

YOUTH BRUTALLY ATTACKS HIS OLD GRANDMOTHER

William Markham, 17 years old, demanded money of his grandmother, Mrs. Dora Krueger, 1927 Howard street, yesterday, and when she refused him he brutally assaulted her with the butt end of a revolver.

William Markham Beats Mrs. Dora Krueger When Refused Money.

MRS. DORA KRUEGER, EIGHTY YEARS OF AGE, WHOM WILLIAM MARKHAM HER GRANDSON, BEAT WITH THE BUTT OF A PISTOL BECAUSE SHE REFUSED TO ACCEDE TO HIS DEMAND FOR MONEY.

In a fit of ugly rage because his demand for money was not acceded to, William Markham, 17 years old, attacked his grandmother, Mrs. Dora Krueger, 80 years of age, at her home, 1927 Howard street, yesterday morning, raining blows upon the feeble woman with the butt of a pistol.

Good Blood Good Health

Good blood nourishes and supports every membrane and tissue, every bone and muscle, of the body, and enables every organ to perform its functions, naturally and perfectly.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes Good Blood and enjoys the same distinction as a preventive as it does as a cure.

CABINET MUST KEEP SECRETS

President Orders His Official Family to Give Out No News to the Press

ACCEPTS ROOT'S ADVICE

Mr. Roosevelt to Act as Censor of Information Vouchsafed the Public

Special Dispatch to The Call.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—President Roosevelt took extreme measures in his policy of no publicity for the doings of his administration to-day by sending to each member of the Cabinet, just before he left for his Southern trip, a letter forbidding them, in set terms, to make public any matter discussed at Cabinet meetings or to discuss with any special correspondent any policies, either of the administration or of their own departments.

The President's letter to the Cabinet members is severe in its tone. It does not say that it would be better for Cabinet ministers not to talk about policies, but says Cabinet members "must not."

This latest development in the President's policy of secrecy is fostered and encouraged by Secretary Root.

It is assumed that any Cabinet member who talks to a newspaper correspondent will be disciplined and it is also likely that any correspondent who prints anything the President does not like will be disciplined also.

CITY COUNCILMEN OF TUCSON MAKE A SERIOUS BLUNDER

Overlook Law Passed by Last Legislature and May Not Be Able to Call Election.

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 18.—Because the members of the Council overlooked a primary election law passed by the Legislature this spring, the city can have no election this fall and the Councilmen, whose terms would have expired, will have to hold over for another year, as they were elected to serve until their successors are elected and sworn in.

The new primary election law requires thirty days' notice of the primaries to be given. The latter must be held thirty days before the election, which falls on December 11. This notice is not given and there is now insufficient time remaining to comply with the law.

The right of a City Council whose members were not properly elected to perform public service is being questioned. The primary election law was patterned after the one in force in California and had never been enforced in Arizona, as the municipal election in Tucson is the first to take place since its passage.

Richmond Accords Gala Reception to the Chief Executive.

Kind Words for Confederate Veterans

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 18.—Richmond to-day threw open her gates to President Roosevelt, and during the seven hours of his stay State and city officials accorded him a welcome hearty and sincere.

The President made several addresses, one at the Capitol square before one of the largest gatherings ever assembled in Virginia's capital; another at a banquet in Masonic Temple, where 400 of the representatives of the Old Dominion were gathered about the speaker.

His speeches paid tribute to the Confederate veterans, voiced appreciation of the economic and political progress of the South since the Civil War, pointed to his ancestry in which Southern and Northern blood are mingled, and to his birth in the East and to his life in the West, declaring he believed himself to be a representative American.

After the President had finished the party was posed for a flashlight photograph and were then driven to the Lee monument, where the Confederate veterans from R. E. Lee Camp, Soldiers' Home, were gathered to greet the President.

Here great joy in the shadow of the statue of the great commander—General Robert E. Lee. You and he left us memories, which, as much as they are part of the memories of the country by all the Americans who fought in the Civil War, are to be forever remembered.

The President was listened to with great interest and was heartily cheered by the gray-clad veterans.

At one point in the line of march to-day the President shook hands with Gies B. Jackson, president of the Development and Jamestown Exposition Commission and addressed a gathering of negroes.

During Mr. Roosevelt's progress through the city, he showed special interest in the school children lined up to greet him, the whites on one side of Broad street, the blacks on the other.

CATCHING COLD ON THE STREET CAR

"AS ANY COLD MAY LEAD TO CATARRH—PE-RU-NA SHOULD BE KEPT IN EVERY HOME"—Dr. S. B. Hartman.

During fall weather, open street cars are a frequent source of catching cold.

A slight cold is the result. This is the most dangerous kind of all colds.

Notwithstanding the danger that attends riding in the street cars they are very useful means of locomotion.

Dr. Hartman gives it as his opinion that no other convenience of modern civilization is indirectly responsible for so many cases of chronic catarrh as the street car.
