

Resigns as Candidate for Vice-President of Freshmen, Thus Aiding Professors

COUP IS A SURPRISE

Ballot Will Be Cast by Secretary and Confusion Will Thereby Be Avoided

BERKELEY, Oct. 3.—A lone freshman girl, magnanimous to the point of resigning her ambition to be an officer of the university class of 1908, has enabled the university authorities to gain a greatly desired advantage in their efforts to prevent this year the sophomore-freshman class "rush," always a prominent feature of the freshman class annual election.

Miss Florence Jackson's power to help the university authorities and that part of the student body which sought to stamp out the famous rush came through her peculiar position on the list of freshmen candidates for office. She and Miss Edith Brown were rival candidates for the freshman class vice presidency. For the other offices there was to be no contest, as only one candidate had been named for each office.

It followed that if one of the candidates for the vice presidency could be eliminated and induced to resign her candidacy the entire ticket could be elected by the simple process of the secretary casting the ballot.

If there was to be no contest and no more than a few seconds for the casting of the ballot by the secretary, it was plain that there would be no "rushing" of the freshmen by the belligerent sophomores. It was the stroke that would cut the Gordian knot and the authorities last night began to investigate and see whether Miss Brown or Miss Jackson would assist them in this.

The undergraduate students' affairs committee was notified by the authorities last night that if the election, which was scheduled for to-day, was attended by any violence the sophomores would be held strictly accountable, and it might follow that all class elections hereafter would be ordered held off the campus.

With this prospect facing them, the students' committee had a meeting and for two hours sought to procure the consent of one of the freshmen girls to resign and save the day. The girls wanted to "sleep over it" and the committee accordingly postponed the election until Thursday to give them time to consider.

Miss Jackson and Miss Brown, rival candidates though they were, roomed at the same house and were almost chums. They discussed the matter thoroughly and to-day Miss Jackson scored a great hit with the college authorities and her class as well by announcing that she had resigned and that her friend Miss Brown might be elected by acclamation.

AGREE TO BURN ALL THE WASTE

Crementary Company Closes Deal With Scavengers to Collect the City Garbage

BY ZOE GREEN RADCLIFFE

OAKLAND, Oct. 3.—The Pacific Incinerating Company has closed a contract with the Scavengers' Association by which the city refuse, including garbage and all waste matter, will be hereafter collected in bulk by the scavengers and cremated by the company without separation. This arrangement, the result of much negotiation, is effective to-day. To meet the increased demand upon its facilities the incinerating company has commenced the reconstruction of its plant that its capacity may be doubled.

The new plan of handling the city's waste is the result of much negotiation. The incinerating company, as heretofore, will remain agents for the city; the rates of collection will remain the same. The advantage to the city is that the refuse will be removed not only the garbage, but all of the rubbish will be removed without the necessity of separation and will be destroyed in bulk.

The company will operate under a municipal ordinance, which carefully regulates the handling and the transportation of the refuse, under direction of the Board of Health. The wagon must be specially prepared for the work and all of the paraphernalia must be subject to sanitary inspection at all times. The scavengers will pay the incinerating company an agreed price for destroying the refuse and they guarantee to collect their refuse at no other place than at the crematory. The new ordinance, which is pending before the City Council, would have passed to print last night had not the telephone franchise fight occupied the attention of the Councilmen.

DRAYMEN MAY BUILD FERRY

Alameda County Association Angered at Poor Service of the Southern Pacific

BY ZOE GREEN RADCLIFFE

OAKLAND, Oct. 3.—Impatient at the continued failure of the Southern Pacific Company to afford adequate facilities for the transfer of freight between Oakland and San Francisco, members of the Express and Draymen's Association of Alameda County are considering the building of a ferry-boat of their own to handle the business of the association exclusively. A number of the members of the organization have already withdrawn their patronage from the Southern Pacific Creek Route, and are now giving their business to opposition ferry lines, but this method is also unsatisfactory, and the draymen are anxious to secure a better service.

In a communication to W. S. Palmer, general superintendent of the Southern Pacific Company, the members of the association call attention to the promises made by the officials of the company last August that the service should be improved on the first of the present month, which promise has not been fulfilled. In his letter to Superintendent Palmer, Samuel A. Willard, the secretary of the association, says:

The five thousand five hundred dollars ($5500.00) per month, the amount paid into the treasury of the Southern Pacific Company for ferry service by our members, would, in a number of years, rally pay for an up-to-date ferry-boat of ample accommodations. I have been instructed to inform you of this fact, and ascertain if the Southern Pacific Company by its parsimonious action, is willing to sacrifice its lucrative express franchise to a competitive system as they did the passenger traffic to the Key Route. Yours very truly, Express and Draymen's Association, Alameda County, SAMUEL A. WILLARD, Secretary.

SEARCH WARRANT, HOWEVER, FAILS TO FIND ANY SUCH PERSON WITHIN THE CITY

Lee Robbins Discloses Identity of the Mysterious Stranger Who Fired Shots

BERT INGALLS ACCUSED

OAKLAND, Oct. 3.—The name of the mysterious third man, who made his escape during the attempted shooting of Frank Dunne on the night of June 11, has been disclosed by Lee Robbins, the witness stand to-day to be Bert Ingalls. A search warrant has failed to find such a character about the town and it is not probable that he will appear at all that he knows of the affair. The identity of the third man seen in the scuffle has been kept a secret for many weeks and even to-day Robbins in his testimony says that he does not know that Ingalls fired the shot.

At the trial of Robbins this morning the prosecution rested its side of the case, in which it was shown that Robbins had engaged in a struggle with Dunne and that a third man had fired at Dunne at close range and then made his escape. Robbins then took the stand and said that his fight with Dunne began at Washington and Thirteenth streets when Dunne bumped into him and an exchange of abuse occurred. Robbins followed Robbins up to Clay street, where they clinched. Robbins says that Ingalls had asked him for a watch just before Dunne bumped into him and that was the last he saw of him.

When he and Dunne finally clinched Robbins says that he saw no one and that when the shots were fired Dunne had his head in chancery under his arm and he only heard the report of the gun. For his part in the affair Robbins has been arrested and is now on trial before Judge Melvin and a jury.

OFFICERS ON THE SPOT

BERKELEY, Oct. 3.—A hurry-up call at midnight from residents in the vicinity of 1425 Milvia street, who saw a light in Dr. Yates' empty house at that number and imagined burglars were busy there, brought Marshal Vollmer and his posse to the scene. Most instantly, a man inside informed the Marshal that admittance would be denied the officers unless they came in over his dead body.

"We are coming," cried Vollmer, and in five minutes the man inside was armed with a tack hammer. He aimed a blow at the Marshal and was laid low by Officer Parra's fist. Returning to consciousness a few minutes later, he begged the officers to "Help! Police!" "Right you are," said the Marshal. "The police are among those present."

The stranger was handcuffed and removed to jail. He gave the name of F. E. Payne and told Justice Edward J. Payne that he had been mistaken by mistake, mistook the officers for burglars and was sorry. He was permitted to go on this morning.

Alfred N. Von Sederholm of San Rafael Missing for Nearly an Entire Week

MAY HAVE CREDITORS

Leaves Behind a Bride of a Few Months Who Is Said to Be in Delicate Health

SAN RAFAEL, Oct. 3.—Alfred N. von Sederholm, a jeweler and watchmaker, has been missing since 3 o'clock last Friday evening. To-day his brother-in-law, Cohen by name, removed the stock from the store through the rear entrance and placed it in storage. Cohen claims to be a heavy creditor of Von Sederholm. It is rumored that the missing man is also indebted to San Francisco and Eastern jewelry firms.

The store presents a very barren appearance and only a dozen cheap watches are to be seen. During the last few days many of his customers have called for their articles and have spoken of having search warrants issued for their goods. Von Sederholm's business appeared prosperous and lucrative and was growing rapidly. A few days ago a salesman left $700 worth of diamonds, but returned in a few days and took them with him. While his local financial obligations have been met, it is known that Von Sederholm needed ready money and sought to have his wife's people assist him. They refused, as they could not see their way clear. The last they saw of Von Sederholm was when he left the house of his wife's people in San Francisco last Friday. He said that he was going to the Hammam baths.

Mrs. Sederholm is a February bride and in delicate health. Her husband was known to Von Sederholm's former life. He was at one time employed in the Baldwin jewelry store in San Francisco. He is a native of Sweden.

PROFESSOR PLEHN OF STATE UNIVERSITY DECLARES FOR ACTION BY GOVERNMENT

BY ZOE GREEN RADCLIFFE

BERKELEY, Oct. 3.—Professor Carl C. Plehn of the college of commerce at the university delivered an important lecture before his class to-day in which he took the stand that governmental regulation of railroad rates is feasible and advisable. Professor Plehn is regarded as an authority on economic questions and his utterance is accordingly regarded as having unusual weight. The College of Commerce Club recently listened to an exhaustive argument from Mr. Sproule of the Southern Pacific, designed to prove that it was unadvisable for the Government to attempt to control railway rate making. Professor Plehn, countervailing the argument of Mr. Sproule, said to his students:

It is right for the Government to determine what its reasonable rates should be and to order that they be observed. The railroads are responsible to the Government. The purpose of the regulations recommended is to maintain an equitable relation between the public and the railroad corporations. As the system is conducted at present, the railroads and the shippers combine and agree on a price and the consumer is left out of consideration. The charges made by railroads affect prices of all kinds of commodities.

Railroad rates taken in the aggregate are not very unreasonably high. The Government for governmental regulation is directed against discrimination between localities. This discrimination is fostered by monopolies. It is no monopoly can exist. The United States Railroad Commission has rendered reports on a charge of fixing the rate of rates on basis upon which regulation can be made.

The content of the railroads that their rates should be fixed by the Government. It may not be disturbed except at the risk of disordering all property values may be anarchy. It is the duty of the Government of reasonable rates should not destroy the earning powers of the roads if these earnings are not unreasonably high.

Concerning the railroad companies' contention that the Government is an expert, it may be said that Government experts would do the work just as well as railroad experts and with more honesty.

WIFE OF CHARLES COCHRAN OF SAUSALITO ALMOST SHOT IN STRUGGLE OVER A SHOTGUN

CAUSED BY JEALOUSY

Ball Misses the Woman and Finds Resting Place in Wall of the Dining-Room

SAUSALITO, Oct. 3.—A loaded shotgun in the hands of Charles Cochran, an engaged husband, came near claiming Mrs. Lulu Cochran as a victim this morning. It was through her skill in wrestling that she caused the charge to pass through the wall of the dining-room instead of her body.

The trouble occurred shortly after breakfast this morning. According to Mrs. Cochran her husband, who is a painter, had been jealous of her for some time and their domestic life has not been happy. She takes in lodgers to help make both ends meet and her husband was jealous of these men. Cochran came into the dining-room with a loaded shotgun, and as he was approaching his wife she grabbed it, diverting the barrel of the gun from her. It went off while they were struggling and the charge went through the dining-room wall. Mrs. Cochran said to her husband this afternoon when she came to the house under the care of Marshall Hannon to ask her things: "You can speak out of this house. I don't want anything more to do with you. I will go my way, you go yours. I can run this house without you."

Cochran claims that he was examining the gun when it went off. He does not entertain the highest respect for the male visitors to the house and said that his suspicions were aroused by a conversation between his wife and his sister the other morning. Marshall Hannon appeared on the scene and went with Cochran to Judge Fryor. The Judge told Cochran there was no complaint against him. Cochran then went his way. Hannon took possession of his two rifles and shotgun.

OAKLAND, Oct. 3.—County Recorder A. J. Grim, who for many years has been prominently connected with the politics of Alameda County, to-day celebrated his golden wedding anniversary, in honor of which his son, Alfred R. Larsen drew the bundle of bills this morning from the German Savings Bank in San Francisco, intending to pay it on the purchase price of the ranch. He came across the bay on the 1 o'clock boat. TO DISCUSS HIS TRIP

May Also Talk of Recent Disturbances in the Big Dormitory on the Campus

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL. STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 3.—The regular monthly assembly of Stanford University will be held to-morrow morning in the assembly hall of the university. President David Starr Jordan will be the principal speaker at the gathering and will speak of his recent tour of Europe. This will be the first appearance of the head of the university at the regular assembly, and it is thought he will make a few remarks for the special benefit of the freshmen. The subject of disorder in the dormitory will probably be mentioned, although the recent trouble has been effectively settled.

While in Europe Dr. Jordan paid special attention to methods in vogue at all the Continental and English universities. He will describe his impressions at the meeting to-morrow, also in regard to the athletic problems as presented at these European seats of learning.

The meeting will also be the occasion for the rotators to receive instruction from the new staff of leaders and to try for the first time several new songs which were submitted at the last contest.

STANFORD TO HAVE ENGINEERING CLUB

Society May Affiliate With One at University of California

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 3.—The juniors and seniors in the department of engineering at Stanford University held an important meeting last night for the purpose of looking into the matter of forming a society similar to the one at Berkeley and also to affiliate with the organization of the rival university if the society becomes a reality here.

L. L. Carter, '06, was chosen to act as temporary chairman for the occasion and he appointed a committee of six to investigate the form of the Californian society and report on the feasibility of a like organization for Stanford engineers. F. O. Shunts, '06, was named as chairman of the committee and V. R. Garitas, '06; G. S. Stroud, '06; R. Foll, '07; and M. C. Burr, '07, to act as assistants.

At the meeting a letter from the students of California addressed to Professor C. D. Marx, the head of the department of civil engineering, was read, and by the tone of the communication those present have been led to believe that should an attempt to form the society here be successful there would be no difficulty interposed by the Berkeley men to prevent a combine.

The object of the society would be to prepare papers on current problems and to have these read at the meetings and perhaps interchanged with the University of California Society.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Rheumatism

Like Neuralgia, is now known to be a nervous disease. The kidneys become weak through lack of nerve energy, and fail to filter the uric acid from the blood; this acid attacks and burns the nerves and muscles, and consumes the oil in the joints, producing inflammation, fever, swelling—pain. To cure Rheumatism, then, you must restore the kidney nerves and muscles, and neutralize the effect of the acid upon the joints and tissues with Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine, a nerve medicine, which has made many cures of this painful disease. Nerveine strengthens the kidney nerves and increases the circulation, and relief is assured. "Before I took Dr. Miles' Nerveine, I had been looking for a cure for Rheumatism for 25 years. The last time I was laid up for several months, could not get out of bed or set foot on the floor. I tried remedies to rub in to drink, doctors' prescriptions, etc., but none of them had any effect. One day I read about Dr. Miles' Nerveine and got a bottle. After the first dose I had a good night's rest, and after taking half a bottle the pains disappeared, and I went out and walked all around the town. In a week I went to work, and was perfectly cured, but continued to take the medicine for a time, to make sure the pains would not come back."
