CALIFORNIAN NAMED AS STATE DIRECTOR

Mrs. C. A. Warren Honored by the Society of Children of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Charles A. Warren of this city has been honored by the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution of Washington, D. C., with the appointment of State director of the society for California. This office bears the same relation to the Society of the Children of the American Revolution as does the State agent to that of the Society of Daughters of the American Revolution.

The society was organized in Washington, D. C., April 5, 1885, and has branches in nearly every State and Territory in the Union, with a membership of upward of 10,000.

In 1885 Mrs. Leland Stanford, Mrs. William Alvord, Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont, Bishop William Ford Nichols, Senator George C. Perkins, Martin Kellogg, L.L.D., Colonel A. S. Hubbard and Colonel J. C. Currier were appointed State promoters for California, and on February 22 following a local society, the Valentine Hotel, was organized at the Occidental Hotel, with Mrs. A. S. Hubbard as president.

The objects of the society are the acquisition of knowledge of American history; to help preserve the places made sacred by the men and women who forwarded American independence; to ascertain the deeds and honor the memories of children and youth who rendered service during the American Revolution; to promote the celebration of all patriotic anniversaries; to hold our American flag sacred above every other flag on earth, and to love, uphold and extend the institutions of the American Republic.

Mrs. Warren, who is the curator of Sequoia Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, feels highly honored at the distinction conferred upon her by the national society, and brings to her new and responsible position patriotic zeal and enthusiasm, which will no doubt result in the formation of several local societies throughout the State.

Mrs. William Ashburner has been appointed one of the State promoters, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. William Alvord.

Draymen Have a Fight.

Robert T. Baker, drayman, 87 Bryant street, secured a warrant for the arrest of Felix Quadro and Richard Green, two of his teamsters, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He said that they had a dispute on Saturday and Quadro and Green attacked him with a pair of scissars and an iron bar. They were arrested and each released on $25 cash bail. They said that Baker was the aggressor, and Quadro complained that Baker had bitten him on the nose.

EXPERTS GIVE THEIR VIEWS

Testify in the Dillard Trial Regarding Signatures.

An interesting lecture on the subject of handwriting, as exhibiting the individuality of the writer and the modes by which a forged signature may be distinguished from a genuine one, was delivered yesterday forenoon in the United States District Court, with Carl Eischenchimmel as lecturer, Samuel M. Shortridge as teacher, United States District Attorney Marshall B. Woodworth as backer, United States District Judge de Haven as peace-maker, a jury of twelve as referee and William H. Dillard in the background as the prisoner at the bar, accused of forging the signature of Internal Revenue Collector John C. Lynch to fraudulent Chinese certificates of registration.

Expert Eischenchimmel had testified on the preceding day of the trial that the signatures of Collector Lynch on fourteen of the fraudulent certificates were forged. Mr. Shortridge, on cross-examination, attempted to break the force of the testimony by impugning Eischenchimmel's motives, as well as attacking his competency. The expert, however, was calm in his replies as well as positive, and took pains to impress the jury with the fact that he had made up his mind after careful examination before giving his testimony, and that on the subject of which he had spoken he was as infatigable as the Delphian Oracle. Notwithstanding that the witness appeared to be of a nervous, excitable temperament, he avoided the trap set for him by the counsel and kept well on his feet during the whole time of the session. Mr. Shortridge asked him whether he did not testify always in favor of the side that employed him, and the reply was given that such was not the fact, that he had often given an opinion adverse to the hopes of the persons who had called him in and thereby lost the opportunity of employment at a good fee.

CHANGE OF OPINION.

"Have you not sometimes on further examination changed your opinion as to the genuineness of a signature?" questioned the lawyer.

"Never, sir," was the emphatic answer of the expert, "because my opinion is based upon careful investigation and therefore cannot be changed."

Then the lawyer proceeded to attack the truthfulness of the enlarged photo-

MRS. HAWKES GETS DIVORCE AND CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

She Waives All Claims for Alimony Upon the Payment of $1000.

Yesterday Alice C. Hawkes was granted a divorce from E. Hawkes for desertion by Judge Kerrigan. She was also awarded the custody of their two children. She accepted $1000 cash in lieu of monthly alimony. Divorces were granted to Lillie Westphal from Ernest H. A. Westphal for infidelity and Richard Chenoweth from Elizabeth Chenoweth for desertion.

Suits for divorce for desertion were filed yesterday by Thomas S. Williams against Ellen E. Williams, Mary Stevenson against George T. Stevenson and Mamie S. Kafour against Abraham Kafour. In the latter case the wife failed to produce a copy of the divorce decree. Suits for divorce for desertion were filed yesterday by Thomas S. Williams against Ellen E. Williams, Mary Stevenson against George T. Stevenson and Mamie S. Kafour against Abraham Kafour. In the latter case the wife failed to produce a copy of the divorce decree.

Drawing Teacher Wanted.

A United States civil service examination is announced for August 28 and 29 to secure eligibles to fill a vacancy in the position of drawing teacher at the Carlisle School at $70 per annum. Age limit, 20 years or over. Apply to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or to the secretary of the Consolidated Board of Civil Service Examiners, 391 Jackson street, for application form 1312.

graphs of Mr. Lynch's signature, both genuine and forged, and tried to make the witness admit that they might have been taken at an angle and therefore failed to reproduce truthfully the minor characteristics of the writing. The expert, however, explained that the sheet of paper containing the signature and the plate of the photographic camera were on parallel vertical planes and that the enlarged reproductions were exact copies of the original without distortion or exaggeration of any kind.

Mr. Shortridge asked whether what a man wrote in the morning would not exhibit some difference when compared with the same matter written in the evening; whether there would not be considerable difference in a man's signature on the morning after he had attended a late banquet and on the morning after having gone to bed sober and early on the evening of the preceding day. The expert replied, to make a stronger illustration of his idea, that if a man made his signature while seaisick or riding on horseback or in any other awkward position the individual peculiarities of his writing would be exhibited all the more strongly; that in fact the more awkward or constrained the position the more salient would be those characteristics. He added that business men never change their handwriting, unless designedly and for the purpose of disguising it.

THE MARTIN CASE.

Mr. Shortridge then put a hypothetical

TO INVESTIGATE WATER SUPPLY

Board of Works to Scan Offer of Bay Cities Company.

Third Street Widening to Be Completed Within Ninety Days.

The Supervisors' Public Utilities Committee yesterday referred to the Board of Public Works the communication from the Bay Cities Water Company. The letter calls attention to the company's extensive water sheds and adequate and desirable reservoir sites and water supply centralizing in Santa Clara County within sixty miles of San Francisco and inviting an examination of its water facilities. The board named is requested to investigate and report upon the availability of the source mentioned for the purpose of furnishing the city with sufficient supply of pure drinking water.

The Barber Asphalt Company was granted an extension of ninety days from August 18, 1903, within which to complete its contract for repaving Third street between Mission and Berry. The extension is granted because there have been numerous delays in the prosecution of the work due to the reconstruction of the railroad tracks and the re-erecting of poles, conduits and gas mains, matters over which the contractor has no control. The Pacific States Telephone Company and other corporations were directed to remove and reset such poles, conduits or gas mains that interfere with the work of repaving Third street.

The Board of Works was directed to set aside out of its "county road fund" the sum of $500 for the repaving of that portion of Buena Vista street between Buena Vista Park provided the property-owners of the other half contribute an equal amount.

The following ordinances were passed to print:

Ordering the construction of a sewer in Fine street between Mason and Taylor.

Granting permission to the Sanitary Reduction Works to lay a spur track on Rhode street and Chestnut street and on certain streets on Parkman Heights.

Changing and establishing grades on Polk street and Chestnut street and on certain streets on Parkman Heights.

The Health Board submitted a progressive report of the work done in Chinatown, showing that forty-nine structures were condemned and destroyed, 106 plumbing nuisances were actually abated and thirty-five buildings were vacated until renovated and repaired.

Navlet Seeks Change of Venue.

Charles C. Navlet, the San Jose florist, who is defendant in a suit to recover property filed in the Superior Court here by his wife, Marie A. J. Navlet, demanded change of venue yesterday. He wants the case heard in the Superior Court of Santa Clara County.

JUDGE DE HAVEN OBJECTS.

Judge de Haven refused to allow the expert to "testify" that the handwriting of the signatures of John C. Lynch was manufactured and full of artificiality. The expert stood before the blackboard and lectured like a college professor. He was vehement in his statement that Lynch's signature had been forged and attempted to prove it by illustrations. The jury was greatly amused at Eischenchimmel's earnestness. The expert grew irritable when interrupted in his analysis and Shortridge had to appear to the court in order to take a hand. Eischenchimmel was in his element before the blackboard and he made the most of his opportunity.

"Do you know David Carvalho and Professor Ames, the eminent handwriting experts?" asked Shortridge.

"Yes, sir," replied Eischenchimmel.

"Did they testify against you in the Davidson case?"

The court interfered again, and Shortridge took an exception. In order to have his exceptions noted in the record Shortridge asked:

"Do you know Professor Max Gump?"

"Very slightly," was the reply.

"Is he an expert?"

"No, sir; he's a fraud."

OFFER FROM BOTH SIDES.

This unexpected reply surprised Shortridge and caused the jury to smile. Eischenchimmel was allowed to depart, and the witness called by the United States District Attorney.

Attorney Woodworth asked Kytka about various exhibits handed him, and the witness said he had examined them and was of the opinion they were forgeries. Counsel for the Government turned Kytka over to Shortridge and the latter asked four or five preliminary questions when Woodworth interrupted and asked leave to put a question to the expert.

"Didn't Mr. Shortridge try to employ you to 'testify'?" asked Woodworth.

"Yes, sir," replied Kytka.

Shortridge expressed gratification that the question was asked the witness, as it gave him an unlooked for opportunity to show a few facts. He proved by Kytka's own lips that the expert would have acted as expert for the defendant had Shortridge been able to pay him a retaining fee of $50. Kytka said he was ready and willing to accept the employment, but had received an offer from the Government and had accepted.

Kytka testified it took him two days to discover that the signatures were forgeries.

An adjournment was taken until this morning at 10 o'clock, when Kytka will be further cross-examined.

SPECIAL PERMITS ARE NOT LEGAL

Lane Says Only General Ordinances Are Applicable.

Notice Given of Bond Election for the Geary-Street Road Acquisition.

City Attorney Lane advised the Board of Public Works yesterday that it alone, and not the Board of Supervisors, has charge of building construction, subject, however, to the ordinances of the last named board. The opinion grows out of the fact that the Supervisors repeatedly have granted permission by resolution to individuals to construct, alter or repair buildings in a manner which is by the general ordinances prohibited. Lane refers to a former opinion of his on the subject, which says:

There is no power in the Board of Supervisors to make laws denying a privilege to the people at large and granting to one or more individuals the right to disobey the general law. It is within the power of the board to amend the law or to make a special ordinance, but such amendment must be made applicable to all and subject to the same conditions. Instead of proceeding upon the assumption that the Board of Supervisors intends to go beyond its legal authority, it is suggested that the board should see to the enacting of such legislation as would obviate any conflict and clear up authority.

The following ordinances were finally passed:

Imposing a license of $100 per day on every owner or lessee of a circus.

Accepting the tender of Charles L. Patton to sell to the city for $1000 land for the opening of East Park street and Richmond avenue, easterly to Anderson avenue.

Authorizing an expenditure of $976.75 to be paid to the Hassell Audit Company for expert books of the County Clerk.

Granting the Jackson Brewery and The Old People's Home permits to erect oil storage tanks.

An ordinance giving public notice of the call for a special election on October 8, 1903, when the proposed bond issue of $1,000,000 for the acquisition of the Geary-street road will be voted on by the people was passed to print.
