

BELLES AND BEAUX SELECTED FOR THE "FLORODORA" SEXTET

Doctor's Daughters Arrange Splendid Programme for Doll Show. Stubbs Dinner in Honor of Members of Bridal Party--Gossip Apropos of Weddings, Gowns and Sweet Engagement Cups

velvet calling gown and big white hat with a white plume. There is nothing harder to wear than a velvet gown, but Miss McKinstry has the figure and bearing that should go with it. I have met her several places with her velvet gown on and think she looks simply regal in it. Laura McKinstry always shows a decided preference for black gowns. I remember seeing her last season in a severely plain black silk gown, cut low and sleeveless, and with a long-stemmed American Beauty rose pinned on the corsage. She looked simply stunning and presented a picture I shall not soon forget.

Admiral, General and Judge are the names selected by Mrs. Roosevelt for the President's three new carriage horses, magnificent Kentucky thoroughbred trotters with fine long tails. Admiral and General are to be driven as a team, and

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

SWITCHES FAIL TO WORK RIGHT

Two Serious Collisions Occur Between Electric Cars.

Passengers Are Injured in a Number of Minor Accidents.

Collisions between electric cars occurred in two different sections of the city yesterday morning and evening through the failure of electrically operated switches to work. The morning accident occurred at Eighteenth and Kentucky streets and that of the evening at Kearny and Broadway. Besides these there were a number of minor accidents.

An open switch at the corner of Eighteenth and Kentucky streets caused the first accident on the lines of the Market Street Railway Company converging at that point. A number of men employed in the Potrero were on the cars. Car 922 of the Kentucky and Eighth street lines, in charge of Motorman J. Leach, and car 983, in charge of Motorman T. B. Greenwald, collided.

Many of the passengers jumped off in order to avoid the impending accident, but several were injured. William Morton of 570 Fifty-ninth street, Oakland, received a number of bruises about his legs, besides possible internal injuries. Ernest Reith, a carpenter, living at 282 1/2 Clara street, had his spine injured. Gus Wells, 414 Broadway, was thrown from the car. He was bruised about the hips and legs. After temporary treatment the injured were removed to the Railroad Hospital. Traffic was delayed for some time as the cars were badly demolished.

His Leg Fractured. James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

A head-on collision, due to an open switch, occurred last night between two cars of the Mission and North Beach lines at Broadway and Kearny street. P. Marks, a laborer living at 125 Hay street, who was on the car on North Beach, was hurled from his seat and severely injured. A woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Kane was also hurt. She was sitting on the dummy of the car, holding her baby in her arms when the cars struck. She was thrown from her seat, but bravely held on to her helpless offspring. Several eyewitnesses to the accident say that the woman was knocked down and considerably bruised.

James Bohn, 55 years of age, residing at 23 Crocker street, sustained a fractured leg while attempting to alight from a Howard-street car at the corner of Twenty-fourth street. It is thought he may have sustained internal injuries besides. He was taken to the City and County Hospital.

Michael McGinnis, 47 Fifth street, while riding on an also-street car was squeezed between the seat and the rear end of a truck. The driver attempted to clear the track, but the horse struck and the car bumped into the truck as the motorman started. McGinnis was sent to the Receiving Hospital. His left side was badly bruised and it was thought he had also sustained internal injuries.

THE ROLLER

THERE'S A FASH TO THE STROLLER

That has made it the prime favorite winter coat with the smartest dressers in town.

It has that fullness around the shoulders which makes it hang and drape in a very graceful fashion.

Yoked in front and back, which is the swell idea in those very swell greenish effects, with a faint plaid running through it, in the grayish effects, with stripe, stripe invisible and in that smart Oxford gray.

The coat is exquisitely handled by the very best tailors. It is a coat that hasn't its peer at $20.00. The price has made it the talk of the town.

$11.00.

MEN'S OVERCOAT DEPARTMENT.

RAPHAEL'S INC.

KEARNEY'S UNION SQUARE AVE.

THE "Florodora" double sextet of society belles and beaux who are going to take part in the Doctor's Daughters' show is now complete. The "pretty maidens" are Miss Bernice Landers, Miss Mary Payne, Miss Sanborn, Miss Jessie Fillmore and Miss Milla Jolly. The "gentle strangers" are Walter H. Fishman, Mr. Lambert, J. E. Birmingham, William Klunk, Frank Rodolph, Dr. C. Clark Collins, U. S. A., and Philip P. Paschel.

Miss Edith Stubbs, Harrison Masowen Parker, Miss Ethel Stubbs, Charles Crawford, Miss Gertrude Parker, Miss Charlotte Field, Miss Ethel Parker, Miss Irene Baker, Miss Ethel Cooper, Miss Margaret Salisbury, George Sargent, William Smith, Isaac Upham, John Newlands, Wallace Everett, Walter Gibbons, Miss Beulah Stubbs and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stubbs.

My! what magnificent engagement cups they are! I think the tiny loving cup—just enough for two—that is Bessie Ames' gift to pretty Norma Preston, fiancée of Worthy Ames.

Another delightful bit of programme arranged will be the miniature pictures, for which Bertha Dolber, Mary Jolliffe, Marie Wells and Marie Oge will pose. Della Mills will sing in costume, and I know of no one who can do better than fetching Della. Two playlets will also be features of the evening's entertainment.

With the groom, from the East, came his sister, Miss Gertrude Parker, who is to be one of the bridesmaids; Charles Crawford of New York, who is to be best man, and George Sargent of Chicago, who is to be one of the ushers.

At noon to-day John J. Barrett, the well-known and popular young attorney, will be married to Miss Annie Josephine Hayes. Father Griffin of St. James Church will perform the ceremony.

Look at them leisurely

Our shoes, we mean. Our store is a comfortable place and we give every attention to customers. We want you to come in and look over our new fall shoes critically. See first how they look—snappy, exclusive shapes, of good leather, firmly made and beautifully finished. Then try them. Note the ease with which they fit and the skill with which the shoemakers have followed the natural lines of your foot. After this we think you'll take them away with you. When you feel you want a well-made, fashionable shoe you have a particular kind in mind. We keep that particular kind.

Rosenthal's

107-111 Kearny St.

Miss Edith Stubbs entertained at dinner last evening the ladies and gentlemen who will officiate as bridesmaids and ushers at her wedding to Harrison M. Parker on Wednesday.

Ludwig Aitschul's Will Filed. The will of Ludwig Aitschul was filed yesterday. The document disposes of an estate consisting of real and personal property valued at $150,000. Following is the list of bequests:

United Moderns' Party. California Lodge of the United Moderns has decided to give a series of socials during the winter season. The first of these was given last night in the lodge room in the Foresters' building. There were as many ladies and gentlemen as could find sitting and standing room.

MARKS & BROS WRAPPER SALE.

50c WOMEN'S FLANNEL ETTE WRAPPERS; pretty patterns; fitted waist lining; regular 85c value.

75c FOR WOMEN'S FLANNEL WRAPPERS; made of heavy cloths; many pretty and neat styles in stripes and figures; fitted waist lining; trimmed with braids; made with deep flounce; our regular $1.00 seller.

95c FOR WOMEN'S FLANNEL WRAPPERS; made of best Flannelette; beautiful colorings; prettily made and trimmed; good $1.50 value.

$1.45 GERMAN FLANNEL WRAPPERS; waist and sleeves lined; stylishly made and trimmed; full skirt with deep flounce; sold elsewhere $2.25.

$1.95 EIDERDOWN WRAPPERS in several different designs, including tucked yokes with velvet trimming; pretty shoulder effects; something entirely new; one of today's bargains; regular $3.00 value.

$2.95 Elegant assortment in WOMEN'S EIDERDOWN WRAPPERS in French Flannel designs; all light colorings; eton effect; trimmed with venetian lace and insertion; similar wrappers sold elsewhere $5.00.

Sizes of all wrappers on sale, 32 to 46; fitted waist lining in all wrappers; lined sleeves in all wrappers from $1.45 up.

WE CLOSE AT 6 O'CLOCK.

1212-1214 MARKET ST., Between Taylor and Jones.

Accidentally Asphyxiated. John Barrett, a linotype operator for H. S. Crocker & Co., was asphyxiated some time last Sunday night in his room at 29 Bush street. The gas was turned partly on, the key of the gas fixture being very loose. Barrett was under the influence of liquor when he retired. He was about 28 years old and unmarried.

LAWYER RAISES A NOVEL POINT Seeks to Save Criminal by Objecting to Form of Oath.

DANERI DROPS OUT OF SIGHT Relatives Call Upon Police to Aid in Search for Him.

While the objection, which was based on the ground that all the testimony on which Swist was convicted was taken under the form of oath prescribed by the codes lately declared void, was overruled and sentence passed on Swist, it showed that the Supreme Court decision is likely to prove a thorn in the side of the judges of the middle court.

Joseph Daneri, prosperous liquor dealer and well-known North Beach politician, is among the missing, and his wife and relatives have asked the police to assist them in the search for him. Daneri, who keeps a wholesale and retail liquor establishment at the corner of Montgomery and Merchant streets, disappeared last Thursday night, leaving nothing by which to trace him save a hurriedly written epistle directed to his brother, in which he said he was going far away from this city and would never return.

Tom Sharkey Coming to Fight the Winner. The Sailor Puglist Instructs Tim McGrath to Deposit Money to Bind a Match.

Knights of Honor Visited. Grand Dictator P. L. Archibald, Grand Reporter Johnstone and other grand officers paid a visit last night to Liberty Lodge of the Knights of Honor and assisted in the initiation of a candidate, after which the grand dictator addressed the members on the subject of fraternal enthusiasm.

PNEUMONIA CARRIES OFF GUS HAQUETTE Bartender, Known as One of the Handsomest Men in San Francisco, Passes Away.

This Lady Seems to Hold the Reins. She drives a STUDEBAKER Vehicle, and her judgment in this proves her to be capable of exercising the authority that she does. New styles of vehicles coming constantly.

STUDEBAKER BROS. COMPANY

Market and Tenth Streets.

VIN MARIANI

World Famous Mariani Tonic

MOST EFFECTIVE OF ALL TONICS. MOST AGREEABLE TO THE TASTE.

All Druggists. Refuse Substitutes.

FROM DR. RANDOLPH

Of the U. S. Army Hospital, Mr. George Mayerle, 107 1/2 Market St., San Francisco, wishes to thank you for the excellent glasses received to-day. I may say that they are practically perfect. Yours truly, W. C. RANDOLPH, U. S. Army Hospital.

Mayerle's Glasses Strengthen the Eye and Brain. German Eyeglasses, GEORGE MATYERLE, German Expert Optician, 107 1/2 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.