

NOBLE WORK DONE BY MISSIONARIES IS SHOWN BY REPORTS SUBMITTED TO AUGUST GATHERING BY THE BOARD OF MANAGERS

OBJECTS OF NOTE AT THE MISSIONARY EXHIBIT.

MISSIONARY EXHIBIT HAS MANY FEATURES

Woman's Auxiliary Prepare for the Reception of Many Visiting Episcopalians.

THE ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Pacific Coast worked with a will yesterday afternoon in their efforts to transform the large house at 1609 Sutter street into a lodge for the historical and missionary exhibits. On one side of the house the historical exhibits are placed, on the other the missionary collections, which tell the story of the work done in far off lands. The formal opening will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the Woman's Auxiliary will hold a formal reception.

From all the dioceses have come photographs and monuments of Episcopal work. Many interesting exhibits, which show the peculiar characteristics of the dioceses from which they came, have prominent places on the walls.

But the missionary exhibits are the most interesting. Here are to be found the work of converts in basket and lace making and other industries. Each country has its own peculiar industrial characteristics graphically illustrated by these displays on walls and tables.

The North American Indian booth, of which Mrs. Thurlow McMullin is in charge, shows the work of the mission Indians. Magnificent altar cloths, bead embroideries, baskets and bone ornaments make up the bigger part of this exhibit. Another exhibit of note is that representing the colored people of the South, which is principally from St. Augustine's School and St. Agnes Hospital at Raleigh.

The questions were referred as desired. The chairman then announced that as the hour of 11 had arrived the house would adjourn to meet immediately with the Bishops as the board of missions. The session then adjourned.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY IS THANKED FOR TRIENNIAL UNITED OFFERING

Resolution to Allow Hawaiian Clergyman the Privileges of House of Deputies Causes Debate and Is Finally Rejected.

ROUTINE business occupied the House of Bishops yesterday morning. A special resolution was offered and adopted congratulating the Women's Auxiliary for the munificent gift they made to the Board of Missions and expressing the hope that the male members of the church would be as generous. An adjournment was taken at 11 o'clock and the prelates marched into the House of Deputies and sat with that body as a board of missions.

The House of Deputies of the General Convention of the Episcopal Church resumed business yesterday morning promptly at 9 o'clock, there being a large attendance of the members. The reading of the minutes of the previous day was dispensed with and Rev. Dr. Lindsay, the chairman, announced that reports of committees would be in order.

Rev. Dr. Worthington of Ohio moved that the house meet with the Bishops as a board of missions at 11 o'clock and that a message be sent to the upper house to that effect. The motion prevailed and the message was duly forwarded.

The presentation of the report of the committee on credentials caused a heated debate as to the admission on the floor of Rev. John Osborn of Hawaii. The committee reported that it had accepted the credentials of Rev. Mr. Osborn of St. Clement's Chapel, Honolulu, and asked that he be accorded the privileges of the floor.

Many deputies spoke against the admission of Rev. Mr. Osborn at the present time, expressing themselves that such action would not be courteous to the Bishop of Hawaii, and especially as the matter of the petition of the church in Hawaii for admittance to the American church would come up for discussion later.

A motion to lay the resolution on the table was carried by a vote of 187 yeas to 56 nays, thus barring the Hawaiian clergyman from the floor of the convention.

Reports from various other committees were presented and ordered referred to special committees appointed the previous day by the chair.

COMMITTEE ON ORDER OF BUSINESS MAKE REPORT

Rev. Dr. Greer of New York, a member of the joint committee on the order of business, reported as follows:

The joint committee on the dispatch of business organized with the choice of the Bishop of New York as chairman and the Rev. Edward F. Lyons secretary. After full consideration of the business before the convention it was voted to recommend that the House of Bishops consider the constitution so soon as the action of the House of Deputies shall have been received.

It was voted to recommend that the House of Deputies, upon the conclusion of the action upon the constitution, consider the report upon marginal readings upon which the House of Bishops has already acted. It was voted to recommend that the canons on marriage and divorce be next considered and then the report of the committee on court of appeals.

It was voted further to recommend that certain canons, to be hereafter named by this joint committee from the report of the commission, be considered. It was voted further to recommend that the convention adjourn sine die on Thursday, October 17, and the pastoral letter and the letter from the House of Bishops promptly at 10 o'clock, there being a large attendance of the members.

The report was adopted.

BISHOPS FIX DATE TO CLOSE CONVENTION

Chairman Lindsay announced that messages had been received from the House of Bishops informing the house that it had agreed to the recommendations of the joint committee upon the discharge of business and had adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, the House of Deputies concurring, That the General Convention of 1901 adjourn on Thursday, October 17, the hour of the closing services and the reading of the pastoral letter being 3 o'clock in the evening.

Also informing the house that the House of Bishops had agreed to the resolution contained in message No. 4, and would meet with the House of Deputies in the board of missions at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. Greer of New York moved that the house concur in the message from the Bishops, and it was done unanimously.

A second message was received from the House of Bishops saying that it would meet with the House of Deputies at 11 a. m. as the board of missions.

Resolutions were then presented from various delegations suggesting the selection of the city in which the convention of 1904 should be held. The delegations that put forward their cities as the next place of the convention were those of Pittsburg, Pa., Boston, Mass., New Orleans, La., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Louisville, Ky.

BANKER MORGAN MAKES HIS INITIAL SPEECH

J. Pierpont Morgan of New York made his first appearance in the convention as a speaker by presenting the following resolution:

Resolved, the House of Bishops concurring, That a committee of five be appointed to act with a similar committee of the House of Deputies on the selection of the place of meeting for the joint convention of 1904.

The resolution was duly adopted.

The delegation from Indiana presented a resolution asking that the name of its diocese be changed. The resolution was placed on the calendar.

Rev. Dr. Davenport of Rhode Island, in reporting for the committee on marriage and divorce, presented a resolution which was adopted.

The resolution is as follows:

In respect to the canon on marriage and divorce, as several members of that committee of the house, in part he said:

I have two resolutions, or rather inquiries, to be addressed to two of our principal committees—one the committee on the Book of Common Prayer and the other the committee on amendments to the constitution. We are within a short time to take into consideration the valuable report on marginal readings, in connection with which I think a very important question requires to be cleared up. It has been assumed, apparently not considered that we are free to adopt the action taken yesterday by another house under the constitution. I respectfully question our power to act in that manner, and in order to save the intrusion of a long debate upon our constitutional competency I desire to present these two serious inquiries—one to the committee on the Book of Common Prayer and the other to the committee on amendment to the constitution—in order that they may save us, perhaps, a large amount of discussion at a time when it would be exceedingly inconvenient. I will not even ask that they be read, but merely that they be referred to those several committees.

The questions were referred as desired. The chairman then announced that as the hour of 11 had arrived the house would adjourn to meet immediately with the Bishops as the board of missions. The session then adjourned.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS TO-DAY FOR CONVENTION conditions bravely and hopefully. Discouragement and difficulty are not excuses for downheartedness and despair. Their main duty is to rise to greater effort and more determined purpose. If any "more excellent way" can be found than that which the present constitution of the society provides let the wisest men find it and apply it. The "wheels" must be well and carefully constructed, but the matter of essential importance is that the spirit of the living creature shall be in them.

Underneath all this is the need to rouse and stir the church to its duty and its opportunity, and the motive to this must be hope and confidence, and not timid anxiety and alarm; confidence that shall not take the form of self-complacency, and hope that makes dissatisfaction not discouragement but determination to do greater things.

Ex-Governor Prince of New Mexico moved that the report be referred to a committee consisting of three Bishops, three presbyters and three laymen, to be named by a unanimous vote. The reports of the Woman's Auxiliary and the American Church Missionary societies, previously received, were referred to committees.

Promptly at the noon hour Bishop Tuttle of Missouri, the presiding officer, stopped the proceedings in order that noonday prayer might be held. On resuming business a report was read by Rev. Dr. Lloyd, the general secretary of the Board of Missions. The report dealt with the scope of the mission work and the conditions and obstacles under which the missionary board was compelled to suffer. The report reviewed at length the work of the past three years and pointed out that urgent and immediate steps must be taken to secure the funds necessary to maintain the work of the Board of Missions of the church. The report of the

KING'S DAUGHTERS HOLD QUIET SERVICE

Prelates Urge Church Members to Help Clergy Spread Truth Throughout the Land.

THE Daughters of the King began their ninth convention yesterday at St. Luke's Church, corner of Sacramento street and Van Ness avenue. The Right Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, D.D., Bishop of Los Angeles, conducted the services, which began in the afternoon. "Quiet Day" it was called, and it was marked by prayer and addresses. In the afternoon Bishop Johnson delivered the address of the day.

The spiritual benefit to be derived from parochial missions was discussed at length at Trinity Church last night by prominent members of the Parochial Mission Society for the United States.

The meeting was presided over by Right Rev. Leighton Coleman, D. D., Bishop of Delaware, who told of the need of "quiet days" and impressed upon his hearers a deep sense of the importance of the work done by the society.

He introduced Right Rev. Theodore Morrison of Iowa, who urged the members of the church to join with their pastors in their efforts to spread the truth, and explained the value of the Parochial Mission Society.

The general secretary of the organization, Rev. Charles Martin Miles of New York, followed Bishop Oberly and explained in detail the way the work of the Parochial Mission Society was performed. He recited several instances showing the amount of good that had been accomplished by the society. He informed his hearers that the society was desirous of having a representative from the Pacific Slope.

Strangers in this city should not fail to take advantage of the opportunity to visit H. Liebes & Co.'s magnificent exhibition of Fur Products and Rare Specimens of Mounded and U-mounded Animal Rugs and Heads from Alaska and Yukon Territories, Siberia and all known fur districts.

The collection is the largest and finest of its kind in existence.

All visitors welcome and will be shown every courtesy.
