. J. Hulme, Mr. William Burbeck; incorporation—Rev. L. C. Stanford, Mr. C. E. Slikkewell, Mr. J. W. C. Shaw and Dr. W. C. Davis.

The committee on canon recommended that the county of San Joaquin be transferred to the convocation of San Joaquin. The committee also reported on the proposition of taking the power of the Missionary Board to fix the stipends of missionaries and the Pacific coast, during which Rev. James S. McGowan took the stand in favor of the proposition.

The convention then proceeded to the election of officers and the chair appointed the following tellers: Standing committee—Rev. W. A. Brewer, Mr. H. J. Hulme, Mr. William Burbeck; incorporation—Rev. L. C. Stanford, Mr. C. E. Slikkewell, Mr. J. W. C. Shaw and Dr. W. C. Davis.

The finance committee reported contributions as follows: For parochial purposes, $4,738.01; for the diocese, $4,838.82; for general objects, $50.01. The total amount of contributions was $9,626.84. Bills payable in the sum of $2,553.61 were presented. Sunday schools had contributed $248.23.

There are now in the diocese 1 Bishop, 27 priests, 6 deacons, 9 candidates for deacon's and priest's orders, 19 lay readers, 83 churches, 33 missions, organized and 14 unorganized. Two cornerstones were laid and one church opened in 1888. The number of families in the diocese is 140,000. There were 575 baptisms, 27 marriages and 442 burials. There are 519 churches and 474 pupils in the Sunday schools.

Right Rev. William Morris Barker, Bishop of Olympia, then delivered an address in which he congratulated the convention on the progress of the church, and said, "has been four times greater west of the Mississippi than has been in the East during the last ten years."

In the absence of Bishop Morris of Oregon, Rev. M. Garrett, rector of Trinity Church, Portland, was called upon for a speech. In the course of his remarks he said that the little diocese of Oregon gave as much for missions as did the diocese of California. Dr. Garrett was commissioned by the convention in a rising vote to bear a message of greeting to Bishop Morris.

Rev. Robert Ritchie, rector of St. Paul's, Oakland, presented resolutions, which were adopted, testifying the appreciation and thanks of the convention to the morning and evening papers for their full and complete publication of the proceedings. Resolutions of thanks were also passed to the rector and vestry of St. Paul's Church for their hospitality and kindness in extending the use of the church for the purposes of the convention; to Right Rev. William Morris Barker, Bishop of Olympia, for his delivery of the sermon at the consecration of Bishop Moreland; to Major Hooper for his consistent and abundant hospitality to the visiting delegates.

BEWAILED THE SAILING OF THE SCANDIA Officers and Privates Left Behind.

HER DEPARTURE UNEXPECTED VAIN EFFORTS TO OVERTAKE THE SPEEDY TRANSPORT.

Instead of tossing on the waves of the Pacific on the good ship Scandia, two officers of the Twentieth Kansas Regiment are tossing on beds of pain in the Grand Hotel bemoaning their ill fortune in missing the transport that is bearing their command to southern waters. They are Captain J. E. Morrison of Company I and Lieutenant M. F. Smith. Both officers arrived with their regiment on Wednesday afternoon, and being desirous of getting more than a fleeting glimpse of this city before departing, they secured leave to go ashore. In their search for attractions they forgot the hour of sailing, and are now stranded on the shores of San Francisco waiting for the departure of another transport.

The officers are the only disappointed ones. Non-commissioned officers and privates are sharing their sorrow. Unlike their superiors, they were not given leave to go ashore, and the sorrow is more poignant. Unlike their superiors, they are not tossing on beds of pain, but are drowning their ill-luck in bumpers of Barbary Coast liquor, well knowing that severe punishment will be meted out to them for their willful desertion.

When Captain Morrison and Lieutenant Smith learned that their boat had sailed they were frantic. They shipped to take the water to charter a tug in the hope of overtaking the Scandia before she passed through the Golden Gate, but their efforts were futile. Bemoaning their fate both returned to the Grand to await orders from the War Department.

A few non-commissioned officers and a number of privates were also anxious to taste of the delights of city life and quietly slipped over the side on Monday morning. They were lying alongside the wharf, expecting to return by the same route. Their disappointment was great on their return to find their transport gone.

When the transport Morgan City sailed yesterday afternoon on her long voyage to Manila, she went out of the harbor with her lifeboats utterly out of condition for use. This was a flimsy breach of discipline, and it is to be hoped that the men who were responsible for the condition of the lifeboats will be severely punished.

The boats were filled with freight to the gunwales, over which their canvas covers were drawn and lashed down. With the boats in such condition it would be in case of disaster, be impossible to get them clear for launching till much precious time was lost. Not only are the boats reported to be unfitted for service, but the vessel sailed short-handed, a smaller number having been shipped to take the berths of the old crew discharged just before sailing.

It has been stated that a part of the Morgan City's cargo was coffins in which to bring back their native land the remains of soldiers who died in the Philippines. This is denied by J. Heldt, late a quartermaster of the steamer. She had a lot of undertaking supplies, but no coffins. The cargo of bacon, of which so much was said, was removed and will become part of the rations to be served out to the soldiers at Manila.
