

FLAMES ENWRAP LITTLE CHILD

Clara Fadden May Die From Effects of Burns.

Brother Scorches Hands in an Attempt to Save His Sister.

Clara Fadden, but four years of age, lies at her home, 705 Kansas street, in a dying condition from the effects of burns received yesterday.

With her younger sister, little Clara had spent the day playing in a vacant lot opposite their home. With the intention of building a fire, she struck a match and set the dry grass ablaze. Fanned by the breeze, the flames sprang up suddenly and ignited Clara's clothing. With screams of terror and pain, she ran from the scene in a desperate effort to reach her home.

Without waiting for the arrival of the doctor, and wishing to notify his father of the accident, Fadden ran to the office of the Union Iron Works, where his father is employed, a distance of more than a mile. On reaching the iron works Fadden breathlessly stated that his home was on fire and that his two little sisters were burning to death. Then he sank to the floor, unconscious.

Sergeant Lewis of the Potrero station was immediately notified, and on arriving at the iron works discovered that both of Fadden's hands were badly burned. Fadden was removed to the Central Emergency Hospital in the patrol wagon and Sergeant Lewis proceeded to the Fadden home, where he found the doctor in charge and the child in a dying condition.

Dr. Smith says the little one probably will die.

Jumped His Board Bill.

Samuel Nichols, proprietor of the Argyle Hotel, 234 McAllister street, secured a warrant for Police Judge Mogan yesterday for the arrest of F. C. Smith on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper. Smith came from New York and gave out that he was well connected in that city. He dressed well and spent his money along the "cocktail route." He left the hotel on May 7, but as his trunks remained in his room it was thought he would return and settle his bill. He did not return and when the trunks were opened nothing was found inside except bricks and cobble stones.

NICE QUESTION OF LAW IN A CHINESE CASE

Attorney Worley Attacks Jurisdiction of the Local United States Immigrant Bureau.

Alfred Worley, on behalf of Wong Jun, has filed an appeal to the National Immigration Commissioner from the action of United States Immigrant Commissioner North in debarbing his client from entering the United States. Wong Jun is conceded to be the minor son of a merchant domiciled in this country and as such entitled to admission. The immigration officials interposed and finding Wong suffering from a contagious disease, refused to allow him to land. Mr. Worley contends that the person of Wong is outside the jurisdiction of the immigration officials and that the Chinese bureau alone has jurisdiction under the terms of the exclusion act; that the exclusion act has nothing to say on the subject of contagious diseases, and that therefore the action of the local immigration officials is unwarranted and a deprivation of the rights of his client.

Too Great a Strain.

"Speaking of names," he said, "some one told me that Shadrach was a good name for a fisherman, but I don't know if he was Earnest in his remarks. He'd Rhoda good many Miles and was Justin from the country. To be Frank, he looked like a Guy. Said he came to a river and had to Bridget."

The other looked at him wearily, but rallied and came back with these few remarks: "Reminds me of a girl I met last Eve who knew Isabel specially. She told me she was an acquired taste—her name is Olive. I Owen I was a little startled and left the Dora-Jar when I went out, but I had Providence and endured all with Christian Patience. If I had been Abe and well I'd have done so and Rosa-gain only when she promised Mercy. But mark me—"

"Nay; Marcus both." Here the strain proved too great and they parted in silence—Brooklyn Eagle.

Governor Bailey's Good Rule.

Governor Bailey of Kansas takes the stand that as a rule one ought not to aspire to office until he has made some headway in the world's material prosperity and has something laid away for a rainy day. He points to the impossibility of one's saving money when holding office and pictures the hardships that fall upon a multitude who must inevitably yield their places in the public service to somebody else—Exchange.

HOURS FLY FAST AT GLEN ELLEN

Sacred Heart Parish Enjoys Sunshine of the Sylvan Spot.

Annual Picnic Is Attended by Happy Throng of Holiday Makers.

The long excursion train, homeward bound, pulled out from Glen Ellen all too soon yesterday afternoon for the throng of jolly picnickers from Sacred Heart parish who had been romping away the happy hours of a sunny day in the groves and meadows of Sonoma County. When at last the special boat from Tiburon landed at the ferry slip, it was a tired but happy crowd of city folk that faced the lights of the metropolis.

Fully eight hundred members of Sacred Heart parish and their friends assembled at the ferry building yesterday morning to catch the 9 o'clock boat which was to convey them to their special train in waiting at Tiburon. Once seated in the cars, the run to Glen Ellen was quickly made and by noontime the buses in waiting had conveyed the eager crowd to the picnic grounds and pavilion half a mile from the town. Luncheon was spread and eaten with an appetite which gained zest from the brisk breeze, fresh from the orchards and meadows.

After the repeat games were in order. On the athletic track races and feats of strength and agility were indulged in. The romping games of children became the pastime of their elders on the smooth rolling turf of the meadow. In the pavilion Foley's band kept nimble feet tripping until far into the afternoon. The boys of the parish started a baseball game with a team from San Rafael High School. The warning whistle of the returning train called halt when the score was 10 to 7 in favor of the high school boys.

Rev. Father Hugh Lagan, the priest of the parish, was the genius of the day. Encouraging the sports of the merry-makers by indulging in them himself, he kept the fun at fast and furious gallop until the hour for returning drew nigh. Sharing with him the duty of master of ceremonies were Fathers Byrne, Fleming, Walsh, Comerford, Egan and Brothers Xenophon, Matthew and Euphrasius of the Sacred Heart School.

Confide in a Woman

Women may write about their ills to Mrs. Pinkham, and avoid the questioning of a male physician. They can tell their story without reservation to her; she never breaks a confidence, and her advice is the best in the world.

The questions asked of a woman by a male physician are embarrassing, and often revolting to a sensitive nature. In consequence the whole truth is not told; this makes it difficult for female troubles to be successfully treated even by the best physicians, and is the reason so many women grow worse rather than better. A woman understands a woman better than a man, — there are symptoms which sick women have that a man cannot understand, simply because he is a man, but the whole truth may be told to Mrs. Pinkham, and her vast experience enables her to give advice which leads to a cure.

All women who suffer should secure Mrs. Pinkham's advice; it costs nothing but a letter addressed to her at Lynn, Mass. Female troubles are real troubles, and must be treated understandingly. For a quarter of a century Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have been helping women to get strong and well, and her great file of letters prove that more than a million women have been restored to health and strength by her advice and her medicine when all other means have failed.

When you go to a druggist for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, do not let him persuade you to try something which he says is just as good; there is nothing just as good, because Mrs. Pinkham's medicine holds the record for the largest number of cures of any female medicine in the world.
