

WOOLLY PURIF BABY CAST Clergyman Resigns a Rich Parish to Devote Life and Wealth to Rescue Work REPUTED A MILLIONAIRE Rev. E. Morgan to Establish Settlement on Plan of One in Whitechapel, London

The report, which is current among Episcopalians, that the Rev. Edward Morgan, until recently rector of St. Paul's Church, Bakersfield, had determined to return to this city and voluntarily assume ministerial work on the Barbary Coast and henceforward to devote his energies and large means to rescue the downfallen and uplift the weak-hearted in that notorious section of the city is confirmed.

Before many weeks a settlement on the lines of the one started by Oxford students in the darkest part of London will be opened under Mr. Morgan's charge, and all who seek refuge, no matter what their past life may have been, will be welcomed and the way to better things pointed out.

The friends of the young priest—and there are multitudes of them—are much astonished. No clergyman of the diocese of California had finer prospects as a distinguished career. Polished in manners, a student of fine scholarship and an aristocrat by heredity, the Rev. Mr. Morgan seemed best fitted for a rich city church, and to relinquish a fine parish, where he displayed the talents of a successful preacher and administrator, besides forsaking a congregation that embraces some of the wealthiest and most cultured people in the State, for a Quixotic purpose of housing such a region like the Barbary Coast seems incomprehensible.

Those who know Mr. Morgan intimately admit that he is sincere in the undertaking and is acting from a high sense of duty. They look confidently for tangible results.

When curate of the Mission of the Good Samaritan no task was too great for his strength or degraded in its nature to evoke his sympathy and assistance. The same spirit of self-sacrifice and practical experience in dealing with the abandoned, together with great determination of character, are factors to win in a field which his former ministry in this field has made perfectly familiar to him.

RESCUE WORK IN LONDON. In order to be thoroughly equipped for the work, Mr. Morgan left for London a few weeks ago, and is now resident in a settlement established in Whitechapel, known as the wickedest spot in civilization and the scene of the notorious exploits of "Jack the Ripper."

In this precinct of London the Salvation Army has proved that even among the most brutal and degraded of the population there are many that can be influenced for good.

The Anglican church has also established refuges and settlements there which have accomplished wonders.

Upon the same lines Mr. Morgan proposes to establish a settlement where, every one, no matter what the past has been, may find spiritual and bodily comfort and encouragement for a better life. Mr. Morgan, it is said, proposes to devote his large income to this purpose.

The project is, to a certain extent, independent of diocesan control, or will be considered so until the experiment is given a fair trial.

Mr. Morgan belongs to the high church party and holds most advanced opinions as to the prerogatives of his church.

CAPABLE OF ANY SACRIFICE. He is capable of any sacrifice and will not spare himself where the end justifies. He has the spirit of an Ignatius, the devotion of a monk and the strength of a martyr.

Few young clergymen who have in times past officiated in Episcopal churches of this city are remembered more agreeably than the Rev. Edward Morgan.

A member of one of the most prominent families of Ireland, whose ancestral home is one of the most hospitable and extensive in all its borders, Mr. Morgan was early accustomed to all the refinements and luxuries which unlimited wealth and the most polished society of his native land could afford.

Years ago the family purchased a large ranch in Texas and stocked it with the finest breed of cattle that could be had, but the life was one that did not attract the young Irishman and after a year's experience of the ungenial life of a cattleman he abandoned Texas and naturally sought California. By profession a student and student attached to the church, he determined to study for the ministry and in time prepared to enter the Episcopal Divinity School at San Mateo.

HIS WORK FOR THE POOR. In two years Mr. Morgan was ordained to the ministry by Bishop Nisbet at the Cathedral Mission. Rev. Charles L. Gardner, now chaplain of the Stanford University, being ordained at the same service.

For a year the young priest acted as curate of the Cathedral Mission of the Good Samaritan and in arduous endeavor spent his time in ameliorating the condition of the poor which thronged the doors of that parish.

In the work of the mission Mr. Morgan became cognizant of the depths of misery and despair to which it is possible for certain elements of the population to gravitate. Even in the worst and most hopeless instances Mr. Morgan was ever sympathetic and quick to relieve. His wealth was derived from an aunt, the famous "Middy" Morgan, who as stock reporter for a New York paper gained wide notoriety for her wonderful judgment of cattle as well as for her many eccentricities.

Estimates of the amount of the Rev. Mr. Morgan's fortune differ widely. By some it is placed at a million dollars and the location of the settlement to be established will be in the vicinity of Kearny street and Broadway, a point close to the county jail and city prison and in direct continuity to every species of vice that flourishes openly in that region.

Lecture at the Press Club. Frederick I. Monson, the well known ethnologist, gave a very interesting lecture last night in the jinks room of the Press Club. Views of Indian life and prehistoric ruins taken by Monson during his latest trip to Mexico and Arizona were reproduced on the screen. The collection of pictures is probably the most valuable of the kind in existence. The entertainment was interspersed with selections by club talent. Monson will shortly leave for his regular lecture tour in the East.

The Sutter-street Club will endeavor to improve the paving on that street. A great improvement in the home may be gained by purchasing a gas range from E. F. Gas & Electric Co., 416 Post st.

Break in Levee Repaired. SACRAMENTO, June 16.—The break in the levee at the Edwards place, three miles below Sacramento, was closed at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon. The cost of the work is estimated to be about $100,000.

Gas is still the leading illumination in Europe, but electricity has surpassed it in the United States. There are now four times as many general electric light stations as there are gas plants.

MEET AFTER MANY YEARS

Brothers Separated for More Than Half a Century Clasp Hands at Fresno

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR

Description by Friend of Inmate of Soldiers' Home Causes a Strange Reunion

FRESNO, June 16.—Frank B. Thompson, aged 66, and his brother Uriah, aged 75, clasped each other in their arms to-day and rejoiced, for they had not seen or heard of each other for fifty-one years. Uriah left their native State of Arkansas in 1853 and came West to California. When the Civil War broke out both brothers enlisted in the Union ranks and served three years. Uriah returned to California, and in 1875 Frank also came West. They had heard nothing of each other during all these years. Frank supposed his brother had been dead for some thirty years, while Uriah had been in the Soldiers' Home in Southern California and for forty-five years had neither seen nor heard of a relative.

It was by accident that Frank learned that his brother was in the Soldiers' Home. A friend of Uriah noticed the resemblance, and through a conversation Frank found that his brother had visited friends in Fresno. He at once sent for him to come to Fresno.

DEFENDS HIS POSITION IN GUARDIOLA WILL CASE. George De Urioste Declares He Acted for the Best Interests of His Old Friend's Daughter.

The announcement published yesterday of the arrival here from Spain of Miguel Cristobal de Barcelona, son-in-law of the late Jose Guardiola, whose local property was sold at auction last week and the statement that the visitor had questioned the fee asked by George de Urioste, local Consul for the Argentine Republic, for representing Mrs. Cristobal, daughter of the late Guardiola, in the distribution of the latter's estate, has brought forth a response from Urioste. In connection with the matter George de Urioste yesterday made the following statement:

With reference to the fees for the services that I have rendered in this matter, there seems to be a difference of opinion between Mr. Cristobal and myself, but, as has been already published, this will probably be amicably settled between us. Regarding my services, it was indispensable that I should consult a lawyer, and as Charles Page has been my legal representative for years I naturally consulted with him. His labors have been very arduous and have most certainly benefited Mrs. Cristobal. I desire it to be understood that I have done my very best to conserve the interests of Mrs. Cristobal in her father's estate and say this so that the general public will not receive any wrong impression from the statements published.

In reference to the previous will of Jose Guardiola, in which George de Urioste was named as executor, the latter stated that he withdrew his petition for letters after he had learned that a second will had been executed by Guardiola, and, upon the solicitation of Mrs. Cristobal, agreed to give his attention to Mrs. Cristobal's interests.

PIUTE CHIEF IS MURDERED

Aged Indian, Suspected of Witchcraft, Killed and His Body Thrown Into River

GRANDSON IS ARRESTED

Suspicion Directed Against Relative of Dead Man Because of Remarks He Made

RENO, June 16.—Suspected of witchcraft and blamed for the advent of the white man into Nevada, Tom Crow, one of the oldest Piute Indians on the Pyramid reservation, located in Esmeralda County, this State, was murdered last Saturday and his body thrown into Walker River. The corpse floated into Pyramid Lake and was found.

Dave Brown, a grandson of the murdered man, is suspected of the crime. He had made remarks which apparently fastened the murder upon him and yesterday the Indian police placed him under arrest. He was taken to Carson, where he now awaits the action of the United States Grand Jury.

TOKEN OF ESTEEM PRESENTED BY CLASS. McKenzie Musical Society During Concert at Native Sons' Hall Makes Handsome Gift.

It was a gala night for John W. McKenzie and the McKenzie Musical Society last night at Native Sons' Hall on Mason street. For some years it has been the custom of the society to give monthly concerts and for Professor McKenzie to award testimonials to the various pupils. Last night the order of things was reversed and the professor was the recipient of a handsome pair of diamond cuff links given him by the members of his class. A musical programme of excellent merit, including solos, duets, quartets and the full chorus of the society was rendered under the personal direction of Professor McKenzie. Following the musical programme the chairs in the hall were cleared away and many couples were soon whirling upon the floor.

The committee in charge during the evening comprised W. H. Westerfield, chairman; J. P. Faivre and John W. McKenzie.

RABBI MONTAGUE COHN ADDRESSES CONGREGATION. The congregation of Ohabai Shalom Synagogue on Bush street listened to an interesting and earnest sermon by Rev. Montague Cohn last night. Rabbi Cohn is a small, dark-featured man of middle age; his words are forceful and his manner is direct. The remainder of the evening was devoted to a musical programme, two selections, a solo by Cantor Solomon and a violin solo by Joseph Willard were particularly good.

Another candidate, Rev. L. G. Reynolds of Salt Lake, will arrive in the city some time next week.

DIFFICULTIES BESET GAME LAW VIOLATORS

P. H. Lacy and D. Scouler of San Francisco Pay $150 for Killing Deer Out of Season.

P. H. Lacy and D. Scouler of San Francisco are reported to have encountered difficulties at the hands of the Fish Commission while on their vacation at Highland Springs, Lake County. They escaped at an expense of $150.

Scouler and Lacy forgot all about the game laws and went hunting. In the course of their perambulations they came upon and slaughtered a fine buck. The sportsmen removed the animal to their hotel and before they could dispose of the carcass it was learned that Deputy Fish Commissioner Lea had been previously reported that he was in another county, but the Fish Commissioners had heard of the Highland Springs hunters and ordered him home.

Lea states that Scouler and Lacy dined their venison under the house after dark and attempted to cremate it in a furnace. Lea smelled the burning meat from where he was waiting and located the sportsmen, who had burned but half of the buck. Judge Hunt of Kelseyville heard the case and announced that justice would not feel satisfied with less than $150 with which to soothe the outraged majesty of the law.

SMUGGLING CASE GOES OVER TILL MONDAY

Wealthy Ladies of Denver Contesting Payment of a Seven Thousand-Dollar Fine for Evasion. When the libel of condemnation against one fur rug and several pieces of silk came up for hearing yesterday in the United States District Court the attorney for the rug and the silk asked for and obtained a postponement until next Monday.

The property was seized by customs officials in the fall of 1902 because of a failure of the owners, Mrs. Fannie A. Boettcher and Miss M. B. Murtrie, both of Denver, to mention in the declarations prescribed by the statutes. One of the trunks in which the undeclared goods had been found was provided with a false bottom and this fact led the customs searchers to believe that it had been the intention of the ladies to smuggle the goods. For their failure to enter the property in the declaration the Customs Collector fined the ladies an aggregate of $7,000, which they paid under protest. Both the wealthy society people of Denver, Miss M. B. Murtrie has been married since the affair.

WAITERS SUE PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY

Refuse to Scrub Paint When Ordered by the Master and Are Thrown Into Jail. Joseph Gonzalez and Manuel Hevia filed a libel in the United States District Court yesterday against the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to recover $66 66 each for wages alleged to be due them as waiters and for such damages as to the court may seem proper for false imprisonment.

The complaint recites that when the steamship City of Para, on which the libelants were employed, arrived at Panama they were dismissed without cause, and, on the complaint of the master, were imprisoned in Panama for two days. It is recited further that Gonzalez was obliged to pay $50 for his passage from Panama to this port and that Hevia worked his way.

H. W. Hutton, their attorney, said that his clients were placed in jail at Panama for refusing to scrub paint and the bonus of the prisoners have been fixed at $2000 each.

RUNAWAY BOYS GET INTO SERIOUS TROUBLE

William White and Walter Schwartz, San Franciscans, Arrested in Ohio for Raising Certificates. A special dispatch from Cincinnati, Ohio, states that William J. White and Walter E. Schwartz, young men, residents of San Francisco, have been held to answer before the United States Grand Jury of that district on a charge of having raised United States $1 silver certificates to $10 and of having passed them. The Grand Jury will not meet until October and the bonus of the prisoners have been fixed at $2000 each.

The boys are not more than 20 years of age. They ran away from home a short time ago to visit the exposition at St. Louis and it is supposed that their money gave out when they reached Cincinnati and they were obliged to resort to tampering with the Government currency.

White resided with his parents at 2229 Sutter street in this city. The father of young Schwartz is employed as a clerk in the quartermaster's department of the army in this city.

SEND LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHS TO ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION

The Pictures Selected Will Be Displayed at the Alhambra This Evening.

Visitors to the St. Louis Exposition are soon to see the most interesting features of San Francisco as portrayed by the kodak. James W. Erwin, the expert of the California Camera Club, will leave to-morrow with the display. To-night he will show his collection and deliver a lecture on "California and its Metropolis" at the Alhambra Theater.

Golden Gate Park, the Cliff House, Suto baths and many interesting spots and phases of life in the city will be displayed on the screen. Notable among the views are those of the San Francisco Fire Department, which do ample justice to that efficient body.

On Tuesday evening, June 21, A. W. Gamble, the well known painter, will give a lecture on "Composition." During the evening slides from the following will be shown: The Portland, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Columbia and Hartford clubs. Friends of the California Camera Club are invited to attend.

Says She Is a Kleptomaniac.

Mrs. Ida Martin, a young married woman, 23 years of age, was arrested by Special Policemen J. J. Allen and W. A. Tilton at the Emporium last night. She was booked at the City Prison on a charge of petty larceny. Mrs. Martin admits the theft of a package of spoons, a shirt and some notions to the value of $7, but says she was impelled to take them. Her health is in a delicate state and her husband lies ill with pneumonia at their home.

Liverpool has closed one-third of its saloons during the last ten years, and so decreased her police force in consequence as to have effected an economy of $40,000 yearly.
