

REPUBLICAN TICKETS WILL BE LARGE

More Than 25,000 Ballots Will Probably Be Deposited.

Republicans Are Manifesting Great Interest in the Election.

A vast deal of quiet work has been done by the several political parties and factions toward awakening interest in the primary election to-morrow. The campaign has not been distinguished by mass-meetings and street demonstrations, but circulars by the hundred thousand have been mailed to voters. The demand on the postal authorities for immediate delivery of the campaign literature was so great that the department at Washington came to the relief of the San Francisco postoffice by authorizing the temporary employment of twenty-four extra men.

Estimates of the number of votes that will be cast to-morrow vary in a wide degree. Active workers of the United Republican League calculate that 10,000 Republican ballots will be cast. It is estimated that the total vote of the three parties—Republican, Democratic and Union Labor—will exceed 25,000. It is probable that 1000 Republicans will participate in the Fortieth District battle, where the political forces under the leadership of Jesse Marks are expected to give the Republican League one of the hardest fights of the day.

PROTEST AGAINST MARKS.

The aggressive attitude of Marks has caused the issue of the following protest from active members of the United Republican League of the Fortieth District:

Mr. Jesse Marks, the proprietor of the Yosemite saloon, who for fifteen years has claimed the Fortieth Assembly District as his personal fief, has seen fit to attempt to hold the district by a personal attack upon those who are interested in clean politics and who are adverse to delivering the district to Dan Burns and Martin Kelly.

If you want Martin Kelly and Dan Burns to name your next Mayor and to determine what use shall be made of the moneys realized from bond issues, vote a delegate to Kelly.

If you want an honest and conservative administration of the district, vote a representative of your own party in their effort to rid the district of political pests and brokers by voting the United Republican League ticket, headed by Mr. Henry Ach.

Mr. A. Ruef has nothing to do with the Fortieth District.

Mr. Schmitz is a Labor candidate.

We stand first, last and all the time for Republicanism.

We favor for Mayor such men as Charles W. Black, F. Williams, Henry Crocker, or any other strong, clean, honest Republican.

Pay no attention to the slanders of Marks in his desperate dying effort to own the district and sell it to Dan Burns and Martin Kelly.

Signed: Henry Ach, Joseph Glorioso, William S. Wood, Charles G. Finch, Edmund Tausig, John Henderson, George F. Mero Jr., Ed Cahen, Thomas P. Woodard, J. H. Hayes, Emilie E. Kahn, Abraham Levy, Stephen Edmonds, Charles F. Burns, Saml. Folgerbaum, Thomas Brodie, M. Edward McNair, Maurice L. Asher, Randolph J. Garrison, H. Powers, Martin J. Kelly, H. H. McBurney, B. D. Pike, Charles Suro, C. L. Field, E. Bernstein, D. A. Ryan, J. B. Jesuino, H. Hartley L. Peart, Leon E. Prescott, Alfred K. Durbow, Edgar E. Petokto, Julius Redeker, E. L. Van der Nallen, Gus Harris, H. W. Hon, Sig. Bettman, F. J. Forster, Ed. Sachs, James McNaughton, Sig. Lauster, Ed Kelly, William Gilchrist and 899 other voters.

JUDGE DIBBLE'S COUP.

In the make-up of the Forty-first Assembly District ticket Judge Dibble by an early combination of the Independent Club and the Horace Davis Club outgeneraled the managers of the league. Mike Smith is running a third Republican ticket in the district. The names of C. A. Ardcock and John C. Currier are on all three of the tickets.

A very large vote will be polled in the Forty-second District. Martin Kelly's son-in-law, Howe, leads the opposition to the United Irish League. Martin Kelly is up against the fight of his life to prevent the capture of his own stronghold, the Twenty-eighth Assembly District. J. C. Kirkpatrick, Harbor Commissioner and manager of the Horace Davis Club, is at the head of the United Republican League ticket. The opposition ticket is headed as "anti-boss" and is headed by Boss Martin Kelly himself. Many of the active workers in the district hold easy jobs on the water front.

SCHMITZ AND CASEY.

The battle between the Schmitz and Casey forces for possession of the Union Labor convention is on and will be fought to the finish. In several districts south of Market street the contest may be somewhat exciting. Casey's followers did not turn out in formidable numbers at the Alhambra Theater meeting Saturday night. The Schmitz forces will rally at the Alhambra to-night and agree on plans for to-morrow's battle.

A meeting of the campaign committee of the Union Labor party was held last evening at Stibel's building on O'Farrell street to finally arrange details for the primary election. The gathering was exceedingly large, as the officers of the district clubs and the nominees for delegates to the Union Labor convention from the respective Assembly districts who have assured their support for Mayor Schmitz were in attendance.

While the object of the assembly was limited only to matters incident to the election, more than 600 Union Labor

Gennaro Gottola Fires at Man Who Slapped His Face.

Wild Missile Strikes G. Demartini, a Bystander, on the Leg.

Gennaro Gottola, a barber, living at 413 1/2 Broadway, fired three shots from a revolver at Arnold Waeber in front of 424 Broadway, where Waeber lives, about noon yesterday. One of the bullets traveled around the inside of Waeber's coat and came out at the back, and another struck G. Demartini of 4 1/2 Jasper place, who was standing near, on the right leg, above the knee, inflicting a flesh wound.

Gottola after firing the three shots ran across the street into the barber shop owned by Charles Regusa, 418 Broadway, where he was formerly employed, and escaped through the rear door. In his flight he dropped his hat, and this, say the Italians, was a sign that if any one pursued him beyond the door he would have to return and shoot the pursuer. No one, however, had the presence of mind to chase him and he made his escape.

The shots were heard by Detective McMahon, Corporal Sylvester of the Chinatown squad and two of his men and Corporal Eastman, but when they reached the scene no trace of Gottola could be found. The Central Police station was notified and Demartini was taken to the Harbor Emergency Hospital in the patrol wagon, where his wounded leg was treated.

Detectives McMahon and Reynolds were detailed on the case, and learned from Waeber that he met Gottola at dinner on Wednesday night, at the Giuseppe Smart, proprietor of the lodging-house at 424 Broadway, where Waeber boards. During dinner the conversation turned to fraternal societies, and Gottola asked Waeber if he could read and write. Waeber laughed at him for asking such a question, and after dinner when they went outside Gottola said to Waeber, "What made you laugh at me, you fool?" whereupon Waeber slapped his face.

Gottola went away but returned later and shook hands with Waeber, then took part in a game of cards.

Waeber declared that he had not seen Gottola again till noon yesterday, when Gottola, without saying a word, fired three shots. It is supposed that Gottola brooded over the slap in the face and had fired at Waeber to avenge the insult. The detectives say that Gottola fired a shot at a man not long ago, feeling that he had been insulted.

GALLANT SOLDIER RETURNS FROM SUCCESSIVE TRIUMPHS

Colonel Constant Williams of the Twenty-Sixth Infantry Is Home From the Philippines to Await the Official Close of His Forty-Two Years of Active Service in Army

SOLDIER WHO HAS RETURNED FROM THE PHILIPPINES WITH A SPLENDID RECORD AND WHO WILL SOON RETIRE AFTER FORTY-TWO YEARS OF GALLANT SERVICE IN THE ARMY.

Colonel Constant Williams of the Twenty-sixth United States Infantry, than whom few officers in the army have seen more active service, returned yesterday on the transport Logan from a three years' campaign in the Philippines and is registered at the Occidental Hotel. He has only recently relinquished command of the third district in the department of South Luzon, where, while directing the field operations, he was instrumental in forcing the surrender of the notorious Filipino leader, General Balmorino, and finally compelling the rebellious natives to bow to the authority of the American Government. At the time that he was assigned to this particular command the Philippine Insurrectionists were holding full sway in the provinces of Albay, Camarines Norte and Camarines Sur and whenever the occasion offered itself they were making raids into the neighboring province of Sorsogon.

Colonel Williams and the gallant men of the Twenty-sixth Infantry had been sent to this district to quell these disturbances, the task had been fully accomplished, the natives laying down their arms and surrendering and a peace protocol finally being issued.

Colonel Williams returns from the Philippines to round out the sixty-fourth year of an eventful career, forty-two years and a few months of which he has served as a soldier for his country. His military experiences began as a private in Company B, Thirty-first Pennsylvania Volunteers, on July 23, 1861, two days after the battle of Bull Run, and he was in the midst of much hard fighting up to the end of the war. On June 29, 1862, he received a commission as second lieutenant of the Second United States Infantry, with which, shortly after the war had closed, he was sent to the scene of the Indian troubles in the Northwest, where for nine years he was on duty at Fort Benton and Victoria, in Montana, receiving in the meantime his promotion to a captaincy.

In the battle of Big Hole on August 9, 1877, he was wounded twice. His gallantry on that occasion was later recognized by the War Department and he received a brevet majorship, dating from February 27, 1880. In 1887 he gained the full title of major and in 1889 was advanced to the rank of lieutenant colonel. Prior to this promotion he had been serving with the Seventeenth and the Nineteenth infantries and on receipt of his commission as lieutenant colonel he was left to go with the Twenty-sixth Infantry, of which he was made colonel on February 2, 1891.

The colonel expects to remain here only a few days and then will go to San Antonio, Texas, there to await the order of his retirement. It is thought that the officials at Washington will recognize his brilliant career as a fighter by promoting him to the rank of brigadier general before he leaves the army.

JOHN CATHCART KILLED BY GAS

Accidentally Turns on Fluid When He Goes to Bed.

Popular Young Man Is Found Dead in His Apartment on Pine Street.

John Cathcart, who was one of the best known and most popular young men in the city, was found dead in bed in his room at 829 Pine street yesterday afternoon. The apartment was full of gas. The discovery was made by Miss Hall, the landlady, and she immediately notified the Morgue. Deputy Coroner Brown went to the house, and on satisfying himself that it was a case of accidental death did not remove the body to the Morgue.

Detective Anthony was detailed on the case, and he ascertained that Cathcart awoke about 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and as he had forgotten his keys he rang up the landlady, who opened the door for him. He was in his usual good spirits and went straight to his bedroom. That was the last seen of him alive.

The bracket was the hook of his bed, and by reaching out his hand he could turn the gas or electric lights on or off. It is supposed that by some means he accidentally turned on the gas after turning it off.

Cathcart's mother used to keep the lodging-house at 829 Pine street, but retired recently and is living at 730 Pine street. Detective Anthony informed her of her son's death, and her grief was most intense. He was 30 years of age and unmarried.

"Jack" Cathcart, as he was generally known, was born in Nevada, but came to San Francisco when a baby and has resided here ever since. He was one of the best known entertainers in the city and for ten years past had been taking part in public entertainments, most of them given for charity or to help some organization. He possessed a good voice and was irresistible in the rendition of a comic song.

Almost his last act before his voice was stilled forever was his appearance at the smoker of Halcyon Parlor, N. S. G. W., at Alameda, where he was in company with George Ryan. Together the two young men came to the city and Cathcart started for his home in the highest spirits. Apparently nothing was further from his thoughts than that he was so near to the shadow of eternity.

For several years the deceased acted as Eastern representative of Brandenstein & Co., the tea importers of this city. More recently he was engaged as bookkeeper for the Hercules Gas Engine Company.

What makes his death peculiarly pathetic is the fact that he was engaged to marry an estimable young lady of this city and the ceremony was to have been performed next month.

The deceased was a member of the Olympic Club and of the Corinthian Yacht Club.

FORMER CONGRESSMAN FINERTY IS IN THE CITY

President of the United Irish League Comes From Chicago on a Visit.

Colonel John F. Finerty of Chicago, former Congressman from Illinois and president of the United Irish League of America, arrived in this city yesterday and is registered at the Occidental Hotel. He is making a western tour for pleasure, but it is likely that while in the city he will confer with the local Irish-American leaders on an interest in the political and agrarian questions of Ireland. These problems are now under consideration by the Irish Parliamentary party. Colonel Finerty is well known throughout the country as an orator and an advocate of the cause of the Irish people.

PERSONAL INFLUENCE AS EFFECTIVE POWER

McIvor-Tyndall Deals With the Psychological Subject Before an Audience of Enthusiasts.

A large audience, composed mainly of persons interested in psychology, attended a lecture delivered by Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall at Steinhilber Hall last evening. The speaker took as his subject "The Power of Persuasion and Personal Influence." He said that nothing permanent is ever accomplished by force, and he added that points so gained must be maintained through the same power, until it becomes an ever widening circle of cause and effect. He proceeded to show how the more subtle and gentler art of persuasion, when rightly understood, accomplished almost anything possible of accomplishment. Next Sunday night he will lecture on "The Mastery of Fate."

Knocked Down a Policeman.

G. F. Sullivan, a stevedore living at 224 Fourth street, was discovered asleep on the sidewalk on Mission street, near Third, about 5 o'clock yesterday morning by Policeman McEntee. The officer shook him and told him to get up or some one would steal his watch and chain. Sullivan raised his foot and kicked McEntee on the chest, knocking him feet down. When McEntee regained his feet Sullivan had risen and he came at the officer with both fists. McEntee drew his club and felled Sullivan, who was then taken to the Harbor Hospital to have a wound in his scalp dressed. He was locked up on a charge of battery.
