Social Events

SOCIETY

has had something of a rest at intervals during the last week, owing to the fact that "latent hostesses" are crowding their entertainments into the fortnight before Ash Wednesday. The lull was interrupted in many instances by the "at home" days of popular folk, giving their debtors an opportunity to pay party and dinner calls. There will be scarcely any lull between now and Ash Wednesday, however, as Lent comes early this year and many social obligations must be discharged before the time of penitence and prayer.
