

ELKS IN SILKS OF THE ORIENT HOLD REVEL AT THE STATE FAIR

TWO NOTABLE SPECIMENS OF THE SUPERB CATTLE ON EXHIBITION AT THE STATE FAIR IN SACRAMENTO, A VIEW OF THE RACETRACK AND A GLIMPSE OF THE THRONG OF VISITORS WHO FIND ATTRACTIONS IN THE PAVILION.

San Francisco, Friday, 12 September, 1902.

Rugs for every use

We're not afraid of talking too strong on rugs, for we can show them in abundance. Every little while we bring out something different in this line, and right now our salespeople are quite enthusiastic over a number of patterns in Axminsters. These rugs are made the same as Axminster carpets and measure 9 x 12 feet. They are priced at $25.00. One of them is a beautiful pattern, having a rich terracotta center relieved by a small floral design here and there. Around this is a floral and scroll border. Another one is a two-tone red center of scroll pattern with large floral and scroll border. Then there is a rich Oriental pattern in which a dark Oriental blue forms the background and on which rest deep tones of old rose and tan. These are not all of the patterns by any means, but they are all we can mention here. We will gladly show you every pattern in the line at your convenience. Second floor.

Of course, the coverings have a great deal to do with the rich tone of the new parlor pieces we are showing. Mostly pretty floral effects in silk tapestries. Fourth floor.

A folding card table with wood top in golden finish for $3.00; or with felt covered top for $3.50. Fifth floor.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—To-night the local lodge of Elks owned the town. The members had a parade through the principal streets of the city and afterward the State Agricultural Society turned over its great exposition building to the antlered herd. The parade was well worth seven days' stage-riding to see, and it brought out thousands of spectators to the sidewalks. It was a reproduction of Chinese New Year ceremonies, and the leaders in the festivities included some of Sacramento's most prominent citizens, all togged out in Chinese raiment. The Chinese band, which was fierce, was composed of Elks who could not tell the difference between a treble clef and a bale of hay, but they made good Oriental music and won the plaudits of the multitudes on the sidewalks.

The parade was a gorgeous one, rich in color as the rainbow and the chief claimer by those who are authority on the matter is the dragon carried by the Elks. The latter claimed that by actual measurement the dragon was 100 feet long. Red fire, bombs, rattles and firecrackers gave an abundance of light and noise along the line of march and the spectators, it is taken for granted, imagined themselves right in the capital of China. The parade ended at the pavilion, where a musical and acrobatic exhibition was given by the Elks and other Orientals before a vast crowd of spectators.

SUPERB LIVESTOCK.
The main feature at Agricultural Park to-day, barring the racing, was the livestock parade. It was the greatest exhibition of stock, no doubt, ever made on the Pacific coast, but for some reason there was a very small crowd of people to see it. Judged from the standard of quality and the excellence of the individuals exhibited in the numerous classes, the display this year eclipses all former showings.

The greatest strength of the parade was centered in the cattle division. It is claimed by those who are authority on the subject that the large gathering of Durhams, Jerseys and Holstein-Friesians this year is far and away the best ever shown in the history of the fair. In the several herds on exhibition in the several classes are some of the very best bred cattle in the United States, which have either been imported from Europe or brought from the East to enrich the blood of numerous herds of State-wide reputation.

J. W. Wilson of this city led the line of march, driving two attractive chestnuts attached to a showy buggy. Following Wilson's turnout came several teams of high-stepping roadsters, among them being two snow-white horses drawing a stylish buggy, and driven by E. M. Leitch. Another showy turnout was that of Mrs. H. O. Buckman, the two English cob-drawn tandem by a coachman in becoming livery and attached to a swell trap. Then followed a long line of roadsters, driven singly, among them being some very fine looking horses owned in Sacramento.

PRIZE-WINNING CATTLE.
In the cattle division the post of honor was given to the Durhams of the short-horn type. The Brighton herd, about twenty strong, came first, followed by a large herd entered by the California Pastoral Association of Merced. These were reinforced by the herds of J. H. Glide and Joseph Marton and the Quins herd, numbering in all over 100 of the finest specimens of the short-horn Durhams to be found in the State. The Pierce Land and Stock Company of Stockton made a great showing of Holstein-Friesians, as did P. H. Burke of San Jose, and Hewitt and McNulty. Superior Judge Peter J. Shields of this city showed a small but select herd of Jerseys, and the Yerba Buena Farm made its usual meritorious exhibition of the same breed of cattle. A number of standard-bred trotters were in the line, headed by Barondale, 2:12, and followed by Stam B, 2:14.

Friday will be Drummers' Day at the State Fair and it is certain the commercial will win the day. The expectation is that the energetic and

GATES AND HIS FRIENDS COMMENCE ANOTHER FIGHT
Seek to Prevent the Stilwell Contingent from Controlling the Guardian Trust Company.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 11.—When the application for the discharge of the receiver of the Guardian Trust Company came up to-day for hearing before Judge Amos M. Thayer of the United States Circuit Court it developed that John W. Gates and his associates had begun a fight to prevent the restoration of the company to the control of those stockholders identified with Arthur E. Stilwell.

It was the Gates contingent that ousted Stilwell from the presidency of the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad (now the Kansas City Southern), which Stilwell had built, and threw it into the hands of a receiver. It was also through the efforts of the Gates people that Stilwell more than a year ago was ousted from the presidency of the Guardian Trust Company, which he had organized. To-day when Gates' attorneys agreed to the application of Stilwell to have the Guardian Trust receivers discharged they did so on the theory that Stilwell's move was intended to place the company in the hands of his friends and eventually to merge it with the United States and Mexican Trust Company, which was organized to promote the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient road, another property projected by Stilwell. This the Stilwell people deny, saying that the affairs of the trust company have progressed so favorably that it now could be conducted more economically without the receiver. They intend, it is said, to eventually wind up the affairs of the company.

DR. WONG WOO.
With pleasure to myself, and the pleasure of others, I most cheerfully testify to your wonderful knowledge and skill in the cure of my case of paralysis. In July, 1901, I had a stroke of paralysis. I partially recovered, but in January, 1902, I suffered another stroke, a much more severe one. It was accompanied by a severe attack of rheumatism. I took your medicine about four months. The rheumatism has entirely disappeared. The paralysis has so far disappeared that I can walk and I am well. I attribute my improvement entirely to your remedies. I believe you are the best doctor of rheumatism and paralysis in the world and if paralysis is curable at all your treatment will surely cure it. I would advise all who may be afflicted with rheumatism or paralysis to take a course of your treatment and get well. JOHN YORK, formerly of Stockton, California.

S. N. WOOD & CO.
718 Market Street

If you pass our store to-day you will see a window full of the Wood $3.00 Hats. These hats are very popular with many men and for these good reasons: They are the equal of most $5.00 hats, where you pay about $2.00 extra for the name of the maker. Some men are quite willing to pay this $2.00 to see the name of some famous maker in their hats. But if you want a good, substantial, and at the same time stylish hat you will find what you want in these at $3.00. They come as follows: Derbys in black (different proportions); Fedoras in black and brown with raw edges if preferred; Tourists in pearl, with black bands and raw edges, steel and beaver with bound brims. Every hat guaranteed. Out-of-town orders filled--write us.
