PROPOSES PLAN OF ARBITRATION

Labor Council Seeks Man to Conciliate the Factions.

Demands of Working Butchers Are Presented to Employers.

Everything in local labor circles now depends upon the action to be taken by the members of the unions affiliated with the Iron Trades Council. That there will be a walk-out of machinists to-morrow is an undisputed fact, but the number of men that will be affected thereby is yet unknown.

A lengthy memorial emanating from the San Francisco Labor Council has been presented to President McKinley. It ascribes the present differences between employers and employees to the possibility of Congress not taking any action in reference to the further continuance of the exclusion laws now in force. The policy of territorial expansion is combated, and the request is made that with the acquisition of outlying lands, the doctrine of exclusion be enforced.

The Labor Council has also issued a second statement relating to the proposed arbitration scheme. While it admits in this statement that the labor millennium has not yet arrived, it says that through conciliatory measures and general discussions much may be accomplished in the plan of the proposed convention is thus explained:

The Labor Council at its meeting Friday night instructed the committee to call a convention composed of two members from each affiliated union and invite members of the Iron Trades Council, and other citizens to come and discuss matters now in dispute. The committee was also instructed to select some leading citizen to issue the call and open the convention. The scope of the convention is not to settle existing labor disputes, but to bring about a better understanding between employer and employee. The incentive to the calling of this convention is the recent convention held at New York, where leading business men, prominent divines and representatives of organized labor met and brought employer and employee nearer together.

A number of men prominent in social, political and religious life have been suggested, but none seems willing to follow the action taken in New York.

Boiler-Makers' Helpers' Demands.

The executive committee of the Boiler-makers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Helpers' Union, a part of the iron building trades, has submitted the following schedule of proposed wages in sympathy with the action taken by the machinists, from whom they receive their support:

Inexperienced men shall receive the sum of $2 per day.

Experienced men shall receive the sum of $2.50 per day.

Helper going on as holder-on shall receive the sum of $2.50 per day.

Helper on hand fire to receive the sum of $3.50 per day.

Nine hours shall constitute a day's work on the inside.

Eight hours shall constitute a day's work on the outside.

All overtime shall be paid at the rate of double time on outside jobs and on inside work at the rate of time and a half.

At the meeting of the union to be held next Wednesday night it is expected answers to these demands will be received. As this class of workmen depend on the machinists as helpers, they will probably follow whatever action they may take.

Hours of labor are fixed for sheep, beef and hog butchers, vaqueros, tripe men, hide workers, sausage makers and all other branches of the trade. The communication gently intimates that if the desire of the workmen that these rules should go into effect on June 1.

GRAND AERIE ENDS SESSION

Amid Cheers the Eagles Complete Their Labors.

Election of Grand Officers Results in Several Surprises.

Amid cheer for the local aerie and in acknowledgment of the hospitable manner in which they were received and entertained in this city, the delegates to the Grand Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, brought its session to a close last night.

The election of officers and the selection of the city in which to hold the next Grand Aerie occasioned many keen fights and the session was prolonged until the early hours of the morning. A few surprises resulted from the election.

In the contest for grand worthy president Dr. J. B. Schwarka was expected to carry off the honor, but the friends of Del Cary Smith of Spokane, Wash., rallied around his standard at the last moment and succeeded in winning the fight. Although the selection of Smith was a surprise, Dr. Schwarka took his defeat in good grace and moved that the choice be made unanimous. His motion was carried with acclamation. Almost immediately afterward Dr. Schwarka was elected grand worthy vice president without a dissenting vote.

Other officers were chosen as follows: Grand worthy judge advocate, Alexander S. Fowler, Salt Lake; grand worthy secretary, A. E. Partridge, Seattle; grand worthy treasurer, San Francisco grand worthy chaplain, Maurice E. Eisenberg, Butte, Mont.; grand conductor, James F. Chestham, San Francisco; grand worthy guardian, Krauss, Wilmington, Del.; grand worthy O'Keefe, Dallas, Tex.; grand trustee, J. E. B. Carter, San Francisco; grand worthy city, Or.; Thomas F. Flynn, Paterson, N. J.; grand worthy, Fresno; Dr. J. J. Schwegel, Sioux City, Ia.

Four cities entered the contest for the honor of entertaining the next Grand Aerie and spirited fight took place, which delegates expounded the attractive features of Denver, Minneapolis, Atlantic City and Dallas.

To-day as a conclusion to the week's work a grand picnic will be held at Schutzen Park. Boats will leave the foot of Market street at 10 a. m., 11:30 a. m. and 1 p. m.

"DINK" WILSON UNDER ARREST IN NEW YORK

Desperate Crook Who Robbed Neuberger, Reiss & Co.'s Store Is Again in Prison.

The desperate crook who was arrested in New York last Friday and who gave his name as George Davis is no other than "Dink" Wilson, the noted criminal who operated in this city some years ago. Accompanied by two crooks, who are known as C. F. Moore and Tom King, Wilson broke into Neuberger, Reiss & Co.'s store at 5 o'clock in the morning and after securing a grand total of $10,000 in value at several thousand dollars placed them in an express wagon, which they had arranged to take to the city.

At once they fled to a house on Bush street, above Stockton, where they were tracked by ex-Chief Lees and several detectives and placed under arrest. With the exception of about two bolts, all the stolen silk was found in the house. Wilson managed to secure his freedom on Friday morning, but at once later was picked up by the police of New York and held pending the arrival of a warrant for his arrest.

Brought back Wilson, who is considered one of the cleverest crooks in the country, pleaded guilty to stealing the silk and three years each. Wilson, however, at once later was picked up by the police of New York and held pending the arrival of a warrant for his arrest.

MISSION LODGE FREE OF DEBT

Celebrates Happy Condition by Burning Mortgage.

Largest Lodge West of Chicago Holds a Jollification.

Mission Masonic Lodge, numerically the largest west of Chicago, had a jollification in Mission Masonic Hall last night in celebration of the clearing up of all its indebtedness. It was a banquet served to 370 of the 580 members and four specially invited guests. Palmer Cox, author of "The Brownies," who is a past master of the lodge, was among those who sat at the festive banquet. The banquet was served in the lodgeroom, and the menu was a model of original wit.

After the supper and toasts, Past Master James A. W. Keaton, read a witty burial service of the mortgage, which was then consigned to the flames by "Chief Burner" H. C. Somers, president of the board of directors of the Hall Association. J. W. Keaton gave a historical review of the work of the lodge, which showed that the lodge was instituted in September, 1863; that in April, 1877, the corner-stone of the Mission Masonic temple was laid, at which time a mortgage of $16,000 was placed on the property; that the building was dedicated in December, 1887, and the debt canceled last February.

J. P. Hodgson, vice president of the lodge, responded to "our Co-laborers," and then there were short addresses by H. C. Bunker, the secretary; Andrew Christensen, Charles F. Libby, worshipful master of the lodge, and J. Trunus, president of the board of directors of the Hall Association. During the evening there were vocal selections by a quartet composed of Robert Burrows, Alexander Mennie, E. C. Boyesen and Alfred Wilkie; solos by C. H. Van Orden, Alfred Wilkie, E. C. Boyesen and J. R. Jones, and a duet, "The Lighthouse," by Messrs. Wilkie and Mennie.

An Industrial of Unique Strength.

The organization of the Allis-Chalmers Company, one of the latest industrial combinations, was attended with circumstances which make it in some particulars unique in the business world. The company starts with a cash capital of $100,000,000, of which sum $2,500,000 will be expended in the erection of an additional plant to double the present capacity of the Allis works. The valuation of the several plants included in the combination, taking into account the real estate, buildings, machinery, tools, patterns, drawings and patents, is estimated at $1,355,000,000. In this estimate no allowance whatever is made for good will. The total present value of tangible property, therefore, is $1,355,000,000, while the total issue of preferred stock against this property is only $16,250,000. All of this stock, it is stated, is issued for cash at par, or in lieu of cash, for the plants at less than their valuation as stated above. Of the total issue there is more than $1,000,000,000 in cash, and the balance will be in property that produces much more than the cumulative dividend to which the preferred stock is entitled. The company, taken over by the Allis-Chalmers Company include the following builders of heavy engines, machinery and electrical works: The Allis Company, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Fraser & Chalmers, Incorporated, of Chicago, Ill.; the Gas Turbine Works, of Chicago, Ill.; and the Dickson Manufacturing Company of Scranton, Pa. (exclusive of locomotive works). If allowance is made for the economies expected from consolidation, it is estimated that the company should earn 7 per cent on both classes of stock in the fiscal year ending May 31, 1902. The board of directors is composed as follows: Edward D. Adams, Elbert H. Gary, Hoyt, W. J. Chalmers, James H. Eckles and Max Palm, of Chicago; William L. Allis, William W. Allis, Frank G. Bigelow and Edwin Reynolds of Milwaukee.

Suicide of Despondent Waiter.

Linton Torrey, a despondent waiter, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas in his home yesterday. He had been under a physician's treatment for some time, and believing that he had but two weeks more to live determined to cut short his suffering. His plans were carefully prepared. He covered his face with a hat, into which he inserted a gas tube, and then slowly suffocated.

Behind him Torrey left a note to be delivered to the Pacific Coast Waiters' Association, which reads as follows:

Dear Uncle and Aunt: Please pardon me for this rash act, but I could not live over two weeks anyhow, and this will end my suffering. Torrey purchased tickets for his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Schindler, with whom he lives, that they might attend the launching of the battleship Ohio. While they were watching the big ship glide into the water he accomplished his designs. Torrey was 26 years old and unmarried.

BOARD OF WORKS IS REPRIMANDED

Must Not Subject Eligibles to a Second Examination.

J. R. Freud, president of the Civil Service Commission, notified Commissioner Manson of the Board of Public Works yesterday that his commission would not countenance the special examination to which the board was subjecting the three civil service eligibles for deputyships in the Bureau of Streets. The three eligibles are John Boyle, A. McCreey and William Reardon, and as there is but one position to be filled each was given certain questions of a practical nature to answer, it being the intention to give the place to the clerk giving the best answers. When the Civil Service Commission heard of this Freud was delegated to convey the objections of the commission to the Board of Works.

To subject eligibles to a special examination," said Freud, "is a reflection on our commission. I desire to inform you that if the Board of Works insists on giving another test to men who have been passed upon by the commission, we will find it necessary to certify the name of only one eligible instead of three, as has been the practice in the past. That will necessitate the appointment of Boyle."

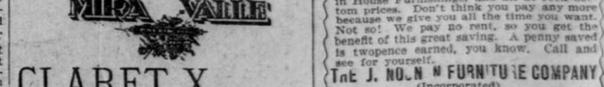

Manson saw the force of Freud's remark and agreed to return the papers of the special examination to the three eligibles. Manson explained that there was no intention to cast any reflection on the methods of the Civil Service Commission in the issuance of its eligible list. He said there were only three men in line for the position and the Board of Works desired to ascertain on its own account which one of the three was best fitted for the duties.
