

AN ISSUE OF THE CALIFORNIA CLUB IS IN THE PALACE HOTEL AN EXHIBITION TO-MORROW

Lillie V. O'Ryan to Show Miniatures and Portraits.

Papyrus Club Will Ventilate Its Patriotism.

BY LAURA BRIDE POWERS.

Though the public knows the California Club chiefly through its civic work, its educational work is equally vital, reaching within as well as without.

Among the educational subdivisions of the club are the art, the music, the Spanish, the parliamentary law, the French, the literary and dramatic, and the current topics sections, each attracting the type of mind that is especially fitted for or lured by the work offered.

To-morrow is the big day of the art section, when Mrs. Charles Fonda is leader.

Lillie V. O'Ryan has been invited to exhibit her miniatures and portraits, including a stunning picture of William Keith, the landscape master, and Mrs. Ermentrude Poole Long will talk upon the art of miniature painting—a type of art that has engraved the greatest portrait families of Europe. Besides, there will be an exhibition of Russian peasant art, with an illustrative talk by Mrs. Florence Eichelwald—all of which promises a wholly delightful afternoon.

On the following Tuesday the club will have an opportunity of hearing Mrs. Will Madden's playlet, "The Princess of Poverty Place"—a neat little mentalogue, well hung together, revealing a sad and instructive social condition. The selfish indifference of the rich and the bitter resentment of the poor at their seemingly undeserved hardships are presented by a gay society girl and her chaperon, and by a pretty young shop girl with the shop "captain" friend—holding to their own estimates of the other class according to preconceived notions. These ideas, however, undergo a great change upon close contact, the society girl with the shop girl, and upon the understanding, a new life opens to both—a psychological truth that all students of sociology understand.

The following ladies will present the play a week from to-morrow: Faith, the handsome artist, Misses Holly Chapman, Barbara, shop girl, Miss Merle Madden; Child, a waif of "Poverty Place," Vivian Strobridge; Allen, society girl, Miss Josephine Cohn; Cicely, her chaperon, Mrs. James G. Martin.

That was a lecture worth while of Mrs. Jane Brownlee's given at the California Club on Saturday upon "Moral Education in the Home and in the School."

Mrs. Brownlee, a woman of potential personality, was presented by Mrs. Edward L. Baldwin, herself one of the strongest civic workers in the State, and holding the chairmanship of civics in the State Federation of Women.

The value of Mrs. Brownlee's lecture lay not in advancing new theories—as most of them have been current for many years—but in having reduced the theories of practice.

"As a man thinks, so he is," was the teacher's working rule, and by it and through it she had succeeded—so say the reports from the Toledo schools—in creating wholesome thoughts in her pupils, and in logical sequences, wholesome actions.

The one new thought in the whole talk—and one big enough to fill a folio—is the unity of thought and purpose she has succeeded in planting in the hearts and heads of the children.

The daughters of California Pioneers will meet to-day at Pioneer Hall for their usual monthly social day. Miss Julia M. Neppert in charge, and Mme. von Meyerling directing the programme, which will be as follows: "Songs from Mountain Maid" (Grieg); "Allegretto," "Mountain Maid," "Among the Bilberries," "The Tryst," Miss Bertrand; piano solo, "Lonely" (Schubert), Miss O'Brien; vocal solo, "The Ancient Song" (Mendelssohn), Miss Bel Forcade; "Gypsy Diet," Misses

POSTUM CEREAL.

CAPTAIN'S STORY.

How He Got Out and Stays Out of Trouble.

Captain Abran Jones of 174 E. 36th St., Los Angeles, Cal., tells an interesting coffee story, and says he can be pretty quoted as follows:

"I drank coffee all my life," he says, "and took no harm, I thought, till about a year ago, when I was attacked by ailments that attacked me one after the other. First came a disordered stomach, followed by palpitation of the heart, then by nervous, some attacks lasting 4 or 5 hours at a time. Then my bowels got out of order and I suffered from constipation. This ran on for some years.

"Finally I quit the drugs and struggled along the best way I could, taking the advice of friends, but never getting any better. At last I was taken so seriously sick that I had to go to bed and the doctor told my family I could not recover.

"While I lay in this condition a friend suggested that I quit drinking the old kind of coffee and try Postum Food Coffee—to see what it would do for me. He said Postum had pulled him through and he was similarly afflicted.

"I took his advice, quit coffee and drank Postum, and in 2 months' time was in good health. I was so elated at the result that I told my doctor about it. He wasn't very well posted on facts at that time and he said that he did not believe that leaving off coffee and using Postum had anything to do with my health being better. He said that I was good medicine and good advice from the family doctor; that my sickness had worked out of my system the diseased condition that had been developing for several years; that I could now look forward to good health for some time to come, and that I had better resume coffee drinking. In moderation, and thus save my family the trouble of preparing an extra table beverage every day. He took the doctor's advice, stopped the Postum and began drinking coffee again. The result was that all my old troubles came roaring back and I was soon once more seriously ill. Then I became alarmed and swore off coffee for good and all, and resumed the use of Postum and got well again.

"My health is now as good as it ever was. My dyspepsia is gone, I never have heart palpitation any more, my bowels are in good working order and all the little ills that go with the big ones have disappeared.

"I am now 60 years since I quit coffee and began to use Postum, and in all that time I have not paid one cent for medicine.

There is a reason.

O'Brien and Spink; clarinet solo, "Air and Variations" (Dagnelles), Herbert von Meyerling; aria, from "Marriage of Figaro" (Mozart), Miss Spink; vocal trios, "Barcarole from Indomeneo" (Mozart), "A. B. C.", a musical joke, Misses Maguire, Horton, Judy; "The Water Nymph" (Rubinstein), Misses Spink, O'Brien, Blake, Judy; alto solo, by Miss Bertand, Miss Twitchell at the piano.

The six regular meetings of the Council of Jewish Women was held Thursday, February 15, in the Sunday-school rooms of Temple Emanu-El, on Sutter street. An address on "American Ideals" was given by Dr. William Adler in a terse, vigorous style, emphasizing the claim of many San Franciscans that he has become the foremost lecturer in the West. The programme closed with a solo by Mrs. H. Arnold.

The Cap and Bells was "at home" on Thursday last, entertaining over 300 guests at the club's quarters in the Sorosis Club house.

The day was essentially a St. Valentine celebration, the decorations and programme populating the erratic little god of love—or is it of mere flirtation? The afternoon's success was largely due to the president, Mrs. Squire Varick Mooney, and to Mrs. N. P. Blumberg, who directed the versatile programme.

The Papyrus Club will testify to its Americanism on Thursday afternoon by offering to its friends a most delightful Washingtonian programme—patriotic songs, dances and readings—in attest of the love of America's women for the Father of his Country.

The Schumann Club will be "at home" Tuesday evening, February 20, at Wheeler's Auditorium, 1218 Sutter street. A charming musical programme is promised, and I shouldn't wonder if a jolly little dance would follow, inasmuch as Mrs. E. J. Foster is the hostess.

The next meeting of the California Branch of the Collegiate Alumnae, Mrs. Adolphus E. Graupner president, will be held on Saturday, February 24, at Sorosis Hall, 1629 California street. The programme follows:

12:30 p. m.—Founders' luncheon. Toastmaster, May Treat Morrison, 78, Thos. wishing to attend please notify Miss Ruth Hammerschlag, 2315 Pine street, by February 21.

2 p. m.—Business meeting. Vote on amendments to the constitution proposed at the last meeting.

3 p. m.—Address by John Galen Howard on "Plans for the Greater University" at Berkeley.

4 p. m.—Social hour and tea.

The music section of the California Club, under the leadership of Miss Juliet Greninger, will present the following programme on Wednesday, February 21, at 3 o'clock:

Lecture by Dr. William Rader, "German Poetry in Song," illustrations: (a) "With Myrtle and Roses" (Heine) (Schumann), (b) "Der Arme Peter" (Heine) (Schumann), (c) "Der Arme Peter" (Heine) (Haber Wismer), (d) "Night Song" (Haber Wismer), (e) "Night Song" (Haber Wismer), (f) "Lebe Deine Wangen" (Heine) (Schubert), (g) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (h) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (i) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (j) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (k) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (l) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (m) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (n) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (o) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (p) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (q) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (r) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (s) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (t) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (u) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (v) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (w) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (x) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (y) "Der Erl König" (Schubert), (z) "Der Erl König" (Schubert).

The foregoing programme will be sung with Miss Clara Rauhut at the piano.

The next social meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the British and American Union will take place to-day at 2:30 o'clock, Utopia Hall, 223 Sutter street, when the Hon. Daniel O'Connor, lecturer and recital, by Frederick Ward. The dates are set for March 7, 8, 9 and 10, and Steinway Hall the chosen place.

The Pacific Coast Woman's Press Association, having moved its household goods to the California Club house, celebrated appropriately in an informal reception to friends. The Schumann Club presented some sweet music and selections from "Lola." "A Call of the Wild," an original poem, was read by Mrs. Mary E. Hart. Miss Ina Coolbrith read a paper on "Some Women Poets of America," which gave a resume of the

Ask Us Questions

About the proper style of frame for your picture. It is essential that a frame should be given correct in style and that it should look new a long time after it is new. We express in our frames the taste that you like. Sanborn, Vail & Co., 741 Market street.

The Call

Breakfast Sets Ready for Delivery.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived. These handsome sets are now ready for delivery to CALL subscribers. All coupon holders should present the same at once to their carrier or to the business office of this paper, and orders will be filled at the earliest possible moment.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

Several carloads of CALL Breakfast Sets have just arrived.

KAISER GREETED BY THE DUES Emperor William Present at the Burial of Christian, the Late King of Denmark

Emperor William Present at the Burial of Christian, the Late King of Denmark

CHEERED BY POPULACE German Ruler Receives the French Ambassador and Chats Cordially With Him

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 18.—The city presented a scene of animation throughout the day, the presence of Emperor William and the curiosity manifested over his movements adding in no little way to the excitement and serving in a measure to divert men's minds from the solemn ceremony at Roskilde, the burial of King Christian. A constant stream of people passed through the streets, which were draped with crapes and flags, on their way to the station to take trains for Roskilde.

The French Ambassador, Baron de Courcel, wrote his name in Emperor William's visit book during the morning and an hour later the Emperor sent his card to the Hotel Bristol, where Baron de Courcel is staying.

Toward 1 o'clock the royal mourners were respectfully greeted by a bare-headed crowd which they arrived at the station for Roskilde. King Frederick and Emperor William drove to the station in the same carriage. The royal train started at 1 o'clock, an earlier train having taken the Ministers, diplomats and others to the number of 1500.

In the afternoon requiem services were held in all the churches in Copenhagen and throughout the country.

On the return of the mourners to Roskilde at 6 o'clock the Emperor, the Queen and some of the other royal personages immediately drove to the Amelienborg Castle, while Emperor William, accompanied by King Frederick and the Duke of Schleswig, Prince Frederick Waldemar and Harold, drove to the free port and boarded the German battleship Preussen, on board of which the Danish guests remained for fifteen minutes.

A cordial reception was given by Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

Baron de Courcel and the other members of his mission will leave for Berlin to-morrow instead of Tuesday, as had previously been arranged, to take Emperor William accompanied the royal guests to their carriages and then returned to the ship. Ten minutes later Baron de Courcel and the members of his suite visited the Emperor on board the Preussen and Majesty and the Emperor engaged in a conversation of twenty minutes' duration on deck and in the smoking-room. The Emperor was most cordial and assisted the French Ambassador to don his fur-lined coat when he was leaving the warship.

MISS VIDA R. LOGGIE MARRIAGE OF MISS VIDA R. LOGGIE MARRIAGE OF MISS VIDA R. LOGGIE

Engagement of Miss Vida R. Loggie and Earl Thomas Riley was announced at a luncheon given at the St. Nicholas recently. Miss Loggie is the younger daughter of the late J. J. Loggie of this city. Mr. Riley, formerly of Santa Rosa, has been a student of the university and is a member of the Chi Phi Fraternity. The wedding will take place in June.

ENTRE NOUS CLUB TO DANCE TO-NIGHT

The usual number and class of events have constituted the week's diversions, with perhaps a slight weight in favor of club affairs, which have come especially within notice. The Entre Nous Cotillon Club is a leading feature of this date, their fourth assembly to take place to-night at the Palace.

The engagement of Miss Vida R. Loggie and Earl Thomas Riley was announced at a luncheon given at the St. Nicholas recently. Miss Loggie is the younger daughter of the late J. J. Loggie of this city. Mr. Riley, formerly of Santa Rosa, has been a student of the university and is a member of the Chi Phi Fraternity. The wedding will take place in June.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Hirstel announce the engagement of their daughter, Aimee, to Dr. Joseph Erlanger.

The engagement is announced of Miss Rosalia Stewart, daughter of the late Scott of Newark, Delaware. The bride-to-be is a daughter of the late Mark Beauwald and Mrs. Ray Beauwald.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Proctor and James Ernest Spencer will take place Monday, February 26, at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Cane. The marriage of Miss Madeline V. May, daughter of the late George May, will take place on Friday, February 24, in Southern California.

The marriage of Miss Tillie Boyd and G. C. Wolfenden took place last Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. Boyd, 413 B street.

A pretty wedding will be held at St. Dominic's Church, Bush and Steiner streets, next Wednesday evening when Miss Marie Josephine Foran will become the bride of James Joseph, Kilkeny.

Miss Foran has a large circle of friends in this city and is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. James Buckley of 2447 Sacramento street.

Mr. Kilkeny is a wealthy young rancher of Elmina, California, where he is well known and highly respected.

HOME PARTIES.
Miss Flora Oliver entertained at a valentine party in honor of Miss Alice and Miss Kate Dunn, and during the affair Miss Oliver announced her engagement to Earle B. Terry of this city.

Melvin Carlin celebrated his birthday on Monday, February 19, when the following guests were entertained: Misses Mae Pluth, Mae Hartnett, Mae Russell, Mae Byrne, Anna Pluth, Adair Houghton, Catherine Pluth, Cordelia Parsons, Clara Parsons, Myrtle Coulter, Catherine Rhoads, Norma Pozzo, Grace Jennings, Messrs. Melvin Carlin, William Morrison, Charles Butterworth, Ed McKelrick, Harry Butterworth, George Resing, A. St. Clair Morrison, Nairne Burton, A. St. Clair Morrison, Weldon Mogan, Ray Lucas.

Miss Gertrude Roxburgh was hostess at a pleasant party Friday evening, February 9, at her home on Market street. The guests passed several hours in games and music, those present including Misses Nellie Lechard, Edith Phillips, Neva Hinde, Adrienne Ford, Paul Muller, Emily Kadec, Louise Mennermen, Adelaide Wade, Mazie Crumme, Alice Sullivan, Claire Evans, Florence Carr, Masters Charley Maeder, Hies Arthur, Louis Delatour, Charley Sigart, Harar Goss, Earle Drisk, Dick Brown, George Baker, Frank Millmore, Willie Hornlein and Edward J. Stanley Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Adams were hosts at a valentine party last Wednesday evening, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Adams, Mrs. S. M. Bishop, Miss N. C. Seaberg, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Boswell, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sawyer, Mr. Mcullen, Mrs. C. M. Hanscom, Miss L. Hanscom, C. A. Swift, S. J. Neal and J. O. Adams Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Hsman will celebrate the anniversary of their marriage next Sunday, February 25, and will receive at their home, 326 Page street.

Miss Emma Williams celebrated her eighteenth birthday by entertaining several friends in her home, 2413 Harrison street, recently. Among those enjoying the occasion were the Misses Frances Mitchell, Louise Creyer, Grace Murray,

NEVADA'S GOVERNOR CLOSES BIG DEAL
Contracts to Deliver to Western Pacific 5000 Head of Cattle.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

RENO, Feb. 18.—Governor John Sparks of Nevada yesterday consummated the largest cattle deal ever transacted in this State. The deal is for five thousand head of Hereford cattle, which will be used to supply the Western Pacific Company during the coming summer. The purchase also includes ten thousand acres of the finest grazing land in Elko County. The stipulated amount of money which changed hands in the transaction is placed at $200,000. The price of the cattle is set at $100,000. The land purchased is located on the proposed route of the company, and the main supply station will be placed there. The first delivery of stock will be made in July. The remainder will be killed at various slaughter houses along the line of the road.

GOLDFIELD FIREMEN STRIKE FOR WAGES
Tire of Waiting for Pay for Subduing Blazes of All Sorts.

Special Dispatch to The Call.

RENO, Feb. 18.—Goldfield's Fire Department has struck for wages. It has been three months since the firemen have drawn down a cent of their salaries and as the frequent promises of the County Commissioners to liquidate the matter have failed, the engine house is closed and there is no fire fighting force to protect the city. A month ago the firemen quit work. They not only threw up their jobs, but attached the equipment of the city. Goldfield returned to their posts again and did not press their suit against the county, trusting in promises that their wages would be forthcoming at the next session of the Commissioners at Hawthorne.