CIRCUS PITCHES TENTS IN TOWN TO THE DELIGHT OF EAGER YOUTH

Small Boys and Girls and Young and Old Men View the Captive Beasts of African Jungles.

THE circus is in town and the small boy knows it. He knows it because he was there at the entry, there in an army and there with eyes and ears all wide open to take in the ante-circus sights and sounds.

When the Ringling Bros. circus strikes a town there is something doing. From a dusty, barren waste the grounds at Sixteenth and Folsom streets were yesterday transformed into a thickly populated town full of business, flapping canvas, tall animals, and to the small boy, glorious prospect of a "real thing" in the entertainment line.

THE small boy was not the only interested spectator of the whirl of preparations for the glory to come. His sister was a close second in enthusiastic curiosity, and father, mother and other "grown ups," even including grandfather, were there and just as much interested as any of the little folk.

THE great, which Promoter of Publicity Brady loves to talk about because it costs so much and lives on a diet specially imported from Germany, raised its four or five feet above the top of its luxuriously upholstered private car and waved its whitish tongue in approval of the preparations. The little brown bears seemed glad to be back in their native

STOPS RUMOR AND SAVES LIVES

Robert Mott's Heroism Prevents Possible Tragedy.

Careless Automotivist Frightens Horse Driven by Mrs. Frank Colwell.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 25.—Robert Mott, president of the Alameda Land Company, turned hero this afternoon and saved two ladies and a child from serious injury and possible death in a runaway accident.

One of the ladies in the carriage was Mrs. Frank Colwell of Moss avenue, Oakland. She was taking a friend and her young daughter for a drive through Alameda in her surrey. As they passed Oak street, going west on Clement avenue, the horse was frightened by a careless automobilist. The steam from the machine frightened the horse so that he broke one of the reins with which Mrs. Colwell was trying to manage him.

The attention of Mr. Mott was called to the runaway by two ladies whom he was driving in a surrey on Clement avenue. He drew to one side of the road near Chestnut street to avoid a collision and alighted, having resolved upon an attempt to stop the runaway. He immediately leaped from the horse as he dashed past Mr. Mott grabbed the broken rein with one hand and the reins with the other and pulled backward with all his might. In this way the struggle was kept up for two blocks before the animal was finally brought to a standstill near the corner of Union street.

Spectators of the runaway hurried to the assistance of the victims. The four of the surrey, her friend hysterical and the young girl suffering from a hemorrhage, the result of fright. Restoratives were applied and the unfortunate soon recovered.

Mrs. Colwell and her friends thanked Mr. Mott for his act of heroism and the spectators of it applauded him.

PROFESSORS FOR UNIVERSITY

An Anthropologist and Anatomist En Route From East.

Specialists From Famous Colleges Coming Here to Teach.

BERKELEY, Aug. 25.—An attempt will be made by the University of California, through Dr. L. Kroeber, recently appointed instructor in Indian anthropology, to rescue the folk-lore and languages of the American Indians before they perish absolutely. A department of Indian antiquities will be formed and work will commence this year among the California natives. Dr. Kroeber will be assisted by Piny G. Goddard, Hearst Fellow in anthropology, and the research will be carried on according to modern scientific methods.

Dr. Kroeber is an eminent anthropologist and has studied under Dr. F. W. Putnam of Harvard. His work here has been made possible through the generosity of Mrs. Hearst. He will arrive in Berkeley September 1.

Dr. Joseph Flint, who will fill the new chair of anthropology recently established at the university, will arrive from the East on the first of next month. He is a graduate of the Pennsylvania Medical College and is a member of the American ranks high as an anatomist. He was a football player at Princeton and will help coach the university eleven this season.

SOME OF THE SIGHTS AT SIXTEENTH AND FOLSOM STREETS, TO SEE WHICH THE SMALL BOY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON BRAVED THE HOOPS AND CLAWS OF THE RINGLING BROTHERS' JUNGLE FAMILY.

State, while the monkeys spent the entire day rehearsing gymnastic feats in an effort to live up to a sad-eyed camel. The tigers were subdued. Soon after their arrival here death visited their little family and it will take a good night's rest before they can become reconciled to the absence of a familiar roar and the empty corner at the off side of the meat trough.

All the animals are looking forward to the parade which will leave the show grounds at 1 o'clock this morning. The route will be as follows: From the grounds to Howard street, to Second, to Market, to Geary, to California, to Kearny, to Market, to Valencia, to Sixteenth, to Folsom and back to the grounds.

OIL UNION MEMBERS MADE ELIGIBLE

New Labor Party Defines the Limits of Its Membership.

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1118 Broadway, Aug. 25.

Nons but members in good standing of a trades union will be admitted into the newly organized Union Labor party, the second meeting of which was held this afternoon at Justice Quinn's courtroom.

THE decision to restrict membership to legitimate trades unionists was taken after long debate. The question was brought up by P. B. Preble, a member of the sub-committee on constitution. Mr. Preble, in making a partial report this afternoon, said the committee desired to extend the organization to those who were out of the party, particularly with a view toward safeguarding the party from the encroachment of professional politicians from either of the two old parties.

THE desire is to prevent the bosses from capturing our organization and running it on the lines of the wire-pullers is the question we desire to have settled.

A motion to restrict membership to unionists was made. An amendment to permit the election of honorary or associate members was presented and adopted. Nearly every one of the fifty men present took part in the controversy; but the supporters of the restriction were so confident enough to carry their point, and the first important step toward the framing of a constitution was thus taken.

THE meeting adjourned for two weeks. The Federated Trades has prepared a lengthy address reciting its reasons for opposing the restriction with London, in which the restriction of the Chinese exclusion law. In addition petitions will be circulated at every central point on the Pacific coast.

THE committee on Labor day celebration met to-day. The Butchers' Union reported that it would be represented in the parade with an appropriate float.

NAVY CAPTAIN DEPLORES USES A REVOLVER WHILE BEING PURSUED BY AN ANGRY MOB.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25.—Captain James McQueen Forsyth, U. S. N., who had charge of the naval station at Key West during the Spanish-American war, spent to-day in Kansas City, while en route from San Francisco to his home in Philadelphia. In talking of the Schley-Sampson controversy Captain Forsyth said:

"While we have been instructed by the Navy Department not to discuss the merits of the case every one knows that the navy looks upon the controversy as an unfortunate affair. We believe there was plenty of glory for all concerned.

"The fact that the junior man was placed in command above his seniors is responsible for the whole business," continued Captain Forsyth. "Sampson was a captain and the senior man, and in the eyes of the navy, he was the superior officer. No one ever thought of him as the successor of Admiral Sigsbee, and I don't believe he ever thought of himself. But he was familiar to the people of Washington, and they decided to place him in command. The officers who outranked him did not like it. It is not to be expected that they would. But Washington said Sampson, and that settled the matter. Schley was a superior officer, and he was thrown directly under the junior man, who naturally felt the promotion more than any of the others.

"The battle of Santiago was one of the most brilliant in history. It was the man who was responsible for such effective action," continued Captain Forsyth. "Both Sampson and Schley. The controversy only serves to dim the brilliancy of the victory, and it is to be greatly regretted. I believe the question of the bravery of either of the men is particularly unfortunate and, I believe, unnecessary.

Captain Forsyth, who will be retired September 25, under the forty years' service law, has been associated with Admirals Schley and Sampson at different times during his long life in the navy. When he left Key West, he took command of the Fourth Naval District, and was chief of staff to Admiral Watson, in charge of the Asiatic squadron, and for two past several months has been second in command at the Mare Island Navy Yard. Captain Forsyth left to-night for St. Louis, where he will spend a few days before proceeding to Philadelphia.
