

This Paper Not to be taken from the Library.

The San Francisco Call.

STATE LIBRARY

VOLUME XC-NO. 10.

SAN FRANCISCO, MONDAY, JUNE 10, 1901.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ITALIAN DEPUTY DECLARES THAT AUSTRIA IS SECRETLY FOMENTING TROUBLE AMONG THE DEPENDENT STATES OF THE BALKANS

Reporter of the Budget Committee Charges Openly in the Chamber That Albanians Are Being Aroused and That Macedonia May Precipitate a Surprise at Any Moment

ROME, June 9.—The sensational utterances of Signor Guccardini, the reporter of the Budget Committee, who in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday declared the Albanian situation as critical, indicate that the Italian Government intends that Austria shall throw off the mask and make plain her purpose in Southeastern Europe. Signor Guccardini flatly declared that the propaganda carried on in Albania by Austria-Hungary, citing numerous incidents to substantiate his claim.

STATESMEN WHO ARE CONCERNED IN THREATENED RUPTURE BETWEEN AUSTRIA AND ITALY.

This speech, coming upon the heels of the warning recently uttered by Count Goluchowski, Imperial Chancellor of Austria-Hungary, makes it plain that European statesmen fear trouble in Southeastern Europe. In fact, Signor Guccardini declared that Macedonia might precipitate a surprise at any time.

Count Goluchowski, to whose machinations Italian leaders attribute the unrest in Albania, is the official who was recently urging a European coalition against America.

ORDER GIVEN FOR ARREST OF JACKSON

May Know Something of Robbie Hislop Murder.

Captain Seymour Has Him Detained After Questioning Him.

Chief of Detectives Will Make No Direct Accusations, but Says Prisoner's Statements Are Contradictory.

Harry Jackson, assistant janitor at the Page-street Armory, whose name was mentioned in connection with the brutal murder of Robbie Hislop, was arrested yesterday by order of Captain Seymour and locked up in the tanks pending a thorough investigation into his movements on the night of the awful tragedy. For several hours yesterday afternoon Edward Linehan, who lives at Octavia and Oak streets, and Jackson were in the office of the Chief of Detectives undergoing what is known in police parlance as the "sweating" process. Notwithstanding the reticence of Seymour and his men it is known that the two men were subjected to the most rigid examination. After it was over Seymour released Linehan but ordered Jackson locked up.

On the evening of the murder Jackson and Linehan engaged in a fight in the armory, the last named getting the worst of the encounter. After leaving the scene of the battle Linehan went to his home and securing a hatchet started to return to the armory. On the way he met an attorney named Ed Shortall, who upon learning that Linehan intended to kill Jackson took the hatchet from him. Linehan was seen by several persons walking along the street with his face bathed in his own blood. Thinking that he might have had something to do with the murder of young Hislop those who noticed his condition lost no time in notifying the police. He was closely questioned at the time, but as it was evident that he was innocent of any connection with the murder he was not arrested.

Just what evidence the police have against Jackson, Captain Seymour refuses to state. When questioned last night the head of the detective department laughingly remarked that he was justified in arresting Jackson, as he was a deserter from the cruiser Philadelphia. "Do you suspect him of having anything to do with the murder?" was asked. "I have nothing to say at the present time," he answered. "I have seen fit to detain Mr. Jackson, and that is all there is to it."

Jackson prior to joining the navy was a member of Company A, First California Infantry. He returned from Manila with his health greatly impaired, but soon recovered.

While admitting that he and Linehan had a fight on the evening of the killing of little Robbie Hislop, Jackson denies any knowledge of the murder.

"Linehan and I had a wordy argument," he said last night, "and blows followed. I soon convinced him that I was far cleverer with my fists, and he quit. Some time afterward I heard that he had a hatchet which he intended to use on me, but I religiously kept out of his way. I was greatly pleased when I was told about an hour later that the hatchet had been taken away from him, as I was afraid that he would hurt me with it."

"I know absolutely nothing about the murder of young Hislop, and am at a loss to understand why the police see fit to detain me."

"He will have to explain some contradictory statements," is the only declaration of importance that Seymour will make in regard to the arrest of Jackson.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW WILL WED A WIDOW

New Mistress Will Preside in Corcoran House Before Winter Comes.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—It is understood in Washington that "Corcoran House," which has been the residence of Senator Depew for the last two years, will have a new mistress at the opening of the social season next winter. Senator Depew, it is said, will be married during the summer to a widow who is now abroad. His niece, Miss Paulding, who has presided over his Washington home, is now owner of the residence at Nineteenth and N streets which Mr. Depew presented to her at the time her engagement to Lieutenant Edie was announced last winter. The house has since been generally overhauled and improved.

Justice Brewer, who was married a day or two ago, was a classmate of Mr. Depew at Yale, and this fact adds interest to the report of the Senator's engagement.

WILL ATTEMPT TO CROSS OCEAN IN SMALL SLOOP

Captain Howard Blackburn Sails From Gloucester on a Voyage to Portugal.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 9.—In his 25-foot sloop, the Great Republic, Captain Howard Blackburn of this city this afternoon started on his second trans-Atlantic voyage, his destination being Lisbon, Portugal, which he expects to reach in forty-five days. His previous voyage in 1899 was to London, which trip took sixty-one days. The start was made amid the plaudits of over 1000 persons.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the Great Republic, escorted by a large fleet of boats, started on her voyage. She received a succession of salutes until she was nearly off Thatchers Island, when the last of the escort left her.

TUTTLE POSTS UP HIS OWN DEATH NOTICE ON DOOR OF RESTAURANT ON GEARY STREET AFTER MAKING THREATS TO END HIS LIFE

Young Man Is Missing and Friends Believe He Is Dead, but Investigation Shows the Alleged Self-Destroyer Was Central Figure in a Similar Case Two Years Ago

HOWARD TUTTLE, a young cook, in business with his father at a restaurant at 482 Geary street for the last month, has suddenly dropped from sight, and as he made threats last Saturday that he would night, and is supposed to have mailed the other to his sister. Tuttle was last seen on Saturday night by his father.

THE YOUNG MAN WHO GAINS NOTORIETY BY REPORTS OF SELF-DESTRUCTION.

Posted His Own Death Notice.

Yesterday morning when Tuttle senior and the employes of the restaurant arrived at 482 Geary street to prepare for work they found the restaurant closed. A notice was pasted inside one of the glass windows of the door, reading:

This place is closed in consequence of the death of Howard Tuttle.

Tuttle senior says the death notice was not in his son's handwriting. The father of the missing man opened up the restaurant, but did not find his son inside. He found an envelope in which was his son's opal scarfpin and two unmounted opals. No letter from young Tuttle was found. Tuttle senior did not seem concerned at his son's disappearance. He did not report the matter to the police or to the Coroner, but told the employes of the restaurant to report for work this morning.

Mrs. Theresa Vohs, residing at 152 Clara street, reported the disappearance of Howard Tuttle to the Coroner's office. Mrs. Vohs is employed as the cook of the restaurant.

Howard Tuttle roomed at the corner of Fifth and Market streets, and an examination of his room yesterday showed that he had not occupied his apartment on Saturday night. The news of Tuttle's disappearance and threats to end his life were reported to the police by the Coroner's office.

MRS. PHOEBE DAVIS OF LOS ANGELES WALKS IN SLEEP FROM PLATFORM OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC OVERLAND

Somnambulist Is Picked Up Near Winnemucca Slightly Bruised, but Otherwise None the Worse for Her Experience.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

DENVER, June 9.—Mrs. Phoebe Davis, an aged woman of Los Angeles, walked in her sleep off the rear platform of a fast moving train near Winnemucca, Nev., on Friday and escaped with only superficial injuries. James Doolittle of Honolulu, who was on the train and stopping at the St. James Hotel, told of the incident.

Mrs. Davis, with her grown daughter and two grandchildren, was a passenger in the end sleeper of train No. 6 of the Southern Pacific, the Oriental mail, which left San Francisco on the evening of June 6. The children were restless during the night, and in consequence Mrs. Davis got little sleep. She was worn out and nervous and about 1 o'clock the following afternoon had her berth made up and lay down to take a nap. A little before 2 o'clock her fellow passengers saw her get up and walk to the rear door of the coach, open it and step on to the platform. After a few minutes a passenger, noticing that she did not return, went to the rear platform to investigate.

The old lady was nowhere to be seen. She had arisen in her sleep and walked straight off the train just after it had left Winnemucca and was traveling at only a moderate rate of speed. The train crew was notified and at Golconda a telegram was sent to Winnemucca, reporting the accident. A gang of section men went out from Winnemucca and found Mrs. Davis between the rails. There was a small cut on her right temple and her body was badly bruised, but she was not seriously injured. She was taken back to Winnemucca and put on the second section of the train from which she had fallen.

Mrs. Davis' daughter was so greatly shocked by the occurrence that she was prostrated during the entire trip and her fellow travelers cared for her and her children. She was frantic to see her mother, who was only a few miles behind. At Ogden the second section caught up with the first and she found her mother not dangerously hurt.

Mrs. Davis could make no explanation save that she went to sleep in her berth and awakened with a shock, bruised and bleeding on the ties.

ernoon had her berth made up and lay down to take a nap. A little before 2 o'clock her fellow passengers saw her get up and walk to the rear door of the coach, open it and step on to the platform. After a few minutes a passenger, noticing that she did not return, went to the rear platform to investigate.

The old lady was nowhere to be seen. She had arisen in her sleep and walked straight off the train just after it had left Winnemucca and was traveling at only a moderate rate of speed. The train crew was notified and at Golconda a telegram was sent to Winnemucca, reporting the accident. A gang of section men went out from Winnemucca and found Mrs. Davis between the rails. There was a small cut on her right temple and her body was badly bruised, but she was not seriously injured. She was taken back to Winnemucca and put on the second section of the train from which she had fallen.

ROCKEFELLER WILL CONTRIBUTE

TUSKEGEE, Ala., June 9.—Principal Booker T. Washington of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute has been notified by John D. Rockefeller that he will be glad to provide the money for the erection of one of the much needed dormitories for boys at the institution.

Senator Tabor was one of the best known characters of the West. He spent his millions freely and died a poor man. It was he who gave the city of Denver its first start.

Rockefeller will contribute. TUSKEGEE, Ala., June 9.—Principal Booker T. Washington of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute has been notified by John D. Rockefeller that he will be glad to provide the money for the erection of one of the much needed dormitories for boys at the institution.

SAVES THE FAMOUS MINE FOR THE DESTITUTE WIDOW OF A MAN WHO HELPED HIM IN HIS TIME OF POVERTY

Millionaire Winfield Stratton of Cripple Creek Romantically Returns a Kindness Rendered Years Ago.

LEADVILLE, Colo., June 9.—Winfield S. Stratton, the millionaire mineowner of Cripple Creek, has redeemed the Matchless mine, in Leadville, for the widow of the late Senator Tabor in fulfillment of the promise he was reported to have made several days ago.

The story of this action of the Cripple Creek magnate is fraught with an abundance of romance. Years ago Senator Tabor advanced some money to Stratton when Stratton was a poor struggling miner, and he never forgot it. When Tabor died he had lost almost everything and he was vainly endeavoring to save the Matchless mine, which he always insisted still contained millions in its lower contacts never explored. The property was sold some months ago at Sheriff's sale, and final title would pass on July 4 to the new owners.

For a year past Mrs. Tabor has been endeavoring to save the mine, but despite the fact that there are hundreds of people in Colorado that Tabor helped when he was rich, she could not raise the money. Stratton heard of her trouble and assured her that if the title to the property was all right he would assist her. The title is clear, and a check for $15,000 will be paid over to-morrow and the title will revert to Stratton, who will on July 4 turn the mine over to Mrs. Tabor. It was on July 4 that Stratton discovered the Independence mine, which made him famous, and it is a strange coincidence

BULLOCK'S COLUMN TAKES MANY PRISONERS IN NIGHT ATTACKS UPON COMMANDANT GENERAL BOTHA'S FORCES

Report of Recent Engagement in Which Many Boers Were Killed Is Officially Denied by Kitchener.

DURBAN, June 9.—News of Bullock's column, which is operating in the eastern part of the Transvaal, show that during the past three weeks the British have made frequent successful night attacks while in pursuit of Commandant General Botha's forces. They have captured a number of Boers and large quantities of stock. Quantities of foodstuffs have been destroyed. Efforts to discover the location of the Long Tom in possession of the Boers have been futile. It is persistently rumored here that a general surrender of the Boers will take place at an early date.

LONDON, June 9.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company on June 5 reported that Colonel Wilson had surprised Beyer's commando and killed thirty-seven Boers, besides capturing 8000 cattle and all the burghers' supplies. As the War Office received no report of the engagement a dispatch was sent to General Kitchener asking him about it. He has now replied, stating the report was without foundation.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Rev. von Bruckhulson of Pretoria, South Africa, the minister who closed the Volksraad with prayer after President Kruger's ultimatum had been read to that body, is in this city. His brother, Dr. H. J. von Bruckhulson of the Orange Free State, who served in the Boer armies, accompanies him. Their mission in this country is to raise money for the Boer women and children now in refuge camps. Rev. von Bruckhulson said in an interview:

"Our women and children, who are at present concentrated in camps established by the British, are in a horrible condition. It was bad enough when I left South Africa, but I know from letters that I have received—one only the other day from my sister—that it is a hundred times worse now."

When the doctor left South Africa, he said, he was virtually banished by order of General Maxwell, military Governor of Pretoria. Dr. von Bruckhulson said further of the camps: "In an official report made by Dr. Donald P. McKenzie of the British army, on February 18 of this year, the British Government is notified that the conditions are horrible, the death rate appalling and the food furnished wholly unfit to eat."