Watch for the FULL PAGE of Clever Puzzle Workers in the Next Sunday Call.

CHILDREN, Children, CHILDREN, ATTENTION, EVERYBODY. There are three things of importance that the Puzzle Editor wants to call your attention to this week. First and foremost is the question, Why did so very many of you miss the Alphabet puzzle last week? Surely you all know your A. B. C's. Isn't that the very first thing you learn when you go to school? Then why is it that less, far less, than one hundred and fifty of you got them right? It is amazing. Why, the Puzzle Editor was sure that not a single child among you all could possibly miss any of those puzzles. And yet nearly all of you were wrong. You must not think that these puzzles are too easy, for if you do you will be careless, and carelessness loses prizes every time.

The second thing should be an inspiration to you all. Just look at the four pictures at the top of this page. They are the portraits of four little children, all from the same family, and all of them prize winners. Aren't they perfectly wonderful? Now is YOUR chance. Don't waste it.

The third thing is that the next Sunday Call will contain a full page of clever puzzle workers. Are you among them? You can't tell until you look, so keep your eyes wide open.

And here is another thing that the Puzzle Editor wants to speak of. Please don't send in any type pictures or proofs that are untuned—which means that they will fade as soon as they are exposed to the sun, and don't forget to write your name and address on the back of each and every photograph. And by all means be sure that you are a prize winner before you send in any picture at all.

Now remember this: You will all have a chance not only to win one of those 150 prizes, but get your picture published as well. The Puzzle Editor wants all the prize winners from now on to send in their pictures—the whole 150 every week if possible. Begin right now. Don't wait. The more the merrier. There can't be too many. But remember only the prize winners can have their pictures published.

Each of the Nine Pictures in this, the seventh contest of the Sixth Series, represents a Weather Forecast. Can you guess? Ah! There is a rich reward for you if you can.

And now listen carefully: THERE ARE ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY PRIZES, and this is what you must do to win one of them:

Find the names of Nine Different Weather Forecasts represented by the Small Puzzle Pictures on this page and write them out in the space opposite the proper corresponding number provided for the purpose in the coupon on this page, as per directions: fill in the coupon with your name and address and the prize you desire—if you win—and send the picture, with the coupon attached, to the EDITOR OF THE NAME PUZZLE PAGE, Sunday Call, San Francisco, Cal.

REMEMBER—To the FIRST ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY BOYS AND GIRLS who solve the Nine Name Puzzles correctly, one of these ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY BEAUTIFUL PRIZES will be awarded.

And don't forget this next point, because it is very important: ALL ANSWERS MUST REACH THIS OFFICE BY FIFTEEN NOON. This gives all those in the country an equal chance to compete. Read everything on this page, to be sure that you overlook nothing that will help you to win a prize.

THE NAMES OF THE LUCKY WINNERS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE SUNDAY CALL TWO WEEKS FROM TO-DAY, February 7.

These are the TWENTY BEAUTIFUL BOOKS from which you may choose if you solve all the puzzles correctly: Lady of the Lake, by Scott; Light That Failed, by Kipling; Little Lame Prince, by Mulock; The Magic Nuts, by Molesworth; The Master of Ballantrae, by Stevenson; Mosses From an Old Manse, by Hawthorne; Malvany Stories, by Kipling; Paradise Lost, by Milton; The Pilgrim's Progress, by Bunyan; Plain Tales From the Hills, by Kipling; Prince of the House of David, by Ingelhart; Rab and His Friends, by Brown; Samaniba at Saratoga, by Holley; The Sketch Book, by Irving; The Snow Image, by Hawthorne; Tales From Shakespeare, by Lamb; Tom Brown's School Days, by Hughes; Treasure Island, by Stevenson; Twice Told Tales, by Hawthorne, and Uncle Tom's Cabin, by Stowe.
