

MAYDAY FESTIVITIES AT PARK MAKE MANY YOUNGSTERS HAPPY

Maypole Dance and Games Afford Pleasure to Thousands of Children Who Lay Their Books Aside and Revel in a Good Time

SCENES IN GOLDEN GATE PARK YESTERDAY DURING THE MAYDAY EXERCISES ARRANGED FOR THE ENJOYMENT OF THE LITTLE FOLK OF SAN FRANCISCO, WHO WERE PRESENT IN THROGS.

Mayday was celebrated yesterday in glorious fashion by the school children at Golden Gate Park. From early dawn until late at night they romped, frolicked and gambled over the beautiful mossy greens of the playgrounds at their own sweet pleasure. Never has the park presented a more beautiful appearance. Buds and blossoms with sweet fragrance vied with the brilliant verdure of the tall trees that fringed the grounds. The maypole dance was naturally the great feature of the day. This was supposed to commence on the lawn north of the children's playground building at 1 o'clock, but it was nearly 2 before it began. Long before the hour a great throng of people, both adults and juveniles, commenced to fill every available point of vantage surrounding it. Small boys climbed up into the top of the trees and yelled and shouted with vigor to the great crowd of people below. The dance itself was a very pretty affair. Suspended from the tall flagpole, which had been gayly decked for the occasion with bright evergreens, were long satin streamers of red, white and blue. Professor Findlay with a number of the members of his dancing class had volunteered their services for the occasion. In the dance there were fourteen beautiful little children, all dressed in white and garlanded with floral wreaths. It was a rare picture and one that gave delight to all. The dance was delightfully executed, and the dainty little tots went through the different evolutions with marvelous accuracy, to the delight of the great crowd of spectators. Those that took part in the dance were Daisy Cumming, Violet Mhoon, Violet Long, Daisy Long, Lois Allen, Hilda Clute, Gladys Todd, Evelyn Canavan, Hope Butzbach, Leah Butzbach, Ethel Beeman, Hazel Jordan, Sybil Sykes and Marguerite Maribell. Mrs. Milmore, matron of the playground, says that never in the course of her experience has she seen so many children on the grounds. The numbers ran to thousands. The merry-go-round was crowded to its utmost capacity, while the donkey carts were laden with children conveying them around the grounds. At luncheon time the park was a pretty sight. Mothers with their little broods of children, with great baskets laden with luncheon, were scattered from one end of the grounds to the other. Swings and maypoles also afforded pleasure for the youngsters. Music was furnished by the juvenile band of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum.

COMES TO AID OF FAIR LADY

H. Digby-Johnston, Barrister, Lifts Burden From Mrs. Richards' Shoulders

Helps Her in Her Efforts to Secure Monetary Balm From Fickle Physician

Like a knight of the days of chivalry, Attorney H. Digby-Johnston yesterday came to the rescue of a damsel in distress. He dropped into Judge Graham's court during the progress of the trial of the suit for $25,000 damages brought by Mrs. Emma Richards against Dr. J. J. Willingham of Los Angeles, found the lady tearfully and nervously endeavoring to present her case to a jury and promptly volunteered his services. The offer was accepted by Mrs. Richards, who cheerfully relinquished her self-imposed task of proving that Willingham had trifled with her affections, and turned over her first witness, Willingham himself, to the English barrister. Thereupon things ran more smoothly and all danger of Mrs. Richards giving way to an attack of hysteria was removed.

Before the arrival of Sir Digby-Johnston, Mrs. Richards succeeded, despite the objections of Ray Saffold, attorney for the physician, in having the witness stand and gazed unabashed at the woman who is seeking from him monetary balm for her injured feelings, and who, in a brave effort to secure a righting of the alleged wrong done her, was standing before him, quivering and shaking, not with fear, but at the strangeness of her surroundings and the unusual position she found herself in. The questioning of Willingham was almost too much for Mrs. Richards, but she kept to her task and succeeded in getting him to admit that they were together a great deal in Los Angeles, that he had given her money and that he had agreed to furnish her a flat at 1114 1/2 Larkin street in this city. He would not admit, however, that there was any engagement between them. It was at this stage of the proceedings that H. Digby-Johnston appeared on the scene and took up the plaintiff's burden. The court adjourned, however, before he had a chance to examine the doctor.

Willingham took the stand again at 2 o'clock. He evaded a great many of the attorney's questions and sought by his answers to show that he was being persecuted by the plaintiff. He said that when in September, 1900, he left Los Angeles to come to this city Mrs. Richards took the same train. He said he was much surprised to see her, having had no knowledge that she resided in the city, and there he offered to furnish her a flat in this city if she would cease paying her unwelcome attentions. She accepted the offer, he said.

PLAINTIFF ON STAND. Mrs. Richards then took the stand. She told how in April, 1899, she had met the doctor in Los Angeles and had kept company with him and that she was very much engaged. She also told how they had arranged to come to this city to live, and denied emphatically that Willingham ever offered to furnish a flat for her if she would abandon what he styled her train of thought.

"We were to be married and live in the flat," she said, "and Dr. Willingham knows it." Under cross-examination Mrs. Richards made a willing witness. She grew nervous and at times she made contradictory statements, and several times made explanatory remarks that showed that if she once loved the doctor the feeling she had for him now was entirely different. She even insinuated that once while she was in Dallas, Texas, and while Willingham was also there, an attempt had been made to poison her. She said she never followed Willingham about the country, but said that on the contrary, after Willingham had become enamored of Mrs. Mary Tighe, an "old thing" of Los Angeles, he had followed her about and endeavored to get rid of her. She said she lived in constant dread that he would attempt to kill her.

Shortly before the court adjourned the writer by Mrs. Richards to Willingham's folks was introduced. In this letter the plaintiff described her association with the physician and told that she and the doctor were to be married in September and take up their residence at 1114 1/2 Larkin street, San Francisco. She also told how Willingham was being influenced by Mary Tighe. The case will go on again to-day.

COMES FROM ENGLAND TO FIND RECENT SPOUSE Israel Burg Is Arrested on a Charge of Failing to Provide for His Children.

Mrs. Hannah Burg, accompanied by her two children, one 4 years of age and the other 1 year, called at the Bond and Warrant Clerk's office yesterday. She said she wanted her husband, Israel Burg, arrested, as he had deserted her in England some months ago. He had written her a letter from this city, telling her that he was going to get married again and asking her to look after the children. She saved enough money to bring her and the children to this city, arriving on Saturday evening, but she was left without a cent. She said she discovered that her husband was employed as a tailor at 14 Fourth street and that he was living with a woman who called herself Mrs. Anna Burg. She could not swear that her husband had married the woman, so a friend, Mrs. Mary Goldberg, 302 Howard street, swore to a complaint before Police Judge Fritz charging Burg with failure to provide. If it can be proved that he has married the other woman he will be prosecuted for bigamy. Burg was arrested yesterday afternoon and booked at the City Prison. The woman who calls herself Mrs. Anna Burg put up $200 cash bail for his release. She was asked if she had been married to Burg and after some hesitation replied in the negative.

SAYS ROOM WAS ROBBED.—H. D. Henlon of 20 1/2 Turk street reported to the police last night that his room had been robbed of a gold watch and some clothing.

PREPARATION FOR CAMPAIGN

Primary Election To-Day for the Purpose of Choosing Delegates to Conventions

REGISTRATION IS LIGHT In the Fourth Congressional District a Separate Contest Is on the Schedule

The polls for the primary election to-day will open at 6 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. All signs point to a light vote, as there are no contests of a spirited character in any other than the Thirtieth Assembly District, where there is a contest in the Republican ranks for supremacy. The Republicans to-day will elect 121 delegates to the State convention of the party, which has been called to assemble at Sacramento on Wednesday, May 18. This State convention will elect four delegates at large and four alternates to the National Republican Convention, which is called to meet at Chicago June 21. As there is no Republican candidate for the Presidency other than Theodore Roosevelt, the convention will pledge the delegation to his support, select a new State Central Committee and adjourn.

The Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District, in accordance with a call issued by the district governing body of the party, will to-day elect delegates to a separate convention for the purpose of choosing two delegates and two alternates to represent the said Congressional district in the Chicago convention. All the Congressional districts of the State, however, will be represented in the State convention at Sacramento. In other than the Third and Fourth districts the delegates elected to the State convention will also serve as Congressional district delegates. The governing body of the party in each Congressional district was given authority by the State Central Committee to call for the election of separate delegates to the State convention for their own districts. Delegates to nominate candidates for Congress will not be chosen until the August primary election.

The Democrats to-day will elect 168 delegates to the State convention of the party, which has been called to meet at Santa Cruz on May 16. There is no open fight against the delegates proposed by the so-called "organization" of the party in San Francisco, but the Hearst forces may spring tickets in several of the Assembly districts to-day if a very light vote on the part of the "organization" opens the way for the success of opposition. William M. Cutter, of Yuba, chairman of the Republican State Committee, is in the city. B. D. Murphy, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, left the city a few days ago for San Jose.

The registration for to-day's election does not exceed 33,000. It is estimated that there will be 70,000 votes on the register for the August primary and 85,000 for the Presidential election in November next.

SOLDIER HERO PASSES AWAY AT PRESIDIO

John Mitchell, veteran of the Civil War, an Indian fighter of note, and for the last ten years armorer at the University of California, died yesterday afternoon at the United States General Hospital at the Presidio, succumbing to an attack of heart disease. As a private in the United States army armorer Mitchell had an excellent record, having been commended several times for bravery in action and having been voted a medal by Congress for faithfulness in the discharge of duties. The greater part of his fighting was done in the Indian wars of the seventies, although his first experience came in the Civil War. Mitchell served for several years under General Nelson A. Miles and was in close proximity to General George A. Custer at the time of the memorable Custer massacre. No arrangements have yet been made for the interment of the remains. The university flag was at half-mast yesterday in honor of the memory of the deceased.

DOVER, Del., May 2.—Mrs. Ann Powell was to-day placed on trial for the murder of Estelle Albin on February 11 last. Mrs. Powell confessed after her arrest that she killed Miss Albin in a jealous rage. Mrs. Powell said the girl, who had been adopted, was alienating her husband's affections.

SEQUOIA CLUB TO BE FORMED

Men and Women Representing Art, Music, Letters and Society Are to Organize

By Laura Bride Powers. We all know—and proudly proclaim—that San Francisco has long been the nursery of Western art, music and letters. In a motherly sort of way she has nurtured the budding geni that were born of her, even becoming a kindly mother to those of foreign shores who loved the arts—and the social life they engendered. But with all the atmosphere of atelier, studio and library that saturates San Francisco, there is no one hallowed home where men and women of cultural development may meet and fraternize—but perhaps the men are not lonesome, having their Bohemian Club, their University Club, their Family Club, etc., where kindred spirits meet and travel the Elysian paths of companionship. And so, too, have the women their clubs, but it is a commingling of clever men and clever women on common ground that brings out the best and highest in both—likewise the social pleasure. Besides, it might become a factor in domestic harmony! Who knows? And thus it is that tomorrow night the Sequoia Club, brought into nebulous being by Miss Ednah Robinson, will meet and perfect its organization. The men and women who have been asked to join are representatives of local art, literature (such as we have), music, society and general goodfellowship—a salon such as obtains in Gotham. And that interesting gathering of interesting people will take place in one of the most interesting homes in the city—in the old Hittell home on Turk street, that in proportion to its size has probably sheltered more notable people than the Palace—such as artists, writers, and all the lights of the mind. That meeting to-morrow night promises much for the development of our social life along sane and fascinating lines. Here's success to it—and to its fair founder!

The following is a list of those who will become members: Mr. and Mrs. William Keith, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Stillman, Maynard Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Stevens, Miss Katherine Dineen, Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Mills Gayley, Mrs. Llewellyn Jones, Miss Grace Llewellyn Jones, Mrs. Josephine Morris de Grey, Mrs. J.
