Pacific Theological Seminary Presents Diplomas to Three of the Graduates

CHURCHES CALL THEM Anniversary Week at Institute Comes to Close With Impressive Ceremonies

Berkeley Office San Francisco Call, 2148 Center Street, April 12. Anniversary week at the Pacific Theological Seminary came to a close to-day with graduation exercises at the First Congregational Church, a meeting of the Alumni Association and an address by the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, the E. T. Earle lecturer for 1934.

The graduation exercises at the First Congregational Church were attended by a large number of people. The church was handsomely decorated and the ceremonies were impressive. Diplomas were presented to the Rev. Noah Cadwalader Gause, the Rev. Herbert Roy Livingston and the Rev. John Council Wooten by the Rev. John A. McLean, president of Pacific Theological Seminary. All of the graduates have had churches before, but had never graduated from a theological school.

The Rev. Mr. Gause has been called to the San Lorenzo Congregational Church, the Rev. Mr. Livingston to the Rio Vista Congregational church, the pulpit of which he has already occupied three months, and the Rev. Mr. Wooten is pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church South of Berkeley. The presentation of diplomas was followed by an address by the Rev. W. C. Merrill of the class of 1884. Dr. Merrill's address on "A Bundle of Fallacies" was an attack on the claims of evolution.

At the alumni business meeting of this morning the Rev. Richard N. Ham of Morville was elected president in place of the Rev. George I. Atkinson, term expired, and the Rev. S. R. Yarrow of Mill Valley was re-elected secretary. The Rev. Mr. Ham presided at the alumni dinner to-night, when speeches were made by Professor C. S. Nash, D. D., Professor John Buckham, D. D., and the Rev. Samuel Patterson of Petaluma. The dinner was followed by the final lecture by Dr. Abbott in the First Presbyterian Church on "The Teachings of Jesus Christ."

NEILL COMPANY PRESENTS "PUDD'NHEAD WILSON"

Typical Southern Play, Strongly Cast, Is Produced at Ye Liberty Theater.

OAKLAND, April 12.—"Pudd'nhead Wilson," the dramatization of Mark Twain's famous Southern story, was presented at Ye Liberty Theater last night by the Neill company, and the play will run all this week, including a Saturday matinee. The cast is a remarkably strong one, and Edith Chapman's interpretation of the character of Roxie, the slave woman, was especially good. Mr. Neill as Pudd'nhead was at his best, and he received excellent support.

The first prize in the "club notes" competition was won by Mrs. Adrienne M. Deulson. The prizes were offered by the management of Ye Liberty Theater for the best article on the advancement of "club notes," which takes the place of the programme at the theater.

Sheriff Forces Doors.

OAKLAND, April 12.—Deputy Sheriff Kelly and Kasey broke into the house of Noah and Ida Kelsey at Fourteenth and Jefferson streets to-day in order to serve legal papers on the pair. The Kelseys locked themselves in different rooms of the house and refused to answer the ring of the bell. Pinkerton detectives saw Kelsey in the house, and when the doors were broken in Kelsey was found in bed. He claimed he was sick. The sister sat with her face in her hands and refused to talk. They are wanted to appear in court and testify in regard to an estate in New York.

OAKLAND, April 12.—The City Council has incorporated in an ordinance the Board of Education's request for additional land for the projected new Polytechnic High School under the bond issue. John R. Havens Makes First Move to Obtain Possession of His Wife's Estate

WANTS AN ACCOUNTING As Special Administrator He Asks That Govey Brothers Show Him the Books

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1118 Broadway, April 12. John R. Havens of Berkeley, a special administrator of his deceased wife's estate, wants possession of her fortune, and to this end has filed a petition with the courts to have James M. Govey, his brother-in-law, cited to appear in court and show the condition of the estate of the deceased.

There is a quarrel on between the brothers of the late Gertrude Govey Havens and the surviving husband over the estate of the deceased, and Havens, in his petition to-day, states that James M. Govey, as secretary of the Govey Estate Company, is withholding large sums of money due as dividends on stock belonging to the late Mrs. Havens.

Shortly after her marriage to Havens Mrs. Havens made a will in which she bequeathed to her four brothers all of her interest in her father's estate, amounting to about $40,000. About a year ago Mrs. Havens gave birth to a son, and her death followed shortly afterward. When upon her deathbed Mrs. Havens made another will revoking the first and leaving everything of which she died possessed to the child.

Both wills have been filed for probate. John Havens has filed the last will on behalf of the infant, while Mrs. Havens' brothers have filed the first one, and allege that their sister was incompetent to make a will at the time of her death.

In the meantime Havens has been appointed special administrator of the estate pending the settlement of the will contest. He claims that all information in regard to the estate is being withheld from him by the brothers.

CIRCUS PARADE CAUSES HORSE TO RUN AWAY

"Scotty" Irons Thrown Out and Receives Injuries That May Result in His Death.

OAKLAND, April 12.—A circus parade at noon to-day caused the horse of Expressman "Scotty" Irons to take fright and run away. Irons was thrown out of his wagon and the wheels passed over his body. He sustained internal injuries that may cause his death. The accident occurred at Fourteenth street and Broadway. The horse continued his mad flight out San Pablo avenue.

Irons was picked up in an insensible condition and removed to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. O. D. Hamlin has him under observation. He is about 40 years of age and lives on Forty-eighth street, near Telegraph avenue.

LABORER KILLED BY FALL FROM A CAR

One of Oakland Transit Consolidated Construction Crew Meets Death in a Peculiar Manner.

OAKLAND, April 12.—John Fox, a laborer for the Oakland Transit Consolidated, was killed at 4 o'clock this afternoon by falling from a construction car at Twenty-eighth and Adeline streets.

Fox was sitting on a shovel, the projecting handle of which struck a cart as the car passed, throwing him into the street. He died in a few minutes after the accident. Fox was about 35 years old and unmarried. He lived at the Hastings Hotel, Emeryville. The coroner took charge of the body.

Mismatched Couples.

OAKLAND, April 12.—Suit for divorce was begun to-day by Leah E. Stutt against Joseph A. Stutt on the ground of desertion. They were married in 1897, but for more than a year he has refused to live with her. Cora L. Younger has petitioned the courts to make Joshua M. Younger, her husband, pay her permanent alimony on the ground that he has treated her so cruelly that she cannot live with him. She does not ask for a divorce, but wants the custody of the three children and sufficient money to enable them to live. She says he is interested in a patent oil burner, which brings him in a good income.

Dole Contest Begins.

OAKLAND, April 12.—The trial of the contest over the will of the late Elbridge Dole of Hayward was begun before Judge Greene and a jury to-day. The deceased left an estate of about $25,000, the bulk of which he bequeathed to the widow of his brother-in-law and her son, with whom he made his home for several years. He was 82 years of age at the time of his death. Alleged mental weakness of the testator is the basis of the contest.

Claim Tickets Were Forged.

OAKLAND, April 12.—George Wilson, 35 years of age, occupation clerk, was arrested to-day on a charge of selling forged tickets to Norris & Rowe's circus, which has been exhibiting in this city. The tickets were disposed of at cigar stores about town. Wilson had 100 coupons in his possession, which, the circus people said, were spurious.

Marriage Licenses.

OAKLAND, April 12.—The following marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk to-day: William L. Hamilton, 25, and Delia Muth, 21, both of Crockett; Edward Moore, 24, and Etta Harris, 22, both of Oakland.

PROFESSORS AND STUDENTS ENGAGE IN SKIRMISHES AROUND THE DIAMOND

Collegians Cross Bats on the Berkeley Campus and the Score, Eighteen to Sixteen Runs, Gives the Contest the Appearance of a Charge in Single File or a Sprightly Game of Follow the Leader

PROF. BANCROFT AT BAT, ELKS CATCHING.

BERKELEY, April 12.—The faculty of the University of California and the Skull and Keys men played the annual game of baseball this afternoon on the college campus, and the Skull and Keys won by a score of 18 to 16. It was a heroic exhibition of the national pastime and has no parallel in history. That is, the scientists in the game never saw anything like it in all their researches, and it is doubtful if anybody else ever did. It looked like a skirmish drill or a sprightly game of follow the leader.

Some of the fouls the professors struck were as loud as the prehistoric egg 2,700,000 years old that recently broke in South Hall. The errors were so frank that some of them were preserved for chemical analysis in the department designed for such things. They were as abundant as they were various. The base hits were on the order of basballus giganticus and of such a new and strange variety that they are supposed to have something to do with the tertiary period. As history repeats itself, the professors believe that some of the base running was almost equal to that of the famous leaguers of the stone age.

Professor H. C. Myers of the chemistry department was easily the star of the faculty researchers. He caught three pop flies in one inning, fanned the air five times, stole three bases and caught Scott Hendricks between second and third. Professor Myers was the patriarch of the nine, having whiskered that he had to tuck under his vest.

Professor Frank W. Bancroft, the authority on the heredity of rabbits and one of Dr. Loeb's sub-magicians, spent most of the afternoon in the left field chasing flies. What few the professor caught he will preserve in alcohol. Professor R. T. Crawford of the astronomical department peeped through a mask that fitted him like a birdcage and watched for comets and Watson asteroids on the fly. Professor H. B. Torrey of the zoological department vivisected three or four grounders he caught under his hat. Professor Derleth, at third base, wore his glasses most of the time, and once when Professor C. A. Noble of the electrical department turned the current on a ball to put Sam Stow out the goggles were pretty nearly knocked down his throat. The rest of the professors kept after the leather scooting down the field. The Skull and Keys men hit whatever curves the professor pitchers threw over the plate and there was no rest for the weary. The only time a Skull and Keys man had to run was when Professor Bancroft hit it to the box office for a home run.

The umpiring of Professor J. B. Landfield was not what would ordinarily be called proficient. The professor didn't know the difference between a foul and a chicken and several times he barely escaped being mobbed by the angry spectators, most of whom were co-eds. The line-up was as follows:

- Faculty Positions, Skull and Keys: R. W. Crawford, Catcher; Elston A. W. Whitney, Pitcher; Stow H. B. Torrey, First base; Hendricks, Second base; Nelson Phelps, Third base; C. A. Noble, Shortstop; Geary C. A. Derleth, Left field; Foster F. Bancroft, Right field; Somers C. J. O'Connor, Right field.

The proceeds of the game will be devoted to the football stadium fund.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY

OAKLAND, April 12.—As a brilliant social and financial success the Fabiola whist tournament at Maple Hall last night exceeded all expectations. Both upper and lower guests enjoyed the enjoyment of music and literary numbers. Mrs. George W. Cope had charge of the programme, which was as follows:

Selections from the oratorio "Golgotha" by Walter Hastings Olney of San Francisco; "The Evening" (MacDowell), (b) polka from "Le Bal" (Rubenstein), Mrs. Trent; songs of W. H. Olney; club and solo, (a) "From the Sea Pieces" (MacDowell), (b) polka from "Le Bal" (Rubenstein), Mrs. Trent; songs of W. H. Olney; club and solo, (a) "When You Came" (Metcalfe), Mr. Olney.

Members of the original writers' section contributed to the enjoyment of the afternoon. Mrs. Grace Gowling, curator of the section, and herself a successful story writer, prepared the way for several clever papers. She spoke briefly of the section's work, what has been accomplished being best shown by the fact that she has written and holding the attention throughout.

At a recent breakfast given in honor of Mrs. Samuel Lovenberg—who was guest of the luncheon to-day—a little little toast to "The Critic" was given by Mrs. George W. Cope. Mrs. Lovenberg repeated the verses to-day, much to every one's delight.

Besides Mrs. Lovenberg several other prominent club women were guests at the luncheon, including Mrs. Sanborn, president of the Century Club of San Francisco; Mrs. Lord, president of the Thursday Club, Maine; Mrs. Frear of the Honolulu Club and Mrs. George W. Cope, president of Laura's Hall Club, San Francisco.

Miss Abbe McPadden of Ohio, who is visiting here, was also a guest to-day. Mrs. Frederick Stratton was presiding hostess. The following were present: Mrs. E. B. Sanborn, Mrs. P. S. Sather, Mrs. J. Walter Scott, Mrs. J. R. Scumham, Miss Elizabeth W. Underhill, Mrs. E. S. Selby, Mrs. J. S. Shafter, Mrs. J. W. Shanklin, Mrs. W. E. Sharon, Mrs. George M. HILLSIDE CLUB TO SAVE OAKS

Enterprising Women of North Berkeley Take First Steps to Suppress Moth

Berkeley Office San Francisco Call, 2148 Center Street, April 12. The Hillside Club, the organization of enterprising women that has done so much to beautify North Berkeley, has taken steps to save the oak trees of their section of town from the ravages of the oak moth, that pernicious little insect known to science by the complicated name of phyrganidia Californica.

A campaign against the moth has been arranged for, and to-morrow will see the quietus of thousands of the bugs. It is all the work of the Hillside women. The campaign will be carried on with the help of the university. It will be as spectacular as it promises to be effective. Professor Warren T. Clarke, the entomologist, and his spraying apparatus will be there, and so will A. L. Epton, superintendent of the university grounds, and Charles L. Keeler, the poet, all of whom have agreed to help the ladies. Of course, the ladies will be there, too, and altogether it looks as if there were little chance for the oak moths of the section.

Professor Clarke intends to dose the insects with paris green. This will be administered with the aid of a portable pumping plant, ladders forty feet long and expert tree climbers. There are sixty trees in the scenic tract, and it is calculated that it will take all day and perhaps some of the next to get around to all of them.

The oak moth is in its infancy just now—that is, it is in the embryonic state and just able to crawl. If the Hillside Club women had not taken measures to suppress the moth it would sprout wings soon and take to eating up the oak leaves. It is a particularly venomous little pest and would not hesitate to even kill a tree a million times bigger than itself. A crowd of parasites were set upon it last year by the university scientists, but these entomological policemen have been off their beats so long that the phyrganidia Californica has become bold and burglarious.

Restoring Alameda Stations.

ALAMEDA, April 12.—In compliance with the stipulations in the franchise for the south side local line recently granted the Southern Pacific Company that corporation is restoring the stations at Webster street and Fifth street. These stations were consolidated and placed at Sixth street when the gates were put on the local trains more than a year ago. The Southern Pacific is also making ready to remove its tracks on Railroad avenue, west of Eighth street.

NEGRO EXPECTS TO BE LYNCHED

Joe Godley Is Arrested in Oakland for a Murder Committed in the East

DENIES HE IS GUILTY Accused of Killing Policeman Hinkle, Says He Was Running Away at the Time

Oakland Office San Francisco Call, 1118 Broadway, April 12.

Joe Godley, a negro, is in jail here awaiting the arrival of an officer from Pittsburg, Kans., to take him back there to answer for the murder of Policeman Hinkle. Godley, who has been following a circus show, was arrested at Oakland to-day by Deputy Sheriff Dreischmeyer of San Jose and Detective Kyme of this city.

The negro is charged with killing the policeman on December 25, 1902. Godley admits being present and having a row with the officer. He stated to-night that he and a party of negroes had been to a dance in Pittsburg, and about 2 o'clock in the morning were standing in the stairway making some noise. Policeman Hinkle came along and told them to keep quiet, and they not obeying he arrested Godley.

The officer pulled his club and Godley struck him, knocking him down. In falling the officer fired his revolver, the bullet making a slight wound over Godley's eye. Godley states he heard another shot. He thought the officer was shooting at him, but later learned that some one in the crowd had shot the officer. Godley denies committing the murder and says he was not armed. The negro then went to his home at West City, twelve miles away, where he stayed a day or so and then went to Indian Territory.

Godley joined Norris & Rowe's show in Wichita and spent the winter with them in San Jose. He has been going under the name of Joe Kelly. The prisoner's brother was in jail at the time of the murder of Policeman Hinkle, and when Joe Godley could not be found a mob took the brother from jail and lynched him. Godley said to-night that he certainly would be lynched as soon as he reached Kansas, as a mob would take him from the train.
