Two Peculiar Brigs Bound for Nome.

S CAMMELL & KING of this city have purchased from parties in San Diego the well-known brig Tanner and from the John D. Spreckels & Bros. Company the clipper William G. Irwin. The latter vessel is one of the fastest vessels in the sugar fleet, and was only sold because she is not large enough for the trade. She is now on her way here from Honolulu and on her arrival will be got ready for a trip to the frozen north. She will carry passengers and freight to the gold fields, and given a fair chance, should make steamboat time. The Tanner will also go to the gold fields, carrying a cargo of lumber from Puget Sound.

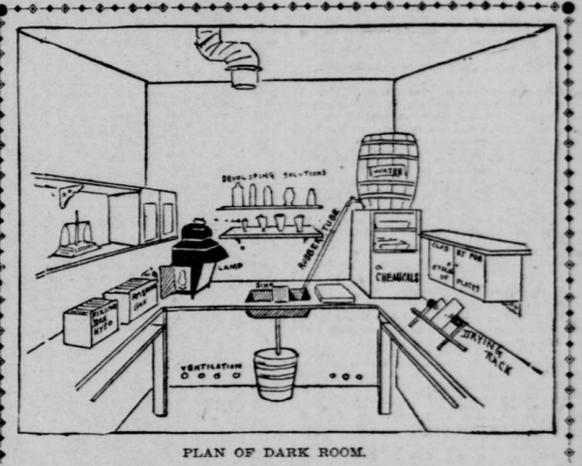

THE CALL'S HOME COURSE IN PHOTOGRAPHY FOR AMATEURS.

VII.—THE DARK ROOM.

BY GEORGE W. GILSON.

For the opening of plates and the filling of the holders and for the chemical manipulation after exposure, a room perfectly free from all light is required. The light with which to see when performing the various operations must come through a pane of ruby glass or a sheet of ruby fabric from outside of the room, or it must be from the flame of a lantern made for the purpose. It is best, when possible, to have a room used exclusively for this purpose. It need not be large, though the larger and more airy the better. Almost every house has a room or closet, which, by building a room it would be well to build a small shelf supported by a bracket on the outside, with a small window opening with a frame of ruby glass extending up from the shelf. A lamp on the shelf will illuminate the room and keep the heat outside and save the trouble of a ruby lantern. It should be built at the same height as the developing table inside. The room can be ventilated in the following manner: Have made at the tin-smith's four tubes of tin such as is factory. Another pane of ruby glass, or sheet of ruby fabric, should be added to the others to make the light perfectly safe. The best size for the window is 8 by 10 or 12 by 12, and it should be directly in front of the developing table. If there is not a window of this kind a ruby lantern will be necessary. This should be a good one, burning oil. Much of the success of developing depends on a good, safe light, and a few extra dollars spent here will be money saved. The very cheap lanterns are invariably unsatisfactory. They have an insufficient draft, become overheated and the solder melts or the glass cracks. The lamp shown in the illustration gives a safe 8 by 10 ruby light for developing by, while the left side door when open emits a clear white light for negative or transparency and bromide prints by contact. The right door when open gives a soft opal light for examining negatives or transparencies and bromide prints on a piece of paper and gluing the paper to the end of the tray. When it has dried it should be well rubbed with vaseline or vasoline to render it waterproof. These trays must never be used for any purpose other than that for which they are marked. For fixing, however, a res-

used to carry water from the roof, the shape of the letter L, the long side about ten inches long and the short side half that length. At the top of the long end have a flange, and after cutting holes at the bottom of the wall of the room and out to prevent the reflection of light. If there is running water and it can be conveyed to the room, and if a sink and waste pipe can be used, so much the better, as plenty of good water is a requisite and running water one of the greatest conveniences. But if not, a tin can will do to get along without running water, and let us see how this can best be done. We can get a tin can of the size of the room at which we are going to develop. We must first get a table or shelf, or use an old table, and get a tin can of the size of this 2x15 inches, cut in the top. Into this fit a zinc or galvanized iron tray about four inches deep. From a hole in of glass funnels and a pair of balances to weigh grains. To weigh ounces or more the ordinary house scales will answer. A camel's hair brush for dusting plates will be handy for our readers. It may be eye placed in the end of the handle and be hung on a nail at one side of the developing table. It should have several convenient and several well washed bottles of various sizes are indispensable. A comfortable stool or chair placed before the developing table and a box or canister to receive papers, strings, burned matches and other refuse complete the dark-room essentials, though some other articles, such as a negative rack, etc., may add to its convenience. The plan of a dark room shown here will make a very comfortable and convenient working room. It is for use where water connection is not practical or the expense of the connection not desired, as probably will be the case with a large majority of our readers. It may be in a dry corner of the cellar or in the attic. The best of cellars is liable to dampness, so that another location would be best if plates, etc., are to be kept in it. It should be 8 by 8 feet or 10 by 8 feet by 12 feet in height. If water connection can be made it will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of working. Our readers will readily see how a direct water supply and drainage may be substituted for the water barrel and pail.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

Spring Term, 1900. Mondays—American Political Parties. Tuesdays—Twenty Lessons in French Conversation and Recent Scientific Discoveries. Wednesdays and Thursdays—Golden Ages of Literature. Fridays—Photography for Amateurs. Saturdays—Biographical Studies for Girls. These courses will continue until held at their close as a basis for the granting of certificates. Almost ready to blow up. Shag Rock! A description of the preparatory work alone is highly interesting, but doubly so when told by a young woman who went down in a diving suit in the dangerous waters of the bay that rush around the base of the rock, and made a personal inspection of the operations. See the front page of next Sunday's Call. Knocked Down by a Buggy. George W. Vincent, an old man living at 1519 Clay street, was crossing Third and Market streets yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a buggy and knocked down. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Dorr found that he had sustained a lacerated wound of the scalp over the left ear. L. E. Reynolds, the driver of the buggy, was arrested on a charge of battery. Men's calf shoes, worth $3.50, for only $1.50 a pair, at the sale of shoes, 717 Market street.

JAPANESE ARE POURING INTO SAN FRANCISCO

Hongkong Maru Brings 200, and Sound Boats as Many More. The Ex-Transport Charles Nelson Is Rammied by a Swordfish. Berths for Shipping Few and Far Between.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha's steamer Hongkong Maru arrived from the Orient late Wednesday night and was sent into quarantine yesterday morning. As soon as Dr. Kinyoun learned that the plague was dying out in Honolulu he allowed the cabin passengers to land. The vessel was held for fumigation, however, and will probably dock to-day. The cabin passengers on the Hongkong Maru were: C. H. Bain, V. de Rodosco, W. J. Carlisle, Benjamin Ellis, Alfred Good, Count R. Marlin, T. H. Holmes, J. R. Herod, J. C. Hinkley, J. S. Humphrey and wife, George Kachler, R. Kondo, D. Kowitz, H. P. Lewis, R. C. McKerron, Mrs. Watson, C. H. Nichols, wife and son, K. Nishimura and wife, M. Otagawa, C. Perrier, Edward Runge, Charles Rogers, S. S. Keruzio and wife, B. Sangino, A. Schaffa, Wada Masana, J. B. Tuttle and wife, W. A. Armstrong, Mrs. G. W. Ketchum, C. E. Fitzsimmons, S. Hichborn, T. Matsuega, Mrs. G. S. Morgan, Mrs. J. W. Matteson, Miss C. E. Rowen, Mrs. J. W. Bergstrom, Miss T. L. Curtis, P. B. Smith and wife, T. O. Van Ness, M. M. Wells, W. E. Sachs and wife, Joseph Pais, wife and son, Mrs. A. H. Webster, D. W. Byrne, R. O. Rawlings, Miss Russell, J. J. Walsh.

bound and should reach here next month. The transports Leelanaw and Copanah discharge their cargo on the bay at Hilo while en route to Manila. While the vessels were at anchor the officers of both were banqueted by the townspeople, and a most enjoyable time resulted. The officers of the Hongkong Maru report that the cook of the bark Annie Johnson was hoisted to a boat lowered, but to trace of the suicide could be found. The bark is expected to arrive here daily. The new steamer Rainier arrived from Grays Harbor yesterday in tow of the tug Astoria. As soon as the cargo of lumber in her hold is discharged she will be engaged and fitted out and will then sail for Nome under the Alaska Commercial Company's flag. Shipping men are viewing with consternation the fact that another big raft is being built on Puget Sound to be towed to San Francisco. In this giant affair there will be 14,000,000 feet of lumber, and should it ever go to pieces destruction will surely follow in its path. Of all the menaces to navigation there is nothing that can compare with a derelict log raft. There is not a vacant berth for ships along the front, and Chief Wharfinger Henderson and Assistant Chief Dryden are at their wit's end to know where to place the various vessels applying for accommodation. The widening and extending of the wharves along the front has begun none too soon, as the demand for space exceeds the limit of the accommodation.

New Business Block. The trustees of the estate and guardians of the minor children of Charles F. Crocker, deceased, will soon erect a fine business block on the land owned by the estate fronting upon Fremont, Mission and First streets. No plans have been adopted, the reason being that the guardians are first seeking tenants so that the income may be insured in advance. The tract of land is quite large for a building site, being 137.5 on Mission street, 187.5 on First street and 50 feet on Fremont street. The frontage of fifty feet extends through Fremont street to the first street. One of the parties having the matter in charge said yesterday that the building will be arranged for stores. The size of the structure and the other details have not yet been decided upon. The land is now occupied by a number of small, cheap structures. It abuts upon the premises occupied by Miller, Sloss & Scott on Fremont street.

Malt-Nutrine. To Remove Insane Patients. General Superintendent of State Hospitals Hatch, City Attorney Lane and Superintendent Reddy of the Almshouse yesterday visited Mayor Phelan to arrange for the transfer of three or more mildly insane patients to the City and County Almshouse. Dr. Hatch stated that the insane hospitals were overcrowded and that the city should care for some of the patients who could not be regarded as insane. City Attorney Lane was of the opinion that the removal would be justified under the circumstances. The Mayor took the matter under advisement.

Golf Caps—20c

We are now having a special sale of golf caps which are worth 50 cents. They constitute various patterns and designs in solid and combined colors; the materials are rough and smooth. There is a full assortment of sizes for men and boys. At this remarkably low price the caps will go quickly—the earliest purchasers are surer of getting just the pattern and color they want. Although we have a great number of the caps, we suggest that you call early.
