HAWAII MUOTE BY THE HEALTH BOARD

Bubonic Plague Scare Exaggerated in Order to Raid the Public Treasury.

THE method of looting the public treasury by getting up a tremendous bubonic plague scare at an imminent risk of driving away trade and tourist travel did not originate, it seems, with Mayor Phelan's Board of Health. They even stole the idea. Advice received from Honolulu by the steamer Australia yesterday say that the taxpayers are indignant there over the enormous expense to which they have been put to rid the island of a few cases of the plague. It is stated that less than half of the deaths attributed to the plague could really be charged to that cause, while the others, according to reputable physicians who attended them, were due to pneumonia and kindred ailments.

Prince Cupid Kalamanoa, who came up on the Australia, openly and emphatically asserts that the evils of the plague have been magnified by the Honolulu health officers in order to loot the public treasury. "The whole thing has been a great scam," he said when seen at the Palace Hotel last night, "and some of the officials are certainly lining their pockets at the expense of the gullible public. It is true that there have been some cases of bubonic plague in Honolulu, but the disease was never epidemic, and if they had been quietly handled there would have been no burning of blocks of houses and military interference with all sorts of business. The stories spread broadcast over the world, injuring the trade and practically destroying for years to come our great tourist business. There has never been a time that people could not have landed at and left Honolulu in perfect security. The loss of tourist trade means much to poor Hawaiians, who sold visitors native articles and took them about the islands as guides.

"The taxpayer knows not yet the enormous cost entailed directly by the official scare. About $500,000 has been spent, and the health officers are clamoring for more, threatening another 'quarantine' and 'epidemic.' When the taxpayers have been made to pay for the destruction of Honolulu's Chinatown and other fine districts they will then understand what an expense it is to get rid of a few cases of bubonic plague.

W. H. McInerney, a prominent merchant of Honolulu, who is at the Occidental, in an interview, intimated that the state of things depicted by the Prince actually does exist. He said that the plague scare had been greatly exaggerated and that very many cases reported to be plague were nothing more than pneumonia, the citizens as a consequence of Herman Levy, chief clerk of the Hawaiian Hotel, who was pronounced a plague victim and sent to the pesthouse. Several prominent physicians stated that Levy had pneumonia and stuck to their opinion. Levy is getting well.

Much publicity was given to Levy's case because he is a white man, and the fact that he was attacked by the plague could be used as a lever to get more money from the white taxpayers.

R. M. Mein of Oakland, who has just spent four months in Honolulu, returned home on the Australia, says the opinion is becoming general in the island that the health officers have made much capital out of the plague scare in order to loot the public treasury. They are now making a big thing out of a few people of San Francisco for falling such easy victims to the same game.

ANOTHER GLARING EFFECT OF MR. HEARST'S YELLOW JOURNALISM

ANOTHER instance of the incalculable harm to this city being wrought by Mr. Hearst's yellow journalism, in disseminating false health reports, is afforded by the following article which appeared in the Denver Republican on the 24th inst.:

TOURISTS FLEEING FROM PLAGUE STRICKEN SAN FRANCISCO

Thousands are fleeing from the plague. That is the reason so many are coming East who usually remain in California and along the Western coast until a month later than they are expected. The fact that Denver hotels and all the hotels at stopping places on the way East are now crowded from basement to the roof, whereas the rush of travel from the West does not ordinarily come until a month later than it has this year. "On the train from San Francisco," said he at the Albany Hotel last evening, "I was surprised at the large number of those with whom I conversed, and who frankly admitted that they were fleeing from the Asiatic plague which, without any doubt at all, is now to be found in San Francisco. It is true there may be only a few cases of the plague, but that there is even one case is enough to frighten away many tourists who, all their lives, heard of how deadly this plague is and how rapidly it spreads when introduced into any country.

"Every precaution is being taken, I have been informed, to guard against its spread and even to make light of the fact that there are now cases of plague in San Francisco, but just think of the mortality which would result from carrying the contagion to every part of the country by tourists who have until a short time ago crowded the hostleries of the principal cities in the State. On the very train on which the suspected plague is, or on any like train there was the least contagion the bubonic plague would spring up in practically all the principal parts of the country simultaneously. The danger, though small, is great when the seriousness of the disease is taken into consideration.

LATIN QUARTER NEXT. Health Board Will Continue Disinfecting Process in That Locality.

The Board of Health held a special meeting last night and decided to begin its official inspection of the Latin quarter to-day. The session was a secret one, but the main topic of discussion was the announced intention of the health officers to retain the supervision of the Chinatown and Reed to oppose the granting of any further funds in a fruitless effort to discover the phantom plague. At its conclusion Dr. Williamson stated that whatever was discussed did not require a public meeting was not held.

Health Officer Williamson said that the work of cleaning out Chinatown would be practically concluded this morning and a number of the present sanitary inspectors would be retained to visit the Latin quarter, which includes the district bounded by Montgomery avenue, Sacramento street and the bay. The tactics employed in Chinatown will be modified to a considerable extent, but the residents of that locality will be allowed to play their cards in a sanitary condition. Chloride of lime will be freely spread in the district. Asked as to how many inspectors would be retained to carry on the work Dr. Williamson replied that he was not prepared to say. There will be no process of disinfection the residents will be allowed to come and go.

Some of the inspectors will be immediately set to work posting notices in all the underground lodgings of Chinatown. At Kahului it is reported that there have been no cases since the death of Miss English, which occurred on February 25. It will be some time before Kahului is done with quarantining. According to the Board of Health reports the quarantine shall last for thirty days after the last case of the disease is reported and quarantine ahead for Kahului for three days.

PLANS FOR ENLARGING LOCAL NORMAL SCHOOL

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the San Francisco State Normal School held on Monday evening in the office of H. G. W. Dinkelspiel, the secretary, Messrs. Denison, Cooney and Dinkelspiel were appointed members of the joint Board of Normal School Trustees, which meets on April 12. Messrs. Hyde and Cooney were named as a committee to confer with the superintendent of the Board of Education relative to securing additional quarters for the Normal School for the coming year. The superintendent of the school showed an attendance of sixty-eight students, and considerable probabilities of an increase next year.

Hill Up on an Order.

Ex-Coroner Ed. Hill was before Judge Bahrs yesterday to show cause why he had not paid his wife $225 alimony pending the disposition of her action for permanent maintenance. Dr. Hill said he was unable to pay his wife alimony because the only way he could get money was on the community property, all of which he had bequeathed to Mrs. Hill. Mrs. Hill refused to permit the incumbrance of the property to be removed, and in consequence the case was continued until after the hearing of Dr. Hill's suit to set aside the bequests by which Mrs. Hill holds the property.
