

EDSON WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR

Announces His Candidacy for the Office in a Letter to the Republican Voters

RECORD OF ASPIRANT

Formerly Railroad Commissioner in First District, Being Elected in 1896

E. B. Edson of Siskiyou County announces his candidacy for the office of the Republican State convention in a fashion somewhat original and pointed. His method of asking for the gubernatorial nomination may not be commended by the regular politicians who incline to the notion that an aspirant should first obtain the Southern Pacific Company's endorsement of his candidacy, but the Edson style may accord with the popular sense of right and fitness.

The other favored aspirants for Governor in the Republican column are George C. Pardee of Alameda, J. N. Gillett of Humboldt, Warren R. Porter of Santa Cruz and Frank H. Short of Fresno. It has been demonstrated that "good can come out of Siskiyou," for one critic of the best of California politics, William Irwin, came from that county. He was nominated in 1876 at a Democratic convention held in Union Hall, San Francisco. He was elected September 1, 1878, and inaugurated on November 2 of the same year. He died in this city March 15, 1886.

He was succeeded by George C. Perkins, who was elected September 3, 1879, and inaugurated January 8, 1880.

E. B. Edson was elected Railroad Commissioner, First District, on November 8, 1896. He received 42,105 votes, against 32,121 for his opponent, H. M. La Rue of Sacramento. Mr. Edson writes of his present candidacy for Governor as follows:

LONG A PARTY WORKER.

To the Republicans of California: "Having been a lifelong Republican, always loyal to the party and a liberal contributor in both time and money for the success of its principles in every campaign, I have not hesitated to go out of my place for me to allow my name to be presented to our next State convention for the office of Governor. My appeal will be wholly to the Republican voters, and this announcement is made with a full and unhesitating understanding of the responsibilities which will be placed upon me in accordance with their wishes. "No office should be sought under false pretenses. In business matters there is a law making it punishable by fine and imprisonment to secure property in that way, and in politics there should be a moral obligation more binding than any statute. A nominee should not secure the place by promises of patronage, as the zealous work of all factions will be necessary for success in the coming campaign, and all factions have good men who are worthy of consideration.

"The vast business of the country can be handled only by the aggregation of capital, and that makes corporations a necessity. The people are not enemies of corporations, except when they are palpably in the wrong, and they do not want them unnecessarily harassed and annoyed. They should be honestly protected in all that belongs to them, yet, on the other hand, the common people should not be ground between the upper and nether stone of corporate greed.

UPHOLDS ROOSEVELT.

"President Roosevelt should be sustained in the position he has taken to regulate the trusts and railroads; also in his efforts to adjust the differences between capital and labor. Capital and labor should go hand in hand; the organization of one makes the organization of the other a necessity, and it is perfectly legitimate for either to organize so long as they keep within the law.

"We are inviting immigration from the Eastern States, and the State is fast filling up with population. We should also encourage railroads to come here, and all should work for the equal footing and have equal protection of the law. We not only want increased population to develop our great natural resources, but we need more railroad mileage. Both will be here in the near future, some say, and all are entitled to a square deal."

"Being a farmer, I represent the greatest interest of the State, or the United States, and a business the prosperity of which all look to for their success, whatever the nature of their capital. All depends upon the products of the soil.

AS TO QUALIFICATIONS.

"As to my qualifications, though a much younger man, I went through the same school at Rock River Seminary that sent out such men as United States Senator Cullom and Congressman Hitt of Illinois. They went into politics and I came to California a young man and went into business and have been endeavoring to advance the great agricultural and mining resources of the State.

"Whether I have been of any assistance to be for others to judge. I believe that, with my knowledge of the State's needs and by seeking the advice of leading business men of the State when required, it would be possible for me to be a good Governor.

"There is much business of the State that does not pertain to politics, such as the improvement of the water front at San Francisco, the reclamation of the swamp, overworked and arid lands, also our great mining and agricultural industries. In such matters leading business men of the State should be sought for advice, regardless of politics.

"Governments cannot be run without parties, parties cannot exist without a platform, and it is conceded by all that the appointive offices belong to the party in power, and it is a correct conclusion. The Governor should be a party man in all such matters, should heed the advice of the various organizations of the party to which he belongs, always with the understanding that none but fit and competent persons be presented for the positions asked. This I would do.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAW.

"The principal reform that is needed, if any, is the strict enforcement of the law, and if the law is objectionable have it repealed.

POSTUM CEREAL.

"Words Can't Tell how WELL you feel in 10 days after quitting COFFEE and using POSTUM."

HIS INFANT SON AND LITTLE DAUGHTER ARE TAKEN AWAY BY A CHARITABLE SOCIETY

Minions of Law Drag Henry Reinfeld From His Happy Home to Dreary Old Cell

WIFE ALSO LEAVES HIM

"Everybody works but father; he sits around all day," is the tune which should be popular with the family of Henry Reinfeld, who lives in a tumble-down shack near the corner of Eighth avenue South and B street.

"Mother takes me washing, so does the wife," while little Merie, who has been three summers old, assists about the house. His royal Highness, the master of the place, sees that the work is performed properly, but does not share his personal sanctity by menial toil.

Things were going along very well for Mr. Reinfeld until Monday night, when a series of untoward calamities began. His mother had not quite finished the washing, when she was seized by a fit, and she fell. The lady is 72 years old, but she should be able to step lively for several seasons yet when the wishes of the lord of manor are to be served. She has become somewhat hardened to the complaint of late years and even the son's vituperations could not hasten her lagging feet.

When the wife returned from doing a washing "outside" there was still no supper prepared. She hastened to take off her wraps and get ready for the repast, but weariness made her slow and her husband's anger rose. He scolded and scolded until the woman dressed herself again and deserted the home. She was at the police station, however, and then King Henry retired.

Yesterday morning he had hardly succeeded in getting a short rest after the exertion of eating breakfast, when Police Officers Callahan and Tilton arrived on the scene and placed him under arrest for vagrancy. He was forced to undergo the ignominy of a ride in the patrol wagon and was shamefully deprived of his liberty. He was "hired" today, at a fee of four and four inches tall. He weighs a bare 269 pounds. Some time ago Police Officer Callahan got him a job driving a swill wagon for a Chinaman, but after three trips the great man found he could not stand the strain and quit. Otherwise he has not toiled in the memory of his neighbors, although he is erroneously styled a "laborer" in the city directory.

WANTS JURISDICTION OVER CHANNEL STREET

Works Board Desires to Collect Revenue From Occupants of Thoroughfare.

The Board of Public Works is preparing to ask the City Attorney to file a petition with the court to collect some $500 monthly for the privilege should the City Attorney advise that the city controls the street. Under the general law the Harbor Commissioners have control over all public streets and collect rental from some of the occupants of Channel street, but not from others.

PREPARING TO PUT OUT OLD FEDERAL OFFICIALS

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Wants Information About All Employees 65 Years or More.

A dispatch was received in this city yesterday by a customs broker to the effect that the Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor had instructed all heads of departments under his jurisdiction throughout the United States to forward to Washington all necessary papers concerning employees of 65 years of age or more. Length of service, whether as veterans or not, whether civil service appointees and capacity and competency are the particular points upon which information is desired.

It is believed that the object of these inquiries is to prepare for action, in case the bill before Congress should become a law cutting down the salaries of Federal employees of 65 years or more.

pealed. Only by such rule can parties be successful or useful.

"My life has been devoted to doing things, not to saying things, consequently it would not be expected that I am an orator or a spellbinder capable of making what would be called a whirlwind campaign. But if a candidate meets the people and lets them know in a candid, matter-of-fact way what may be expected of him it is really all that is required. Promises that they will have the assurance will be faithfully kept is what the people want.

"When the Republicans fail defeat they always appeal to the farmers and the rural population for help, and they generally come to the rescue.

"We have had lawyers, doctors and other professional men for Governors, and they have made good Governors. Notwithstanding that, if we should look among the business men, the farmers and the common people at this time, under present conditions, perhaps there might be found some one who would fill the office with quite as much credit.

"But I have said enough. I want the Republicans of the State to thoroughly canvass the situation, inquire carefully as to my fitness for the position and let their action be what they think is best for the party and the State.

"With this brief statement I leave all to the Republicans of the State and the delegates who may select. If successful, I make but this one promise, and that is to serve the people of the whole State faithfully and fearlessly.

"E. B. EDSON.

COLLINS ASKS FOR A WRIT

Judge de Haven Orders That Sheriff T. F. O'Neil Show Cause for Holding Lawyer

STATE RIGHT ATTACKED

George D. Collins went into the United States District Court yesterday morning and filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge de Haven made an order citing Sheriff Thomas F. O'Neil to appear in court at 10 o'clock Saturday morning to show cause why the writ should not issue.

Collins' petition recites that on July 13, 1905, while he was residing in Victoria, B. C., the Grand Jury of the city and county of San Francisco presented an indictment charging him with having committed perjury on June 30, 1905, in the Superior Court by falsely swearing that he did not on May 15, 1888, or at any other time, marry Charlotte Eugenie Newman, and that he and she were never at any time husband and wife.

He avers that he was extradited from British Columbia to San Francisco for trial upon that indictment alone, but that while in custody of the United States marshal, he was held in the city of San Francisco, and that he and she were never at any time husband and wife.

The petitioner contends that the State is absolutely without a vestige of authority in matters of international extradition, all power over the subject being vested by the constitution in the United States, and that that power is necessarily exclusive. It is further contended that in international affairs and in the matter of extradition from a foreign nation the several States of the United States are entirely and absolutely unknown, and the fact that the State court is permitted to try and to dispose of the case does not operate to transfer the Federal custody of the accused to the State.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET

Will Convene in Los Angeles to Consider the State's School Laws.

At the last session of the Legislature so many important measures relating to the school system of the State were presented that, by the very reason of their importance and far-reaching effects, it was impossible during the limited session to give serious consideration to more than a few of them. Many were left for the next Legislature to act upon, and that intelligent and conscientious consideration might be had the Assembly appointed a special committee to sit during the interim between sessions for the purpose of studying in detail all of the proposed reforms to be instituted, if deemed necessary, a thorough revision of the school law.

The committee is composed of Assemblymen James Slaven of San Juan, chair man; J. H. Creighton of Redding, E. K. Strowbridge of Hayward, N. W. Thompson of Alameda and E. F. Townsend of San Francisco. H. A. Mason of San Francisco is secretary of the committee and headquarters have been established at room 544 Parrott building.

The first public meeting of the committee will be at the office of the County Superintendent of Schools, Los Angeles, on April 7, 9 and 10, and all persons interested in the subject matter before the committee will be given a hearing. Preparatory to the meeting of the committee a large number of letters have been sent to prominent educators inviting suggestions as to needed changes in the school laws and to the matters which the committee might find profitable to investigate.

A flood of suggestions has reached the secretary, many of which when taken up for discussion are sure to awaken wide interest. The suggestions cover a wide range of subjects and relate to the furnishing of textbooks, the tenure and salaries of teachers, the inspection of schools, courses of study, the introduction of manual training and elements of agriculture, the recognition of kindergarten schools, compulsory education, the child labor law and many other subjects of minor importance.

The coming session of the committee will be attended by representatives of the Governor's office and of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Stanford University and the University of California, also by a large number of prominent educators from the southern part of the State.

COMMITTEE TO MEET.

The Supervisors' charter amendment committee will meet tomorrow afternoon to consider the proposed ordinance to submit a charter amendment to regulate rates and the affairs of telephone companies.

GREAT SCARCITY OF LABORERS

Local Employment Offices Receive Urgent Appeals to Furnish Day Workmen

CONTRACTORS IN NEED

Men, are you looking for a job? There are jobs for 5000 of you today. You can take the first train out of the city, fare free, and be put to work at first-class pay.

The railroads are crying for your services. They are sending urgent appeals all over the country asking for hard-working men to enlist in their service and draw from their treasury. The contractors need you even more. They are being fined because they cannot live up to their obligations. They would be happy if they could only get you to work for them.

There are jobs, waiting everywhere—east, north, south. You need only pick your location and go to work. Yesterday the employment offices about the city received letters from railroads and contractors asking for men. Several railroads have their own agents working in this and other cities picking up men wherever possible. An applicant is quickly taken in and asked if he has any friends who would like to accompany him.

The contractors on the Western Pacific are the worst sufferers. Two of the largest of them were in San Francisco yesterday trying to get men. "We want laborers," they said. "Teamsters, shovelers, pick men and even skilled laborers. We are far behind in our contracts and we must get the men somewhere. We have sent appeals to every large city in the United States for help."

The Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe can use several hundred laborers. They need them to repair washouts and to keep solid track in shape. They need them for new construction. The Salt Lake and the Denver and Rio Grande need workmen.

The scarcity is badly felt about Portland and throughout Oregon, where so much railroad building is going on. The contractors there are badly handicapped. A trainload of men left yesterday for Nevada, where they will work for the Western Pacific.

MAY SHUT OUT CAHUILA MINE

Aubury Asks the Authorities to Consider Matter Now Passing Through Mails

SEEKS FRAUD ORDER

Literature of the CahUILa Mining Company has attracted the attention of State Mineralogist Aubury, and he says that he has requested the United States postal authorities to look into the representations that are made in pamphlets sent through the mails and to issue a fraud order.

Aubury called attention recently to the advertisement in the CahUILa company's literature that "CahUILa, the greatest gold mine in the world for its age, discovered less than four years ago, already has 25,000,000 tons of ore in sight." John H. Whitlock's name is signed as general manager in a pamphlet which contains the following:

The property is an enormous one and a developed mine, for there are millions of tons of ore ready to put in the mill. Our assays and tests have proved to our satisfaction that the gold is in paying quantities, averaging at least $3 a ton. That will pay us $2.50 a ton net profit. Our ore is now on the dump, being piled up in places 250 feet high and from 100 to 300 feet in width and can be shoveled up and put in a steam boiler.

On the basis of the statements in the literature, 25,000,000 tons of ore in sight at $2.50 net profit a ton would put the sum of $62,500,000 in the pockets of the stockholders. The capital stock is but 50,000 shares of the par value of $1 a share.

Aubury has looked into the CahUILa proposition, he says, and that is the reason that he will ask the postal authorities to consider the further use of the mails to send out literature, of which the foregoing extracts are but a small portion. The CahUILa property is in Riverside County, this State.

DIES IN CHAIR IN SALOON.
