JUVENILES WILL BE HIS CHARGE OFFICERS OF GUARANTY INVESTMENT COMPANY MAKE ESCAPE

Judge Murasky is to Preside Over the New Court. Officers of Guaranty Investment Company Make Escape.

Superior Judge Frank J. Murasky is to preside over the new juvenile court, the establishment of which was provided for by the last Legislature, for the hearing of cases in which children of immature years figure as defendants. This means that Judge Murasky will deal with youngsters against whom a criminal charge has been preferred and who have been held over to the Superior Court by a Police Judge; wayward children and children who would be benefited by a removal from the custody of their parents to some institution. The selection of the first Judge to preside over the juvenile court was discussed at a meeting of the Superior Judges held yesterday. It was finally left with the presiding Judge, and Murasky, as such, took the work, which most of the Judges shied at, upon himself.

The Judges also named the following well known people as a committee to select institutions to which the children who come into the juvenile court, are to be committed: Andrew M. Davis, F. H. Wheelan, J. D. Grant, Osgood Putnam, Miss J. B. Peixotto and T. W. Hickey. The vacation period for the Superior Judges will commence this year June 8 and close August 8.

Divorced Wife Reopens Case. Christina J. Anthony, whose husband, Dr. Richard E. Anthony, obtained a divorce from her last July, filed a suit yesterday to set aside the decree on the ground that it was fraudulently obtained. Anthony is the physician who acquired considerable notoriety during the Boer war on account of his arrest on a charge of treason by the British army officials. Anthony is at present in Los Angeles, where he is practicing medicine. It is said that he is soon to be wedded to a woman of prominence in the City of Angels.

UNIVERSITY EVENTS

BERKELEY, April 29.—The Rev. Amory Home Bradford, the distinguished Congregational clergyman, editor and author, addressed a large gathering of students this afternoon in Hearst Hall. His address was admiring to the student body at large and was frequently applauded. The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Congregational church entertained the members of the senior class last evening in the church parlors. The place was handsomely decorated, and after a short programme of music and song refreshments were served. President J. E. Roushhouse of the university has received a letter from the trustees of the University of Washington, in which he is asked to accept and place in the building of the new university, the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Congregational church of Washington. Tuesday evening the Young Women's Christian Association of the University of California gave its annual farewell banquet to its graduating members—the seniors, Miss Reuben, Miss of Oakland was chairman of the general committee, Miss Barrows managed both the table and wall decorations; the room was like a fairyland; roses, ferns, flowering shrubs and sunlax, all helped in the dainty effect. The tables were arranged T-shape, the

Five Years' Hard Labor Penalty Imposed by Judge de Haven.

Prisoner Will Serve Nine Years for Stealing Government Money.

The maximum penalty of the law for the crime, of which he had been convicted was meted out yesterday to Walter N. Dimmick by United States District Judge de Haven on the conviction for stealing $30,000 from the United States Mint in this city. This will make Dimmick's sentence aggregate nine years' imprisonment at hard labor in the State penitentiary at San Quentin. The five years' sentence will begin at the termination of the four years' term which Dimmick must serve for the two convictions on the indictments charging him with embezzlement and failing to deposit moneys received by him for the United States. With good credits, each of the two years' sentences will be cut down to nineteen months, and the five years' sentence will be reduced to forty months, the actual time to be served by him on all the convictions being six years and six months from April 13 of this year.

George D. Collins concluded his argument on the motion for a new trial early in the afternoon and was answered by Peter F. Dunne and United States District Attorney Marshall E. Woodworth. Judge de Haven remarked that he had given very careful consideration to the case in which Dimmick had been the defendant and that if it should be conceded that the testimony of Night Watchman Ellis was true the evidence in the $30,000 case was sufficient to justify the verdict of guilty. The motion for a new trial and the motion in arrest of judgment were therefore denied and the prisoner was sentenced to be imprisoned at hard labor in the State prison at San Quentin for five years, the sentence to begin on the expiration of the terms of sentence already pronounced. Mr. Collins thereupon filed a writ of habeas corpus and announced his intention of appealing the case. Dimmick took the sentence stoically, he having expected it. His wife and her sister-in-law were present during the proceedings.

GARRITY'S RUSE FAILS TO WORK

Feigns Insanity to Escape Being Tried for Robbery.

Thomas Garrity, who was charged with robbery, pleaded guilty of grand larceny in Judge Lawlor's court yesterday and will be sentenced on Saturday. He robbed Alexander Anderson of Baden of $2 on Jesse street, near Sixth on the morning of December 25. He was chased by Policeman P. C. Blich, who heard Anderson's cries for help, and when Blich turned from Sixth street into Mission street he collided with a woman and fell, sustaining injuries that kept him off duty for several weeks.

Garrity, while in the County Jail last week, acted as if he were insane. He refused to eat and would not speak to any one. Superintendent Cornyn notified Judge Lawlor and the Judge ordered Garrity sent to the insane ward at the Central Emergency Hospital for observation. Dr. Lustig tried for two days to get Garrity to speak, but failed. He believed that Garrity was shamming and decided upon a drastic experiment. On the third day he told Garrity that he would have to undergo an operation. Get the necessary preparations were at once made.

Garrity was blindfolded and strapped to an operating table in the hospital. The steward and a nurse were present and Dr. Lustig made as much noise as possible with his knives and other instruments. Then he cut the skin on Garrity's chest and the steward allowed lukewarm water to trickle down from the wound. Lustig remarked "that man's blood is almost black, he will have to undergo a most serious operation. Get more bandages ready." This was too much for Garrity and he yelled: "Say, what are you going to do? There ain't nothing the matter with me." He was unstrapped and sent back to the County Jail. Dr. Lustig reported to Judge Lawlor what he had done and that Garrity was shamming.

Turner, Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Brooks of Oakland. The programme, which was a surprise, was in charge of Miss Glover, a member from Santa Cruz in the College of Natural Sciences. There were selections by the Guitars and Mandolin Club and solos by Mrs. Brooks, Miss Pearl Glover was toastmaster, and her name goes down as the most successful lady who has presided. Her witty remarks in introducing the speakers produced much merriment. Following were the reports of the Labor Lyceum: Miss Flora Miller, response by Miss F. Bonte; "Ye Saviors," Miss Helen Wells, response by Miss May Wether; "Mrs. Hearst," Miss Evelyn Bough; "The Alumnae," Miss Marion Wendt; "Our Two Marys," Miss Gertrude Cook, response by Miss Bentley and Miss Page; "The Past," Miss Helen Hanson; "The Future," Miss Moody. One of the features of the evening was the "Operetta," nonsense rhymes written to popular tunes about the various studies, setting forth their various achievements in a most amusing manner.

HASTY MARRIAGE ENDS UNHAPPILY

Gladys G. Dorsey Ruthers Tires of Her Army Husband.

Seeks Annulment on Ground of Failure to Obtain Parent's Consent.

VETERAN COMEDIAN WHO DIED YESTERDAY IN NEW YORK.

Stuart Robson, Veteran Comedian, Goes to His Rest.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Stuart Robson, the veteran comedian, died to-night of heart disease at the Hotel Savoy. He was 67 years old, and had been on the stage for fifty-one years. Mr. Robson was taken ill early in March and was obliged to rest completely for two weeks. He resumed his engagement on March 19, and after playing in New York and Brooklyn appeared in various towns in the upper part of this State. A few days ago he was taken ill in Auburn, N. Y., and was then brought to this city.

The interment will take place at Co-hasset, Mass., on Friday.

"Ah, that is the end of a wonderful actor, a noble gentleman and a true, true friend."

William H. Crane, the old-time partner of Stuart Robson, beat his hands together and sank limply into a chair when the news of the death of Robson was brought to him in his dressing room at the end of the first act of "David Harum" last night. Down the grease paint of the face that was for the hour David Harum's there slipped a tear from the deep sorrow which was William Crane's.

"Yes," continued Crane, "Robson was a man, a man of honor, a good comrade and a conscientious artist. He was a man of wonderful parts. Of all the comedians of the old school, of whom Robson and myself are nearly the last survivors, none stood higher than he in the profession. I've known sense of the ludicrous, combined with that twang of the voice which so characterized him, endeared him to the actor-goes who are either gray-headed or in their graves now."

Crane leaned back in his chair, closed his eyes and began to relate memories of the days, many years ago, when Robson and himself were the stars of the comedy world which always shone together.

"When Robson and I were first thrown together in January, 1877, we almost had a law suit. Henry Abbey had engaged me to play the leading part of Gillpard in Leonard Graves' 'Our Boarding-house.' Meanwhile T. H. French, a veteran manager, who had put money into the play, selected Robson for that part under protest. Robson and I rehearsed for four days without hardly speaking to one another, and then I told him of the matter of my disappointment, and he said, 'Crane, had I known that I would never have taken the part.'"

That play was first put on January 29, 1877, and had what was then the phenomenal run of twelve weeks. After that we opened to San Francisco with McCullough, opening "Forbidden Fruit," at the old California Theatre. We cleared $200 apiece in four weeks. "Our Bachelor," "Henrietta," "Sharps and Flints" and "The Comedy of Errors," and "The Cherubs," that ridiculous farce which was written around Raphael's picture "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "Twelfth Night," "The Stoops to Conquer"—all of those old plays came one after another for twelve years.

Our revival of the "Comedy of Errors," which was the most comprehensive effort which had yet been made in Shakespearean comedy, we produced first at the dramatic festival of 1881 in Cincinnati. At last on May 11, 1888, we separated, not through any quarrel, but because we believed that we could each do better alone. That was at the old Star Theatre in New York.

Not until May 15 of last year did Robson and I meet again. He had returned to his old home in New York for the benefit of the Actors' Home. When we appeared on the stage together again the audience stood on their seats and waved handkerchiefs. Dear old Robson, he was one of the best friends I ever had.

MR. JUSTICE FINNEMORE

Judge of the Natal Supreme Court Sends the Following Remarkable Testimonial for the Cuticura Remedies. THE WORLD IS CUTICURA'S FIELD.

"I desire to give my voluntary testimony to the beneficial effects of your Cuticura Remedies. I have suffered for some time from an excess of uric acid in the blood; and since the middle of last year, from a severe attack of Eczema, chiefly on the scalp, face, ears and neck and on one limb. I was for several months under professional treatment, but the remedies prescribed were of no avail and I was gradually becoming worse, my face was dreadfully disfigured and I lost nearly all my hair. At last, my wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies and I gave them a thorough trial with the most satisfactory results. The disease soon began to disappear and my hair commenced to grow again. A fresh growth of hair is covering my head and my limb (although not yet quite cured) is greatly improving. My wife thinks so highly of your remedies that she has been purchasing them in order to make presents to other persons suffering from similar complaints, and, as President of the Bible Women's Society, has told the Bible women to report if any case should come under her notice when a poor person is so afflicted, so that your remedies may be resorted to."

TIRES OF LIFE WITH GRANNIS

Wife of Manufacturer Sues for Divorce for Cruelty.

James G. Grannis, manager and principal stockholder of James G. Grannis & Co's. machine works at 865 Mission street, is the defendant in a suit for divorce filed yesterday by Amelia E. Grannis. The suit is brought on the ground of cruelty, and Mrs. Grannis asks for the custody of the three children born to them since their marriage in March, 1894, and half of his property, which she claims has been accumulated since their marriage and is worth $80,000.

The married life of the couple, according to the complaint has been anything but a happy one. She charges that shortly after the birth of their second child her husband began treating her coldly. She alleges that he refused to allow her to manage her household affairs or to have a voice in the management of the children, and installed in their home V. E. Grannis, a relative, and his wife, and allowed them to run things to suit themselves. Mrs. Grannis alleges that she protested against the presence of the strangers and their interference, but received no redress, and because she continued objecting, she was finally sent to a private sanitarium at San Mateo. She was confined there, she alleges, until January 5 of this year, when she returned, she alleges, to find the same condition of affairs existing. She again protested, she alleges, and was promptly returned to the sanitarium. She was kept there until her protests against her confinement came to the notice of the Pacific Home and Society, which took her case into the Superior Court of San Mateo County. She petitioned for her release on a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted by Judge Luck.

She returned to this city, she alleges, and thereafter met with the coldest kind of treatment from her husband, and, she says, it continued until April 30, when he left home and has not since returned. She charges also that Grannis has not clothed her decently during the last two years.

The case has been assigned to Judge Sloss for trial.

"I was a good spirit and jokingly said as she stepped into the elevator: 'Well, here goes the queen of swindlers.'"
