

POISONOUS
TAKES NEW TURN
Drug Clerk Christianson
Wants His Accuser
Arrested.

Says Solicitor Price Has Threatened to Do Him
Bodily Harm.

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1113 Broadway, Dec. 2.
The mystery that has enveloped the case of Dr. Manley M. Enos and his box of poisoned candy is in a fair way to be solved. T. Lawrence Christianson, a young drug clerk residing at 720 Harrison street, has sworn to an affidavit charging William L. Price, a newspaper advertising solicitor, with threatening to do him great bodily harm. He demands that Price be arrested and placed under bonds to keep the peace. Both men were prominent figures in the police end of the case.

Christianson's affidavit was filed late this afternoon in the Police Court. Action upon it will be taken to-morrow morning when Police Judge Smith opens court. Christianson announces that he has taken this step against Price because he believes Price will carry out the threats to injure him.

The affidavit charges that on October 8 Price threatened "to use force and violence upon the person of T. L. Christianson," and, further, that the affiant continues to believe that Price will make good his threats unless restrained.

According to the complainant the troubles between the pair started over a legal advertisement. In explaining the trouble Christianson said:

"Price got mad because I would not give him an advertisement in connection with my mother's case. He began to talk about me, and one day last month, in the presence of several witnesses, threatened to 'break my neck.'"

I reminded that sort of talk and Price continued to abuse me. The matter was in that shape when the Enos affair developed. Price knew I had been an employee of Enos, and as soon as he heard about the doctor's illness he rushed off to the police and told stories to the effect that I had threatened to poison Enos. He tried to make a showing that I had poisoned the candy and was going to use the Enos case as a means of making a fortune. I suppose, though he would do a double turn when he had the police throw me into jail on a suspected plot to murder. I was completely vindicated in the matter, but Price's act was so malicious that I cannot help but believe he intended to do me harm. Assuredly, he put a stigma on me when he put out that unfounded charge.

Price denies that he had any quarrel with Christianson over legal advertising. He claims that he offered to publish the notice in controversy without charge. He admitted going to the police to get the story about Christianson's threats and justifies that action by saying he is a close friend of Enos, and believed his suspicions warranted him in laying the matter before the authorities.

MAJOR TO BE TRIED
FOR THE SECOND TIME

Glenn of the Fifth Infantry Must Explain About Killing of Natives.

MANILA, Dec. 2.—Orders have been received from Washington directing that Major Glenn of the Fifth Infantry shall be put on trial a second time for alleged crimes committed during the Samar campaign. Major Glenn is charged with having ordered the execution of several native guides for misleading the American column sent against the enemy's stronghold.

Major Glenn himself reported the incident, which has been the subject of an extensive inquiry for several months past. Major General Chaffee ordered two investigations to be made by Inspectors Jacob Smith and Major Watts, who report now orders General Davis to formulate charges against Major Glenn and convene a court-martial. Major Glenn is now commanding a post at Bayambang, district of Pangasinan, Luzon, and he was to-day ordered to hold himself ready to appear here for trial. It is said the trial will reopen the entire question of the Samar campaign, and consume some time. It is expected Major Glenn will inform the court that he desires Major General Chaffee to be called as a witness, but it is possible that their depositions will be taken instead.

Major Glenn was tried by court-martial at Manila last May for administering the "water cure" to natives during the Samar campaign, and was found guilty and sentenced to one month's suspension of duty and a fine of $50. President Roosevelt approved the findings of the court. Major Glenn returned to duty in September.

CAPTAIN WELCH DIES
FROM WOUND IN ABDOMEN

Police Are of the Opinion That He Shot Himself With Suicidal Intent.

Captain Fremont B. Welch, who shot himself in the abdomen in his room in the New Western Hotel Monday evening, died yesterday in the Emergency Hospital. The police are now of the opinion that Welch committed suicide.

Several friends of the dead man visited the morgue last night and gave information that strengthened the suicide theory. They stated that Welch recently came here from Seattle in search of a vessel. He was successful and was to have sailed Monday afternoon but appeared at the agent's office under the influence of liquor and his commission was revoked. It is thought that the loss of the vessel preyed upon his mind and that while in a despondent mood he shot himself.

Welch is said to have relatives living in Roxbury, Mass. He was a member of the Masons, Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Woodmen of the World.

TWO ATTRACTIVE AND ACCOMPLISHED SISTERS OF SACRAMENTO WHO BECAME BRIDES AT A DOUBLE WEDDING THAT WAS CELEBRATED IN THE CAPITAL CITY YESTERDAY.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 2.—The novel and beautiful spectacle of a double wedding, with two charming sisters as the brides, was presented in this city at high noon to-day, when Miss Mary Belle Mathews was married to J. M. Kelley and Miss Gwendolyn Mathews was united in marriage to D. D. McLaren. The event took place at the home of Dr. W. P. Mathews, secretary of the State Board of Health, and wife, the parents of the brides. Rev. Father Quinn, pastor of the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament, performed the ceremony, the couple standing under an elaborate bower of greens, relieved by yellow and white chrysanthemums. There were no attendants. The brides were attired similarly in gowns of flimsy white over tulle, and carried shower bouquets of lilies of the valley. The parlor was decorated with Christmas boughs and

STORM WHIRLS
AROUND ISLES

Bluejackets of the Oregon
Save Six Japanese at Hawaii.

Governor Dole Starts Investigation of All the Departments.

Special Correspondence of The Call.

HONOLULU, Nov. 25.—A severe storm has swept over Hawaii and delayed all shipping. The steamer Tampico was seventeen days out from Seattle, the Miowera was to days late from Vancouver, the Gaelic took a full seven days from San Francisco and the Zealandia was a few hours more than seven days from the same port.

"Winds from all points of the compass and waves as high as hills," is the description given by Purser Smith of the Zealandia and it answers for all the other ocean steamers. The worst part of the storm was experienced near the islands on November 21 and 22. Inter-island travelers had a rough time of it and many fishermen narrowly escaped with their lives. Bluejackets in a launch from the Oregon saved six Japanese fishermen who had been driven four miles from the harbor.

The Oregon was delayed here on account of the gale till the afternoon of Sunday, November 23, when she left for the Orient.

Territorial officials who have been suspended from their Government positions are making the fight of their lives to get back to their old desks. Every device and technicality that their lawyers can discover is being used in the courts to their advantage. Even the success of their gain will be but a temporary one, for the Senate is in session and will doubtless act in concert with Governor Dole and remove them permanently, also nominating their successors.

The Oregon jury has found three indictments against James H. Boyd, formerly Superintendent of Public Works; one indictment against B. H. Wright, chief clerk, and an indictment against J. Alfred Magoun, the attorney at-large. Wright was charged with helping the latter to escape from the Territory when knowing him to be a defaulter. Magoun is out on $2000 bail, Boyd on $10,000 bail, while B. H. Wright is held at the Oahu jail because he was unable to secure bail. J. B. Atherton of the firm of Castle & Cooke and one of the oldest residents in the Territory is seriously ill. He was attacked with several hemorrhages of the lungs and was in a critical condition, all members of the board of supervisors at his bedside. This afternoon he rallied.

W. B. Maxwell, a wealthy citizen of Seattle, who was a friend of Captain Arnes of the Tampico and shipped on that steamer as clerk, died on the voyage to Honolulu. He fell down the companion-way, presumably in a cataleptic fit, and expired two days later on November 13. The body was buried at sea.

Maxwell left a widow but no children. The Oregon jury has found three indictments against James H. Boyd, formerly Superintendent of Public Works; one indictment against B. H. Wright, chief clerk, and an indictment against J. Alfred Magoun, the attorney at-large. Wright was charged with helping the latter to escape from the Territory when knowing him to be a defaulter. UNITED STATES FLAGSHIP IOWA,
PORT OF SPAIN, Island of Trinidad,
Dec. 2.—The United States flagship IOWA, under the command of Admiral Higginson, the latter is confident that he will be able, during the coming naval war game, to seize without disaster the port to form a base of operations against Cuba, and the American coast.

As a result of the conferences between Admirals Sumner and Crowninshield and the commanding officers of the vessels under their command, most of whom have taken part in the Naval War College war games with the Caribbean Sea as the scene of operations, a plan has been adopted which, it is asserted by those who know, is practically certain of success.

The problems presented required Admiral Sumner to fortify a port with mines and guns, to do which he is allowed six hours. Should Admiral Higginson appear with a superior force before the expiration of that time Admiral Sumner will be considered defeated. To determine the strength of the opposing squadrons the department has given the battleship the value of twenty points, a heavily protected cruiser eight points, a small protected cruiser five points, a gunboat three points and a torpedo boat or tender one point each. It is estimated that Admiral Higginson has 128 points, and Admiral Sumner sixty-six points. If the estimate is correct it is claimed it would be folly for Admiral Higginson to divide his battleship squadron, numbering eighty points, and that they must act together, so that on the evening of the arrival of Admiral Sumner's squadron he can hasten to attack it.

Some officers believe Admiral Higginson will separate his battleships into two divisions and form divisions of fast cruisers which will hold the balance of power and reinforce the battleships. It is believed here that Admiral Higginson has arranged with the United States Consuls and weather observers in the West

SPECIAL SHOTS
NEGRO PRISONER

Walter Hughes, Cook, Is Badly Wounded by Officer Gillen.

Stories Differ, Colored Man
Declaring His Captor
Was Drunk.

Special Officer Joseph F. Gillen shot and probably fatally wounded Walter Hughes, a negro who is employed as a marine cook, at 1:30 o'clock this morning in front of the Palmer House, a cheap lodging place on Pacific street. Hughes was struck in the breast, the bullet passing through the bone and lodging in the pleural cavity between the lungs. He was also hit in the left shoulder and a third bullet grazed his left temple. The injured man was removed to the Harbor Hospital, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Armistead.

Gillen said he met Hughes in a saloon opposite the Palmer House. "Hughes was drunk at the time," he said. "I saw that he was quarrelsome and ordered him to go home. He told me he lived in the Palmer House. I accompanied him to the house, but the landlord told me Hughes did not live there. We went downstairs again, and when we reached the bottom Hughes struck me in the face. I drew my club to protect myself. Hughes took the club away from me and beat me over the head with it. He beat me severely. I then drew my revolver to protect myself. I fired three shots."

Hughes' account of the affray was practically the reverse of Gillen's. He declared that it was the officer who was the drunken man. He said: "I met Gillen in front of a saloon on Pacific street. He was drunk and I tried to humor him. He ordered me to go home. I said I lived in the Palmer House. Gillen went there with me, but I could not get a room. Gillen walked to the front of the stairs with me and then suddenly struck me with his fist. I struck back and he pulled his club. I took it away from him and struck him with it. He then pulled his pistol and fired three times."

Gillen was badly beaten about the head, but his injuries are not serious. He was held pending the result of Hughes' injuries.

ROBERT HEMINGRAY
RULED OFF THE TRACK

Man Who Traded His Dead Mistress Can Never Again Enter Ingleside.

Robert Hemingray, whose pretty mistress committed suicide at the Knickerbocker apartment house at 1340 Pine street last Saturday night, was formally ruled off the Ingleside race track yesterday. Never again will he or his horses, jockeys or attendants be admitted within its gates. Furthermore, he was ordered to immediately take his horses and all his belongings from the track.

Being ruled off this racecourse practically puts an end to his career, as the other racecourses of this country will take cognizance of what has occurred here. Hemingray recognized that he has ruled off the track and yesterday disposed of Lindro, one of his horses. The other, Lord Kitchener, will be sold as soon as a purchaser can be found.

The inquest over the remains of Carleton Campiglio, or Stoffen, will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Robert Hemingray, his brother, C. T. Hemingray, and his wife will be called upon to tell what they know of the unfortunate woman. Preparations are being made to have the body shipped back to Cincinnati.

Death Claims Shasta Pioneer.
REDDING, Dec. 2.—Peter Hoff, a pioneer of Shasta County, died to-day in Redding of the infirmities of age. A peculiar incident in his life was the loss of thousands of dollars at the time of a fire many years ago in the town of Shasta, when he was then in business. There were no banks in the county at that time and Hoff kept his money in coal oil cans. When fire threatened his place of business he carried out can after can of gold dust into the street. It was stolen during the excitement caused by the conflagration.
