

LOVES ARE IN DAVIS' LETTERS

Parson's Epistles to His Wife Burned With Passionate Appeals to Forgive.

Mrs. Kingore Has Faith in Her Son-in-Law and Advises Her Daughter to Yield

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 115 Broadway, April 19. LTA KINGORE DAVIS, the pretty wife of Edward Davis, has suddenly departed for New York with the determination to have pressed a suit for divorce.

Davis was in New Orleans when he was informed that his wife had decided to free herself. Here is his appeal to her to refrain from such a course.

"Listen, Alta, there is absolutely no limit to my love. I will grant anything, even that I may never see you, if you will but continue to be my wife. A divorce means disaster. This man you tell me I can release my clutch upon my only love without a death struggle? O, merciful God! Alta, you have never known the racking fire I have tried to control within me because of you, the only love I have ever had or can have again."

"That outbreak of passionate adoration did not move the daughter. She maintained resolutely her decision to secure a decree of divorce. The disheartened husband then took his mother-in-law, Mr. M. H. Kingore, into his confidences and related to her some of his troubles. Some extracts from his letters follow. Speaking of his wife he writes: "When I loved her I loved her enough to marry her. When I married her I married her forever. That was my chosen profession. I became indifferent because I saw the general faculty of much preaching. I saw the sham of pretended conversion. I am not morbid. Christ to me is as changeless as love—the love, not of the flesh, but eternal."

"There is a sharp touch upon the experience of the field day who remain over. The members of Euclid Club will give a reception to the students of the university on Friday evening, May 11.

TEACHER OF GREEK TO WED AN ACTRESS

NEILL JUVENILE MAN AND THE FAIR LADY OF HIS CHOICE

GEORGE BLOOMQUEST, juvenile man of the Neill company, is to wed Miss Rosa Swain, teacher of Latin and Greek in the University of Minnesota.

The bride to be is on her way out here from the wedding of the actor and the teacher will follow shortly after the lady's arrival in this city.

Of course, it is a love story and it dates back to the Neill company's long stay in Minneapolis. Miss Swain, in spite of her Latin and Greek proficiency, is a great admirer of the theater and spent every Saturday afternoon in true matinee girl style at the playhouse.

Miss Swain is coming out here in company with Mrs. M. Garbett and Elmer Bloomquest, a brother of the groom, who is the cashier of the Swedish-American Bank in Minneapolis. Mr. Bloomquest and Miss Swain are to be married in the Episcopal church. Elmer Bloomquest will be the best man and Miss Julia Dean of the Neill company will be one of the bridesmaids.

FRIENDS DESIRE HIM TO LEAD THE PARADE

ON Tuesday next the Grand Parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West will convene at Groveville, at which convention it will be determined on whom the much-coveted honor of grand marshal for the next parade will be bestowed.

The latest aspirant for the leadership of the coming pageant is Stephen V. Costello, a well-known young member of the legal fraternity of this city.

STEPHEN V. COSTELLO.

For fifteen years Mr. Costello has been a member of the Native Sons, having joined the order in Petaluma as a member of the Bear Parlor of that city. Three years later he joined Pacific City, of this city and has been through all the chairs of that branch and is a member of the Past Presidents Association.

Several months ago, he said, while she was living at 318 Sutter street, she had a quarrel with her sweetheart, a jockey named Harry Springer, and cut her clothes into tatters. She followed up this mad freak by attempting suicide by slashing her throat with a knife.

For this exhibition of temper she was ordered out of the house, and took up her quarters on Stockton street, which place she was obliged to leave on account of her tantrums three weeks ago.

It is known that Jessie Reed was not the girl's real name. She has two sisters, one of this city and one in Stockton, both respectable women. It was at their expense that the body was given decent burial.

BODY OF A SUICIDE WAS WEIGHTED DOWN. Growsome Discovery of Two Amateur Fishermen Outside the Golden Gate, Near Fort Point.

Albert Willis of 1715 Leavenworth street and George Littlefield of 19 Glover street, while engaged in fishing three-quarters of a mile outside of Fort Point yesterday morning, discovered the body of a man floating on with the tide.

The body was that of a man about 35 years old, with black hair and full face. It was clothed in dark blue round neck coat, vest and trousers, black laced gaiters, white shirt with standing collar and gray woolen underwear. A pocket knife, a comb, gold watch and an Oakland ferry ticket (No. 2429) were found in the pockets.

In response to their signals the members of the life-saving station at Fort Point Beach put out a boat and recovered the body and held it until the coroner's deputies arrived to take the Morgue.
