

WILL OFFER AMNESTY TO THE REBELS

The United States Not to Seek Vengeance Upon the Filipinos.

THEY MUST BE BEATEN

When Aguinaldo Is Taken, or a Fugitive, All Will Be Forgiven.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Herald's Washington correspondent sends the following: As soon as General Otis achieves a decisive victory over Aguinaldo, the Philippine Commission will issue a proclamation promising amnesty to all natives who lay down their arms, and self rule to those who recognize the sovereignty of the United States.

This is the programme which the State Department understands has been adopted by the commission. As General Otis and Admiral Dewey are members of the commission, it is presumed here that they are responsible for the delay in issuing the proclamation, believing its effect will be greater if published after the insurgents have been subdued.

An official with whom I talked regarding the course of the commission pointed out that so long as Aguinaldo maintained his army organization it would be difficult to reach the natives and convince them, but with Aguinaldo a prisoner or a fugitive and his army disbanded, it is thought the proclamation will receive attention from the natives and cause them to take advantage of its provisions.

The proclamation will be similar to those previously issued by General Otis, except that it will contain a general amnesty declaration and will reassert the friendly intentions of this Government.

Acting Secretary Melick-John summed up the official view of the situation when he stated this afternoon that he was thoroughly satisfied with the present conditions.

General Otis' dispatch, received this morning, described the fighting of yesterday. With the gunboats in the Baluan River, as reported by General Otis, which he stated, will materially relieve the pressure on MacArthur's front, it is expected the advance guard will have no great difficulty in throwing a pontoon bridge across the stream.

The facts that the troops are in excellent health and spirits and the supply railway trains have now reached Marillo, are of the highest importance in view of the arduous work before the troops.

ENGLAND PATS THE BACK OF AMERICANS

LONDON, March 28.—The Times, in an editorial commenting upon a suggestion thrown out by the New York Times regarding the birth of a feeling of respect for the Filipinos says: "The growth of such a sentiment does honor to the Americans so long as their respect is confined to bravery and endurance and no inference is drawn from the military to the civic capacities of the natives."

"Until the Filipinos are vanquished and forced to sue for peace any talk of concessions is liable to be misconstrued and to lead to a prolongation of the struggle. The fact that the teaching of English history in dealing with semi-civilized races.

"The Americans evidently have a tough job, and it may be they have long one, but we do not doubt they will do it thoroughly and in a workmanlike fashion, as is their national way."

The Daily Chronicle this morning quotes extracts from a letter written by a distinguished British naval officer recently in Philippine waters, who dilates upon the difficulties facing the Americans there.

The officer also remarks: "The Americans whose name is not given, says that the climate is very trying for nine months of the year and that it is quite impossible for whites to live there. The Americans, he declares, lack the energy and horses to move their artillery. He is confident that the Americans "would prefer to clear out," but explains that "they cannot do this because of the foreign merchants."

"The Americans do not appear to understand the game of using one lot of natives against another. If they wish to conquer the islands they must adopt that plan and also make roads and railways."

AGUINALDO WILLING TO ACCEPT AUTONOMY

NEW YORK, March 28.—A special cable to the Sun from London says: The London agent of the Filipinos has gone to Paris with Llesada, one of the insurgent representatives of Aguinaldo, to confer with Agoncillo. Previous to his departure the agent said Aguinaldo was willing to accept autonomy similar to that of the British native Indian states, which are nominally self-governed under British control. The religious title of "emperor," he said, was one of the principal incentives to the rebellion of the Filipinos, who believed that the Americans would confirm and approve the Spanish monarch's system of squeezing contributions out of the peasantry. The Filipinos, he added, were willing to negotiate terms of surrender with Admiral Dewey, but never with General Otis.

HOW LOEWENSTEIN MET HIS DEATH

MANILA, March 28.—Prince Loewenstein, with Wheaton's command, on the morning of the 26th took refreshments to the officers of the Second Oregon on the firing line. He was cautioned as to the danger, but advanced with the line when it charged the insurgent trenchment. He was killed by the enemy and a friend with him wounded. His remains were delivered to friends in the city.

Gets a Wrecked Ship.

HONOLULU, March 21.—The sale of the steamship City of Columbia to Harry Evans for $1500 has been confirmed by the court. The vessel was the subject of the decision, and really the result of it. "We feel obliged, in view of the value added, to hold that the value that the vessel would produce to the purchaser is not so grossly inadequate as to authorize a resale, and therefore remit the cause to the Circuit Judge below with direction to confirm the sale."

SERGEANT COHEN FALLS FIGHTING AT MALINTA

Sergeant Morris J. Cohen of Company B, Twentieth Kansas Regiment, who was killed while fighting before Malinta, was a resident of San Francisco and enlisted in his regiment while it was stationed here.

Cohen was born in New York City in 1862 and the greater part of his early life was spent there and in Jersey City. He was always interested in military matters and several years ago organized the Cohen Guards in Jersey City and was captain of the organization. The accompanying picture shows him in the uniform of the guards. He had served in the regular army for eight years and at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war sought to enlist in the First California Regiment, but owing to the large number of recruits who presented themselves was unable to secure a berth in the regiment from his own State. When the Twentieth Kansas Regiment came to San Francisco Cohen enlisted in Company B. His excellent qualities as a soldier soon came to the notice of his officers and he was made a corporal before the regiment left for Manila. After reaching the Philippines he was given a sergeant's chevrons.

About five years ago Cohen came to the coast and was employed for some time by the Burglar Alarm Company. He returned to New York for a visit and when he again came back to San Francisco he obtained a position with the Morse Patrol, which he held until he resigned to join the army. When John Dow, who was murdered on Kearny street over a year ago, had been missing for several days Cohen, who was a friend of Dow, climbed through the transom of Dow's shooting gallery and found his body. He was an important witness at the inquest and his testimony helped to prove that a murder had been committed when the police asserted that Dow had killed himself.

The dead soldier leaves a brother living here and a sister and an aged grandmother in New York. He was respected by his friends and held the confidence of his employers.

DEWEY HAS ASKED FOR MORE SHIPS

Believed He Intends to Put a Stop to Filibustering.

CHICAGO, March 28.—A special to the Journal from Washington says: Admiral Dewey has cabled to the department for more men and more ships. It is believed to mean simply a determination to put into execution a plan more thoroughly to patrol the island and prevent filibustering expeditions from landing.

SPANISH HELP REBELS

One Ship Comes to Grief Through Carrying Arms to the Insurgents.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—At the Navy Department, up to the close of office hours, nothing official had been received concerning the achievement of the Yorktown in capturing a Spanish merchant ship in the Gulf of Lingayen. While the dispatch is silent as to the reason for the capture, it is surmised that it was due to her carrying contraband of war. This is apparently borne out by the fact that the gulf leads to the terminus of the railway which, in turn, leads to the insurgent capital of Malolos. It is further borne out by the fact of the capture itself, which would hardly be attempted against a neutral merchant ship, unless for serious reasons. Spain is now practicing in the capture of a neutral, so that her merchant ships have immunity from capture, unless there is good foundation for the belief that aid and comfort is being given to the enemy. The last information from Dewey as to the Yorktown came yesterday, when he stated that the gunboat was cruising off Luzon.

SPANISH TALE OF CRIME AT HAVANA

Alleged Killing of a Negro Child by Americans Because It Stole Bread.

VALENCIA, Spain, March 28.—Passengers who have arrived here on board the Spanish steamer Montevideo, which left Havana on March 12, which reached Cadiz yesterday, assert that at the moment of their departure from Havana a number of American soldiers killed a negro child who stole a loaf of bread, and that the populace thereupon attacked the soldiers, who, the passengers added, had to be reinforced.

TEN MILLIONS FOR A WEDDING GIFT

William K. Vanderbilt's Present to the Future Husband of Miss Fair.

NEW YORK, March 28.—William K. Vanderbilt, it was said to-day, had set aside $10,000,000 on his eldest son as a wedding gift. This was the amount given by him to his daughter Consuelo on her marriage to the Duke of Marlborough.

SWINDLED BY FOOTRACERS.

San Jose Merchant Loses a Cool Thousand Dollars.

SAN JOSE, March 28.—Two foot racers found a "good thing" in George W. Pressey, proprietor of a fruit and confectionery store on the corner of First and St. John streets, and this afternoon they did their victim out of $1000 in gold and twenties at Agricultural Park. It was the old game that has been worked time and again, and Pressey still believes he lost squarely.

Mercy Shown a Young Thief.

WOODLAND, March 28.—Albert McChesney, the Oakland boy charged with burglary, was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny in the Superior Court this afternoon, and was sentenced to "a fine of $50. Leniently was exercised on account of his previous good character."

KANSAS MURDERER HUNG BY A MOB

Henry Sanderson Dies by the Rope.

The Lynched Man a Farmer Who Attempted to Shoot His Sweetheart, but Killed Her Aunt.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

TOPEKA, Kans., March 28.—A special to the State Journal from Holton, Kans., says: Henry Sanderson, the young farmer who attempted to murder his sweetheart, Myrtle Fleischer, near Mayetta, on Sunday afternoon, but instead wounded M^r. John Fleischer, her aunt, who was at her side, so that she died at 2 o'clock this morning, was lynched this morning by a mob from Mayetta.

Although nominally in Sheriff George N. Hass' hands, Sanderson was under the guard of one man in a back room of Nate Hauer's restaurant. This was for two reasons: During Sanderson's attempt to escape, immediately after the shooting of Mrs. Fleischer, he started to extract some shells from his Winchester and one accidentally exploded, shattering his right arm. Again, there had been a jail delivery at Holton the previous night and the prison was not considered safe.

At 2 o'clock this morning Nate Hauer, keeper of the restaurant, alone on night duty, was in the back room with Sanderson, who demanded Sanderson. At the same moment men burst in the back door of the restaurant. The single guard was paralyzed with fear and fled. Sanderson was lying in bed asleep, but was awakened by the noise. Without a protest Sanderson arose and partially dressed. The mob, with Sanderson, marched to the bridge, where they surrounded his neck and fastened the other end to a beam of the bridge. They then gave him a kick off the bridge, and after a few convulsive jerks Sanderson was dead. His body was disjointed by the fall of twelve feet and death must have come almost instantly. The mob then quietly dispersed.

The body was cut down by Sheriff Hass at 5 o'clock this morning and taken to a local undertaking establishment, where it lies awaiting disposition by relatives. None of the mob are known by the officials.

SACKS OF CHAFF SOLD TO GULLIBLE FARMERS

Bunko Men Pretend to Deal in Wheat and Find Numerous Purchasers.

SANTA CRUZ, March 28.—Two fakers "did" the farmers of this section on Saturday. They hired a team in Santa Cruz and loaded a wagon with sacks supposed to contain wheat. They then started toward the farmers in their neckties, carrying first quality wheat, which they claimed was a sample of the grain they had for sale. They also had a fake tester which they would use in the sacks. From the tester they would produce a sample of the wheat. On account of the cheap price they found ready purchasers.

When the gullible farmers opened the sacks they had bought they found them to contain chaff and mustard. S. Blodgett paid $10 for fifteen sacks and another farmer $20 for thirty sacks. There were numerous other purchasers.

On reaching Calaveras the fakers left the wagon and hired a boy to drive it to Santa Cruz, asking him to start at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. They departed at 11:40 morning train for San Francisco. They are supposed to be the men who operated in the San Joaquin Valley last year.

DEATH OF MRS. ISBEL.

She Taught the First English School in Santa Clara.

VENTURA, March 28.—Mrs. Olive M. Isbel, aged 75, relict of the late Dr. Chauncey Isbel, died at Santa Paula Sunday. She was prominent in the early history of California. Dr. Isbel was a physician in the town of Santa Clara, where he was overland in 1846 with Capt. W. Aram, the party settling in the San Joaquin Valley in 1847. He was connected with various mining enterprises in California. Mrs. Isbel was born in New York. She had been a resident of this county the past several years and was a well known and popular war veteran. He died during the latter '80s.

Reception to Shafter.

SAN DIEGO, March 28.—General Shafter came over to this city to-night from Coronado and was given a public reception on the plaza. The square was crowded with people. Mayor Reed and the city officials carried off considerable property belonging to Guard George Warnock of Mill Valley. Among the more valuable articles stolen were an overcoat, a suit of clothing and a quantity of jewelry and silverware. There is no clue to the thief, but the familiarity with the premises and the nature of the goods showed that he must either live at San Quentin or have been a frequent visitor.

Cardinal Gibbons' Letter to Leo.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—Cardinal Gibbons said to-day he had replied to the American encyclical letter from the Pope, and in the words of the very popular Anglo-Saxon, Lady Randolph Churchill, broadly outlined to The Call-Herald correspondent to-day the policy of the new quarterly miscellany which will appear in June simultaneously in London and New York, of which she is the sole proprietor as well as the editor.

Nearly Six Score Years Old.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 28.—Michael Sheehan died in this city to-night at the advanced age of 118 years. He was born in Ireland and was a friend of Daniel O'Connell. She was married when he was 28 years old and has children over 80 years of age.

Mercy Shown a Young Thief.

WOODLAND, March 28.—Albert McChesney, the Oakland boy charged with burglary, was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny in the Superior Court this afternoon, and was sentenced to "a fine of $50. Leniently was exercised on account of his previous good character."

WORDS ARE SENT ACROSS THE SEA WITHOUT A WIRE

London Times Prints the First Message Flashed From the French to the English Coast.

LONDON, March 28.—Guglielmo Marconi, the inventor, who recently, after long delay, obtained permission from the French Government to establish a station on the French coast for the purpose of experimenting with wireless telegraph between England and France, announces that he has conducted successful experiments between the South Foreland, county of Kent, and Boulogne at the mouth of the Liane.

The Times this morning prints a hundred word dispatch, the first press message from the Marconi system of wireless telegraph describing the experiments between the South Foreland and Boulogne. The experiments were conducted with the Morse code, which was read as distinctly as if the terminal had been connected with wires.

The South Foreland is the most easterly land in England, consisting of a chalky cliff about 200 feet in height, projecting into the North Sea and having two lighthouses, with an elevation of 572 feet. Marconi's system of wireless telegraph has been in practical operation off the English coast for several months, between the South Foreland lighthouse and the East Goodwin lighthouse, a distance of twelve miles. The distance from South Foreland lighthouse to Boulogne-sur-Mer is thirty-two miles, the greatest previous distance covered having been eighteen miles, between Poole and Bournemouth, in England.

An experience of fourteen months has shown that no kind of weather would stop the working of his apparatus. The vertical conductor used is the main feature of the system, and Marconi has found that the distance to which signals may be sent varies according to the square of the length of this conductor. For signaling eighteen miles he used a conductor eighty feet high.

His experiments have already proven that when such a vertical wire or conductor is employed no hindrance to signaling is caused by hills or other obstacles or by the curvature of the earth. One of his most interesting and valuable experiments was the installation of a vertical wire on the island of Wight, on which the Prince of Wales was recuperating after his accident. This gave an opportunity to study the effect of intervening hills, and as the yacht moved about to various positions doubts were set at rest as to the possibility of telegraphing across long stretches of land. Communication between the two lightships and the wireless system between South Foreland lighthouse and East Goodwin lighthouse worked through the fierce storms of the winter of 1900 without interruption, the messages being flashed continually from ship to shore and vice versa.

Signor Marconi is much the most successful experimenter among the many who have worked along the same lines. He is now in his twenty-sixth year. He is an Italian and was in Italy when he began his special work. The Italian Government paid him a large sum of money for his invention, to be used on warships. From Italy he went to England and his success was already recognized by the Emperor William, already interested in the special work, who had instructed German experts to experiment with the wireless system for the benefit of the German army and navy. He recently, in the United States, lectured on the system, illustrating it by likening it to that upon which the telephone works, and which a tuning fork will respond to vibrations caused by striking another tuning fork near it.

CHANGES IN THE HAWAIIAN CABINET

Cooper Named Attorney General.

HONOLULU, March 21.—Henry E. Cooper is Attorney General of Hawaii. His commission was delivered to him yesterday morning and at 10 o'clock he was sworn in by Chief Justice Judd. President Dole announced to his Cabinet Ministers at the morning session that Mr. Cooper had been appointed Attorney General, and that his commission was ready.

President Dole will now have to appoint a Minister of Foreign Affairs to succeed Cooper. An effort will be made to have F. M. Hatch take the position. Mr. Hatch was formerly Hawaiian Minister at Washington.

B. F. Dillingham has almost completed the details of his new sugar plantation project on Kauai. This scheme will be worked out differently from that of its predecessors, and anything that is speculating in the stock ahead of time will be shut off. As now arranged the books will be open for subscriptions on Monday and kept open for a week. This fact will be advertised in the papers. Each application for stock must be accompanied by a check for one-tenth of the amount asked for. At the end of the time the stock will be awarded pro rata, in some cases the stock being returned to the subscribers. This plan may be altered slightly, but the general scheme will be carried out on precisely these lines.

The stock market has shown a decidedly upward tendency throughout the month. There have been advances all along the line. Practically every sugar stock has felt the benefit. Ewa has advanced from 280 to 325 since the first of the month. Hawaiian Agricultural Sugar from 185 to 215; Honokaa from 195 to 225; Haiku from 250 to 260; Kahuku from 130 to 160; Oahu (assessable) from 125 to 167 1/2; Oahu (paid up) from 125 to 165; Oahu Railway bonds from 375 to 425, and Oahu Railway bonds from 100 1/2 to 101.

The United States transport Commaugh arrived this forenoon, less than ten days from San Francisco, on her way to Manila. She is in command of Captain J. A. Broomhead. She carries about 300 miles for the army of occupation in Manila. Several mail boxes were unloaded here and given a chance to stretch their legs and then will be reloaded. The vessel will be here a week or so.

LADY RANDOLPH CHURCHILL AND HER MAGAZINE

EXPEDITIONS TO THE ANTARCTIC REGIONS

NEW YORK, March 28.—A special cable to the Journal from London says: Sir Clements Markham, president of the Royal Geographical Society, announced to-day that the sum of $200,000 has been subscribed for a British Antarctic expedition. Further financial assistance will be asked of the Government, which has already promised to supply the necessary surveying instruments. The expedition will be ready to sail next July. It will be joined by the German expedition, which the Berlin Government has liberally subscribed. The principal object of these expeditions will be to study the magnetic influence of the Antarctic regions with a view to increasing the safety of navigation. Search for the south pole will also be made.

Sir Clements Markham believes that land will be found around the pole, much of it volcanic but some of it capable of habitation. He thinks the weather there is extremely cold, but exceptionally healthy.

The Royal Geographical Society anticipates valuable results to all branches of science from this expedition. The observations will cover a period of two years.
