

WHEELER ASKS
SCHEDULE FOR SIX TRAINS

A Through Express to Run
From the Mole to Berkeley
Twice a Day.

Too Many Small Stations Accommodated and East Berkeley People Delayed, Says the President.

BERKELEY, March 19.—President Wheeler of the University of California has asked the Southern Pacific Company to run special accommodation trains from the mole to Berkeley each morning and evening for the students of the university. It is proposed that the morning trains, at 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock in the morning, and two evening trains be put on for the exclusive use of the students.

President Wheeler consulted with a number of prominent Berkeleyans regarding the proposed arrangements and met with considerable encouragement. He then called upon the head of the Alameda division and set the entire matter before him. A letter was received by Dr. Wheeler to-day stating that at present the suggestions made by him could not be fulfilled. A larger equipment will be necessary to stop at the small stations, and it is not probable that such an arrangement can be made.

ELKS' CIRCUS DRAWS CROWDS UNDER THE TENTS AT OAKLAND

Brass Band of the Oakland Elks.

OAKLAND, March 19.—The Elks' Circus is a success. The big tent at Twelfth and Madison streets was packed to-night and the ticket sellers had to lose their boxes early in the evening, turning away scores of people who sought admission. Hundreds stood for hours inside the tent and the entertainment fully rewarded the thousands that were crowded into every available corner.

The merry sect of clowns served the sawdust flavored jokes with fresh relief and contributed a good share to the success of the show. In the rings were George W. Reed, H. A. Melvin, A. P. Leach and George E. de Golla. Clay H. Hawker was chief announcer, and he won his hearers with his eloquent description of the attractions of the concert.

The peanut brigade, headed by W. H. J. Mathews, kept the crowd busy parting with its money for their canvas covered popcorn, chewing gum and real circus lemonade. There was real sidewalk show and menagerie, with even a baby elephant for the little folks to enjoy.

The concert programme won a thousand people and more to drop their dimes into the Elks' fund. There was a combined orchestral programme under Louis Hoerner's leadership, and the Elks quartet, Dick Walsh and Adele Legon, T. Valera, Frank W. Thompson, D. Manfield, Eagan and McNulty, C. H. Johnson and Louis Hinz interpreted a varied lot of solos, monologues, club swinging, acrobatic numbers and the like.
