PREPARING TO OPEN THE SUMMER SCHOOL

San Jose Normal Faculty Arranging for Special Sessions.

SAN JOSE, April 7.—President Dalley and faculty of the State Normal School are engaged in preparations for the coming summer school of that institution, which will open June 26 and continue until August 3. The sessions will be interspersed with various pleasure excursions to the Lick Observatory, Santa Cruz Big Trees, Stanford University and a sail on the bay. The courses will comprise science, English, history, mathematics, geography, manual training, music and physical training. In addition to the regular normal faculty Professor Elwood P. Cubberly, head of the department of education at Stanford University; Professor Frederic H. Ripley of Boston, and Miss Estelle Carpenter, supervisor of music in the San Francisco public schools, will participate.

YOLLE CONTEST READY.—The retrial of the contest of the will of the late J. Alexander Yolle will begin tomorrow morning before Judge Kerrigan. Involved in the contest is an estate worth $200,000. At the first trial the jury disagreed.

STARTS A ROW WITH SANTA FE

San Diego Chamber of Commerce Says Railroad Is Discriminating Against City

TOURISTS COMPLAINING
Corporation Is Said to Have Favored Los Angeles With Ticket Rates

SAN DIEGO, April 7.—The Chamber of Commerce in this city has made public the result of an investigation which is alleged to reveal that the Santa Fe Railroad is discriminating against San Diego in favor of Los Angeles and San Francisco in selling tickets in the East to the Pacific Coast. The report is accompanied by affidavits of tourists, who it is alleged have been compelled to pay extra for tickets to this city from Los Angeles, while it is declared that other roads in the East sell tickets through to San Diego at the same price as to Los Angeles or San Francisco.

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—Referring to charges made by the San Diego Chamber of Commerce and by certain individuals that the Santa Fe Railroad was discriminating against San Diego in the matter of passenger rates from the East, Assistant General Passenger Traffic Manager John G. Byrne of that road today made the following statement:

"The charge that the Santa Fe is discriminating against San Diego has been made a number of times and has been disproved. It disproves itself, because it is to our interest to foster San Diego and its interests and advance them whenever we can do so, which is our policy, regardless of what may be said by individuals. Tickets are sold to San Diego by all agents of the Santa Fe at the same rates as to Los Angeles and San Francisco."

RAILROAD PAYS DISPUTED TAXES

Chicago and Northwestern Line First to Obey Decision of Michigan Courts

LANSING, Mich., April 7.—The Chicago and Northwestern yesterday paid into the Michigan State treasury $640,758 for back taxes. This is the first road to pay up its taxes under the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court upholding the Michigan ad valorem tax law of 1901. The railroads, while contesting the new ad valorem law, continued paying their taxes each year under the old specific tax law. They now have to pay the difference, and pay in addition a penalty of 1 per cent per month for the delay in complying with the terms of the new law. This penalty in the case of the Chicago and Northwestern amounted to $106,140. These heavy payments of back taxes from the railroads will go into the primary school fund. It is estimated that the aggregate amount which will be received by the city of Detroit alone will be $500,000, and schools throughout the State will receive their due proportion.

For paying the 1905 taxes the railroads have the remainder of April before the 1 per cent a month penalty will run against them. For the previous years since the ad valorem law went into effect the penalty is already running.

DISCOVER PLOT TO SAVE FLODS

Indiana Police, With Prisoners From Sacramento, Hear of Plan to Attempt Rescue

WOMAN ARCH SCHEMER
Officers Wire for Guards to Accompany Train Through the Rocky Mountains

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL. SACRAMENTO, April 7.—Superintendent of Police Bailey and Detective E. D. Grady of Richmond, Ind., who are taking back for trial John Locke and Harry Harris, wanted for grand larceny, discovered a plot while in this city to liberate the men. The party is accompanied by Mrs. Locke, who has been in telegraphic communication with her husband's friends and members of his alleged gang of railway-car plunderers. The officers intercepted a telegram addressed to Mrs. Locke assenting to a plan to take the prisoners from them at a certain point in the Rocky Mountains, the location of which the officers would not disclose.

Bailey at once telegraphed to Omaha for half a dozen armed men to accompany the train through the Rockies to repel any attack that may be contemplated.

Locke and Harris are alleged to be members of a gang which for several years has been robbing freight cars in Indiana, Illinois and as far west as Colorado.

DUCHESS OF MANCHESTER IS IN INDIFFERENT HEALTH

King Edward Devotes Much Time to Her at Biarritz, Where She Is Recuperating.

BIARRITZ, April 7.—Friends of Consuelo, Duchess of Manchester, are much concerned about her health, which continues far from satisfactory. For all that she is about as good as at Biarritz, where her stay at the Villa Duchatel will depend entirely on the progress she makes. During King Edward's visit it was no uncommon sight to find him walking besides the Duchess's bath chair, not enjoying to their heart's content conversations about the ways of the world. The King is an inveterate gossip, though never an ill-natured one, and Consuelo invariably knows everything which is worth knowing about mutual friends, and tells her news with that dash of piquant humor which has helped to make her in the royal circle the most popular American at this time in the Atlantic. Every day during his stay the King made a point of seeing his old friend. By the way, it was her Grace (at King Edward's request) who selected at the hotel the suite of rooms he occupied which were not better than usually inhabited by royalty. Of late his Majesty has shown a preference for rooms on the fourth or fifth floors, because he believes the air in such a position is purer than on a lower stage. When King Edward arrived he found his apartments had been beautifully decorated with flowers by the Duchess, while quantities of photographs, placed also by her Grace, gave him a silent welcome. But she was one who had had included in the royal dinner menu on the night of his arrival several of the King's favorite dishes, notably tripe cooked according to the recipe which Mrs. George West, his mother-in-law, had given him. Joseph Churchill, introduced to his Majesty. Of course it did not figure as tripe in the royal bill of fare.

"Without health," asked Fels in the course of an interview yesterday, "what good is education to the ordinary child? I would propose to establish new departments in connection with all schools; where children would be taught the rules of physical training and development. In a word, the classroom of first importance would be the bathroom.

LADY BUTLER'S DEBUTANTE DAUGHTER MUCH ADMIRER

Bears a Striking Resemblance to Her Beautiful Cousin, Lady Beatrice Pole Carew.

LONDON, April 7.—Lady Arthur Butler's debutante daughter is greatly admired. She bears a striking resemblance to her beautiful cousin, Beatrice Pole Carew, who, ever since her debut, has reigned as one of the loveliest women here or in Ireland. Not only is Miss Butler pretty, she is wonderfully smart and cheery for so young a girl. Owing to the belated courts consequent on the King and Queen's mourning, she will not make her official bow until the end of May or the beginning of June. She has had a good preliminary course, however, at country house dances and also in town, and besides she has had the almost unique distinction of having been presented in private to their Majesties. The King was especially taken by his brilliant daughter of an American mother, her conversation and "views" amusing him immensely. After he had been talking to her for a little time he said: "But I must not keep you too long. I am only an old fogey and the boys will be vexed. Tell me when you are bored."

"Oh, it's boys who bore me," she said, "they are so much in earnest. And they will try to make love—it's so stupid."

The conversation continued for some time and King Edward, amazed at the girl's exceedingly matured remarks, turned suddenly and said to her, "In the name of all that's wonderful, how old are you?"

"Well, your Majesty," she answered, with an aggrieved air, "now I am bored if you like."

BATH TUB USED AS EDUCATOR

Joseph Fels, a Rich American, Proposes to Introduce It Among British People

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL. LONDON, April 7.—Education by means of the bath tub is the latest scheme of the wealthy Anglo-American, Joseph Fels. And so strongly does Fels believe in this idea that he has just backed his faith by an offer of $25,000 to the London County Council for providing what he describes as an "experimental health center" at one of the day schools in London.

Whether or not the Council will accept this offer, it is impossible to say. Meanwhile, however, it will be recalled that Joseph Fels is the Quaker City philanthropist, who already has done so much for the poor of this country by means of his farm colonies, proposed and adopted a few years ago.

"Without health," asked Fels in the course of an interview yesterday, "what good is education to the ordinary child? I would propose to establish new departments in connection with all schools; where children would be taught the rules of physical training and development. In a word, the classroom of first importance would be the bathroom.

"Personal cleanliness has an immense influence on the well-being, mentally as well as physically, of every child. Before any child should be allowed to attend school, it should be carefully examined by medical experts, and then trained in accordance with its individual constitution. At the health center I would propose to train each child in a remedial way; not make all do exactly the same thing."

"Would your 'health center' be limited to bathing?" was asked.

Accused of Stealing Motorcycle.

John E. Driscoll was arrested at Lotta's fountain yesterday afternoon by Detectives Cottle, Mitchell and Cornelius and booked at the City Prison on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of stealing the motorcycle of C. R. Mendelson of 703 Geary street at the Pioneer garage, Octavia street and Golden Gate avenue, on Wednesday night. Mendelson had gone upstairs in the garage to attend a meeting and when he returned his machine had disappeared. Driscoll had taken it to his room at 1047 Mission street. He sold some of the parts of the machine to Baker & Son and Lund & Co. on Second street. He showed tight when arrested.

FAVOR PLANING MILL

Property owners yesterday petitioned the Board of Supervisors for the retention of the lumber yard and planing mill at 1305 Valencia street, against which Mrs. M. E. Schwartz has protested.
