His Witnesses Allege Walsh Threatened to "Break" Him.

Policeman Chapin Resigns Rather Than Undergo a Trial.

The meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held last night at the Hall of Justice was an interesting one. A police officer, rather than have disgraced himself in the presence and wrote out his resignation and the trial of Sergeant R. A. Wolf, charged with taking money from a saloon-keeper on his beat, developed many interesting features.

WRITES RESIGNATION.

After the case had been called Attorney Son, representing Miss Solomon, asked that the charges be withdrawn, the officer having made arrangements to repay the money. The commission objected to this procedure and ordered a hearing of the case. There was much argument, but the commission remained firm and insisted upon a trial, that the conduct of the officer might be determined. When this decision became positive, Chapin turned, seated himself at the secretary's desk and wrote out his resignation. A vote was taken and it was accepted.

WALSH IS ACCUSED.

Among the witnesses on reputation were James Swain, a metal worker; John P. Johnson, a cabinet-maker; John C. Hodges, a laborer; H. V. Osgood, a salesman; and William Hill, a waiter. There were several more who did not obey subpoenas and they will be arrested and brought before the commission at its meeting on Monday afternoon. Henry T. McGuerren, Louis Holtz and Dan Crowley are claimed to have been present in Crowley's saloon when the money was taken. A nominal partner of Simpson's, stated that he did not know of any money having been paid to the officer. This was in contradiction of Nell's statement at the previous meeting when he was sworn to by the bartender. The reputation of James Baird, Charles Norman, H. Geison and M. B. Reed.

Charles Zinkand was the first of about fifty saloon-keepers in Wolf's section who had been called for the purpose of proving that the sergeant had not received more than the legal amount. The man who engaged in the liquor business. When Zinkand had finished the commission dismissed the other witnesses, saying that it would be admitted that their testimony would be similar to that just given.

ANGERED AT WOLFE.

Policeman James J. McEntee testified to a conversation with Wolfe which led to the latter accused Wolf of having brought him before the commissioners caused information to be conveyed to his wife that made her trouble for him at home. Policeman P. J. Foley gave similar testimony and Policeman Tom Kavanaugh was put on the stand. Kavanaugh stated that while standing in company with Walsh and several other policemen at Fourth and Clara streets on the morning after Walsh's degrading testimony against the sergeant, he was asked by Walsh to go to this Walsh residence. "Well, he tried to break me once and now I will break him if I can."

SIMPSON'S CHARACTER.

"If that be so, gentlemen, I would ask that the commission take some steps to produce correspondence in relation to the character of Simpson, which has passed

Special Dispatch to The Call. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Clad only in his nightgown, S. L. Deter gave battle to two burglars, whom he saw break into his store, opposite the State Normal School, to-night, fired several shots at them and half an hour later one of the thieves was caught and confessed. Deter had retired and his wife from her window in the house adjoining the store saw two men breaking open the rear door. She called her husband and handed him his revolver. Without waiting to dress, he crept to the store and entered through the door that the burglars looked open. In front of the store was a foot-locked, but he did not notice the approach of the thimble clad man. When the proprietor entered the store he found the burglars in the act of rifling the cash register and at sight of him they leaped through the front shop window to the street and fled. Deter pursued them, firing as he ran, and calling for help. Edgerly called Appel took up the chase and all began shooting at the fleeing thieves. The shots aroused the neighborhood and men appeared with revolvers, rifles and shotguns and joined in the search. For a minute the burglars stopped, but a hat dropped by one of them was found. Half an hour later a citizen reported to the officers that he had seen a hatless man run up the rear staircase to a fashionable flat, a well-dressed young man, 25 years of age, lying in a dark corner pretending to be asleep. He was hatless and his hands were badly cut by glass, slivers of which adhered to his clothing. He was immediately taken to the station and taken back to the store, where he was positively identified. Later at police headquarters, he confessed, but declined to give any information as to the whereabouts of the burglars, about himself except to say that he has been in Los Angeles two years and is a photographer by occupation. The detectives believe he is a professional burglar. One of the bullets fired by Deter passed through the burglars' coat.

GENERAL YOUNG SETTLES ON FORCE FOR PHILIPPINES

Decides to Retain Four Regiments of Cavalry and Nine of Infantry for the Islands. WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Some time ago General Davis, commanding the Division of the Philippines, recommended a reduction of the garrisons in those islands and the Secretary of War authorized the chief of staff to determine what reduction should be made. General Young has decided that the garrisons in the Philippines for the present should remain at four regiments of cavalry and nine of infantry. When the arrangement for five regiments of infantry and ten of cavalry was made it was decided that one-third of the infantry and cavalry would at all times be sufficient in the Philippines and two-thirds in the United States. When the orders were being prepared for the recent change, however, it was necessary to pass over the Eighth Infantry because half of the regiment was in Alaska. Accommodations for only nine regiments of infantry in the Philippines it will enable the department to make the exchanges without interfering with the Alaska service and possibly the Porto Rican service, and in addition there are extra regiments which are available for any emergency without breaking down the plan. It is not probable that any further reduction of the garrison in the Philippines will be made until the barracks accommodations can be provided in the United States.

A. d'Ancona, professor of hygiene at the University of California and just re-elected Senator in San Francisco on the Democratic ticket, advises university men to get into politics and make them clean. When he entered his class to-day, for the first time after the election, he gave the students some advice, saying in part: The public service is corrupted by wirepulling, professional politicians, in whom selfishness and favoritism dominate. It is time for the better classes and better educated to take an active part in government. Particularly should university men, and especially those of the University of California, take a greater interest in the public weal. For they are enabled then to carry on their studies through public munificence and certainly not to the public detriment. For they are business and professional men will not do so, particularly when the reward for silence, service and all hazards, even to the extent of calling out the militia of the State.

Mrs. Maud Richardson Tells of Locking Maunder in a Closet. Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1118 Broadway, Nov. 5. Mrs. Maud Richardson, wife of Professor Richardson of the University of California, told a judge and jury to-day how she helped her husband make a prisoner of a midnight burglar discovered in their home. While small of stature, she testified that she held a closet door and that when they succeeded in closing it upon the burglar, she turned the key in the lock and then telephoned for the police. On the witness stand this morning, Mrs. Richardson identified the prisoner as Charles T. Gaylor, who was taken from the closet by the police and in relating how he was captured said: We were awakened about 3 o'clock in the morning by hearing some one moving about in our house. My husband and I got up and went downstairs, but did not find any one. A window, however, was wide open and I remembered shutting before retired. I supposed we must have heard the man as he left. We went up to our room again. About 11 o'clock I thought of the silverware and wanted to go back and gather it up, and my husband went with me. In our bedroom there is a closet that we did not look into in our search. While I was taking the silver out of the closet, my husband opened the door, the closet and looked in. His exclamation made me look up, and there was a man standing in the closet. I jumped and closed the door, and I leaned against it while my husband turned the key. The burglar fled. At the police station at Berkeley, the captured man gave the name of Charles T. Gaylor. He is making the defense that he had been drinking and got into the house by mistake. Several attorneys have been summoned to testify that such a thing is within the range of possibility and cases such as this have been known to occur. Gaylor had been employed in Berkeley as a janitor, and he claims that he has always worked honestly for a living and has a good record. The jury failed to agree after four hours' deliberation and was discharged.

GLASSPANSAN CAUSED BREKERS BELLIGERENT ENGINEER IS ARRESTED BY FORMER WIFE'S FRIENDS.

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1118 Broadway, Nov. 5. Persistent pursuit of his former wife, Mrs. Jennie White Johnson, and frequent threats to do bodily harm to her friends, Walter M. Bird, president of the Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union, and Mrs. Bird, has led to the arrest and detention of Edward Johnson, a civil engineer, for examination by the Commissioners of Lunacy. Johnson was sent to the Receiving Hospital this afternoon by the police, a complaint alleging insanity having been sworn to by the engineer's divorced wife. President Bird caused Johnson's arrest last night, claiming that Johnson had followed him from the Receiving Hospital to the Bird residence at 1017 Madison street and had threatened to kill him. The engineer had repeatedly, it was claimed, declared he had intended to kill the Birds, believing they were responsible for the former Mrs. Johnson's refusal to remarry her belligerent ex-spouse. The Johnsons were divorced some time ago and Mrs. Johnson resumed her maiden name of Miss S. J. White. Mrs. Bird had an intention to marry Miss White before her marriage and after the separation the divorced wife was a frequent visitor at the Bird residence. "Johnson was very anxious to remarry his former wife, and he was anxious to do so," said the Bird residence, "and he made her life miserable by pursuing her. One week ago, while Miss White and Mrs. Bird were walking downtown, Johnson accosted them in such a threatening way that they ran into a restaurant and called a policeman, who escorted them home. I was compelled to cause Johnson's arrest because I believed he would carry out his frequent threats to kill us." Bird applied this morning to Prosecutors Attorney A. P. Leach for a complaint against Johnson. The court officer advised that no criminal charge be placed against the engineer until an examination as to his mental condition could be held. It appeared to Attorney Leach that Johnson's actions were those of a man who might be mentally unbalanced. Leach's advice was taken.

Southern Pacific Company Said to Be Planning Car Shops.

Standard Oil Company Buys More Land for Its Storage Tanks.

POINT RICHMOND, Nov. 5.—A well-defined rumor has gained currency here in harmony with the general improvement of the Harriman lines from Ogden to the coast, the Sacramento shops are to be moved to Point Richmond. The story goes that only a suitable plant is to be left at Sacramento to care the repairing on locomotives for the mountain divisions, and that all the car repairing and manufacturing is to be transferred to Point Richmond. The Southern Pacific Company recently acquired the rights in water front land here, immediately north of the Standard Oil Company's property, and it is said it also has an option on a large body of adjacent land east of this tract. The Pacific Coast Oil Company has bought a tract of 250 acres, five miles northeast of the big refinery. The deeds come from Adolph Klose and others near Socrates station on the Southern Pacific Railroad. It is understood that representatives of the company here at this time are to be covered with storage tanks. The tract lies along the big pipe line from Bakersfield and has an elevation of 200 feet or more above the refinery. From the storage tanks the oil would flow down to the refinery by gravitation. The pipe line having proven a success it is found that the company, notwithstanding its immense tanks here, is still far short of the capacity to accommodate the output of the pipe line.
