

ZION CHURCH LAND FINALLY LAYED DOWNEES WHO WERE HELD ON BOARD THE SIERRA SECURE RELEASE AFTER REHEARING GROUND FOR SACRED CITY LEAVE TO JOIN SELF-STYLED ELIJAH II IN BUILDING UP SETTLEMENT OF CONVERTS

The Dowieites who arrived here from Auckland, New Zealand, on the steamship Sierra and were detained on board by the United States Immigrant Inspectors were allowed to land after a rehearing yesterday afternoon. The party consists of William F. Smith, an engineer, with three children; James Todd, a laborer, and Miss Kate Hawthorne, a house servant. They came from Auckland under promise of employment at Zion City and were held by the authorities on the ground they were contract laborers.

In the case of Patrick Coyle, his wife and five children, ranging from one to fifteen years, permission to land was granted after a rehearing by the Federal authorities yesterday afternoon. The family arrived on the Sierra and were denied landing on the grounds that both the father and mother were deaf and likely to become public charges. A daughter Sophie, aged nine years, is suffering from inflammation of the eyelids and turning in of the eyelashes to such an extent that an operation is considered necessary. The family proved they had many friends in the city, among whom was Rev. M. J. Casey, of St. Mary's Cathedral, who took such an interest in them as to secure permission for them to land.

EXHIBITS PICTURES OF THE HOLY LAND FATHER MULLIGAN TAKES PART AT ST. JOSEPH'S FAIR BENEFIT.

A delightful entertainment, including stereoscopic views of the Holy Land by the Rev. Father P. E. Mulligan, was given last night for the benefit of St. Joseph's fair in St. Joseph's Hall. In his opening remarks Father Mulligan said that a visit to the Holy Land disillusioned the traveler of many of the romantic ideas formed as to the beauties of the place. Still, he said, to the eyes of faith the Holy City is still beautiful, and notwithstanding the detestations that have gone on there.

The scenes thrown on the screen began from the landing at Jaffa, through the plain of Sharon to Jerusalem, and then from Hebron through Bethlehem to the Holy City. The various parts of historical interest in the city were the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the Pretorium and the Mosque of Omar. Along with the historical scenes were religious pictures typifying Biblical events. Subjects taken by Father Mulligan himself while in the Holy Land were appropriately portrayed by moving pictures.

The programme was given in the following order: Selections, orchestra; song, Kathleen Murphy; Gaelic dancing, Joseph P. Kelleher and John O'Connell; Historical Scenes of Holy Land, Rev. P. E. Mulligan; "The Palms," David Maslony; song, "Stabat Mater," and "Eugenia Cecilia," his orchestra; choir, selection, orchestra; selection, Oriental quartet, selections, Elton Lambert.

Petitions in Insolvency. Petitions in insolvency were filed yesterday in the United States District Court as follows: George Phillips, farmer, Magalia, liabilities $975, no assets; Samuel R. Hall, merchant, Quincy, liabilities $474.77, no assets; United States District Judge de Haven affirmed the action of the referee in refusing to confirm the sale of real estate in the matter of the bankruptcy of Stevenson. The property was sold for $350, subject to a mortgage for $5000, and the referee did not think that the price was sufficient.

Captain Rice Discharged. United States Commissioner Heacock yesterday dismissed the charge against Captain P. W. Rice of the British ship Red Rock for allowing to escape from his vessel an alien sailor afflicted with trachoma. Judge Heacock complimented Assistant United States Attorney George D. Clark for the ability and fairness he had shown in the conduct of the case.

HONEST PHYSICIAN Works With Himself First. It is a mistake to assume that physicians are always to be trusted as to the curative properties of anything else but drugs.

Indeed, the best doctors are those who seek to heal with the use of food and drink. A physician writes from California to tell how he made a well man of himself with Nature's remedy. "Before I came from Europe, where I was born," he says, "it was my habit to take coffee with milk (cafe au lait) with my morning meal, a small cup (cafe noir) after dinner and two or three additional small cups at my club during the evening.

"In time nervous symptoms developed with pains in the lumbar region, and accompanied by great depression of spirits, despondency—in brief, 'the blues.' I at first tried medicines, but got no relief and at last realized that all my troubles were caused by coffee. I thereupon quit its use forthwith, substituting milk for my coffee. "The tea seemed to help me at first, but in time the old distressing symptoms returned, and I quit it also, and tried to use milk for my coffee. "This I was compelled, however, to abandon speedily, for while it relieved the nervousness somewhat, it brought on constipation. Then, by a happy inspiration, I was led to try the Postum Food Coffee. This was some months ago and still I use it. I am no longer nervous, nor do I suffer from the pains about the heart, while my 'blues' have gone and my life is bright and once more. I know that leaving off coffee and using Postum healed me, and I make it a rule to advise my patients to use Postum given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

HER SPOUSE TAKES PART Taps Tonsor's Head With Gun and Is Arrested.

Miss Claribel Freeman, youthful and dusky, told Police Judge Mogan that George B. Washington "did puffy right" when he smote the head of Robert Willbert Jones with a .44-caliber revolver, because Mr. Jones had not only "made himself 'fensive' to her, but slapped the face of Mr. Washington's better-half. Moreover, the impudence shown by Mr. Jones in causing the arrest of Mr. Washington on a charge of battery was considered anything in the line of 'freshness' that Miss Freeman had ever heard of.

"Dis yah Jones man," Miss Freeman elucidated, "is eh ba-hah at Vallejo, when Ah wuz a-stayin' at de home ob de Washtons on Moulton street he kims wuz slapping de face ob de girl."

George Maxwell, a custom officer at Vancouver, left for that city yesterday afternoon after an agreement between the Pacific Coast Steamship Company and the Oceanic Steamship Company that in case he were denied landing by the authorities the latter company would return him to Australia. Maxwell's case is a peculiar one. He left Vancouver for his vacation in the city of Seattle, on his return asked the privilege of landing here in transit to his home. He was denied landing, as the doctors say he has trachoma and the immigrant officials are of opinion that he will be denied landing in Vancouver also on that account. He is a British subject, but not a Canadian subject.

PLANS TO SAVE THE FORESTS Ernest A. Sterling Tells of Work Being Done to Guard Against Devastating Fires GIVES WARNING WORD Requests Campers and Others Who Frequent Mountains to Use the Greatest Care

Ernest A. Sterling, chief of the office of Forest Extension in the Forest Service, Washington, D. C., arrived in this city yesterday from Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, where he has been inspecting the Government forest nurseries and plantations of young trees in the mountains of that region.

In expressing his great satisfaction at the conditions at these stations Sterling said: "The young trees planted on the denuded mountain slopes last winter are thriving, greater care and attention on a large scale this work has been deemed experimental, but conditions now justify restoration work on a large scale and it is necessary in order to protect the sources of water supply. About 500,000 young trees are now growing in the nurseries in the mountains back of Pasadena, which will be set on denuded slopes when they are two years old. To protect the nurseries and newly planted trees twelve miles of fire lines have been recently constructed, which are broad paths cut through the brush along the summits of the prominent ridges.

Reforestation is impracticable without fire protection. These investigations are only a partial protection, it being the duty of campers and others who frequent the mountains to use the greatest care and prevent fires as much as possible. Great injury is done yearly by the fires, which destroy the protecting brush cover and the result is carelessness. The State and Federal laws cannot be too strictly enforced and especially in this region where water has such a high value and where every acre of mountain land burned over reduces just so much the amount of water available for irrigation in the valleys.

That the importance of this work is appreciated by the people of Southern California is shown by their lively interest and the contribution of funds for forest planting and fire-line construction. I have also visited the headquarters of the Yuba River, where investigations to determine the relation of forest cover to stream flow are being carried on. A visit was also made to Mendocino in Sixty-six to determine the forest service is co-operating with the McClellan River Lumber Company in applying a system of fire protection. This consists of a patrol and telephone system, careful burning of slash and debris and the construction of fire lines. This work, so far, has been very successful and seems to demonstrate that lumbermen can afford to protect their holdings and thus largely reduce the great annual damage from forest fires.

The State of California has a new forest law which provides for the protection in the use of fire on forest lands and a State Forester, who is organizing a system by which to enforce these laws. This work, however, to all forest lands cannot be easily secured until lumbermen exert themselves to guard against fires on their own holdings. The work at McClellan shows that this is entirely feasible. In co-operation with the State forest service is studying the question of forest planting for purposes of protection and wood supply, also methods of impregnating eucalyptus posts and piles to increase their life and the rate of growth and commercial value of white fir.

When the combat concluded Mr. Gordon had a blackened eye and for the life of him he could not explain to the policeman how and when he received it. Simultaneously with that mysterious discovery came disclosure from Mr. Barbanell that he had just ascertained his missing bottles were stolen by a newsboy. Judge Fritz dismissed the case after he had reprimanded both defendants for their reckless waste of aerated drinks.

Mrs. George A. Gregory of 209 Octavia street bore up bravely while she told Judge Mogan of how aged Antonio Flores had brandished a revolver and threatened to shoot her, but no more. Her narrative concluded that she swooned. When the latter in court had subsided Mr. Flores was pronounced guilty of assault with a deadly weapon. He was a tenant of the house where the assault took place. Gregorys until his orderly conduct provoked them to increase his rental, with intent to make him vacate their property, when he drew a pistol and held it menacingly while he hurled bricks and empty tin cans at them.

By making 16-year-old Florinda Jackson his bride John Harvey, a porter in a Kearny-street candy store, saved himself from punishment for vagrancy and for the young woman out of a reformatory institution. The parties are Afro-Americans, and Judge Mogan had decided to punish them for irregular living when they appeared before him and announced that they were married yesterday morning. They were dismissed with congratulations.

There was a row in the household of Dr. Sullivan, at 15 1/2 Turk street, last Monday evening, and after Patrolman Percy Sawyer had arrested and locked up Samuel Turner, a stepson of the doctor, for drunkenness and peace disturbance, he returned to the seat of war with intent to incarcerate the doctor's wife on a similar charge, but the home was deserted. Judge Mogan continued the case of Mr. Turner next Saturday, by which time Patrolman Smith will probably have caught Mrs. Sullivan.

William Mack, attired in the semi-military uniform worn by the members of the Barnum & Bailey circus, told Judge Mogan that he came here with the greatest of the greatest shows on earth and liked the town and its ways so well that he had to leave it. "Frisco," he informed his Honor, "is de hottest burg on de map, an' all me days wud be spent here if I could git a steady job. Day talk 'bout York, but gimme dis little ole town in prayer-ference."

He was arrested for vagrancy, but his glowing tribute to "Frisco's" comparative attractiveness won for him dismissal with a hint that he would better join the circus ere it gets much farther away from him. "De show's at Sawm Josie an' I'll be wid it to-morrow," he said.

While engaged in altercation at Third and Mission streets Alexander Fox pushed a ticket into Denis Riordan's left side and Judge Mogan continued the assault with a deadly-weapon case against Mr. Fox until the Receiving Hospital surgeons permit Mr. Riordan to attend court.
