SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY WILL EXHIBIT IN GRAND NAVE

Principal Features of Pythian Week—Welcome by Mayor at Opening and Grand Ball at Close—Pioneer Pythian to be Honored

The special features during the Pythian week will be the great display of State products at the Ferry building, the electrical illuminations, the parade of 10,000 men, a day at the Chutes, a Vanity Fair show, a camp at the pavilion, concerts by school children and a grand ball in the pavilion.

On Monday, August 11, Mayor Schmitz will meet a large number of the local Pythians and visitors in the nave of the Ferry building, where he will deliver an address of welcome and give the visitors, so far as is in his power, the freedom of the city.

There is to be a Vanity Fair on the grounds opposite the Mechanics' Pavilion and entertainment day and night. There is some talk of promenade concerts in the pavilion several times during the week, but that is still a matter under discussion. It is probable that the full programme of events will be ready by the close of the week.

Major General James R. Carnahan of the United States army, the pioneer Pythian of the Pacific Coast, Strattman, who in the early days of San Francisco was engaged in the periodical business on a large scale, was a member of the National Guard. He was in Washington, D. C., in 1858, when he became acquainted with Justus H. Rathbone, the founder of the Order of Pythias, and was induced to join the then young organization, with the understanding that, on his return to California, he should start a lodge. In July of that year he was by special dispensation admitted into the lodge and was thereafter created deputy grand chancellor for California.

Upon his second visit to Washington, Strattman secured paraphernalia and came back to this city to institute a lodge, but to his surprise found that he had been preceded by George H. Chard. He co-operated with Chard and on April 8, 1858, assisted in instituting California Lodge No. 1. The major is still a resident of this city.

Past Chancellor F. A. Brooks is one of the Pythians of California who directs the Pythian mind through the columns of the Pythian Chronicle, the official organ. He has been an active member of the order for twenty-four years, has held a number of offices of trust and honor in the order and was one of the founders of the local committee for the entertainment of the visitors, but a few weeks since, was by reason of other duties connected with the order, forced to retire from that position.

The various statements that have been circulating to the effect that there was an exhibit of the products of San Joaquin County at the fair have no foundation in fact. President Steinbeck of the chamber of that city said yesterday:

After the first explanation had been made we never had an idea that there was the slightest attempt to exact any charge or space outside our pro rata of the necessary expense. Being so close to the opening of the exposition the chamber at first could not see its way clear to place an exhibit in time. But arrangements have since been made for us to act with the committee and we shall be there with a full display of San Joaquin products for the opportunity afforded us to display our products under such favorable conditions.

CARLOAD OF FEATHER PALMS.

One carload of feather palms from Fresno and one carload of redwood trees from the Big Basin Lumber Company, Santa Cruz Mountains, the first instalments for decorating the grand nave, arrived yesterday and are being arranged along the girders, between flags, festoons, shields and emblems, which are already in place.

Santa Clara County will install a rich and varied exhibit in the Ferry building, and maintain headquarters during the Pythian encampment. A carload of the choicest of Santa Clara valley's fruit will be given to the exhibit. The Southern Pacific Company has consented to carry the exhibit and the fruit for free distribution free of charge. Riverside County has secured space in the grand nave and will open headquarters to entertain visitors and enlighten them on the wondrous wealth of the soil of that section.

Dr. Thurston Miller, chairman of the pureing committee, is preparing to provide for the entertainment of all the officers and representatives to the Supreme Lodge during the entire ten days of the session. There will be receptions each day at the Palace Hotel headquarters, entrance being by the main entrance at the close of the session of the Supreme Lodge, a banquet will be given to about 500 guests.

General Herman Schaffner has received the following letter from Leo A. Caro, grand chancellor of the grand domain of Michigan:

SHE HUSBAND DEGRADED HER

Hearing of Motion for Alimony in Dorsey Case Goes Over.

Wounded Wife Tells Why She Accepted Small Allowance in Paris.

"I consented to live on $100 a month in Paris, because I could not bear to accept more from the man who had wounded me and trampled me in the dust beneath my own hand and degraded me by his actions with my own servant."

Thus does Mrs. Mattie Brinkerhoff Dorsey make affidavit in support of her motion for alimony from John Webster Dorsey, who she is suing for a divorce.

The couple were married in Modesto, in November 21, 1883, and have one child, Gladys Grey Dorsey, now 17 years of age.

Motion was heard yesterday for alimony before Judge Sloss. The case was held behind closed doors. Counsel for both sides were heard, but no action was taken, the court putting the case over until Tuesday night.

The wife charges her husband with infidelity at Belvedere in the months of October, November, and December, 1896, and in January, February, March and April of 1897, and associates his name with one Annie Louise Stevenson. She also alleges in her complaint that he had relations with a certain Louisa "Doe" at house on Oak street, between Van Ness avenue and Octavia street.

In her affidavit Mrs. Dorsey alleges that she went to Paris in 1887, her departure being hastened by the discovery of the facts stated in the complaint, and that she and her husband parted on sad terms. She avers that she tried to keep the knowledge of defendant's actions from every one for the sake of their child. In the affidavit she states that they had always kept an excellent table and two servants, and that their expenses were never less than $200 a month.

She then goes on to state that she consented to live on $100 a month in Paris, because she could not bear to accept more from the man who had humiliated her. This allowance was paid until October, 1901, when Dorsey came to Paris and took the child from her. She returned to San Francisco with the child and she followed in December, 1901, as she could not endure the separation from her daughter.

Upon her arrival in San Francisco her daughter, of her own free will, returned to her and, with the consent of Dorsey, she resided at No. 244 Clay street. Dorsey gave her $20 a week from January to July of 1902 and since then she has received nothing from him.

OBJECT TO ISSUANCE OF AN INJUNCTION

Directors of Continental Salt and Chemical Company Demur to Petition for Writ.

Argument on the demurrer to the suit for an injunction restraining H. C. Coward, O. T. Weber, F. J. Heney, W. G. Henshaw and W. J. Dineen from interfering with the conduct of the business of the Continental Salt and Chemical Company was heard by Judge Mursky yesterday.

The defendants deny that there is any scheme and that their action in endeavoring to gain possession of the company's plant is a just one, and not detrimental to the interests of the business. They demur to the continuance of the temporary restraining order issued last Monday by Judge Mursky on the ground that the complaint is insufficient cause of action. Judge Mursky took the matter under advisement.

The plaintiffs claim that the board of directors that elected H. C. Coward superintendent of the works and G. D. Squires secretary of the company was illegally elected, and that therefore they have no right to interfere with the employees at the works. They charge that the selection of these officials is the result of a scheme to gain control of the business of the company.

MRS. KRELING MUST PAY FOR THREE WEEKS' GEISHA

Profits Decided to Have Been Nearly Six Hundred Dollars During Its Production.

Mrs. Ernestine Kreling of the Tivoli will have to pay to Joseph F. Daly $500 for having in the months of June and July, 1900, produced for three weeks the opera "The Geisha," without the permission of Joseph F. Daly, who sued her in the United States Circuit Court last year for an accounting for the same.

The referee's report shows that Ferris Hartman received a salary of $150 per week, Edwin Stevens $125 and Helen Merrill $30. Mrs. E. Kreling received $150 as manager for the three weeks and William Leashy $150 as manager. The court decided that Mr. Leashy must account for the $150 received by him during the three weeks' run of "The Geisha" as manager. The receipts of the theater were $382 75 and of the barroom during the same period $840.

San Francisco, Cal., July 31, 1902.

To the Public and the Patrons of the Grangers' Business Association.

It has been stated in the public press that the Grangers' Business Association has sold its warehouse at Port Costa to the combine known in connection with the grain trade as "Big Four," and that that association would retire from business. The Grangers' Business Association has no warehouse at Port Costa, and does not propose to retire from business, but will conduct its business as heretofore under the management of F. Roseman, and the association solicits a continuation of the business and good will of the farmers of California.

Charles Wood, Secretary.

Refuses to Set Aside Order.

The order made by Judge Cook last Tuesday removing Dr. Milo J. Gillett as administrator of the estate of Lucretia E. Gillett was declared valid by Judge Coffey yesterday and he refused to set aside Cook's order appointing the Public Administrator in its stead. The order was issued upon the request of Attorney H. I. Kowalsky, who represents George Dennis, a nephew, and Josephine Croft, niece, of the deceased, who charge that Gillett was wasting the property of the deceased. They allege that he obtained the property by fraud. The charges made by the relatives of Mrs. Gillett will be heard Monday.

Stover Deserts His Wife.

Judge Hunt granted Edith B. Stover a divorce from Charles Stover yesterday. Stover deserted his wife more than a year ago.

Gentlemanly Fashions Little Gentlemen

Is the sort we've prepared for him this Fall, and they're ready to wear to-day.

The YORKSHIRE NORFOLK, a model of which we picture opposite, is the new Fall conception of it. You will notice the clear-cut lines; the smart appearance; nothing clumsy about our juvenile fashions. They are made of the smartest of mixtures in all-wool tweeds, and you will find them to be the smartest little suits that you can put a young gentleman into. The picture represents a lad about 12 years of age. The chaps between the ages of 8 and 14 are built this way. For the smaller chaps, from 3 to 8, they have a shield in front with a pretty bit of embroidery on shield. All the smartest colorings are represented in this range and there are some suits worth $5.00 among them.

On Friday and Saturday the price will be for this pretty collection of new Fall suits—

$2.48

Smart Young Men's Fashions

Opposite is brought to your notice a picture of our new Fall Model of young men's sack suit; ages 14 to 20 years; colors bewitchingly handsome. Notice the generous broad build of our garments; the easy set; free from that ordinary look and free from the ordinary range of patterns and colorings.

We unhesitatingly say that this range of suits, which we are offering as a special at $10, will compare favorably with any suit which you can buy in this city at $15.
