POIICE QUESTION J. T. CHAM

American Sporting Man Is Involved in Racing Clique.

Those Implicated May Be Expelled At Once From France.

Special Cable to the Call and the New York Herald. Copyright, 1902, by the Herald Publishing Company.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The story of the examination of American jockeys, horse-owners and others by the Paris police in connection with the in and out running of race horses and with gambling, which resulted in outsiders losing heavily, has caused quite a sensation in sporting circles in London. All the men concerned are well known here, as they are familiar figures on English race tracks. A gentleman well known in the sporting world, who has just returned from Paris, has given a full account of the affair.

"These men," said the informant, "did not have any intimation of what was going to happen until the police came after them with summons to appear before Mr. Henryon, principal Commissioner of Police, in the Ministry of the Interior. Summonses were issued under the provisions of a law that anybody who lives in Paris for a period of fifteen days may be required to go to the Bureau of Police and register his residence.

"Upwards of fifty persons were taken before the Commissioner and questioned. None were actually arrested, indeed, and where the examination was going on the doors were open. Still they were not there of their own volition.

"They were questioned in regard to suspicious methods employed in racing, holding baccarat parties in private rooms, using marked cards in games and running private roulette tables.

"Among those summoned were Ted Sloan, who was kept under severe cross-examination for three days; Sol Schlesinger, W. L. Cheppie, J. H. Korn, known as 'Bismarck,' his cashier, Herman Penner; 'Bos' Rose, 'Syd' Burns, Arthur Kemp of London and Alec Hascall.

"Most of these are well known in America. They are the most prominent, although only a small portion, of those examined.

PONIES SCORE MANY RUNS.

Land on Stricklett's Delivery and Fatten Their Batting Average.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 28.—Playing ball with the wind blowing from the east, the dust flying in sheets all over the diamond and interfering in nearly every play, the Ponies landed on Stricklett's delivery in the sixth inning to-day and knocked his offerings all over the lot. Each man on the team with the exception of Delmas fatted his batting average with a hit. Seven runs were scored. Then Thomas went into the box, but as he had but little time to warm up, he was not effective and the game was gone. Before the contest Meredith and Whalen agreed to share the pitching. No such arrangement had been made between Stricklett and his confederate. Had he been relieved at the end of the fifth inning the result might have been different. Score:

LEADERS CORRAL THE BIG SERIES

Greatest Finish of the Season at Recreation Park.

The mightiest series of the baseball season of 1902 passed on into the beyond yesterday afternoon when Oakland nosed ahead by one run and put the Angels down and out. The games have gone forever, but they will dwell in the memory of the followers of the national pastime until something more exciting develops and that will be many a day.

It was a bitter fight all week—a fight which partly decided who should have the banner of victory under December. The Angels played hard and put up a great quality of ball. The whirlwinds from over the pond were just good enough to beat them, and are securely in the lead for a while at least.

Oakland gained a few points by taking the out of the League and Los Angeles dropped about an equal number. Over in Oakland in the morning, the time limit stopped the scrap in the ninth with two on the boards. At Recreation Park the Leaders finished by the greatest rally ever seen on the local diamond. Score, 6 to 5.

Nearly 12,000 of the baseball-loving public squeezed through the gates of Recreation Park and lined up in the stands on the bleachers and behind a rope in the left garden. It was the greatest attendance of the season and such fierce rooting and such shouting as was done is not liable to occur again for some time.

ANGELS MAKE A FAST START.

The southern club artists began to manufacture runs at the call of time. Toman beat the game with a two-strike swing to center. Raymer sacrificed and Dillon singled scoring Toman. A couple of bad errors by the Oakland infield created one more run in the second.

Nothing of importance came to pass until round six. Then the Angels began to bombard Mr. Cooper's left wing offerings. Rolly walked, Anderson doubled to right field and Rolly went to third. Lawler singled to right and Rolly registered. Jackson flew to center and Anderson hot-footed to the finish on the throw. Jones beat a punt and Lawler got to third. Toman's long fly to right put him safely over the wire.

The result was 5 to 4 in favor of the gentlemen from the land of sunshine and Oakland had not even secured a hit. Mr. James Morley waited past the stand with a look of sublime happiness anchored on his countenance. A little thought of what was to come, but alas! poor man; when the big explosion was touched off he looked like a slot machine that had been emptied three times straight.

Jones beat the Renegade Apache on Saturday. Yesterday the angels took up in the ice box up to the sixth. His control was perfect, and the suburban batters couldn't hit nothing but pop flies. They seemed just about all in and ready to quit and anybody in the house would readily bet 10 to 1 on the Angels.

GRAHAM SAVES THE DAY.

Cooper was getting about half assassinated every inning by the southern men, so Uncle Pete brought his other south wing artist, Graham, into action in the seventh. This probably saved the game. As Graham handed out goods that had to be handled with care and no more Angels rounded the turn.

The awful eighth spasm at last rolled around and the most exciting bit of baseball passed out by the Oakland players. One was given life on Dillon's error of Rolly's throw. Uncle Pete walked and Devereaux sent Dunleavy home with a blast short.

This started a little shouting, but the crowd let itself out still more when Buck Francks brought both men home with a single to right. A mad panic was narrowly averted as Julie Streib sent a soft fly to center. Devereaux took the ball and reached home, trying the score, while Lawler fumbled the ball.

He threw to second and Raymer threw to the plate in order to stop the wild hitting of Francks. Anderson got the ball, but became doxy and failed to touch the runner.

Streib went to second during the wild shuffle, and Graham was right there with a single over third which won the game. Then a mad scene followed. Waiters were hurled, the benches were overturned, and the crowd, led by Devereaux and Hodson, dashed around the field and yelled like one of Major Burke's Wild West Indians. The crowds in the stands and bleachers became excited and the most thrilling moments Recreation Park has ever known followed.

Nor did the excitement cease here. With two gone in the ninth Anderson singled to left field, and went one base farther. Devereaux pitched the ball to get through him. Hanlon was put into bat for Lawler, but the best he had was a high fly, which Dunleavy swallowed, and all was over. The score:

RETA S CAPTURES THE HONORS IN JUNIOR CHAMPION STAKES

Daughter of the First Winner of the John Grace Challenge Cup Defeats the Hard Run Mickey Free in the Deciding Course at Union Park—Pasha Kennels' Roman Athlete Wins the Special

TIERNAN'S greyhound, Reto S, daughter of Fear Not, first winner of the John Grace Challenge Cup, captured the Junior Champion stakes yesterday at Union Coursing Park.

What part the fortunes of coursing played in her victory will never be known. She was fortunate in missing the demon hares which led some of the other bouds a merry chase. When it came down to the all-important deciding course she had been subjected to but 102 seconds' running, while Mickey Free, her opponent, had run 246 seconds. Mickey was particularly unfortunate in getting a run of 137 seconds in the semi-final round, from which he had not recovered. In the round before that he had a two-minute course.

Reto S beat Renegade Apache on Saturday. Yesterday the met and defeated Young Johnny Rex, Rubber Ankles, Presidio Boy and then Mickey Free. After disposing of this formidable list of opponents, the winner must be credited with having made an excellent showing.

The dogs in the special stake also had an unpleasant encounter with strong hares. Sacramento Boy was the worst sufferer. It seemed he would walk through the stake, but a limit course in the fourth round ruined his prospects. In the semi-final he had a long course with Valador, which the latter won. Sacramento Boy had five minutes and twenty seconds of hard running up to the deciding course when he was withdrawn. Pasha Kennels' Roman Athlete won by default.

The same conditions prevailed in the reserve stake. Judge Creamer withdrew Lily Wright and "Duke" Nealon won by default with Aeneas. The results in detail with Judge John Grace's official scores follow:

Junior Championship stake—P. Tiernan's Reto S, F. Rogers' Glorious, 21-10; J. Charlton's Charming Thought beat R. Orthwein's Eliza, 18-2; E. Geary's Fennel beat E. Clarkson's Miss Brumet, 5-1; M. Nealon's Aeneas beat H. A. Talbot's Dorothy M., 5-0.

LIVELY SCENES AT OAKLAND.

The morning game at Oakland was also a hummer, but the time limit stopped it at the end of the ninth round, each team having accumulated two runs. All the runs were the result of errors, as the men were laboring under a highly nervous strain.

The largest crowd ever seen on the Oakland diamond was on the spot and rooted hard for both clubs. Both Schmidt and Wheeler pitched magnificent ball, but were poorly supported. Schmidt in particular, did great work, and but for his gamesness the Angels would have batted out a dozen runs. In the ninth, with men on second and third, and two out, by Wheeler and Schmidt, the game was saved for Oakland.

HIGH SCORES FOR OFFICERS

National Guard Division Staff Includes Some Expert Marksmen.

Several Make Best Possible Score in Ten Shots With Revolver.

A pleasant day and a steady breeze contributed to the success of the marksmen who assembled at Shell Mound Park yesterday to take part in the medal contests and bullseye competitions held by militiamen and by the members of several civic shooting societies who make this range their rendezvous.

The division staff of the National Guard held its annual State competition and some fine scores were made. Each participant used a revolver and shot at the regulation man target, distance fifty yards. The officers were allowed forty shots each, and the possible was 200 points. Colonel Charles Evans, Lieutenant Colonel A. Huber and Lieutenant Colonel Louis Barrero won gold bars, having succeeded in making the necessary 90 per cent. Following are the scores:
