Fibroid Tumors Cured. A distressing case of Fibroid Tumor, which baffled the skill of Boston doctors. Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, Mass., in the following letter tells how she was cured, after everything else failed, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appearing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have hearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time. The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice—although she advised Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, to take her medicine—which she knew would help her—her letter contained a mass of additional instructions as to treatment, all of which helped to bring about the happy result.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Some time ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women; all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb; backache; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the volume and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt.

Mrs. Hayes at her above address will gladly answer any letters which sick women may write for fuller information about her illness. Her gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so genuine and heartfelt that she thinks no trouble is too great for her to take in return for her health and happiness.

Truly it is said that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women, and no other medicine; don't forget this when some druggist wants to sell you something else.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

GIRLS ARE ARRESTED ON GRAND LARCENY CHARGE. Josephine Goethals and Her Cousin, Marie, Accused of Stealing Articles From Their Employer.

Josephine Goethals, 16 years of age, and her cousin, Marie Goethals, 15, were arrested yesterday by Detective O'Dea and booked at the City Prison on a charge of grand larceny. The girls were employed at the residence of L. E. Boukoffsky, 1740 Bush street, but disappeared on September 6, when the family was downtown seeing the parade. After they had gone it was discovered that an opera cloak, an opera hat, a baby's gold and diamond necklace and some underclothing were missing.

The police were notified and O'Dea was detailed on the case. He found the two girls at 601 Eddy street and Josephine at once admitted that she had the articles. She said she had taken them because she wanted to be well dressed and lead a life of shame. A girl friend had stolen $200 worth of clothes from her employer and was having a good time in a house of ill-fame. She desired to follow her example.

Josephine was detained at the City Prison, but Marie was sent to the City Hall station, to be taken before Judge Murasky in the Juvenile Court.

Registration Is Still Short. The Registrar's office at the City Hall will remain open evenings until September 28 for the purpose of registering voters. The figures of the Registrar show that during the last few days the enrollment has increased twofold, but there are still 23,000 voters to be accounted for in order to bring the total up to the registration of last year.

TWO JAPANESE SAILORS AGITATE POLICE COURT

Rumor Depicts Them as Desperate Men Who Tried to Damage Russian Cruiser, but They Turn Out to be Inebriates

There was a flutter of interest in Police Judge Mogan's court when Oki Genaro and S. Shogiro, Japanese seamen, were sent up for trial. Rumor had depicted them as desperate fellows who were caught attempting to convey damage to the Russian cruiser Lena as she swung at anchor off Meigs wharf last Sunday afternoon. One version of the story had bombs in their possession when they were arrested, and another tale that did not fall of credence was to the effect that they were discovered while towing a torpedo, with evident intent to launch it at their country's marine enemy. Their personal appearance did not belie any of the narratives, for two rougher looking misdoers never faced that tribune.

When the straight story came out it disappointed the lovers of sensation. Genaro and Shogiro were shown to be commonplace "drunks." They were conspicuous in the crowd that viewed the cruiser from Meigs wharf and their conduct savored so much of anagenesis that the vessel as to attract general attention. In native lingo they chattered volubly and occasionally punctuated their remarks with fist slinkings and other demonstrations of hostility. Occasionally, too, they adjourned to the nearest saloon and imbibed beer, and when Patrolman Dunlop and Lankman finally arrested them for drunkenness, they were beyond the danger stage. In a pocket of Genaro's coat was found a piece of iron gaspise, about a foot in length, and that was the nearest approach to an engine of destruction that either of them possessed. Genaro explained that he carried the pipe as a defensive weapon. Neither he nor Shogiro had thought of such a thing as damaging the cruiser, he said, although neither of them would be sorry to see her damaged.

Judge dismissed the case and the crowd gulped its disappointment and wondered how the stories of the bomb and the torpedo had originated.

"Kid" West, professional pickpocket from Chicago, waked sarcastic at the expense of Genaro's explanation of his pipe. He came here two weeks ago, with evident intention of plying his trade during the Knights Templar Conclave, but the day of his arrival he was arrested and put in the City Prison.

"An' dere I have bin ever since," he said to Judge Cabanis, "eatin' an' sleepin' at de city's cost. I tell youse dat Frisco's reptitation for doin' de right thing wid de stranger has bin sustained in my case. Me two weeks' livin' hasn't cost me a cent. Could you beat it?"

"I'm glad you appreciate what we have done for you, Mr. West," said the judge, "and hope you will not neglect to inform your fellow-craftsmen in the East that similar treatment awaits them. It is pleasant to have you regard in proper spirit our efforts to restrain the transfer of personal property from one pocket to your own. You are at liberty to return to Chicago and tell your professional brethren about the liberality of the San Francisco police authorities."

"Dat's de most sympathetic guy I've ever bin up against," remarked Mr. West to the bailiff who ushered him to freedom.

James Woodward, with a wooden leg, was arrested for begging in Golden Gate Park and when searched at the City Prison a small amount of silver was found in one of his pockets. He engaged an attorney and promised to pay for a good defense with $15 in golden coin which he had concealed in his artificial limb, but when Judge Conlan pronounced him guilty he "welched" on his counsel fee and defied the lawyer to collect it. Bailiff Lewis offered to provide the lawyer with a saw, but the proposal was declined. The opulent mendicant will be sentenced to-day.

Marcus Lemick's pockets were filled with rusty nails and other worthless hardware when he was arrested for vagrancy in Chinatown and to Judge Mogan he addressed a rambling explanation in which a mysterious woman, who thrived for his life, figured prominently.

"This man's demented," said the Judge to the policeman. "That's her—Madam Dementa—glad you know her!" shouted the defendant.

He was sent to the Insanity Commissioners.

True to his promise, Judge Mogan sentenced Edward F. Beach, the carpenter who left his wife and babe to starve while he consorted with a young woman from Woodland, to six months at hard labor. When the sentence was pronounced Beach glared with malvolence at his wife, who informed the court that she did not care what became of him.

Fred Bagnell posed in front of cigar stores at O'Farrell and Stockton streets until he became an eyesore to Patrolman Orr and was arrested for vagrancy. The officer testified that the defendant seemingly had no honest means of livelihood, as he did nothing all day and far into the night except air his gorgeous raiment and consume cigarettes. He shone strongest on matte days, the bicycle averaged for him a speed of 100 miles an hour, and he evidently labored under the impression that he was giving the playing women a visual treat. Mr. Bagnell got till to-morrow to produce character testimony.

Judge Conlan sent Manuel Coloriga, restaurateur at Third and Harrison streets, to the Superior Court to be tried for assaulting a marine fireman with a deadly weapon. The prosecuting testimony was to the effect that the fireman fell asleep in the restaurant and was awakened by Coloriga beating him on the head with a club.

Mrs. Kimball-Murray, alias Lucille Murray, will be sentenced to-day for departing leaving unpaired the suit of $93 at the Clarendon Hotel. She told Judge Mogan that she came from Salinas, and sharp questioning elicited the confession that the object of her coming was to procure girls to lead an immoral life in the southern town. After surreptitiously receiving her baggage from the Clarendon she engaged apartments at the Occidental, where she was arrested. She promised to pay the $93, and the Judge promised that if she does so her punishment would be mitigated.

"You remember me, Judge, don't you?" said Barney Fagan, accused of vagrancy, as he was placed before his Honor Judge Conlan.

"Can't say that I do," was the answer. "Where did I have the pleasure of seeing you last?"

"Sacramento," said Barney. "I worked for you there about twelve years ago. Don't you remember?" "It may sound strange when I repeat that I have no recollection of you. But as I was only 7 years of age when I left Sacramento to visit my parents it is not strange that I should forget the faces of persons who worked for me there."

CONFESSES SHE STRUCK SPOUSE

Beer Bottle That Fractured Skull of Charles Martinelli Wielded by His Wife

ACTED IN SELF-DEFENSE Will Be Detained in City Prison Pending Outcome of Her Husband's Injuries

Charles Martinelli, teamster for the Lace House, was not attacked by an unknown man on Sunday night while on his way home with his wife and some friends; but the person who struck him on the head with a beer bottle and fractured his skull was his wife, May, who says she did it in self-defense.

Detective O'Dea was detailed on the case. He went to the Central Emergency Hospital and Martinelli, in the presence of his sister, admitted that his wife was the assailant, but he said he would not prosecute her. O'Dea went to the Martinelli home at 1227 Bush street and soon got a confession from Mrs. Martinelli. She said she and her husband and Mrs. M. Miller, William Ryan and James Hines went to a restaurant on Drumm-street for dinner. Their two children, one 4 years old and the other 2, were also with them.

After they left the restaurant to go home they missed Martinelli and one of the children. She and the others went to her home and she started out to look for Martinelli and the child. She found him in a saloon at Polk and Bush streets with the child. She asked him to go home with her, but he refused. Finally they left the saloon together and on the way home they quarreled. When they reached home he struck her in the face in the presence of their friends and pulled a knife out of his pocket. As she was afraid he would kill her, she seized the beer bottle and struck him on the head with it.

O'Dea questioned Mrs. Miller, Ryan and Hines, but they refused to talk, so he took them and Mrs. Martinelli and her two children to the City Prison and locked them up in "the tanks." Later Mrs. Miller, Hines and Ryan corroborated Mrs. Martinelli's statement and they were released from custody. Mrs. Martinelli's mother called at the City Prison and took possession of the two children. Mrs. Martinelli will be detained pending the result of her husband's injuries. He has been taken to the German Hospital.

FRAUD ORDERS AGAINST SWINDLING FIRMS

Tontine Diamond and Real Estate Concerns Are Denied the Use of United States Mails.

Postmaster Fisk was notified yesterday that a fraud order had been issued against the Mutual Mercantile and Real Estate Company, with offices at 121 Geary street. The postoffice inspectors have reported the concern as a "tontine" diamond swindle. Among its schemes was one to sell building lots at Point Richmond at $125 per week, the buyer to receive the value of $2 for every $1 invested. All such concerns have been adjudged fraudulent by the postal authorities. A large number of similar fraud orders are expected to be issued shortly against other firms in San Francisco.

WILL RETIRE FROM PULPIT

Rev. A. S. Gibbons Announces That After Many Years of Work He Will Take a Rest

At the weekly meeting of the Methodist preachers yesterday morning the Rev. A. S. Gibbons, D. D., was introduced and made an interesting address. Dr. Gibbons, who is the oldest member of the Methodist ministry on this coast, gave an interesting sketch of his career of forty-three years in the ministry.

In the course of his address Dr. Gibbons made an announcement that caused regret among his many friends in the ministry and will also cause regret among church workers generally. After a long and honored career he intends to retire at the coming conference. Although he has worked earnestly for many years Dr. Gibbons is still in excellent health, but desires to rest after his years of labor before he is called to his eternal sleep.

Dr. Gibbons joined the Pacific Conference in 1832 and since that time has always been active in church work, devoting his energies more, however, to teaching than to preaching. For ten years he was president of the University of the Pacific, and he has also been an instructor in that institution. During his long career he has always been in the highest repute. At present he is stationed at Redwood, which will probably be his last charge.

Owing to the annual conference at Pacific Grove no meeting of the Methodist preachers will be held in this city next Monday. The nearness of the conference, however, was announced yesterday, and the reading of a paper by Dr. White was postponed. The Congregational ministers met in the Young Men's Christian Association hall yesterday morning, and while the attendance was good no papers were read. The subject of prayer meetings was informally discussed by Dr. G. C. Adams of this city, Dr. C. R. Brown of Oakland and others.

Divorce Court Record.

Decrees of divorce were granted yesterday to Mary Kall from Edward Kall for neglect, Alice E. Rainey from Clarence E. Rainey for desertion, Maybelle Barton from Jack Barron for cruelty; Emma Thornburgh from Dr. Herbert T. Thornburgh, formerly of San Jose, for desertion; Alice O. Buck from John S. Buck for desertion and Annie G. Houston from Frank A. Houston for habitual intemperance.

Suits for divorce were filed yesterday by Blanche Chollet against Henry E. Chollet for cruelty, Madeline C. Lehnert against Carl H. Lehnert for extreme cruelty, Florence Schneider against William C. Schneider for willful neglect and Leah May Lundie against Hugh Lundie for extreme cruelty.
