

PRELATE WILL NOT WED THEM

Neilson-Vanderbilt Marriage Arrangements Are Changed.

Archbishop Farley Declines to Marry Persons of Different Faiths.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Journal says: Archbishop Farley will not perform the marriage ceremony between Miss Kathleen Neilson and Reginald C. Vanderbilt. At the Archbishop's palace last night it was learned that the Archbishop does not approve of so-called "mixed marriages" and that he has made it a custom to refuse to unite persons of different religious faiths. The statement was made by Assistant Secretary Father Lowe, who said he was fully prepared to answer all questions for the Archbishop.

"I know that the newspaper report that the Archbishop is to perform the ceremony is absolutely without foundation," said Father Lowe. "He has made no arrangements to such an end. The Archbishop has always been opposed to 'mixed marriages' and has refused to officiate at such weddings."

According to a friend of Miss Neilson, interviewed last night, the wedding will not occur until next April, and the officiating priest will be Father Van Rensselaer, one of the other clergy of St. Francis Xavier's Church.

Sailors Engage in a Battle

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 18.—A special to the Oregonian from Aberdeen, Wash., says that trouble which has been brewing between union and non-union sailors culminated in a collision last night in which five non-union men were severely wounded. There were five different scuffles among the men, the police being unable to control the situation. The saloon district, where the fighting took place, was in a frenzy of excitement for several hours. The trouble grew out of the union sailors' refusal to allow the schooner Solano to sail for Australia. No shots were fired during the encounter, but clubs and stones were used freely.

JOSE JOINES BATTLE TO THE ORPHEUM

Murray and Mack Make Merriment at the California.

Excellent Programmes Given at All of the Other Theaters.

Richard J. Jose, the renowned tenor, who has charmed thousands all over the world, returned to the Orpheum last night, and received an ovation that only a San Francisco audience can give to one of its favorites. Jose rendered selection after selection, and at the conclusion of each one the audience grew more enthusiastic. Finally the great tenor took the hint and rendered that favorite ballad "Dolly Gray." It simply took the house by storm, and then the audience, being satisfied, allowed the singer to retire behind the scenes.

The remainder of the bill is in keeping with the star number. Jules and Ella Garrison present a skit that is bound to make any one laugh, and they also introduce a tragedy act that is worth seeing. Fields and Ward, "the two hot tamales," are deserving of the name, for they have a monologue act that is worth going miles to see. Their talk is entirely up to date and novel, and provoked peal after peal of laughter from the crowd. The two Scott brothers, in their marvelous acrobatic performance, introduce some feats of daring that appear impossible, and yet they manage to get away with them in the easiest style. The Les Freres are musical artists of rare ability, and their work on the xylophone last night earned for them several encores.

The hold-overs for the week include the Ellmore sisters in an entirely new act entitled "Mrs. Delaney," the Miles Stovard quintet of musicians and Zazel and Vernon, the comic triple bar performers. The scenes on the biograph are all new and entirely interesting.

Murray and Mack, the "Two Happy Boys" presenting the musical farce "A Night on Broadway," drew a crowded house at the California Theater last evening. The sketch was highly entertaining, and one of the best that has been on the bills for some time.

The clever work of the leading characters won much applause. Each part was well sustained, and the plot a good one. The stage settings were gorgeous and the costumes much above the average. The "confetti" dance in the first act, by the entire company, was worthy of special mention. When the finale came the audience went home feeling well satisfied.

The successful run of the holiday piece, "Jack and the Beanstalk," came to an end last night at the Lyell and to-night will be revived one of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic operas, "The Mikado." This will be grateful news to the lovers of sterling comic opera and the house should prosper in its experiment. Special scenery for the production of the Mikado, a grand cast, including Madame Caro Roma in the role of Katsisha, will take part. Ferris Hartman will be the Mikado and it goes without saying that his representation of the part will lack nothing in cleverness and comedy.

Last night Frank Daniels and his clever company concluded their two weeks' engagement at the Columbia Theater. To-night John P. Slocum will present the Grand Opera Company in last season's great success, "The Princess Chic." The organization consists of sixty talented artists, including Vera Michelena of this city, who has made a great hit in the title role. Joseph Miron will be seen as Brevet. Next Monday Louis James and Frederick Ward will appear in the recent spectacular production of Shakespeare's "The Tempest." Seats will be on sale Thursday.

"My Daughter-in-Law" will be the play at the Alcazar Theater this week and will be produced, for the first time in this city, fresh from its successes in London and New York. Alice Treat Hunt, the Alcazar's new leading lady, will make her first appearance to-night.

So great has been the success of the young tragedienne, Miss Nance O'Neill, in "Macbeth" that the management of the Grand Opera House has decided to run the play until next Sunday, with a matinee on Saturday only. Miss O'Neill will be supported as before by E. J. Ratcliffe as Macbeth, Mr. Millward as Banquo and Mr. Mayhall as Macduff. On Sunday night the play will be produced with "Judith" will be on the boards.

The great comedy melodrama, "The Angel of the Alley," by the author of "The Bowery After Dark," "The Road to Ruin" and other thrillers, will be the bill at the Central Theater this week. Among the exciting scenes presented in the play will be the underground dive in New York, the electric chair and the prison struck by lightning. Next Monday "Dangers of Paris" will be placed on the boards.

The Theater Republic is doing great business, judging from last night's audience, which packed the pretty playhouse to within Broadway's masterpiece, "Who Happened to Jones," and see Harry Carson Clarke in his cleverest role. There was not a minute that Clarke did not "make good" and his dilemmas kept the audience in roars of laughter. Beginning next Sunday, New York's matinee play, "The Student," and his specially selected Metropolitan company will be seen at the Republic in a season of romantic comedy.

There is a capital programme at the thoroughly heated Chutes Theater this week, including the Austin sisters, aerial artists; Montague's cockatoo circus; the Bernards, presenting their comedy sketch, "The Mystery of the New York Times"; the vaudeville entertainment, the floor show, and the musical comedians; Brooke Elym, the pleasing mezzo-soprano, and new moving pictures. The latest Chutes novelty, "Down the Flume," is proving an amusing sensation.

The third week of "Barbara Fidgety" at Fischer's Theater begins to-night with new features and new fun added to the excellency of the programme of this clever burlesque. Next week's happy around the box office, so a long run may be expected of this clever concoction of nonsense.

EDWARD S. BABBE MEETS WITH TERRIBLE ACCIDENT IN CREAMERY

While Adjusting Belt on Pulley His Right Arm Is Caught and Torn Off by Flying Machinery, but He Miraculously Escapes Death

AKLAND, Jan. 18.—Caught in fast-revolving machinery at the Oakland creamery, Eighteenth street and Telegraph avenue, Edward S. Babbe, aged 19 years, suffered the loss this morning of his right arm, which was torn off by the force exerted against it. Babbe now lies at the Receiving Hospital in a precarious condition from the shock, with the chances for his recovery about even.

Babbe is a buttermaker at the Oakland creamery. Before beginning work at 8 o'clock this morning he adjusted a six-inch belt for one of the pulleys that attach to the big chums. After making the belt an inch shorter, so that it would be more powerful, he prepared to replace it on the pulley, which he reached by means of a platform suspended some six or eight feet above the floor.

When Babbe was about ready to slip the belt upon the pulley he notified Wilbur A. Snow, the foreman of the place, to start the machinery. Snow had hardly removed his hand from the starting lever when he heard Babbe cry out in agonizing terror, "Oh, my God! Stop! Stop!" Quick as a flash Snow stopped the machinery and hurried to the assistance of his fellow workman. He found Babbe prostrate upon the wheel, which held him in a vise. Snow released Babbe and had him taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Drs. Williams, Porter, Stratton and Dodge found that his right forearm had been severed and the portion above the elbow broken in five places.

Excels the Lemon as an Enemy of Typhoid Fever

Special Dispatch to The Call. CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Lemon juice as a household germicide has a new and powerful rival, according to the weekly bulletin of the Chicago Health Department. The new substance is bottled grape juice. It acts as well as lemon juice, and has the advantage that it gives no taste to the water in which it is used and does not disturb the digestion. The bulletin says: "The study of the action of lemon juice on the typhoid bacillus and on colon bacilli, which are the cause of many forms of acute intestinal and other diseases, has been continued in the laboratory with very interesting results. The juices of different specimens of lemons was found to vary materially in germicidal action, that from some specimens requiring as much as 10 per cent to kill all exposed germs. "Experiments with other fruit juices have been made, quite an extended scale. Lime juice, apple juice, the juice of the grape fruit and grape juice have been tested. While all of these have a more or less inhibiting effect on the growth or vitality of these bacilli, the bottled grape juice found in groceries gave the most conclusive results, although there was a marked difference between the brands. With some brands a proportion of 1 per cent effectually and permanently destroyed the vitality of both typhoid and colon bacilli—no growth at the end of seven days' incubation. "Freshly extracted juice of the grape prepared in the laboratory had no effect on the bacilli, even in a proportion as high as 100 per cent."

Distressing Death of a Young School Girl

A young schoolgirl named Lottie Peterson, daughter of the former proprietor of the Pierson House, Santa Rosa, died at 10 o'clock last night at the San Antonio lodging-house, 21 Taylor street, through what is alleged to have been an unlawful operation.

Miss Peterson came to the city a week ago from Santa Rosa with her sister, Mrs. Emma Freeman, who says that on Thursday Lottie went, in company with another girl, to some one unknown to her for the purpose of having an operation performed, since which time she had been seriously ill until her death. When she saw her sister's illness was of a serious nature Mrs. Freeman called in Dr. Bunnell of the Emergency Hospital, but she was too far gone for medical skill to be of any avail in saving her life. Detective Tom Gibson has been detailed on the case.

Portland, Or., Jan. 18.—Al Neill and Tommy Kelly have been matched for twenty rounds for the middle-weight championship of the Pacific Coast, the fight to take place before the Portland Pastime Club on Tuesday, February 10.

WARD FOR POOR IN NEW HOSPITAL

Corps of Doctors Give Services to Healing Institution.

Sisters of Providence Come to Discuss Plans With Archbishop.

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1115 Broadway, Jan. 18.

In order that its merciful ministrations may begin at once after the completion of the new hospital, which is building for the Sisters of Providence at Twenty-sixth and Webster streets, the staff of physicians has already been organized. Dr. D. D. Crowley is to be the chief of staff of a corps of physicians composed of Drs. Frank L. Adams, J. P. Dunn, Jeremiah Maher, W. S. Porter and H. G. Thomas, all of whom have volunteered their services for the new institution.

If the contractors have good luck the building will be finished by May. The concrete foundation has already been laid and the builders are getting ready to add the woodwork that will make a handsome five-story structure, fitted with all the latest conveniences. Archbishop Riordan let the contract for the structure, which is to cost about $53,000, exclusive of furniture.

The Rev. Thomas McSweeney, pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, is taking an active interest in the new hospital and he is particularly proud of the provision that has been made for a ward for the poor. "That ward is to be for the exclusive use of the poor," said Father McSweeney. "It is going to be open night and day and no one will ever be turned away while there is room to crowd one more in. Whoever goes there will get as good treatment as if they paid $50,000 for the privilege." The hospital is to be conducted by the Sisters of Providence, some of whom are here from Portland, Or., to consult with the Archbishop about what is needed.

FATALLY INJURED BY TRANSIT CAR

Drunken Man Is Struck and Has Legs Crushed.

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1115 Broadway, Jan. 18.

Hans Larsen, 32 years old, a laborer in the tunnel that the Realty Syndicate is building in the Piedmont Hills, was run over by an Oakland Transit car to-night at the point where the Piedmont avenue line crosses the Pleasant Valley road, both legs being crushed at the knee.

The man was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where his legs were amputated above the knees. The chances for recovery are against the patient. Larsen was in such a state of intoxication when he arrived at the hospital as not to realize what had happened to him, and a flask half-full of whisky was taken from his trousers pocket. The man was run over about 6:30 o'clock by Car No. 183, in charge of Motorman Peter Nelson, bound toward the city. He had in his intoxicated condition fallen across the track. Motorman Nelson's car came upon him suddenly after rounding a little curve when it was too late to stop. The forward wheels passed over his legs before the car was brought to a stop. He was taken at once to the Receiving Hospital for treatment.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology Has Proved That Dandruff Is Caused by a Germ. Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam delved, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it scaps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair grows luxuriantly. Herpicide at all drug stores. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists.
