SUICIDE STORY IS DISPROVED

City Chemist Bothe reported to the coroner yesterday that a complete analysis of the contents of Archibald Ralston's stomach revealed no traces of poison of any kind. Now the authorities are at sea as to the cause of the young man's death.

Ralston died in a hack after drinking some sort of a mixture, believed to be cyanide of potassium, in a room at Delmonico's on the 13th of this month. A woman, known as Hattie Thiebault, who had been living with him, was in the room when he drank the poison. He pleaded with her to drink some and to die with him.

The coroner's inquest on Ralston will be held to-morrow and Dr. J. L. Stephen, ousted chief surgeon of the emergency hospitals and confidential agent of Abe Ruef, will have some explanations to make concerning his connection with the case. In an effort to shield the restaurant people Stephen "buted in" on the case, which was in charge of Dr. William Bauer, and had the dying man put in a hack. The coroner's office, Stephen had the body taken to Truman's undertaking establishment. Stephen placed the body in charge of one of the assistants at the undertaking parlor and instructed him not to say anything to the Morgue officials about the case. His connection with this case and a multitude of other scandals caused the Mayor to have the

TURNS A TALE OF BRUTALITY

A story that will surprise society is told in the divorce complaint filed by Nellie Titcomb McCormick Adams against James Bruce Adams. Before the young and unhappy wife sought the courts for relief from his alleged abuse exclusive circles in which they moved looked upon Adams as a courteous and devoted husband.

"This plaintiff," says Mrs. Adams, "married the defendant in San Francisco on January 1, 1903, and since that time to the present date he has failed to provide the common necessities of life, such failure being due to his idleness, profligacy and dissipation. The defendant has also treated this plaintiff with extreme cruelty."

Continuing, Mrs. Adams says that while they were residing at the Edgemoor her husband struck and cursed her. They moved to the Nordhoff and again he struck her and indulged in a flow of vile and obscene language that completely prostrated her. From the Nordhoff they moved to the Mountclair and there his abuse continued. Next, she says, they moved to the Fairview and there, she alleges, he beat her on four different occasions.

HUSBAND CHOKES HER. One evening at the Fairview, she continues, she was talking to her friends. At midnight she needed his services, she says, as she was not well, and going to the door she called to him. She says he ordered her to shut the door and get inside, which greatly humiliated her. In a few minutes he came into the room, she avers, and, catching her by the throat, he choked and shook her and then struck her on the face, felling her to the floor and rendering her nearly unconscious.

Since her marriage to Adams, the plaintiff says that she has been greatly harassed and annoyed by bill collectors, her husband failing to meet his obligations. She says that she is confident that she has sent the collectors to her, telling them that she paid the bills, thus forcing her into most embarrassing situations. In addition to a decree of divorce Mrs. Adams asks the right to resume her maiden name, McCormick. She is represented by Page, McCutchen & Knicker.

RAPHAEL WENT THE PACE. Catherine Raphael, whose parents reside in this city, secured a divorce from Ellis Raphael in Judge Graham's department yesterday. Mrs. Raphael testified that her husband is in receipt of a monthly remittance from Shanghai, but that instead of caring for her, he spent his income entertaining other women in the tenderloin. Her story was verified with the result that she was granted the decree.

Decrees of divorce were also granted to Theodore from Anna Bessert for desertion; Maud M. from Jerome Hohbach for cruelty; Octavia L. from Augustus C. Bredfeldt for extreme cruelty, and Josephine from John C. Wesley for desertion.

Suits for divorce were filed by Alice against George A. Belayeff for desertion; Grace against Frederick Wilkie for cruelty; Gemma against Baptista Passera for cruelty; Emma E. against William A. Hawley for cruelty; Mary A. against Charles W. Becker for failure to provide; Josie G. against E. F. Markell for failure to provide; Caroline against Charles Tinsley for failure to provide; Josie G. against E. F. Minnie Marshall for extreme cruelty.

Edward Curtis filed suit against his wife Laura, to annul their marriage. He asserts that when he wedded her she had another husband living from whom she had not been divorced.

NEWSPAPER WOMEN MAKING TOUR AROUND THE WORLD

Louella Conly and Anna Finch, Chicago writers, arrive here on way to the Orient.

Louella Conly and Anna Finch, two young Chicago newspaper women, arrived in this city yesterday on a tour around the world. The young writers will furnish articles for Eastern newspapers and magazines.

They left Chicago on September 7 and stopped at Omaha en route to this city. They contemplate being gone from three to five years and will visit Honolulu, Japan, the islands of the East Indies, China, India, Asia, Africa, and will also visit the various countries of Europe.

The young journalists are prepared to earn their own way. They expect to meet with many obstacles and hardships before they complete their journey. They left Chicago with $150. Their baggage consisted of two dress suit cases, two cameras and a typewriter.

Their plans were to leave this city for Honolulu, but owing to not being able to make proper connections with an early steamer they may go to Tahiti.

Bluecoats Override Doorkeepers Help Disorderly Element at the Alhambra.

The police of San Francisco, aided and abetted by A. Ruef and two men in the hall for decorative purposes, incited the riotous tumult at the Alhambra Theater night before last.

Abe Ruef is not a delegate or an officer of the Republican local convention. As an act of courtesy he was admitted on Tuesday evening to the convention hall through the stage entrance on Jones street. A. D. Codington, doorkeeper for the organization committee of the Republican League, noted that Ruef entered the hall through the doorway leading directly to Eddy street. It is represented to the league that Ruef conferred with Commissioners O'Grady and Poehmel. Immediately after this conference four policemen, headed by the big sergeant Molinoux, were directed to force open the main door leading to the convention hall. Mr. Codington, the doorkeeper, asserts that he protested against the invasion, but the police, instead of heeding the protest, picked him up bodily and hurled him aside, exclaiming, "This is a public hall and any one can go in." Thereupon the mob rushed in, tearing to tatters the American flags which were placed in the hall for decorative purposes by the agents of the committee. Shouting and screaming, the rioters rushed to the gallery and roared for Schmitz, Ruef and Maestretti. When the gallery was densely packed the rioters, who were sought to create a stampede, but the good sense of the delegates on the main floor prevented a panic.

ANOTHER SESSION TO-NIGHT.

It is high time for the people of San Francisco to take measures to guard their rights and liberties when they are threatened by the use of force by riotous police to incite riot and tumult. No one knew better than the police that the crowd outside was recruited in the interests of Ruef to create discord and confusion in the convention. It is the judgment of many that the police should be held responsible for the riotous proceedings which were used in a shameful manner to do the politics of a discredited and reckless boss. It is an open question whether the Chief of Police, who grossly neglected his duty in allowing the riot to be incited, should be held responsible. It is better fitted to command the force than is big Sergeant Molinoux to command a convention squad.

The Republican convention will hold another session at the Alhambra Theater to-morrow evening, and it is probable that visitors will be admitted on tickets to be presented at the main door. Each delegate may be provided with three tickets. This allotment will provide for the admission of 1200 persons. The convention will adopt the reports of the committees on credentials, platform and order of business. It is expected that nominations as follows will be made: Mayor, John S. Partridge; Auditor, Harry Bacher; Treasurer, John E. McDougald; City Attorney, Percy V. Long, and County Clerk, John J. Greif. It is expected that an adjournment until next Monday night will be taken.

Many resolutions and petitions apprehensive that the committee on credentials will adopt a timid, persuasive policy in dealing with the Ruef delegation from the Twenty-eighth, Thirty-second and Thirty-ninth Districts. The Maestretti delegates of the Thirty-ninth District are now in the camp of the opposition. They arose in their places last Tuesday night and cheered lustily for Schmitz and Maestretti. Perhaps the cheering for the latter was to signify their joy that he was in the convention instead of the jail, but the scene was not calculated to inspire the forces of good government to special enthusiasm.

RIGHT TO JUDGE.

The convention has undoubtedly right under the law to judge of the qualifications of its own members and the question seems to be up to the committee on credentials to determine whether the Maestretti Ruffians of the Thirty-ninth and the Lynch Ruffians of the Twenty-eighth District should be held places in the Republican convention chosen to promote the cause of clean government. It is a well-known fact that these delegates were not elected in "good faith" to represent Republican sentiment, but were chosen by the votes of Schmitz men in the Union Labor party to do Ruef politics in the Republican convention, and no regrets to speak of would be expressed if they were bounced out. It is pretty well understood that they expect to take Ruef orders and walk out when fusion is accomplished. The organization committee of the San Francisco Republican League did not suspect that Moreno and Grutter of the Thirty-fourth and Grutter of the Thirty-fifth would desert to the enemy. It was known in advance of the session Tuesday night that Taxator of the Thirty-eighth, Cook of the Thirty-seventh and Connors of the Thirty-fourth had gone to the same camp. Behan of the Forty-first was suspected of disloyalty.

The Thirty-eighth District delegation will meet in caucus at 638 Market street to-day to consider Supervisorial nominations.

There is talk to the effect that the platform of each convention will be brief. The Republican committee on resolutions, E. W. Knight chairman, will hold a meeting to-day.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION. The Democratic Convention will meet at Pioneer Hall to-night. The hall is not spacious, so there will not be much space to spare after the 33 delegates composing the convention are seated. Whichever space is left will be assigned to orderly onlookers. There will be an ample force of deputy sheriffs within easy reach, and if the raw methods adopted by the police at the Alhambra Theater are employed against the delegates, it is to be expected that the police will be held responsible for the riotous proceedings which were used in a shameful manner to do the politics of a discredited and reckless boss.

Thomas W. Hickey, chairman of the Democratic County Committee, will call the convention to order, and upon him will be conferred the honor of permanent presiding. William McCarthy, it is understood, will be chosen secretary. It is expected that the committee on platform will consist of eighteen members, one from each Assembly district. The representation for the committee on order of business will be the same. The convention will probably appoint a committee of five on fusion and a committee of seven on Supervisorial

Sheriff's Deputies for Democratic Gathering

The cross-examination of J. D. Schuyler, civil and hydraulic engineer, was concluded yesterday in the Spring Valley Water Company's case against the city by Assistant City Attorney John S. Partridge before United States Commissioner Heacock. George W. Reynolds, expert accountant, will be recalled for further examination at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

"Do you realize," asked Mr. Partridge, "that a municipal water system could furnish water at actual cost?" "Yes," replied the witness, "but the cost to the consumers would be greater than it is now under the Spring Valley management."

Mr. Schuyler replied that he had not made any estimate as to that, but he was certain that it would be higher than it is now.

Mr. Partridge called the witness' attention to his testimony in the Contra Costa water case, in which Schuyler said that the value of water was $2500 per miner's inch for a twenty-four-hour flow, and asked him to make a calculation. He did so, with the following result: "A miner's inch equals a flow of 12,960 gallons in twenty-four hours. The supply to San Francisco is 35,000,000 gallons every twenty-four hours. At the rate of $2500 per inch the water right for this quantity would be worth $875,000. Mr. Schuyler estimated the cost of the structural work of the Spring Valley system at $17,924,806. This sum added to the value of the water right gives $24,654,806, a sum, Mr. Partridge explained, lower than that upon which the Supervisors had based their estimate of $30 to $75 per acre. Mr. Partridge drew out the fact that on that occasion the witness was employed by a water company which sought to condemn the land in question for a reservoir site."

DIVA SMILES AT THE COURT

Judge Lawlor's ruling stopped much interesting testimony yesterday regarding the relations that at one time existed between Julia Zignler Urburu and Signorina Luisa Tetrazzini, the prima donna.

The prima donna, who arrived early in the morning, wearing a variety of entrancing smiles at the court, the attorneys and the gaping multitude, which, strange to say, was entirely masculine. She did not deign a glance at Urburu, who wore a look of pained disgust throughout the trial.

Signor Bazelli accompanied the prima donna. He appeared cheerfully indifferent to the trial even when his own name was coupled with that of Urburu. He wore a quiet suit of gray that was remarkably in harmony with the dress of the diva.

Early in the proceedings Judge Lawlor announced that the allegation of intimate relations having existed between the singer and her discarded secretary had nothing to do with the charge of felony embezzlement for which he was being tried. Both Urburu and his attorney, Charles Peery, were disturbed at the ruling.

Peery declared that Urburu's defense would be that he and the cantatrice had lived for several years almost as man and wife. Whatever money was secured by either was at the disposal of the other, he said. But when Peery attempted to prove that such relations existed he was promptly interrupted by the court.

Signorina Tetrazzini talked through an Italian interpreter and Urburu gave his testimony through an interpreter of Spanish. When questioned by Assistant District Attorney Ferral Urburu did all his talking through the interpreter, but on examination by his own lawyer he did not appear greatly in need of the interpreter.

Urburu declared that Tetrazzini was a diplomat. He is a nephew of the President of Argentina and has been Ambassador from that country to Mexico. Senator Urburu cast gallantry, as viewed from an Anglo-Saxon standpoint, to the winds and was more than anxious to tell of the relations between himself and the little prima donna.

Urburu is charged with having misappropriated $300 from $2,175 francs, which was entrusted to his care by the prima donna. He was to forward the $300 to the Damien sisters, dressmakers at Milan. Tetrazzini afterward received word that the money had not been forwarded. On taxing Urburu with the delinquency, she asserts, he promised to make good the amount.

Attorney Peery declares that the diva is trying to railroad her discarded secretary. "My client had $390, which he spent upon this woman," declared Peery. "She is now trying, with the assistance of others, to railroad him to San Quentin."

The case will be argued at 10 o'clock this morning.

FRANK BUNKO MEN ARRESTED.

Frank Bunco and Charles Ferguson, two Eastern bunco men who recently arrived from the Portland fair, were arrested last evening by Detectives Bragg and Taylor on suspicion of having robbed Gerald Wyatt, a Tonopah mining engineer, who is at present stopping at 284 Golden Gate avenue, out of $200 worth of matching coins. Wyatt met Ferguson on the street and the latter induced him to go to a room at 219 Taylor street, on the pretense of showing him some samples of ore. When they reached the place Peery, who impersonated a police officer, was present and proposed that they match coins.
