ANARCHY RUNS RIOT IN COLORADO; DAY'S VICTIMS NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

Anarchy ran riot in the Cripple Creek district of Colorado yesterday. At Findlay dynamite under the railroad station platform was touched off by means of a revolver so placed with a wire connection that it could be fired from a distance. The platform was crowded with non-union miners at the time. Thirteen of these men were killed and others were shockingly mangled. Then followed a succession of street riots in Victor, resulting in numerous casualties, and a charge of soldiers upon the headquarters of the miners' union. Volleys were fired into the building and at least seven men were killed. At an early hour this morning the rioting had not been checked, and shooting affrays were occurring constantly.

MADMAN KILLS HIS CHILDREN

Poisons Two and Shoots Third to Death.

Ends His Own Life After Mailing a Message to a Friend.

Fourth Child, Mortally Wounded, Is Found Unconscious Near His Father.

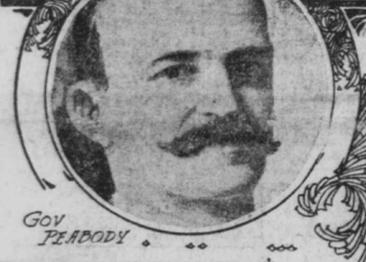

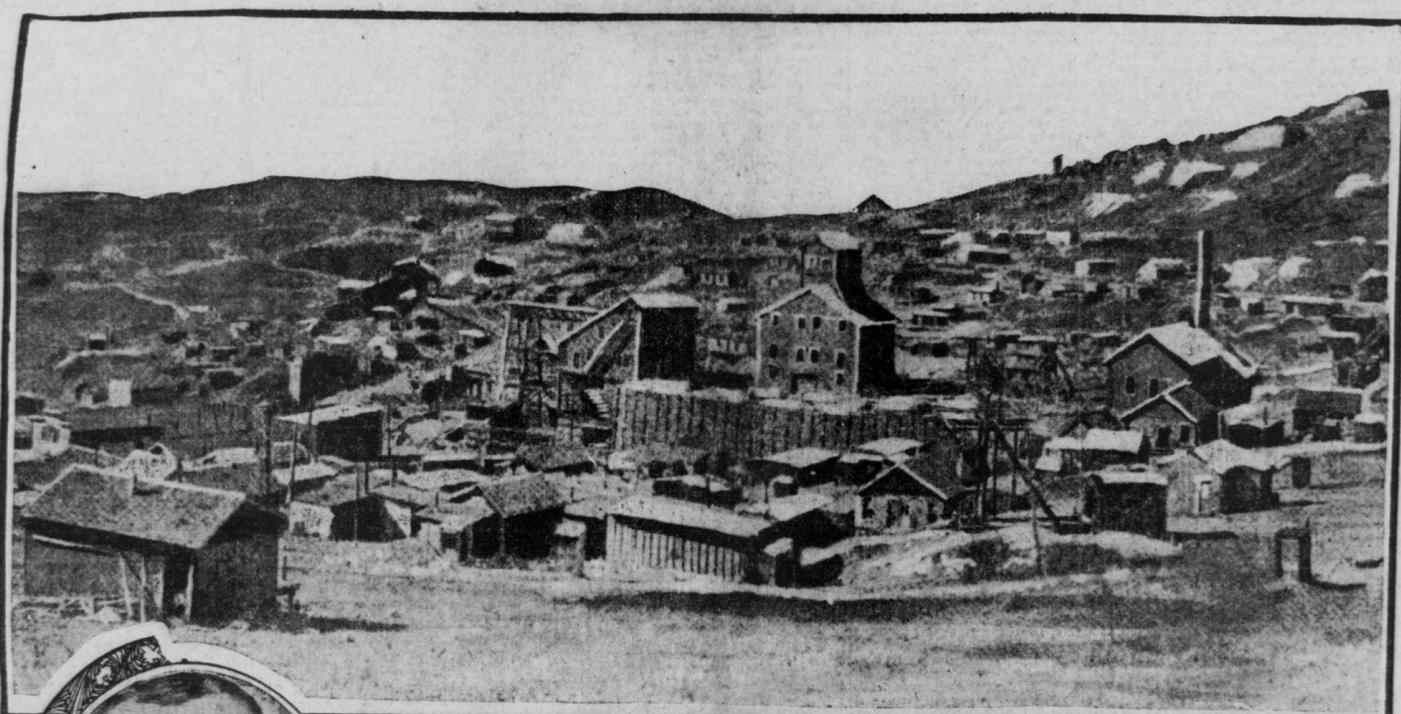

NEW YORK, June 6.—After writing a letter to a friend asking her to come and take charge of his body, Joseph M. Pouch, a retired undertaker of Roselle, N. J., killed two of his children by poison on Sunday, shot a third to death, mortally wounded a fourth and then to-day, just as the police knocked at his door, killed himself.

The man was insane, an eccentricity which for several years had been marked developing into homicidal mania. His wife, the mother of the four children, died very suddenly two months ago. No investigation was made at the time, but it is now believed that she was poisoned.

One of Pouch's few remaining friends received through the mail a note which read: "Please come to house and lay out four children for me. I am going to send them where my second wife went."

At 7 o'clock to-night a Justice of the Peace of Roselle and Policeman John Kennedy went to the cottage, the doors of which were locked and the shutters closed. About it there was absolute silence. The neighbors who had become curious, said they had not seen Pouch for hours. While the officers and neighbors were talking, three shots were heard in the house and then the doors were battered down. Pouch was found dead on the floor, a bullet wound in his right temple. Near by on a bed was his daughter, Lillian, shot through the heart. Beside her lay the son, Albert, unconscious, with a bullet wound in his abdomen.

On a piece of cardboard in the room was written in straggling letters: "I have been hunted by every one, landlords and everybody. Boss discharged me to make matters worse and things did not go right last night or this would not have happened to-day. The bodies of the girls will have to be embalmed, but none of the rest."

IMPERILED BY FRIGHT OF HORSE

Alice Roosevelt Is Rescued by a Footman.

CALL BUREAU, 1496 G STREET, N. W., WASHINGTON, June 6.—Miss Alice Roosevelt ended her eventful St. Louis trip late this afternoon in a narrow escape from serious injury in a carriage accident. She was assisted out of danger just in time by the faithful family footman and walked with her maid to the White House unconcerned.

Miss Roosevelt came from St. Louis with her maid and arrived at the Sixth-street station shortly after 5 o'clock. She was met by the White House brougham with a single horse, driven by the "second" coachman, "Charley" Reeder, the regular White House footman, was on the box.

All went well until the brougham, with Miss Roosevelt and her maid inside, reached the corner of Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, which passes for Washington's "dead man's curve." Here there is always a congestion of street cars and other vehicles and crowds of passengers.

Just as the driver was about to turn the curve by the Treasury and the Riggs House a heavily crowded street car dashed up to the junction and the carriage was for a moment pocketed between the car and an empty hotel carriage. The horse took fright at the clanging of bells, plunged violently and became unmanageable. Several men recognized the President's livery and willing hands were outstretched to subdue the infuriated animal. The driver bravely kept his seat, struggling to manage the horse, while Reeder sprang from the box and went to the rescue of his young mistress.

Just as the carriage appeared to be turning on its side Miss Roosevelt was literally dragged out by the footman and at the same time a policeman on the other side rescued the frightened maid. The horse was finally subdued and the carriage escaped complete destruction between a lamp post and a hotel van.

Series of Bloody Affrays Follows Diabolical Murder of Non-Union Men by Means of Dynamite.

DENVER, June 6.—A reign of terror, brought on by a diabolical dynamiting plot, followed by rioting and an assault upon the militia, exists in the Cripple Creek mining district to-night. Armed men through the streets and conflicts are of hourly occurrence. Militiamen are marching hither and thither, making arrests by the wholesale. A number of union miners have been placed in the military "bull pen" and others are being gathered in at frequent intervals. City and county officials have been compelled to resign their offices because of their reputed union sympathies.

As nearly as can be estimated to-night, 22 men are dead and a score or more wounded as a result of the events leading up to the conditions described. Beginning with this morning, when an infernal machine, set under the station platform at Findlay, on the line of the Florence and Cripple Creek Railroad, was touched off and a number of non-union men, who were waiting for a train, were sent into eternity and others horribly mangled, conflicts followed thick and fast. They culminated in a riot at a mass meeting, where bullets flew and at least one was killed and a number wounded.

Later, as a company of militia was marching past union headquarters pursuing its search for union miners, it was fired upon by armed men concealed in Union Hall. The soldiers stormed the building and from last accounts seven unionists were shot dead in their tracks. The remaining fled precipitately, blood streaming from the wounds of many. The soldiers who were unhurt pursued and arrested a number of the fleeing men and continued far into the night to search the country for men supposed to have been in the union hall at the time of the assault.

At the headquarters of Adjutant General Bell in this city everything is in readiness to promptly meet a call for additional troops in the gold camps. It is understood that the railroads have been instructed to have engines and cars ready, and a quick run to Cripple Creek would follow an appeal for more soldiers. However, from the tone of a communication received from Sheriff Bell, the newly appointed official of the county, he will ask for further aid from the authorities only as a last resort. He says he can control the situation unless a general clash occurs.

To-day's outburst had its inception in the strike of the members of the Western Federation of Miners more than a year ago, when 4000 men quit work for the purpose, primarily, of enforcing an eight-hour day. This action so incensed the mine owners that they declared war on unionism, and the breach has grown wider with the passage of time. Considerable lawlessness has prevailed in the strike-ridden districts and unionists have been brought to trial on numerous charges. They were invariably acquitted.

SLAIN AT VICTOR

R. McGeef of Victor.
J. D. DAVIS of Victor.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., June 6.—A concealed assassin, by merely pulling a wire, exploded an infernal machine at independence to-day, instantly killing eleven men and severely wounding twelve others, two of whom have since died. All of the killed and injured, with the exception of two men from the Deadwood mine, were non-union miners employed on the night shift of the Findlay mine.

The men had quit work at 2 o'clock this morning and were waiting to board the suburban train on the Florence and Cripple Creek Railroad and return to their homes in Cripple Creek and Victor. Just after the engineer of the approaching train blew his whistle as a signal to the miners, according to custom, a terrific explosion occurred underneath the depot platform, on and near which twenty-six men were gathered. The platform was blown into splinters, the depot was wrecked and a hole twenty feet in circumference and about as many feet in depth was torn into the ground.

Fragments of bodies were hurled through space for several hundred feet and later were picked up still quivering. Some of the bodies dropped into the pit made by the explosion, but heads, hands, ears, legs, arms and trunks were strewn about on all sides. Pieces of flesh were found on buildings 500 feet away and blood stained everything within a radius of fifty feet.

The force of the explosion was felt throughout the camp and the crash awakened everybody. The approaching train was stopped and the train crew were the first men to reach the scene of the disaster. They were joined in a few minutes by hundreds of persons and relief work was begun at once. A special train was sent from Cripple Creek, carrying physicians, nurses, officers and many others, but when it reached Independence the injured had already been placed on board the suburban train and removed to the hospitals in Victor. The mangled bodies

SEEMINGLY DEAD CHILD IS REVIVED

Lies in a Coffin at Custer for Thirty-Six Hours.

CUSTER, S. D., June 6.—After lying thirty-six hours in a coffin, little Mable Fearing, the 5-year-old daughter of C. M. Fearing, was revived. The child was saved through the intervention of Dr. E. S. Norton, a relative, who was at the house to attend the funeral.

Dr. Norton's professional instinct warned him that the rosy cheeks and unchanged appearance of the little one marked an unusual condition, and he refused to permit the coffin to be closed. Other physicians made tests. The results were satisfactory and an effort was made to revive the child.

Finally signs of returning animation were noted. A half-hour later the stethoscope indicated the return of strong heart action. An hour later the child was in the arms of her mother, who sobbed hysterically.

The supposed death was due to typhoid fever. With care the child will soon be in an advanced convalescent stage.

MURDER FOLLOWS COMMENT ON ATTIRE OF JAPANESE

One Little Brown Man Kills a Conventman After Making Disparaging Remark About Victim's Clothes.

HONOLULU, May 31.—Yamasaki, a Japanese, was murdered in cold blood in Honolulu on the evening of May 25. His self-confessed murderer, Kanisoro Tania, was arrested immediately by detectives, who were within forty feet of the scene of the crime at the time of its occurrence. The shooting was the result of an alleged disparaging remark by the murderer about the Japanese clothes worn by the murdered man. Five shots were fired, the man with the gun standing within two feet of his victim, although but three of the shots took effect. These were fired so close to the murdered man that his kimono caught fire.

KUROPATKIN AND KUROKI IN BATTLE

Heavy Artillery Firing Is Heard Near Liaoyang.

Another Combat Is Being Waged in Vicinity of Port Arthur.

Russians Report Rumor of Disaster to Warships of Admiral Togo's Fleet.

LONDON, June 7.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, dated Shengtaise, Monday, says that heavy artillery firing was heard that morning in the direction of Tahwan, east of Liaoyang.

TIENTSIN, June 7.—A telegram this morning from Yinkow announces that Eitel of the London Telegraph was shot dead at Tienchwan last night by imperial troops.

Heavy firing was heard at Newchwang this morning, coming from the direction of Liaoyang.

The Russians have evacuated Simning (about 30 miles west of Mukden) and its vicinity. It is said that the troops which were at Simning are joining troops on the road to Mukden.

FIRING AT PORT ARTHUR.

CHEFU, June 7, 10:45 a. m.—The correspondent of the Associated Press at Tengchow cables that there was firing at Port Arthur last night, beginning at 11:30 o'clock and continuing for several hours. A junk arriving during the night from Dalny reports that there was heavy firing all day yesterday in the vicinity of Port Arthur. When the junk left Dalny on Monday morning all was quiet there. The arrival on the junk deny the story of the sinking of a Japanese ship off Tallenwan.

Russian reports vary regarding the sinking of a Japanese vessel off Tallenwan. It is believed it was a merchantman.

RUMOR OF NAVAL DISASTER

LIAOYANG, June 6.—It is persistently reported here that the Port Arthur squadron made a sortie shortly before dawn on Saturday, with the torpedo boat destroyers leading, and found the Japanese fleet quite unsuspecting the presence of hostile warships, with the result that four of the Japanese ships were sunk during the attack.

Details have been received here of two smart outpost fights, one on Liaotung and the other in Southern Manchuria. The former occurred on the morning of June 3 at Yantsiantu, east of Vafanzow, twenty-five miles above Kinchow. The Russian force consisted of an infantry regiment, some artillery, a general company of Cossacks and a squad of dragoons. The enemy was discovered in the valley of Pwytiantu. The Russians brought up a battery, opened fire and cleared the Japanese out of the valley. Then the Russian guns were moved to a more favorable position. The Japanese taking advantage of this, fired a few shots. The Russian losses were Colonel Sereda and seventeen men wounded. Both sides retained their positions.

BATTLE NEAR TAKUSHAN

The other fight was between Major General Mischenko's Cossacks and the Japanese advance posts along the river Kolsendy, north of Takushan. It lasted from the evening of June 3 until late the following day. A company of Cossacks tried to cut off a detachment of Japanese posted on the heights at Ladziapudy, but the enemy brought up reinforcements and the Russians were reinforced by five companies of Cossacks.

Finally 3000 Japanese were engaged, including artillery. The Cossacks repeatedly drove the enemy from the entrenchments. In one case the Japanese fled across the river, but returned with more reinforcements and the Russians drew off. The Cossacks' commander, Colonel Starokoff, was killed and two officers and nine men were wounded. The Cossacks carried the body of their commander to Stuyen.

CHINA MAY BE DRAWN IN.

Peking Government Is Placed in an Awkward Position.

TIENTSIN, June 6.—Uchida, the Japanese minister to China, came to Tientsin yesterday from Peking to confer with the Viceroy and returned to the capital to-day. Japan, it appears to be confirmed, is trying to induce China to occupy the territory conquered from Russia, thus involving China into a breach of neutrality and giving Russia the opportunity of attacking China.

VICTORY GOES TO REPUBLICANS

Sweeping Majorities for National Nominees Are Conceded in Oregon Election

PORTLAND, Ore., June 6.—It is conceded that the Republicans have elected their national candidates by heavy majorities. Congressman Binger Herrmann, of Roseburg, the Republican candidate, has probably carried the district over R. M. Veatch, Democrat, of Eugene, by from 5000 to 7000. John H. Williamson, of Prineville, the candidate in the second district, will carry the district by probably 10,000 over J. E. Simmons, of Portland, the Democratic candidate.

At 10 p. m. Frank C. Baker, chairman of the State Republican Committee, said: "I predict that Herrmann's majority will be 7500 and Williamson's 10,000. Judge Frank A. Moore, the Republican candidate for State Supreme Judge, will, I think, receive a majority of 20,000."

Chairman Alex Sweek of the Democratic State Central Committee could not be seen to-night, but at Democratic headquarters it was stated that while Republican estimates are in excess of the actual figures, there is no doubt that both Republican candidates for Congress have been elected.

Chinese Slayer Sentenced.

SACRAMENTO, June 6.—Gin Chung, a Chinaman, to-day pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter for killing Wee Ah Wov and was sent to the Folsom penitentiary for two years.
