

SAN PABLO GIRL NOT GUILTY OF BURGLARY

JUDGE CONLAN DENOUNCES DUNCAN

MISS MARY E. BOWEN, THE VICTIM OF A CONSPIRACY.

MISS MARY E. BOWEN of San Pablo, who when arrested on a charge of burglary at the Burlington Hotel wished to be known at the City Prison as "Mary Brown," was honorably dismissed from the custody of the court yesterday by Police Judge Conlan. H. M. Duncan, her prosecutor, failed to appear, having left the State in fear of an ordeal on the witness stand.

The young lady, heavily veiled, accompanied by her mother, was in court. When asked her true name she was saved from answering by Attorney Quinlan, who said "Mary Brown."

This is a case that should not pass without a few words from the bench. Judge Conlan, "No one regrets more than I do that the prosecuting witness, Duncan, is not here. I believe this arrest of a respectable young woman on a charge of burglary to have been a scheme, or perhaps the mean work of a drunken man. Instead of her having robbed anybody, or attempted to do so, I understand she was herself robbed. This fellow Duncan, whoever he is, came here to swear to a complaint, and slunk away. It is very plain that his motive was not to protect society by securing the punishment of a criminal, but something else. If he were here I am of the opinion that he would find himself the party charged, with this young lady as his accuser. She has already been subjected to a great deal of undeserved humiliation, and I shall order the case to be dismissed."

H. M. Duncan, who caused Miss Bowen's arrest, registered at the Palace Hotel a few days before he went for a night to the Burlington. He asked for the cheapest room in the house, and the Palace bellboy who showed him to his room saw no evidence of the $80 diamond ring that he professed to have lost.

Attorney Rose says that Duncan has gone East, and asserts positively that the affair was a scheme to get money out of Miss Bowen's guardian, W. S. Zelin, who escorted the young lady from the courtroom.

Judicial errors are innumerable to secure the needed testimony for the determination of disputed questions of fact. Nor is it strange that this is so. This court is a court of law, and not of fact. It deals with questions of law and not of fact. No provision has been made by the law-making power of the State for the means necessary to secure the needed testimony upon which the court and the jury are to act. It is therefore, in the anomalous position of being practically limited by the will and pleasure of counsel for petitioners in the production of testimony on behalf of respondent. And even the testimony which we are thus permitted to introduce comes in a mangled and incomplete form, with the most of it still unread to the court.

Mr. Ford, while using good old English language "as she spoke," unconsciously put his foot in it. The court, and Chief Justice Beatty especially, failed to grasp the meaning of the foregoing remarks and was much offended. The Attorney General hastened to explain that he meant no disrespect to the court. He had not reflected upon the mental caliber of the court and the chief justice, but "impotency" was statutory and not personal. This assurance mollified the principal justice, but the matter has been more sensitive than comprehending in the law and the facts.

George Barnaby, a barber, went into Newman Stern's barber shop, 11 Sixth street, Monday for a shave. He remarked that he had a tender face and did not want a close shave. Four different barbers tried him, but he was not pleased and called them "fatters" and bad names. He raised such a row that he was arrested for disturbing the peace. Judge Morgan tried the case yesterday and fined Barnaby $5.

It has been definitely decided by the San Francisco Art Association to give a Mardi Gras masked ball at the Hopkins Institute of Art on the evening of February 27. Probably within the next ten days a meeting will be held for the purpose of completing the preliminary arrangements. At that time committees will be appointed on decorations, music, floor and reception.

set forth in the petition of the farmers that the existing facilities of transportation are inadequate. Owing to the recent heavy rains wagon transportation is conducted with the utmost difficulty and many delays are encountered. It is believed the rights of way and privileges can be obtained for a railroad, which will far outweigh any favorable consideration of the petition.
