

WILSON NO STRANGLER BUT A BOLD THIEF

Positively Identified by Victims

ROBS UNPROTECTED WOMEN

SUSPICION THAT HE IS WANTED EAST FOR MURDER.

Sufficient Evidence Obtained Against Him to Warrant the Police in Charging Him With Robbery.

Chief Lees is satisfied that Harry Wilson, the colored man who was arrested several nights ago by Detectives Gibson, Wren and McMahon, is not the much-wanted stranger. He, however, is convinced that he is a desperate thief, who would not hesitate to commit murder if his victim manifested a disposition to resist him.

The police have ascertained that on the night of December 1, 1893, Wilson visited a lodging-house kept by Mrs. Woodward at 86 1/2 Market street and rented a room. While Mrs. Woodward was engaged in writing a receipt for him, Wilson suddenly came upon her and repeatedly kicked her. He then robbed her of a purse containing $10. Several months later the victim of the assault went to Sacramento, where she died. Another crime which the police attribute to the colored man was on the night of December 24, 1893, going to the room of Carrie Warren, in a lodging-house at 131 1/2 Farwell street, Wilson, after announcing that he was a cattle dealer, entered the room, inquired for a woman named Mrs. Watson. While the unsuspecting woman was conversing with him, he searched her purse containing $40 and a diamond ring and made his escape. The woman is now in jail.

Last April Wilson visited the house of Cora Graham on Stockton street and robbed her of $25. The previous day he called on a woman named Mrs. Shipley, who lives at 121 Powell street, and got her purse, containing $25.

Laura Reynolds, better known as the "babbling" of the tenderloin as "Little Laura," is also a victim of the desperate thief. Some time ago he went to her room at 214 Ellis street, and, catching her by the throat, tried to take her purse. She screamed for help and his brutal assailant, evidently becoming alarmed, ran from the house and made his escape. Inez Leonard, the keeper of a respectable house on Ellis street, was also robbed of $50 by Wilson. Under the pretense that he wanted to see her only-nephew, he gained an entrance to the house. While he was introducing himself as a rich cattle man from Arizona, he knocked her down. He then hurriedly searched the bureau in the room and in one of the drawers found a package of greenbacks, which he took. The woman's screams for help attracted the attention of a colored servant, who rushed to her assistance. In the hallway leading to her room, the servant encountered Wilson, who struck her in the face, knocking her down. As she lay prostrate on the floor the brutal negro kicked her in the stomach.

The police have the names of two other women who were also assaulted and robbed by the desperate thief. They refuse to divulge the names of the women, but expect to have them present when the examination takes place in the Police Court.

There is a growing suspicion among the detectives who have been tracing Wilson's movements that he is wanted in some other State for a more serious crime than robbery. They have sent his description to the various Sheriffs throughout the country with a view of having him positively identified. Wilson, who is a "rider" and goes under the name of Martinez, but during the examination takes place in the Police Court.

The Private Formula of a Noted Physician Made Known - Quickly Restores Weakened Mankind to Strength and Vigor.

L. W. KNAPP, M. D.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness, nervous debility, lost manhood, night emissions, premature discharge and all other cases of self-abuse. It restores vitality, cures the cause of the difficulty, never fails to restore the organs to full natural strength and vigor. The doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to tell every man about it. He will therefore send the receipt for this medicine to every man who writes him, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity.

HE WILL ARRANGE TO FLOAT A BIG ISSUE OF BONDS.

The Central and Southern Pacific Consolidation Scheme Was Engineered by This Wizard of Wall Street.

James Speyer of New York City, president of the New York and London banking house of Speyer & Co., arrived in this city last night in a special train from Monterey and secured apartments at the Palace. Mr. Speyer is a visitor of no small importance and has the reputation of being the leading financier of the day. He is a close financial ally of C. P. Huntington and his visit is made in connection with the $25,000,000 bond issue of the Central and Southern Pacific consolidation, which his firm is about to float among its wealthy clients.

When interviewed upon his arrival he pleaded fatigue from the journey, but said:

"Ninety-one per cent of the bondholders and 98 per cent of the stockholders of the Central Pacific have consented to the reorganization scheme by which the road will be absorbed by the Southern Pacific. My visit here is to look after the situation and I will pay particular attention to the two roads and their sources of revenue. I will attend the meeting of the Central Pacific directors to-morrow, when the final details of the consolidation will be arranged. It is my especial desire to promote harmony among the various interests of the roads, as I am responsible to my clients for a big load of Southern and Central Pacific bonds and I do not wish to increase the burden of my responsibility.

The reorganization proposition contemplated the issuance of $100,000,000 in 4 per cent bonds and $25,000,000 in 3 1/2 per cent bonds. The Central Pacific stock to the Southern Pacific and will receive share for share of the new issue in addition to the Central Pacific issues to the Southern Pacific $20,000,000 in cumulative preferred stock. It can be well understood that this is a gigantic undertaking and will require considerable financial acumen to accomplish successfully."

Mr. Speyer will be the honored guest at the banquet to be given this evening at the Palace Hotel by the local heads of the Southern Pacific to C. P. Huntington and General Hubbard, first vice president of the company.

Prominent Members of the Native Sons of Vermont Who Are Working to Make Their Celebration a Memorable One.

THIS city will take on a martial appearance on Monday next. Flags will be flying from every housetop, red, white and blue bunting will decorate many buildings and cannon will thunder salutes in honor of Admiral Dewey's memorable victory in Manila Bay.

"Dewey day" will be celebrated throughout the State in a highly patriotic manner. Every citizen who has an ounce of patriotism in him will lay aside his toil and with his family participate in the festival.

Mayor Phelan is alive to the occasion and has already completed plans to have military bands furnish music in the three principal parks of the city. Bandmaster Casassa has been directed to have the bands render patriotic music at South Park, Union Square and Columbia Park during the afternoon and evening of the great day. The expense for the music will necessarily fall on the city's executive.

President Edward A. Belcher of the Pacific Association of the Native Sons of Vermont yesterday received the following telegram from John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy:

"Your request of 20th in regard to salute acted upon favorably, and commandants Mare Island and Yerba Buena have been informed."

The foregoing telegram was in answer to a letter sent by Judge Belcher to the Secretary of the Navy on the day Governor Gage issued his proclamation declaring May 1 a legal holiday, asking that salutes be fired in honor of Admiral Dewey.

On the same day ground will be broken at the Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., for the erection of "Dewey Hall." It was at that university that Dewey received his education, and the action of the residents of that State in honoring its famous son has been commended by the President and every patriotic organization in the country.

President Belcher has made a strong appeal to the members of the Native Sons to attend the grand celebration of the society will hold on "Dewey day" at Sunset Park in the Santa Cruz Mountains. He appeals to them to pull down their petty cares and hoist their patriotism aloft on that occasion. He wants them to turn out en masse and bring their friends on that day. "It is desired," he says, "to make this celebration of the first anniversary of Admiral Dewey's victory (so momentous in consequences to us) eminently successful, and the active co-operation of all who love 'Old Glory' is warmly solicited."

The members have hearkened to his appeal and are already making active preparations to celebrate their holiday among the trees and blossoms of the Santa Cruz Mountains.

The committee of arrangements, which consists of A. O. Perkins (chairman), M. T. Ellenwood, V. F. Northrop, A. E. Lucas and Secretary S. G. Cmeever, has worked hard, and there is every prospect that its efforts will be crowned with success. The auxiliary committee, which is composed of the following residents of Alameda County, has also rendered great help. It is composed of Mrs. L. J. Hardy Jr. (chairman), B. F. Geddings, L. W. McLaughlin and Mrs. S. W. Deming.

The following programme will be rendered on the picnic grounds: Overture, national airs (Cattlin), Golden Gate Park Band; Invocation, Rev. George C. Adams, D.D.; brief remarks by the president of the day, Hon. Edward A. Belcher; "Star-spangled Banner" (solo and chorus), Miss L. C. Snider; oration, Hon. M. M. Estee; patriotic song, Rhys Thomas; march, "When Dewey Comes Home" (Lee Johnson), Golden Gate Park band; "America," audience; benediction.

THE CAPTAIN and 25 and 30 cent prices is booming the prosperity of the Southern company at Grand. The production is lavish in the extreme, and in point of ensemble and stage picture superior to any other play at the Baldwin by De Wolf Hopper. "El Capitan" will run two weeks and expand the fortunes of the company.

Roland Reed and his company are presenting an interesting farce comedy at the Columbia called "The Wrong Mr. Wright," written by Broadhurst, and full of smart American dialogue.

At the Tivoli "The Geisha," one of the cleverest musical comedies since "The Mikado," is enjoying a timely revival.

Ernest Hastings has scored a decided hit in the title role of "Captain Swift" at the Alcazar.

The Rays continue in popularity at the California, playing their wild farce-comedy, "A Hot Old Time."

Lillian Burkhardt, at the Orpheum, in "A Passing Fancy" is still the strongest legitimate attraction in town. The rest of the programme is usual vaudeville.

Rosenthal, the pianist, gave another excellent recital in the Grand Opera-house yesterday afternoon to another small but enthusiastic audience.

Pianist Sauer plays to-night in Odd Fellows' Hall a new and well-selected programme.

In Sore Distress. Officer McMurray of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children yesterday investigated a sad case of poverty at a deserving workman, Henry Langman, of 342 Madrid street. The officer found the man's two little children, being sick with the measles, streetside, upon looking into the matter found that the father, who is a painter, has been out of work for a long time and his family, consisting of six children besides himself and wife, has been reduced to dire distress. Funds have been raised when questioned much reluctance was manifested. Temporary relief was provided.

The captain of the schooner Webfoot and the barkentine Newsboy had trouble with their crews yesterday. The union men did not intend to let these boats get away without disturbance. The Webfoot was all ready to start, the tug Liberty had her lines on her and just as she was straightening out two union men who had shipped on her refused point blank to go. Remonstrance was useless, and so Captain Atwood ran up the police flag. Two officers went aboard to investigate. When the men adhered to their resolution and demanded to be put ashore. The union boat carried them away. Captain Atwood had then to come ashore to get men to fill their places.

The barkentine Newsboy, lying at Union street, had also trouble with her crew. The union men determined that she should not get away without making their power felt. In order to avoid the chance of any fights, Sergeant Thomas Mahoney was detailed to go down to Union street wharf and keep a sharp lookout and prevent disturbance.

The City of Paope had to be moved from Lombard street yesterday to Steuart street. There was a strike of the men from the north, which made the vessel chafe badly against the piles, necessitating her removal.

The transports Senator and Ohio were loading supplies for the soldiers and fresh meat at Polson street wharf yesterday. It is expected that the ships will leave for Manila to-day. The first and third battalions of the Thirteenth Infantry arrived from the East early in the morning and were marched down to the transports. The second battalion, staff and band arrived yesterday. The Thirteenth Infantry is under the command of Colonel Alfred T. Smith and Lieutenant Colonel Coe. It was one of the regiments that made the brilliant charge up San Juan Hill. The Thirteenth Infantry and recruits from the Presidio will fill the two steers.

Polson street wharf was packed with soldiers. Their arms were stacked in the middle of the wharf and a strong guard was placed at the entrance to prevent the soldiers from getting out and making the surrounding streets a scene of rioting. Despite every precaution, numbers of the soldiers managed to make their escape, and every hour a corporal had to be sent out to round them up. One of the men made a determined effort to pass the guard at the gate. He pushed his way to one side and started to run, but the sentry clubbed his gun and knocked the runaway senseless. He was carried aboard the Senator and put in irons.

Thomas Kelley, living at 1229 Stanyan street, was employed in placing the wires of the Pacific Telegraph system underground at Main and Howard streets. He was struck by a trolley car and received a compound fracture. He was taken to the Harbor Hospital and was treated by Dr. Hinmelsbach.

Martin Hansen, employed on the steamer Leelanaw, crushed his right foot and ankle, and was taken to the Harbor Hospital yesterday.

There was a disgusting display of cruelty to animals on Howard street wharf yesterday. The ship St. Nicholas, flying the Hume house flag, was ready to sail for Alaska, and a number of bullocks were being packed on board. The usual crowd of cowboys determined to give an exhibition of their skill. One of them would lasso a steer while another would get behind and force the animal into a run. When it was about to start the cowboy who had lassoed the animal would throw his horse on his haunches and the steer would come down on its side half strangled.

The first steer that was to be put aboard was the one that caused the arrest of Bert Moore for me. The steersman, firm of Eischen & Miner and Frank Rojas and William Hartney, two cowboys from Guatemala. They were no good at all, which to hoist the animal aboard, so a rope was made fast around its horns, the other end was attached to the steering gear and the engine was started, and in a few seconds the struggling brute was hanging in midair by its horns. There was no way for the steer to get out, and he hung by his horns for four minutes and a half before it was got aboard. State Senator Frank Hartney, the beginning of the tortoise and he lost no time in hunting up Officers Lake and Shaw. They arrived while the steer was in midair and at once began making arrests. They secured three prisoners, but two cowboys, who were on horseback, put spurs to their horses and got away. The prisoners were charged with cruelty to animals at the Harbor police station, where they were released on $50 cash bail.
