

ADVERTISEMENTS.

A MUSLIN UNDERWEAR SALE.

Children's Drawers. Made of good Muslin; in all sizes; worth 15c. Special... 9c. Ladies' Drawers. Good quality; with extra wide ruffle... 25c. Ladies' Gowns. Beautifully trimmed with extra long sleeves... 48c. Ladies' Gowns. Beautifully trimmed with extra long sleeves... 60c.

GRAND SILK VALUES.

Black Taffetas. 27 inches wide; dependable in every way; extraordinary value. On special sale... 95c a yard. Worth $1.25.

BLACK REMNANT SALE AT HALF PRICE.

Our sales of Black Dress Goods in the past three weeks have been the largest in the history of this department. Many Remnants were accumulated. In lengths from two to six yards. They comprise all the fashionable weaves, such as Silk Matisse, Crepons, Venetians, Camel's Hair, Chevots and many other well-known fabrics. With utter disregard to the cost, we offer the entire lot at

One-Half the Original Selling Price.

Come prepared to-morrow to receive Great Remnant Bargains. The largest and most complete assortment of choicest and most fashionable Wash Materials ever exhibited. Here we mention only a few items for this week's special selling:

CHOICE 1900 WASH GOODS.

Mergerized Foulards. They are made of Cotton throughout, but the mergerizing process and the clever manner in which they are printed after the manner of Foulard silk designs make them look like the imported Foulards; they are fast colors and ideal summer dresses. 20c a yard.

White and Colored Organdi's.

No former stock was ever so complete as the present one. Fine white and colored fabrics for Confirmation Dresses, at the lowest prices. We again make a special sale of White French Organdi; 6 1/2 inches wide; a nice, sheer quality. Special at... 35c a yard.

A SILK-WAIST OVATION AT $5.50 EACH.

THE BEST BARGAIN THIS YEAR. We will offer, commencing to-morrow, 150 Silk Waists that, for excellence in fit, style, quality and low price, have never been shown in this city. Entirely new style; tucked prettily all over sleeves, front and back; in all the fashionable colors for spring. Each $5.50. Your choice at... $1.50.

...A GREAT EASTER CLOVE OPPORTUNITY...

We have had Glove Sales in the past, with values of which we were justly proud. Again to-morrow and for the entire week we announce one of those rare offerings which undoubtedly will attract hundreds of buyers. They are the production of a leading French Glove manufacturer and represent the following three leading styles so much in demand at the present time: 2-clasp Clasp Finger; 2-clasp French Overseam; 2-clasp Finger Walking Glove. In all the latest shades and in all sizes. Each pair worth $1.25. YOUR CHOICE AT 95c A PAIR. WE GUARANTEE EVERY PAIR AND FIT THEM IF DESIRED.

COUNTRY ORDERS RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.

New Embroideries. 15c a yard. You can't afford to miss this bargain. A vast lot of new embroideries. They are all wide margin and open stock. Beautiful patterns sold regularly at 25c and 30c a yard. Special at 15c.

Nominations at Roseburg.

ROSEBURG, Or., April 7.—The Republican County Convention to-day nominated the following ticket: Senator, A. C. Marsters; Representatives—A. R. Matton and C. B. King; Sheriff, E. L. Parrott; Clerk, D. R. Shambrook; Assessor, J. A. Sterling; Treasurer, G. W. Dimmick; School Superintendent, F. H. Hamlin; Commissioners—M. D. Thompson, A. E. Nichols; Surveyor, William Briggs; Coroner, Dr. J. C. Twitchell.

SLIGHT WOUND FOR DUELIST SANTE ALERY.

Little Blood Shed in a Two-Hours' Combat at Paris. Result of the Second Affair of Honor Resulting From the De Lubersac-De Rothschild Quarrel.

PARIS, April 7.—A duel between Comte de Deon and M. de Sainte Alery, the respective seconds of Comte de Lubersac and Baron Edouard de Rothschild in the quarrel, was fought this morning in the Hippodrome at Neuilly le Valois. De Sainte Alery was slightly wounded in the sixteenth onslaught and the duel was then stopped.

The combat lasted nearly two hours. M. de Sainte Alery, who was slightly wounded in the right arm, was taken home at once. Comte de Deon fought in defiance of his doctor's orders, who counseled a further postponement of the duel owing to his sprained wrist.

The talk of society is of the crop of duels springing from the De Lubersac-De Rothschild quarrel, which is really the first fruit of the present anti-Semite mania. The whole affair is of trivial origin, dating from the school days of the two principal actors, when on one occasion Comte de Lubersac, a member of the college of Rothschild in possession of the college tennis court and asked him to court. De Rothschild refused, and in the course of a dispute which ensued De Lubersac called him a "dirty Jew." The resultant ill feeling lasted during the remainder of their college days.

Comte de Lubersac was recently a member of the jockey club. An unpleasant remark was repeated to him, which he attributed to his old disputant, and he thereupon wrote an insulting letter to Baron Robert de Rothschild. Although the seconds decided that the fact that the baron was a minor debarred him from seeking satisfaction, a meeting between the two is only postponed, as the Rothschild is determined to settle the matter upon the field of honor.

Three other duels of which one was decided on Wednesday and one to-day, are the immediate outcome of the quarrel and the respective seconds of the two principals, the rival Semite and anti-Semite. The offensive reference to De Rothschild's second, M. de Sainte Alery, insinuating that he was Jewish, was made in the letter written by the Comte de Lubersac to Baron Robert de Rothschild, who brought a challenge from M. Sainte Alery to Comte de Deon, who was the principal second of De Lubersac.

This attack on the De Rothschilds is considered most unkind, as they are regarded for their generosity toward all charitable undertakings in Paris.

HEALTH OFFICERS MEET. Medical Examiners Asked to Proceed Against Quack Doctors. SACRAMENTO, April 7.—The State Board of Health met this afternoon at the office of Dr. A. M. Henderson and elected Dr. R. W. Hill of Los Angeles president.

You can't afford to pay doctor's bills. Pure food is economy—poor food is poison. Find a dependable grocer. Asparagus—3 cans for 45c. Del Monte—best—grass packed—choice—just in—regular 30c—3 days' sale. Olives—18c. California Queens—quart big fat ones—meaty—sweet delicious—mouth water?—the 25c grade—3 days. Crackers—30c. 3/4 boxes—about to lb—xtra soda—crisp—3 lb carton 15c—3 days' sale. Farina—7 1/2c. Heckers—a favorite—good as gold—10c kind—3 days sale. Laundry Soap—$1.00. Kind that lasts—regular 4 1/2c bar—big bars—3 days. Kitchen Salt—25c. 50 lb bags—clean—white—35c grade—3 days. Check your orders—Across the bay people should leave orders in the A. M.—get package check. Ready at night in a jiffy.

CASH STORE. 15-27 Market St., L. L.

MRS. DEWEY'S STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC.

Disclaims Responsibility for the Candidacy of the Admiral. Declares That She Attempted to Persuade Him Not to Enter the Presidential Campaign.

Special Dispatch to the Call. ALL HEADQUARTERS, WASHINGTON HOTEL, WASHINGTON, April 7.—With the consent of the admiral, Mrs. Dewey made this formal statement this morning with a view to offset the impression that she is responsible for her husband becoming a Presidential candidate.

"A correspondent said I am responsible for my husband becoming a Presidential candidate. So far from this being the case, I attempted to persuade him from this course, realizing the grave anxieties and responsibilities surrounding a candidacy."

When I called to-day and requested permission to see Mrs. Dewey I was first greeted by the admiral, who being told of the object of my visit, exclaimed: "Why, of course Mrs. Dewey has a statement to make. Come right in."

Mrs. Dewey was conversing with her mother, Mrs. Washington McLean, who had called to see the admiral and Mrs. Dewey, to hear all about their outing in Philadelphia. Mrs. Dewey was cordial in her greeting. She wore a becoming house gown of crimson taffeta silk.

"Yes," the admiral went on to say, with a twinkle in his eyes, "Mrs. Dewey wants to make this statement because she wants the people to know who is master in this house. For Mrs. Dewey told me at the time I decided the house to her and then to my son I was very foolish."

Two women reporters were announced just then. They had come from New York to the admiral's headquarters, and learning that Mrs. Dewey had accompanied the admiral to Philadelphia, they went there and again returned in quest of an interview. Mrs. Dewey began her statement, but the reporters would not allow her to say more than that she was going to say "and entreats that both the admiral and Mrs. Dewey should not lose her patience, she exclaimed:

"I reserve the right of every American woman to speak when I wish and am so inclined." Mrs. Dewey told me she and the admiral would go to their country place, Beauvoir, on Monday next and remain there as quietly as possible until their Western trip. They expect to go to some Northern watering place later in the summer, but their headquarters will be at their country home here until midsummer.

Mr. Chartran, an artist from New York, will come to this city next week to paint portraits of Admiral and Mrs. Dewey. It is Admiral Dewey's purpose to make his future statements to the public through the medium of communications either to his personal political advisors or as addresses to the public and to authorize publication through all newspaper channels at the same time. He also intends to make these statements few and far between.

Admiral Dewey said to-day that he probably would not make more than one public statement, in which he would briefly but emphatically define his attitude on all of the leading national questions. When he will make this statement he does not himself know. He said he desired to consult with some of his advisors, but his mind was already made up on the subject of the platform which he desired to run. Admiral Dewey will go to his country place on Monday and in the quiet of this place, after hearing from the "astute men" who, he says, are interested in his candidacy, he will begin the preparation of a letter setting forth his views on the leading issues.

The admiral is still reticent as to who these "astute men" are and seems somewhat uncertain as to the prospects for any thoroughly well-defined organization for conducting his campaign.

NEW CUSTOM HOUSE FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

Secretary of the Treasury Gage Commends Kahn's Bill Providing for Its Construction. Special Dispatch to the Call. WASHINGTON, April 7.—Secretary Gage has written a letter to Chairman Mercer of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds commending the bill providing for a new Custom-house at San Francisco. The committee requested a report on the bill from Secretary Gage, and in compliance with this request the secretary says a three-story-and-a-half building, covering 40,000 square feet stands on the kind of platform recommended, including heating and ventilating apparatus, with vaults, elevators and approaches, all approved in construction. The cost of the building, in case a new site be decided upon the property could be procured for $1,000,000. Kahn's bill provided for the services of Bond Election Held. REDWOOD CITY, April 7.—A bond election was held here to-day for the purpose of voting $20,000 for a municipal water system. This is the third election held for that purpose within the past two years. The proposition being defeated twice, the City Trustees were desirous of submitting the question to the voters, and the result was in favor of $20,000. A two-thirds majority being necessary, the proposition lost.

Will Issue Bonds. RIVERSIDE, April 7.—An election was held here to-day to decide the question of the issuance of $40,000 bonds for an electric light plant. The proposition being carried, a contract for the necessary machinery will be let at once.

Native Daughters to Beautify Redwood City. Have Raised Sufficient Funds to Transform California Square into a Park. Special Dispatch to the Call. REDWOOD CITY, April 7.—The local parlor of Native Daughters, which has assumed the responsibility and expense of beautifying California square, a block of land in the heart of the town, has succeeded in raising sufficient funds to warrant them in proceeding with the work. For a number of months past the Native Daughters have been working with a will upon the matter and have during this time given numerous benefits and entertainments, and the public has responded freely.

Already the unsightly trees and fences have been removed from the square and recently a contract was awarded to fill in the park with good, rich soil. It is thought that it will cost about $100,000 for the filling alone.

As soon as this part of the work is completed a landscape gardener will be employed to lay out the park and plant lawns and shrubs.

A large artificial pond with a fountain in the center will be constructed, and when the work is completed the park will be turned over to the town authorities, who will thereafter see that it is properly kept in order. As the town owns the water system, the cost of maintaining the park will be comparatively small.

The Native Daughters deserve great credit for the work they have undertaken in thus beautifying the town.

a skilled San Francisco architect as assistant to the supervising architect of the Treasury in preparing plans and specifications, and for whose services $25,000 was to be appropriated, but Secretary Gage does not approve this provision and recommends its elimination. He suggests that the limit of cost of the building, exclusive of site, be fixed at $1,500,000. In conclusion Secretary Gage says: "The building now occupied as a Custom-house was erected nearly fifty years ago, and is in a very crowded condition and entirely inadequate for the accommodation of the increasing year by year. It would appear that a part of the importance of San Francisco, the receipts of which are increasing every year, require a more commodious building in order to properly accommodate the constantly growing business of the city."

DEMOCRATIC WHIPS HUSTLING FOR VOTES.

All Members of the House Minority Urged to Work Against the Tariff Bill. WASHINGTON, April 7.—The Democratic members of the House held a caucus to-night to determine upon plans in connection with the approaching vote on the Porto Rican bill. About ninety members were present. The chief attention was given to increasing every year, receive a more commodious building in order to properly accommodate the constantly growing business of the city.

Resolved, That all Democratic members are urged to return to Washington at once. That hereafter Democratic members will make no general or permanent pairs. That all pairs shall be made in writing and shall be signed by one of the members designated by our party caucus to arrange pairs.

Resolved, That as a party we declare our unalterable opposition to the measure now pending in the House, and that we will temporarily to provide revenues for the relief of Porto Rico, and hereby enroll upon every Democratic member of the House the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That as a party we declare our unalterable opposition to the measure now pending in the House, and that we will temporarily to provide revenues for the relief of Porto Rico, and hereby enroll upon every Democratic member of the House the following resolutions were adopted:

HARVARD MAY PAY EXPENSES OF CUBANS.

Objection Made to the Taking of Subscriptions for the Maintenance of Teachers. Special Dispatch to the Call. BOSTON, April 7.—It looks as if the corporation of Harvard University would take upon itself the expense of the maintenance of the Cuban teachers during their summer school, as well as the expense of tuition. This matter will be definitely determined at a meeting of the corporation next Monday. In the meantime, the Cuban teachers will be supported by a committee which has been held in abeyance. It was feared that a general subscription would give the impression that the object was in a certain sense a charitable one, and such an impression would entirely destroy the effect of the good work which it is hoped will be accomplished by the visit. Hence the proposition to place the matter entirely under the direction of Harvard.

Superintendent Fry is advocating the celebration of the Fourth of July this year at the State Normal school, as well as the respective body. Walter Gillman Page and General Francis Appleton have shown a warm interest in this idea, and some of the officers of the Cuban war have expressed a desire to co-operate in such a scheme.

REDWOOD CITY NOMINEES.

Contest Will Be for Offices of Treasurer and Marshal. Special Dispatch to the Call. REDWOOD CITY, April 7.—The regular municipal election will be held at this place on Monday next, at which will be elected three members of the Board of Trustees (full term) and one member of the Board of Trustees (expired term) of G. Plump, resigned, one Clerk, one Treasurer and one Marshal. The last two offices were vacant since the death of the late Mayor Behrens and Philip Princevalle; for Rear-Sheriff John Christ and Colon Stafford.

LUXURIES FOR THE BRITISH IN BOER PRISONS.

Bank of Pretoria Cashes Pay Checks From London. With the Money Thus Acquired the Captive Men Are Enabled to Keep Their Larder Well Supplied. Copyrighted, 1900, by the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 7.—Superlatives have been almost eliminated now from the war comments, and with the disappearance of possible foreign complications the editors of the press are turning to a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on Kimberley and the destruction of horse feed caused by the surrounding of General Buller the War Office wired to its agents all over the world, particularly in North and South America, giving them unconditional power to buy and public speakers take quite a moderate tone and treat what is happening in the war field with a certain historical perspective. The depressing incidents of the week have caused Englishmen to resign themselves to a long struggle. The disposition to find fault with the War Office for not having anticipated the necessity for the enormous number of horses seems unjustified, for it is learned that before the dash on