

COURT HOLDS LEON SOEDER

Alleged Murderer of Joseph Blaise Must Undergo Trial in the Superior Tribunal

BAIL IS DENIED HIM

Last Day of Preliminary Hearing Is Taken Up by Defense With Irrelevant Testimony

The preliminary hearing of the Soeder murder case in the Police Court was completed yesterday, and Soeder was remanded into the custody of the Sheriff without bail to be held for trial before the Superior Court on the charge of murdering his brother-in-law, Joseph Blaise, on the night of January 19, in order that he might be benefited pecuniarily by his demise.

Attorney Salomon for the defendant placed some unimportant witnesses on the stand yesterday.

The police are still working on the case, for they realize that although the accused man has been bound over for trial in the Superior Court they will have difficulty in convicting him before a jury with the evidence now at hand, much of which is irrelevant.

Blaise's wife and relatives in Germany have been cabled to, and the detectives on the case expect to gain some important evidence from that quarter. The case has been long-drawn-out, many unimportant witnesses having been called.

TWO DOCTORS BLAMED FOR EVA MARTIN'S DEATH

Jury Censures Dr. Boughton for Neglect and Mrs. Dr. Allen for Criminal Operation.

A vote of censure was passed yesterday by a coroner's jury in the case of Eva Martin, a servant girl, who died recently from the effects of a criminal operation. A lady friend of the deceased testified that she visited Mrs. Martin when she was sick and that the patient told her she was being treated by Mrs. Dr. Allen of 1118 Market street. This was in a room at 1426 Market street was subsequently called in and in consultation with Dr. Rigidon they decided to send the patient to the City and County Hospital. The following is the verdict:

"We, the undersigned jury do find that the said Eva Martin came to her death in the City and County Hospital, San Francisco, on January 24, 1904, through a criminal operation performed by a woman known as Mrs. Dr. Allen, and we also find that her death was hastened by the gross neglect of the attending physician, Dr. Boughton.

REAL ESTATE DEALER PLACED UNDER ARREST

Oscar Lewis Is Accused by W. H. Bassett of the Crime of Felony Embezzlement.

Oscar Lewis, who conducted a real estate business at 18 Montgomery street under the name of "The Commercial Exchange," was arrested yesterday by Detective Braig on a warrant from Police Judge Mogan's court charging him with felony embezzlement.

The complaining witness is W. H. Bassett, who alleges that on December 18 he secured employment from Lewis to solicit orders for real estate at a salary of $12 per week, but Lewis made him deposit $100 as a guarantee of good faith. Bassett was discharged after four weeks, and when he demanded the return of the $100 Lewis refused to refund.

The police say that other complaints against Lewis were received from young men who had made deposits in the same way and had not been able to get them back. One of the young men is B. R. Robertson, who says he is out $200.

Says Agent Deceived Him.

Ferdinand Franz, owner of 2880 shares of stock in the Non-Refillable Bottle Company, filed a suit yesterday to annul an agreement he made with Max Axelrod to employ him to sell the stock. He claims that Axelrod deceived him by representing that he had a purchaser for the stock who would buy it only on the condition that his name was kept a secret. Franz claims he turned the stock over to Axelrod on payment of $50 and then he learned that the mysterious purchaser was Axelrod himself.

Sues Beguhl for Support.

A suit for maintenance was filed yesterday by Eliza Beguhl against David Beguhl, her husband. She charges that though he earns $90 a month he has not provided for her since October 23, 1902. At that time, she says, he told her he was tired of her, ordered her out of his house in Vallejo, sold the furniture and left her to provide for herself as best she could. They had been married just eighteen days when this occurred.

Paso Robles for Recreation.

The air is invigorating and the sunshine life-giving. Curative mud or hot water baths when you want them. A first-class ticket to Paso Robles, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, either direction, including two days' entertainment at Paso Robles Hotel, only $21. Full name lettered in gold free of charge. Southern Pacific agents for particulars.

Sherwood Files Answer.

An answer to the contest of Frederick Bell of the will of Mary E. ("Mammy") Pleasant was filed yesterday by L. M. Sherwood, the proponent of the last will and testament of the negro. The answer is a specific denial of the charges of undue influence and of the charge that the will offered for probate by Sherwood is not the last will of Mrs. Pleasant.

Trunks by the Carload.

We buy trunks, valises and dress suit cases by the carload. Also receive large shipments of pocketbooks, belts, bill books, card cases, etc. On all fine leather goods, rods and cameras included. Full name lettered in gold free of charge. Sanborn, Vail & Co.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 4.—The miners strike in the Maryland field, where 2000 men went out December 16, is practically over. The mines being in operation with non-union men.

TAX DEMANDS MAY AVERT PENDING WAR IN ORIENT

Japan May Be Called Upon to Deplete Her Store of Gold to Rescue Sakauria from Ruin—Howling Hyena Makes Ferocious Threats in Court

Perhaps the threatening war cloud in the Orient will pass away, as a shadow from a glass, through the intervention of Tax Collector Edward J. Smith. If Japan's attention can be called to the assistance of one of her subjects in this city and if proper interest is taken in his case it will require nearly all the contents of the war chest to square up what is coming to the Tax collector. Without money Japan cannot possibly go to war.

The citizen in trouble is Omasuri Sakauria, and he was before Judge Mogan yesterday. He conducts a place at 435 Dupont street under a permit issued for a phonograph establishment. The police complain that under one license he operates a lifting machine, a muscle tester, two punching machines, a weighing machine, an electric nerve tester, a lung tester, one name printer, two machines for measuring the expansion of the chest, four phonograph machines, thirty-four picture machines, a whistling machine and a machine which takes one's picture while one waits.

Under the ordinance it is claimed that he should be compelled to pay $3 a month for each and every one of the contrivances he maintains for the beguilement of nickels from the pockets of his customers. Space prevents the computation hastily jotted down by Judge Mogan regarding the import of gold into the city treasury that would occur if Sakauria should be enforced to pay license fees for all of the things that are running in his establishment.

The defendant was present in court and wrung his hands. His son also was present as an interpreter and wrung his hands. Bailiff Hickey wrung a towel in the washroom about the same time and a man in the back of the courtroom broke a rung of a chair. The scene was pitiable.

The case was continued until to-day so that the prosecution could secure the testimony of Tax Collector Smith as to the amount of the licenses which Sakauria should be compelled to pay.

George Sterling, the howling hyena, who threw his breakfast into the face of an interviewing reporter, tore up the warrant for his arrest, fought a turnkey, threatened to chew the bars of his cell into iron filings and was finally subdued by a stream of cold water in the jail at San Bernardino, was an interesting figure in Judge Conlan's court yesterday.

He is wanted in this city on charges of robbery and assault with intent to murder. About two months ago he entered the bedroom of Frank Evans on Third street, stuck a revolver barrel in his victim's mouth and robbed him of a watch, a revolver and $20 in cash. When he was arrested by Detective Ed O'Dea he attempted to kill the police officer with a pistol he grabbed from Evans' untutored hand.

In court yesterday he confided to Bailiff Walsh that if he had a couple of guns he would clean out the courtroom and make his escape. The bailiff said, "Pooh! pooh!" with a couple of "Fuis!" and told the fighter that a good, swift punch on the jaw would be coming his way if further he "oped the purple testament of bloody war." The old, dead days of San Bernardino will never come again to Sterling until he has acquitted himself in some manner from the two charges of felony against him. They do these things better to a-b-a-d men in a large city than can a town which looks on the desert from one side and a peaceful agricultural life from the other.

Joseph Grannucci was sentenced to six months yesterday by Judge Mogan on a charge of petty larceny. He is a recent arrival from Italy, and a countryman of his named Joseph Pesa gave him a lodging place in his room on Mason street on the night of January 24. When Pesa awoke the following morning he found he had been robbed of a gold chain, a silver watch and a pistol. The disposition of the articles was traced to Grannucci and a clear case was made.

Judge Cabaniss had before him yesterday a string of Chinese, which polled thirty-two in number, who were charged under a recently enacted ordinance with the crime of barricading their houses. The ordinance was passed in order that the police might be facilitated in their efforts to prevent gambling in Chinatown. By the right of the Chinese, or anybody else, to lock their doors by whatever device they chose was attacked.

George Collins appeared for the defendants and intimated that the question of the constitutionality of the ordinance would be challenged and carried to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary. Judge Cabaniss was inclined to avoid such uncalculated trouble by dismissing the defendants at once, but finally took the matter under advisement until Saturday.

Harry Randall, who also sports the name of Edward Pererson when occasion calls, was held by Judge Conlan yesterday in bonds of $3000 on each of two charges of burglary and assault to murder. He is accused of having stolen $550 from the cash drawer of a restaurant at 28 Seventh street. While trying to escape with his booty he rapped Henry Tietjen, the cook, over the head with an iron bar, inflicting severe injuries.

Four burglars were held to answer to the Superior Court yesterday by Judge Fritz in bonds of $2000 each. Three of them, named John McCormick, Edward Cunningham and Robert Martin, are accused of entering the room of Joseph Platz at 348 Fourth street on the morning of January 22. Before they secured much plunder the stealer woke and gave such a loud alarm that the burglars ran into the arms of three police officers in their endeavors to escape. Emanuel Sands, who is accused of burglarizing the room of William J. Pilcher at 145 1/2 Fifth street, was the fourth man bound over to answer for his alleged crime.

Suit for Sailor's Wages.

L. Englund filed a libel yesterday in the United States District Court against the schooner G. W. Watson to recover $50 balance due as wages.

George Lorenzo is the town Constable out in the direction of Sutro Heights. He is employed by the Sutro estate to protect its property, but he has arbitrarily extended his jurisdiction over the public roadway thereabouts, the shingle that holds the ocean in check, the Cliff House and even the seals that dive and sport for the amusement of the visitors.

He was before Judge Mogan yesterday on a charge of battery. The complaining witness was H. J. Lewis, a Chinatown guide, who, in pursuit of his lawful occupation, escorted a party from Des Moines, Iowa, to view the beauties of the ocean beach.

According to the testimony, Lorenzo found the guide on a public road with his party of tourists and called him names. Then he tried to make a bowknout out of a section of gas pipe by tying it forcibly over Lewis' head. The crafty guide ducked and side-stepped so adroitly that he escaped serious injury, while the Des Moines party ran to the ocean's edge and dipped their tippy-toes in the surf to escape the wrath of the town Constable.

Lorenzo told the Judge that his instructions were to prevent all guides from showing visitors the beauties of Sutro Heights, and he really believed his jurisdiction extended to the roadways and the beach.

"We have a few stray laws enacted under the constitution of the United States," said the Judge, "which may possibly conflict with your instructions. Some of them relate to the rights of a private citizen and others appertain to the highways. If you can show me an extraterritorial right that makes you a governor and plenipotentiary on the ocean beach, with a three-mile sea limit, I shall be glad to examine it. I will give you until February 9 to produce the goods and if you fail I shall certainly find you guilty of battery."

James Bailey, the cocaine fiend who escaped from the custody of a policeman Tuesday morning and did a swallow act around the Morgue building, being finally captured by Deputy Coroner Jim Murphy, appeared before Judge Mogan yesterday on charge of vagrancy.

"You may not be the 'get-away kid,'" said the Judge, "but you are certainly a hurdle racer. You remind me of that fireman in New York who fell from a twelve-story building, with rubber boots on, and kept bounding for five days, until a policeman shot him to keep him from starving to death." The crowd in the courtroom drifted out sadly after this and the Judge continued the case until Saturday.

Arbitration was the keynote of Judge Mogan's decision yesterday when Charles Nelson was brought before him on a charge of battery. Nelson is a walking delegate of the Painters' Union and he was accused of battering the face and figure of J. B. Thielmans. The scene of the plot is laid at a new building being erected at Sixteenth street and Julian avenue. Thielmans is the superintendent of construction and had in his employ a painter who was claimed to be a non-union man. Thielmans was asked to discharge the doubtful man. He refused, and during the argument Nelson landed an effective left on Thielmans' eye. The foreman sent in a call for the police and a squad from the Mission station was hurried in a patrol wagon to the scene of the trouble. Nelson was the only one arrested.

"Hasn't all this difficulty been settled satisfactorily to you?" asked the Judge of the complaining witness. "Yaas, I tank it ees," said Thielmans. "Then the case is dismissed," said the Judge.

A bench warrant which was issued for A. G. Schumacher for failure to appear, by Judge Conlan Wednesday, was recalled yesterday on a showing made by the defendant's bondsman and his wife. The truth of their statements was further strengthened by a doctor's certificate and the testimony of Detective Mulcahy that the defendant was suffering from congestion of the lungs and that his appearance in court would be suicidal.

Schumacher is accused by Leon Carrau of obtaining jewelry to the amount of about $700 and disposing of the same without making due return. Technically it is called felony embezzlement. Other warrants were issued one year ago, when the defendant was conducting a jewelry store in the Palace Hotel building, wherein he was charged with defrauding his creditors to an amount approximating $40,000. All of these charges are understood to have been dismissed, and the only criminal accusation is the one now pending in Judge Conlan's court.

Osborne Is Fined.

A. G. Osborne was sentenced by United States Judge de Haven yesterday to pay a fine of $500, or in default to be imprisoned until the fine shall have been paid. Osborne was convicted last Wednesday of having forged a postal money order for $5 at Callistoga. After having been imprisoned thirty days Osborne may be released upon taking the "pauper's oath" as to his inability to pay the fine.

Wong Din Convicted.

Wong Din was convicted by a jury yesterday in the United States District Court of having conspired with John Duffy to land Ma Foo illegally. He was remanded to the custody of United States Marshal Shine. Wong is under $6000 bonds to appear for trial in the Dasha-Burnett-Dempsey substitution cases. He will be sentenced on Saturday morning.

Heywood Estate Appraised.

The estate of the late Franklin Heywood was appraised at $188,305 89. It consists principally of $13,713 49 cash, stocks and bonds worth more than $100,000 and realty at the corner of Hayes and Baker streets worth $40,000.

Suit for Sailor's Wages.

L. Englund filed a libel yesterday in the United States District Court against the schooner G. W. Watson to recover $50 balance due as wages.

MURDERED MEN ARE AVENGED

One of Robert Sample's Slay-ers Gets Imprisonment for Life, the Other Ten Years

JUDGE CHARGES JURY

Joseph Majetti, for Shooting and Killing Edward Short, Sentenced to Nine Years

Three defendants who were tried before juries in Judge Lawlor's court on charges of murder and convicted of minor offenses were sentenced yesterday. Charles Sullivan was sentenced to imprisonment for life in San Quentin and John H. Powell to serve ten years in Folsom penitentiary. Sullivan was convicted of murder in the second degree for shooting and killing Special Officer Robert A. Sample on Folsom street, between First and Second, on the morning of August 11, and Powell was convicted of manslaughter. Each got the limit.

After Powell's conviction he filed an affidavit declaring that he fired the shots at Sample in self-defense and that Sullivan was not near him at the time. Sullivan also filed an affidavit in corroboration of Powell, which was followed by an affidavit by ex-Bailiff Mann regarding a statement to that effect which Powell had made to his attorneys in his presence. The affidavits were filed on a motion for a new trial.

Before passing sentence the Judge made reference to the affidavits. He pointed out that Sullivan testified in his own defense that he and Powell were about fifty feet away from Sample when they heard the shots, and either Sullivan perjured himself in so testifying or Powell committed perjury in the affidavit. It seemed a bold attempt to interfere with the administration of justice, shown furthermore by the circumstances under which the former bailiff of the court is supposed to have overheard Powell's statement.

Whoever fired the shots was guilty of a diabolical murder and was lucky in escaping the severest penalty. Motion for a new trial was denied.

Joseph Majetti, convicted of manslaughter, was sentenced to serve nine years in San Quentin. During a quarrel with Edward Short over an opium pipe and a dog Majetti shot and killed Short. This was in the Baltimore House on April 2. The prosecution agreed to withdraw the prior convictions against Majetti and Attorney Murphy thereupon withdrew his motion for a new trial. Majetti has already spent more than ten months in the County Jail.

Argument of Mining Suit.

Curtis H. Lindley occupied the attention of Judge Morrow in the United States Circuit Court yesterday in arguing a law point in the case of the Utah Nevada Company vs. Joseph R. de Lamar. The question was as to whether an oral contract alleged to have been entered into between Isaac E. Blake and Joseph de Lamar could be proved by parole evidence. Mr. Lindley will conclude this morning and will be followed by James G. Maguire of counsel for the complainant. The jury in the meantime having been excused.

Mrs. Strach Is Arrested.

Officer Young of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children arrested Mrs. Mary Strach, otherwise Mrs. M. Ryan, yesterday for ill treating her 14-year-old daughter. Young says the neighbors thought at first that he was intending to take the girl instead of her mother and were about ready to mob him. He explained matters to the assembled multitude, all of whom in token of the general unpopularity of Mrs. Strach, volunteered to appear against her in the courts.

SAYS TAGGART STOLE HIS BOY

Wife of Army Captain Asks Aid of Court to Recover Custody of Her Little Son

SEEKS HABEASCORPUS WRIT

Charges That Husband She Is Separated From Took the Child From Her by Force

Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted yesterday by Grace V. Taggart, wife of Captain Elmore F. Taggart, U. S. A., attached to the transport Sherman, to recover possession of her little son Elmore, aged 5 years, who she claims is illegally restrained of his liberty and kept from her by her husband. She alleges in her petition, signed by Judge Hebbard and made returnable before him this morning, that on Tuesday last Captain Taggart forced his way into her apartments at her hotel, removed the little boy and took him to the Union Iron Works, where she says he has ever since kept him confined in a shed on the docks. Mrs. Taggart claims that the boy is in delicate health and in need of a mother's care and that his father should be compelled to restore the child to her care.

The Taggarts have been separated for more than seven months. The attorney for Mrs. Taggart said yesterday that previously to the separation Captain Taggart had treated his wife with great cruelty, and that after leaving her he did not contribute toward the support of his wife or their two children. He said further that Mrs. Taggart did not want any of her husband's money, but that she did wish to be left in undisturbed possession of her little ones. Mrs. Taggart was too ill to be seen yesterday, her troubles having brought on prostration.

ASSERTS HER HUSBAND STOLE THEIR CHILDREN

Mrs. Gay Elliott Covey of Stockton Arrives at Seattle in Quest of Her Two Young Sons.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 4.—"I am following my husband, who cruelly left me in Stockton, California, last fall. But I am not after him because I want him to come back to me. It is because I want my two little boys whom he has stolen from me. When I get the boys he can go where he pleases."

This declaration was made today by Mrs. Elizabeth Covey, the wife of Guy Elliott Covey, a big blacksmith, who lived with his family at Stockton, and who, according to her story, disappeared with their two boys, aged 5 and 3 years, on September 22, 1902.

"If I can find him and the children I know there is no court in the land that would refuse to give me the children," said Mrs. Covey.

"Guy Covey will be punished yet. He has treated me wrongfully. I know every night the little dears offer up a prayer for me. I shall stay in Seattle until I can learn where Covey is; then I shall take steps to have him arrested."

Rossi's Widow Seeks Damages. Maria Rossi, widow of Antonio Rossi and administrator of his estate, sued the Southern Pacific Railroad Company yesterday for $25,000 damages for her husband's death. He was run into by a train at Valencia and Twenty-fifth streets last September.

A suit for $350 damages was also filed against the railroad company by the firm of G. Ghiotti Co., of which Rossi was a member. The firm demands that sum for the death of the two horses driven by Rossi at the time of the accident. Both suits are based on the ground that the train was traveling at a speed greater than allowed by law.
