Special Dispatch to The Call.

CHICAGO, May 31.—All day yesterday and to-day a large blue and gold flag has waved over the Hotel Lexington, and people wonder what it signifies.

The team, on the whole, is not in good condition. Some of the men are feeling fine, while others are disabled.

Flaw tried throwing the discus to-day, but was unable to catch the knack of it, so he will not enter that event.

The team of the University of Minnesota arrived in Chicago yesterday.

They are a brawny, raw-boned lot of young men and look as if they were trained to physical contests.

Under Supreme Court Decision United States Bondholders Must Pay on Their Coupons.

Interior Secretary has received from the Secretary of the Treasury yesterday the full text of the United States Supreme Court decision on the inheritance tax, about which there has been much difference of opinion.

The act of June 13, 1898, is declared constitutional. The tax is not direct within the meaning of the sixth amendment.

The phrase "while amount of such personal property is being distributed" is construed to mean that the tax is not levied on the estate of the decedent from which the legacies or distributive shares were derived.

In the preliminary bout Harry Slater knocked out Tom Costello in the first round.

WORLD CORRB THE STUDENT ATHLETE Long-Looked-For Report on College Sports Finally Given Out.

Advices Against Exhibitions Open to Everybody and Insists on Good Class Standing for Athletes.

BERKELEY, May 31.—The most important document upon collegiate athletics that has ever been prepared is the report of the special committee from the universities of Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Brown, California, Columbia and Cornell, which was made public to-day in Berkeley, New York and other Eastern points.

The report recommends that colleges should pay particular attention to the scholarship of their teams. Every member, it says, should be in good standing, and one student should have as many letters of study as another.

The report is a long and detailed one, and it is not possible to summarize it fully. It covers the entire field of collegiate sports and makes a series of the most radical recommendations and proposes a new set of rules.

SHOWED A MOTORMAN HOW TO RUN HIS CAR

Thomas Costello's Interference Leads to His Arrest and Conviction by Judge Fritz.

Thomas Costello, an ex-employee of the Motor Street Car Company, was riding on a car coming from Ingleside on Wednesday, accompanied by two ladies.

When the car was going down the hill from the coursing park Costello complained that the motorman, P. F. Sherwood, was putting on too much speed.

He grabbed hold of the controller bar, and despite the statement just made by him, turned on the full current and the car sped down the hill at lightning speed.

It took three men to force Costello to release his hold of the controller bar, which was shaking. He was arrested for disturbing the peace and was fined $5 yesterday by Judge Fritz.

Most Famous Dog in Alaska is Dead. Mastiff That Hauled Thousands of Pounds of Freight.

LARENCE J. BERRY'S mastiff Julian, the most widely known dog in the faraway gold fields of Alaska, is dead. Exposure to the rigors of the northern climate put an end to the career of a dog which had traveled hundreds of miles over the pathless ice and had hauled thousands of pounds of freight.

Julian was first put to work on a sled in 1895, when the dog hauled provisions for the season over the Chilkoot Pass. In the following year the dog was the mainstay of the team which, after several days' rambling when she went to join her husband, on this perilous trip all the dogs, except Julian gave out and he had to haul the load, which weighed over 1000 pounds, by himself across the frozen surface of Lake Bennett.

When the party reached Dawson the dog hauled most of the lumber and material used by Mr. Berry in his mines and houses. So famous did Julian become that his owner was offered fabulous sums for him, but he refused to consider any proposition which meant parting with his faithful servant.

In 1888 the dog suffered from rheumatism brought on by exposure. This rendered him useless as a draft animal. Mr. Berry sent him to Fresno for treatment and as he did not improve there he was sent to Santa Cruz, where he remained several months. Disease had so strong a hold on him that he could not shake it off. He finally succumbed to a complication of canine ailments.

To-night, to-morrow night and matinee with "Captain Swift" will conclude the notable ten weeks' engagement of the Nell Company.
