

YOUNG'S DEATH NOT SUICIDE

Physicians Give Expert Testimony Against "Nan" Patterson

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In the trial of "Nan" Patterson, charged with the murder of Caesar Young, the expert testimony of physicians was offered to-day to show that Young could not have killed himself. Two cabmen testified to having seen Young abuse Miss Patterson early in the morning of June 4, and another witness, a newsboy, swore that he saw J. Morgan Smith, her brother-in-law, strike Miss Patterson on the face on the night of June 3, after Smith had said to her: "You will have to do it," and she had answered: "I won't."

The cross-examination of Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon was continued. The witness described in detail the autopsy which he performed on Young's body and admitted that at that time he thought the case was one of suicide. This was stricken from the record, however. He was not permitted to say whether the black marks on the bits of skin which he stripped from Young's finger were made by gunpowder or whether he found powder marks when he examined Miss Patterson's hands, soon after the shooting.

The trial still attracts unusually large crowds and special details of police are required to keep out those who have no business in the courtroom and to maintain order in the building.

CLAIMS OF THE DEFENSE.
When the trial of "Nan" Patterson was resumed to-day her attorney, Abraham Levy, declared that, although the prosecution has erected several strong barriers through which the defense would have to batter its way to obtain the acquittal of Miss Patterson, he had no fear that they would not succeed. He asserted that he would bring forward a witness who would tell a convincing story of having actually seen the shooting, no matter how strong the evidence of the people to the effect that no one was within the range of vision of the cab when the fatal shot was fired.

This witness was a passenger on a street car passing across West Broadway, he said, and in his narrative he would swear that from where he stood, though his glance was but momentary, he saw "Nan" Patterson's companion in the cab grasping a revolver in his hand and struggling with the young woman, who was endeavoring to wrest it from him.

The skeleton which was brought into the case yesterday for the use of Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon in describing the course of the bullet which caused Young's death was again brought into the courtroom when the trial was resumed to-day. The ghastly exhibit was suspended near the witness stand when Levy, for the defense, conducted the cross-examination of the Coroner's physician, which was interrupted by the adjournment of court yesterday.

BELIEVED IT WAS SUICIDE.
Levy in his cross-examination led Dr. O'Hanlon back over the ground covered in his direct testimony yesterday. The witness described in detail the autopsy which he performed on Young's body.

"If you had regarded the case as one of homicide, would you have made a more careful examination?" asked Levy.

"I did not regard it then as a case of homicide."

"Did you regard it as a case of suicide?"

"I did," the witness replied.

Dr. O'Hanlon said that while performing the autopsy he found three black marks on the second finger of Young's right hand, and he stripped off pieces of skin, which were turned over to the District Attorney. The witness was not permitted to answer a question as to whether the black marks were made by gunpowder.

Another question, as to whether he found any indication of gunpowder when he examined "Nan" Patterson's hands soon after the shooting, also met with an objection from the prosecution, and the court directed the witness not to answer.

At the conclusion of Dr. O'Hanlon's examination that part of his testimony in which he said that he considered the case to be one of suicide and not homicide when he performed the autopsy was stricken from the record on motion of Rand. Counsel for the defense took an exception to the ruling of Justice Davis on this point.

PAWNBROKER STERN ILL.

The prosecution called Dr. S. Milton Lee to the stand to explain that Heyman Stern, the pawnbroker who had identified the revolver with which Young was shot, was too ill to appear in court at this time. Dr. Lee said Stern was suffering from peritonitis, but that he would be able to attend court next week.

Dr. Ernest A. Lederle, a chemist, who examined the two pieces of skin taken from Young's finger, said that he had been unable to determine the cause of the black spots.

"Without a chemical test I would not venture to say whether or not the specks were made by gunpowder," said Dr. Lederle. "I only examined them with a microscope."

Levy suggested that Dr. O'Hanlon be put on the stand to tell the jury what made the black marks on the skin. Rand objected to the defense going on at this stage of the trial and also to calling O'Hanlon as an expert.

"I have a man who extracted grains of powder from those pieces of skin," said Levy.

Justice Davis admonished the attorney to be more careful in his remarks, and directed the jury to disregard the utterances of counsel regarding what it was claimed examination of the exhibit by others than the witness disclosed.

Edward F. Freligh, a clerk in Stern's pawnshop, said that late on the afternoon of June 3 last a man and a woman bought a revolver at the place where he was employed. The man was tall and well built, but he was unable to describe the woman. The sale was made by Stern, the proprietor. He identified the weapon exhibited in court as the one purchased by the man.

YOUNG ABUSED THE WOMAN.

John Crowley, a cabman, said he was hailed by two men and a woman about 4 o'clock on the morning of June 4, while his cab was standing at the corner of Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. The woman was the defendant in this case and one of the men was Caesar Young. Young had abused Miss Patterson, the witness said, and she was crying. Young ordered him to drive the woman to her home and he did so. On the way down town he watched the occupants of the cab through the trap in the top of the hansom and she continued crying all the way down to Sixty-first street, where she left the cab. Crowley said that Young and the man were intoxicated, but that Miss Patterson was not.

Albert Schneider, another cabman, witnessed the scene when Miss Patterson was put into Crowley's cab and he corroborated the testimony of the previous witness. After Crowley drove away, he said, Young and his companion called him and were driven to a house on West One Hundred and Fortieth street. He noticed that both men were under the influence of liquor.

MORGAN SMITH'S BRUTALITY.

The scene between "Nan" Patterson and her brother-in-law, J. Morgan Smith, which was referred to at length by Rand in his opening argument, was described by Joseph Hewitt, a newsboy. He said he was standing in front of a cafe at Fifty-ninth street and Eighth avenue about 9 o'clock on the night of June 3 when Smith and Miss Patterson came out and got into a cab. They were quarreling and as they got into the cab Smith struck Miss Patterson on the face.

"What did the man say?" asked Levy.

"He said, 'You'll have to do it,' " answered the newsboy.

"And what did she say?"

"I won't," and then he struck her and pushed her into the cab."

Hewitt said he remembered the incident distinctly and was positive in his identification of Miss Patterson and the photograph of J. Morgan Smith. He had noticed the couple particularly, he said.

"There is always a little quarrel going around the circle, and I keep my eyes open to see the fun," the newsboy explained.

Police Captain Sweeney was recalled to identify a photograph of Smith and to testify that he had summoned Smith to appear before the Grand Jury and that Smith had failed to appear. He said he procured a process against Smith on June 9, but that he still had it, having been unable to serve it. A warrant calling for Smith's arrest for contempt of court was then read and marked for identification.

Steamship Loaded With Italian Steerage Passengers in Collision Off New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Fourteen hundred Italian steerage passengers, returning to Italy on the steamship Nord Amerika, were thrown into excitement to-day when the ship was rammed by a New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad float in the harbor at Liberty Island. The float struck the steamship about forty feet from the stern and two feet above the water line, tearing a hole twenty feet long and six feet high in her plates and making it impossible for the vessel to continue her voyage without extensive repairs.

At the moment of the collision many steerage passengers were on the side of the ship toward the approaching float. When the crash came and the Nord Amerika keeled over alarmingly many of the passengers were greatly frightened, and the crew had much difficulty in reassuring them.

When the collision occurred the Nord Amerika was going down the upper bay with a full head of steam. She had left her pier at the foot of West Thirty-fourth street at 1:15 o'clock. As she was passing the statue of Liberty Captain Raffo saw on his starboard bow the heavy steel float with a dozen freight cars aboard coming directly toward him. According to the captain's statement he thought the captain of the float intended to pass at his stern and kept on his course, but the float came on at full speed and struck the steamship.

After the Nord Amerika regained an even keel and the passengers were quieted the vessel returned to her pier. The float, which had apparently suffered but little in the collision, continued its course.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

STERLING, Ill., Nov. 23.—Harry Dyer is in jail nursing serious wounds as the result of attempting to rob the home of Mrs. Anna Flannagan, a widow, on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Flannagan was awakened by a noise and saw the burglar in the sitting-room. Armed with a piece of quilting frame, she entered the room and while the burglar was ransacking the bookcase the woman pounded him on the head. The third blow knocked him down. The woman then disarmed the man, while he was dazed, and at the point of his own revolver he was commanded to walk to the police station, a distance of six blocks. It was necessary for a surgeon to take care of his wounds.

As soon as the burglar is able he will be taken into court and the woman will appear against him.

WOMAN LOSES HER LIFE AS THE RESULT OF DREAM

Going to Investigate Its Reality, She Drops Lamp and Whole Family Suffers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—As a result of a dream Mrs. Lizzie Couet, 41 years old, lost her life to-day and her husband and infant child were fatally burned in a fire that partly destroyed their home.

The woman dreamed that her savings had been stolen from a hiding place in the bottom of a sugar jar in the pantry. Startled by the dream, she took a lamp in one hand and her baby under her other arm and went to investigate. The lamp fell and exploded. Her husband, aroused from sleep in an adjoining room, made a brave attempt to put out the flames and finally succeeded with the aid of a mattress, but only after he, as well as his wife and child, had been frightfully burned. Mrs. Couet died while being taken to a hospital.

CATARRH OF THE LUNGS OFTEN FIRST STAGE OF CONSUMPTION

MISS FLORENCE KENAH.

Miss Florence E. Kenah, 434 Maria street, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "A few months ago I caught a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and remained there so persistently that I became alarmed. I took medicine without benefit, until my digestive organs became upset and my head and back began to ache severely and frequently. I was advised to try Peruna, and, although I had little faith, I felt so sick that I was ready to try anything. It brought me blessed relief at once, and I felt that I had the right medicine at last. Within three weeks I was completely restored, and have enjoyed perfect health since. I now have the greatest faith in Peruna."—Florence E. Kenah.

The cold wind and rain, slush and mud of November are especially conducive to catarrh of the lungs. Few women escape.

Upon the first symptoms of catching cold Peruna should be taken. Colds lead to catarrh. Catarrh ends in consumption. Delays are dangerous.

Pe-ru-na for Colds and Catarrh.
The following interesting letter gives one young woman's experience with Peruna:

Miss Rose Gerbing, a popular society woman of Crown Point, Ind., writes: "Recently I took a long drive in the country, and being too thinly clad, I caught a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, and which I could not seem to shake off. I had heard a great deal of Peruna for colds and catarrh, and I bought a bottle to try. I am pleased that I did, for it brought speedy relief. It only took about two bottles, and I consider this money well spent. You have a firm friend in me, and I not only advise its use to my friends, but have purchased several bottles to give to those without the means to buy, and have noticed without exception that it has brought about a speedy cure wherever it has been used."—Rose Gerbing.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.
One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used for years. It can be used such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.
